FAMILY DAY SUNDAY

Sunday, Oct. 3 will be Family Day in the Protestant Churches of Winchester. We urge the people to attend the regular morning service in families.

The greatest institution on earth is not the Red Cross or the Standard Oil Company or the German Army or the British Empire. It is the Christian Church. She is greater than any of these, or all combined. She mothered all democracies and all philanthropies. She is the mother of modern civilization. If there had been no Church there would have been no Red Cross, or a hundred other such philanthropic organizations. She is also the mother of the arts and sciences.

She is the oldest mother on earth. She has withstood the shock of falling empires and the dissolution of governments. There is no government under the sun which is 1900 years old. She commands the volunteer and paid services of more men and women than any other institution, not excepting government itself.

She is in your community serving as a mother, comforting the sick, consoling the bereaved, counselling the young, correcting the erring, challenging the wicked and championing the oppressed.

Her generous arms stretch out to all horizons. Her sympathy knows no caste nor color. She remembers only that "God hath made of one flesh all people for to dwell together upon the face of the earth." She is the greatest generator of goodwill known to man. Her charter and creed is the chorus sung by the angels on the night that Christ was born, "Peace on earth, goodwill toward men." She is the only hope of the world. Every human force can be defeated excepting goodwill. Love is never lost.

Has this great mother of men registered herself in your consciousness? Perhaps not, if you are not a church attendant. You probably take her for granted, as you do the sunshine and fresh air. Yet you would soon miss the sun if it ceased to shine. Likewise you would miss the church if she ceased to function. The late President Coolidge once said he had seen it happen many times in his own New England that where the church in a community had declined the cultural, economic and moral life of that community had also declined.

Why not sit down for a few minutes, then, and ask yourself whether you are being fair with yourself and with the church? She has great things to offer, of which probably you have not thought. She does not come to you, hat in hand, like a suppliant. She comes to offer you everything she has,—instruction, inspiration, courage, peace, health, hospitality, heaven. The psychologists are now telling us that the most successful and happiest people are those who cooperate in common enterprises with others, and that children whose parents attend church, and who themselves attend Sunday School, develop into the most wholesome characters.

Perhaps there is more to the church than you have conceived there might be. Millions swear by her and sacrifice for her. These millions of people are probably right. While thousands of business enterprises went into bankruptcy during the recent depression, less than two per cent of the churches closed their doors. People believed in them so thoroughly that they would not let them go under.

The church is not perfect. No human institution is. Roll up your sleeves, pitch in and give her a hand, and you may be able to iron out some of her faults. By pooling your community interest with other good people, in some local church, you will put yourself into circulation and market your civic worth, and will probably find satisfaction in helping the greatest institution on earth!

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The Winchester Women's Republican Club will hold their first meeting of the new season on Wednesday, Oct. 6, at 2:30 p. m. in Waterfield Hall, when Dr. George O. Lillegard will speak on "The Yellow Peril or Red Menace."

Dr. Lillegard, a Lutheran minister in Cambridge, has spent several years in China, doing missionary work, which will enable him to give a splendid, first hand report of conditions in the Far East and how they effect us here in America.

Tea will be served, at the conclusion of the program, to furnish a social hour for members and guests.

FLEW ON FROM WEST COAST

Mrs. William E. Beggs of Madison avenue had as guests recently Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Barnard who flew east from their home in Glendale, Calif. Mr. Barnard is associated with the automobile division of Hearst's International Magazine. He and Mrs. Barnard flew from Boston to Detroit where they found a new Buick awaiting them. They drove the remainder of way to Glendale.

MISS WADSWORTH ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth of Highland avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Virginia Alice, to Mr. Carrington Mason Lloyd, son of Dr. and Mrs. Henry D. Lloyd of Little Compton, R. I. The wedding will take place the first of the year.

REV. VAUGHAN DABNEY, D. D.

ORGAN DEDICATION

The new pipe organ at the Seond Congregational Church, Washington street at Kenwin road, will be dedicated at a special Vesper service on Sunday afternoon at 4:30. An impressive service has been planned with guest musicians and a guest preacher.

Mr. Joseph Wilkinson, Organist and Director of Music at Trinity Congregational Church of Lawrence, will be the guest organist. Mrs. Clara R. Taylor, contralto soloist at Trinity Church, Lawrence, and Mrs. Hazel F. Hadfield, violinist, will be guest musicians for the service.

Reverend Vaughan Dabney, D.D., Dean of the Andover-Newton Theological School, will deliver the Dedicatory Sermon. Dean Dabney has a national reputation as a powerful preacher. The Highland Church is most fortunate to have such outstanding personalities for the dedication service. The church has earned this most fitting honor by its success in this forward step.

The Organ Committee, consisting of Mr. William Baker, chairman, Miss Laura Tolman, treasurer; Mr. George Lochman, collector; and Mr. Robert Winton and Mr. Arthur Kendrick have given freely of their time in a loyal effort to raise the money. From the outset they met with phenomenal success as willing people gave freely. All but about $1200 has been raised to date and many have given their word that they would still like to share in the cause.

Mr. Carlton N. Jones, the minister of the church, has on many occasions expressed his appreciation for the manner in which the Committee and members and friends have worked for the organ. The organ makes possible a worshipful addition to the exquisite Norman Chapel which completes the Church interior and facilitates the worship service. The interest and benefits have caused a marked increase in church attendance.

The organ was built by the William W. Laws' organ builders of Beverly. It is of unit construction which gives the church an instrument of wide combinations in ligitimate and borrowed stops. It was designed especially for the church and offers what the builder believes to be an instrument large enough and versatile enough for the size and architecture of the church building.

CHILD STRUCK BY TRAIN NOT SERIOUSLY HURT

Antonio Saragoso, three year old son of Mrs. Giovanna Saragoso of 24 Spruce street, escaped death yesterday morning when he was struck while crossing the main line tracks of the Boston & Maine Railroad near the northerly end of the new athletic field on Shore road by a north bound express leaving Winchester station at 9:15.

The little boy had followed his mother who had gone to the town dump with rubbish. He was struck by the rear end of the train, but aside from a bad fright and a shaking up, appeared to have not been seriously injured, being bruised and scraped about the right shoulder and having his jacket torn. He was taken home by his mother.

WINCHESTER GIRLS' SOAP SCULPTURE WINS AWARD

Miss Elizabeth Anne Philbrick of 10 Hillcrest Parkway was awarded the second prize of $75 for her statue, "The Connoisseur," which she submitted last week to the judges in the senior class soap sculpture contest conducted by Proctor and Gambel for small sculptures in white soap.

The contest was held in connection with the annual exhibition of soap sculpture at the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia. Fred Press of Boston was the first prize winner with his sculpture, "Indian Love."

FORMER VESTRYMEN TO ATTEND FAMILY SERVICE

Upon the instigation of Mr. Donald Heath of Everell road, former senior warden, all past vestrymen of the Church of the Epiphany are planning to attend the family Sunday service of morning prayer this Sunday at 11 o'clock.

Already a large group has signified their attention to be present, and it is hoped that all former vestrymen, whom it may not have been possible to contact, will make a real effort to attend.

PASSED BAR EXAMINATIONS

Miss Lucia Coit, daughter of the late George Chandler Coit and Mrs. Coit of Hillside avenue, was among the 15 successful women candidates for admission to the Massachusetts Bar at the recent examinations.

FATAL ACCIDENT ON WASHINGTON STREET

Mrs. Hulda C. Bergstrom Struck By Machine

Mrs. Hulda C. Bergstrom of 285 Washington street, widow of Axel E. Bergstrom and a widely known resident of Winchester, died at 2:45 Sunday afternoon, Sept. 26, in the Winchester Hospital of injuries sustained Saturday evening when she was struck by an automobile while crossing Washington street in front of her home.

According to the Police the accident occurred at 8:15. Mrs. Bergstrom was crossing the street from the westerly to the easterly sidewalk when she was struck and knocked down by a Buick roadster, driven by Mrs. Ruth J. Meskell of 8 Bridge street, who was heading north on Washington street.

Mrs. Bergstrom was removed to the sidewalk by August C. W. Nelson of 316 Washington street and attended at the scene of the accident by Dr. Philip J. McManus. The Police were notified, and Sergt. Joseph Derro with Patrolmen John H. Boyle and James E. Farrell responded with the department's ambulance.

Mrs. Bergstrom was taken in the ambulance to the Winchester Hospital where she was attended by Dr. R. W. Sheehy and Dr. A. P. Aitkin. She was found to have sustained several broken bones and internal injuries, her name being placed at once upon the hospital danger list. Her death occurred Sunday afternoon, by a strange coincidence on the 52nd anniversary of her marriage.

Hulda C. Bergstrom was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. Westerlund. She was born March 10, 1862, in Gotenburg, Sweden, was educated in the schools of her native city and made her home in Sweden until she reached the age of 21 years when she came to this country.

For a time she lived in Chicago and later in Stoneham, but for the past 40 years she had been a resident of Winchester, living for many years on Thompson street where her husband was long established as an upholsterer and cabinet maker. She had made her home on Washington street since 1930.

Mrs. Bergstrom was universally esteemed by those who knew her. She was especially fond of children, by whom she in turn was greatly beloved. Her only survivor is a son, A. E. Bergstrom of Danbury, N. H. Her husband, whom she married Sept. 26, 1885, died in 1929.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the late residence with the pastor of the First Baptist Church, Rev. R. Mitchell Rushton officiating. Violin selections were played by Leonard Wood of Arlington. Bearers were George Nowell, Lee Mellett, Patrick Maguire, John Benison, Andrew Erickson and Simon Johnson.

CONCORD HERE TOMORROW

Concord High School, riding the crest of a 6—6 tie with big Everett, comes to Winchester tomorrow to open the Middlesex League football season with the locals on the Shore road athletic field at 2 p.m.

A year ago Ficociello's 53 yard touchdown romp gave Winchester a 6—0 win over a Conord team that had little but fight, the locals rolling up 235 yards to its 56. Individually Concord had some good boys in its lineup and many of these lads are back in action this year, going better than ever and apparently working much better as a unit than they did last fall.

Both Winchester and Concord have new coaches this year, and both mentors will be out to win their first game at the expense of the other. Concord's new boss was by no means surprised at his charges showing at Everett, for as a matter of fact, he expected to win from the big city high school. He has a speedy back in Symer; an effective pass combine in Mara and Berlsidi; a good end in Rogers and three fine linemen in Mara, Grant and Parks.

Winchester will have no cinch turning back Concord tomorrow, though on paper the locals should win. A repetition, however, of the general indifference that characterized their play against Marblehead will likely result in another defeat, unless the visitors find that Everett softened them up rather more than they had figured on.

MRS. MARY COVELL SMALL

Mrs. Mary Covell Small, widow of Zebina Small, a veteran of the Civil War; died early Thursday morning, Sept. 30, at her home, 118 Forest street.

Mrs. Small was born April 26, 1846, in South Wellfleet, the daughter of William Witherell and Mary (Covell) Witherell. Most of her life until her marriage was spent in Cambridge, and later she was for 30 years a resident of Worcester, where she was a member of the Rebekahs and the Eastern Star. She was also a member of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ Scientist, in Boston, and resided in Winchester for the past 17 years. A son, James G. Simpson, with whom she made her home, is her only survivor.

Funeral services will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the chapel at the Cambridge Cemetery, where the interment will be made in the Small family lot. Mr. Harry Grothe, former reader at the Christian Science Church in Reading will officiate.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. LeRoyer have closed their summer home at Conomo and are back in town again.

BRADLEY—JONES

The marriage of Miss Marguerite Louise Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Woodbury Jones of Lakeview terrace, and Robert Whitney Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dexter Bradley of Swampscott, took place on Saturday evening, Sept. 25, at 8 o'clock in the Unitarian Church, with the minister, Rev. George Hale Reed, officiating.

The front of the auditorium was transformed for the ceremony into a late summer garden with zinnias, dahlias and asters seen against a background of evergreen and birch trees. In the center of the chancel were three tall pillars of dahlias, the entire setting being most unusual and effective. Music for the entrance of the bridal party was played by the church organist and choir director, Kenneth W. Moffatt. The ends of the pews along the center aisle were tied with sweet briar rose dahlias and green.

Miss Jones was given in marriage by her father and had her sister, Mrs. H. Percy Zeininger of Melrose, as matron of honor. A cousin, Miss Frances L. Johnson of Brookline and Miss Martha A. Howlett of Winchester were bridesmaids.

S. Whitney Bradley of Swampscott was his brother's best man and the ushers were Malcolm W. Jones of Marblehead and Lawrence F. Jones of Winchester, both brothers of the bride; Ralph W. Cushman, Jr., Elwin M. Tobin and Roy Woodworth, all of Lynn; Clarence Hammonds of Swampscott, Kenneth V. Curtin of Phillips Beach and Sheldon F. Goldthwait of Lynnfield Center.

The bride wore a period gown of white faille silk and a tulle veil arranged with a coronet of valley lilies, the same flowers being combined in her bouquet with single white asters and maidenhair fern. Mrs. Zeininger wore hyacinth blue satin with matching picture hat of tulle and carried blue Chinese delphinium and blue salvia with ferns. The bridesmaids were gowned alike in rose pink satin and wore pink tulle picture hats. Their flowers were single pink asters and ferns.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors, the parents of both the bride and bridegroom assisting in receiving. Mrs. Jones wore a gown of gold crepe with a corsage of small yellow Isabellina zinnias. Mrs. Bradley, the bridegroom's mother, wore a gown of crayon rose sheer with a corsage of matching asters and blue salvia. During the reception music was played by a trio composed of Louise Allman, violin; Barbara Pike, 'cello; and Mary Ranton Witham, piano. Preceding the marriage, on Friday evening, the bride and bridegroom and the entire bridal party were entertained at dinner by the parents of the bride.

Upon their return from a wedding journey through the White Mountains and Canada, Mr. Bradley and his bride are to make their home at 5 Mt. Vernon street in Marblehead.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School, of Webber College in Boston and of Babson Park, Florida. Mr. Bradley is a graduate of Lynn Classical High School and of Tufts College where he was a member of Alpha Kappa Pi and Tau Beta Pi. He is associated as engineer with the Design Division of the Hygrade Sylvania Corporation of Salem.

WORK IN CENTER NEARING COMPLETION

The work of renovating the center is nearing completion. Already our square has taken on a new aspect. With the removal of the big telephone poles on the west side of the tracks and with the already accomplished moving of the fence on Shore road, the big construction work will be completed. The Boston & Maine Railroad has already transferred its wires from the poles to the underground conduits, and work is progressing on the Western Union transfer. This company will be followed by the telephone work.

With the moving of the fence along Shore road nearer to the railroad tracks, the small shanty above the center has been eliminated, and the work of rebuilding Shore road was commenced yesterday.

The automatic control of the traffic lights by the railroad gates is now being installed. By this control the lights will go on (red) when the gates are lowered and will clear as they are raised. In addition to this feature, the lights may be controlled by the men at the gate-tenders' shanty, a switch being provided so that these men may throw the lights on or off.

LOCAL BOYS IN COLLEGE OPENERS

Two Winchester boys saw action on college football gridirons last Saturday. John "Steamer" Hanlon, former Winchester High co-captain and backfield stalwart, started in the New Hampshire State backfield against Lowell Textile; and big "Eddie" O'Melia, former Keith Academy all-around athlete, was a starting end for Holy Cross against St. Anselms. Reports of the games list both boys as playing well. Hanlon's blocking and line-bucking leading up to one of his team's three touchdowns; while O'Melia's defensive play was highly commended by the scribes who reviewed the St. Anselm game at Worcester.

EN KA MEETING

The fall En Ka meeting will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 6, at the home of Mrs. Harold Richmond, 30 Swan road. Morning coffee will be served from 12:30 to 1:30, to be immediately followed by the regular meeting

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Three members were absent from the meeting of Sept. 30. At length it seems that our attendance marks are improving—in a lasting fashion, we hope.

The board of directors held an important meeting at the home of President Warren A. Hersey on Monday, the 27th.

To Harry Damon has been assigned the duty of refurbishing our roadside "welcome" emblems, which have weathered many seasons with their cheerful greetings.

Regretfully we chronicle the fact that none of our members have registered for the District Conclave at Poland Spring on Oct. 3-6. To the best of our recollection the club has never before defaulted in this matter. We can but hope for last minute repentance on the part of some of our number.

Our Junior Rotarian service for the season of 1937-38 will begin next week. It is the general belief this service is of the most important undertakings ever sponsored by this club. Every member should be present on Oct. 7 to welcome our guests. A good time to better our current attendance record. It can be done.

Tasmania, a far distant island familiar to very few in our area is the subject of a comprehensive study in the October "Rotarian." It supports three Rotary clubs. Here is a chance to brush up on your geography.

To Ralph Bonnell we are indebted for a pleasing exhibit of motion pictures provided by the Ford Motor Co. under the direction of Mr. Clyde Haron. The first reel portrayed an automobile trip through the famous Yellowstone National Park with some unusual views of waterfalls, geysers and hot springs. A second reel took the observer on an airplane journey via Pan-American Airways through various islands of the West Indies and many cities of Guiana and northern Brazil, with several glimpses of the jungles of the latter area. These views were excellent artistically and in the case of the final series of a locale unknown in great part to all of us. Thanks, Ralph, for an entertainment period which was highly instructive and equally enjoyable.

Percentage of attendance, Sept. 23—90.63 per cent.

MISS BERTHA A. PALMER

Miss Bertha A. Palmer, retired Boston business woman, died Thursday afternoon, Sept. 30, at her home, 97 Highland avenue, after a brief illness with pneumonia.

Miss Palmer was the daughter of Jacob and Louise (True) Palmer. She was born 70 years ago at Palmer Settlement in Carlton County, N. B., but for half a century she had been in this country, living for many years in Cambridge before coming to Winchester in 1933. Until her retirement 10 years ago she was proprietor of Palmer's Corset Shop at 52 Winter street in Boston. She was actively identified with the Unitarian Church and a member of its Ladies' Friendly Society.

Miss Palmer is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Victoria Wilson of this town, Mrs. Charles Evans of South Hampton, N. H.; and Mrs. Alice Wilson of Lakeville, N. B.

Funeral services will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the late residence, with Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church officiating. Interment will be in the Palmer family lot in Tewksbury Cemetery.

MRS. ADA JEWELL

Mrs. Ada Jewell, a resident of Winchester for the past 12 years and living as companion with Miss Jeannette Fallon of 60 Lloyd street, died on Monday, Sept. 27, in the Symmes Arlington Hospital.

Mrs. Jewell, who was in her 70th year, was highly esteemed by all with whom she came in contact. She was a former resident of Staten Island, N. Y., and the remains were taken on there for interment, following funeral services which were held Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mr. George T. Locke on Pleasant street in Belmont. Mrs. Jewell was a widow and had no immediate survivors.

WINCHESTER GIRL FEATURED AT BROCKTON FAIR

Miss Barbara Flaherty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Flaherty of Upland road, and Miss Lorraine Foley of Salem street, Woburn, are featured in the motion picture which was produced at the recent Brockton Fair.

These talented young acrobatic dancers, already well known to Greater Boston audiences, were selected from a large field of capable contestants to appear in the picture, which is to show at all local theatres in the near future. A New York producer who saw the girls perform was so impressed with their ability that he is planning to show them to Metropolitan audiences during the coming winter.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

THE HOME-COMING OF THE PARISH OF THE EPIPHANY

Sunday, Oct. 3, will mark the re-assembling of the parish of the Epiphany after the summer vacation, and will have the festival tone of a home-coming. The choir, which during the summer months was replaced by a soloist, will be present and will again be directed by Mr. Enos Held. Mr. Held himself returns from a summer in Europe, where he was associated with others particularly interested in sacred choral music and in organ.

Mr. Held will be the organist for the service and will play as a prelude "Romanza," by Rheinberger, and as the postlude, "Grand Chorus" by Du Bois. As an offertory the choir will sing "Open Our Eyes," Macfarlane. As the music of the Communion service, the choir will sing Sir John Stainer's settings of the "Kyrie," the "Gloria Tibi," the "Sursum Corda," and the "Sanctus." The music of the "Gloria in Excelsis" will be an old chant.

The sermon will be given by the Rector of the Church of the Epiphany Rev. Dwight W. Hadley.

The proportion of young members in the congregation will be larger than usual. The troops of Boy Scouts that is associated with the parish will attend in a body, as will also the Girl Scout troop that meets at the parish house on Thursday afternoons. The proportion of young people will be increased also by the fact that many families will attend as a unit.

In decorating the church the Altar Guild will have the assistance of members of the Young People's group directed by Mr. Dana Cotton. They will be under the necessity of making flexible plans as to the exact nature of the decoration, for they have a rather capricious partner—the weather. If warm days keep fields and gardens a-bloom, they will use wild and garden flowers. If frost cuts down blossoms, they will trust to autumn foliage for color.

EPIPHANY ANNUAL AUTUMN FAIR

Mrs. Herbert Kelley Entertains Committee

Wednesday, Sept. 22, the Committee in charge of the annual autumn Fair of the parish of the Epiphany were the guests of Mrs. Herbert W. Kelley, the chairman, at her home, 3 Willow street.

The Fair itself is set for an early date, November 5, and consequently each department chairman has made plans early, and has selected her committee. The watchword for the Fair is the same that rings cheerily out in the crisp autumn twilights in college yards as a band of lads inclined to frolic calls a general invitation to whatever fun the combined wit and spirits of the whole campus can stir up: "Everybody out!" That is the aim of Mrs. Kelley and her committees, to bring the whole parish into acquaintance and good fellowship. Their standard of success will not be just the treasurer's report, but the number of women who help in making the fair and the number of men, women and children who enjoy it.

The members of Mrs. Kelley's committee are:

Treasurer—Mrs. Dunbar F. Carpenter.
Decoration—Mrs. Albert Crockett.
Gift Table—Mrs. F. E. Booth.
Kitchen Table—Mrs. John E. Hanlon.
White Elephant table—Mrs. Edward F. Boyd.
Food table—Mrs. L. Ellsworth Snow.
Candy table—Mrs. J. Warren Shoemaker.
Preserve table—Mrs. Alfred E. Sweet.
Children's table—Mrs. Ralph D. Bennett.
Toy table—Mrs. Gerald Y. Hills.
Grabs—Mrs. Charles M. Werly.
Movies—Mrs. Alden W. Sherman.
Plants and Flowers—Mrs. William H. Wightman.
Luncheon—Mrs. Malcomb H. Cook.
Tea—Mrs. Roland W. Fletcher.
Supper—Mrs. Torr W. Harmer.
Publicity—Mrs. Clifford Towner.

Mrs. Ralph Sparks of Cabot street is one of the hostesses for the "After-the-Theatre-Party" which will follow tonight's performance at the Plymouth Theatre in aid of the New England Hospital for Women.

FURTHER PLANS FOR FORTNIGHTLY CHARITY BALL AND PAGEANT

At a tea, given at the home of its Chairman, Mrs. V. Ghirardini, last Wednesday, plans were completed for an unusually fine evening of entertainment to be given in the Town Hall on Oct. 23, for the benefit of the Fortnightly Philanthropy Fund. Chairmen of the various standing committees of the club are taking an active part in the production of this brilliant spectacle. Mrs. M. H. Hintlian presided at the tea table.

A meeting was also held at the home of Mrs. Reginald Robinson, who is in charge of tickets. Among her capable committee are Mrs. John Maddocks, Mrs. Kingman Cass, Mrs. Earl Wood, Mrs. F. J. Lane and Mrs. Clifton S. Hall.

The casting committee, consisting of Mrs. Samuel Graves, Mrs. George Budd, Mrs. Jack Wills and Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini, have done a splendid job in casting the pageant, having left no stone unturned in an effort to find an exact prototype of each character to be represented.

Mrs. F. Hollingsworth Williams is chairman of the decorations, and with the aid of her splendid committee will transform Town Hall into a vast Cathedral, in which the Court will be held.

Mrs. Mary Ranton Witham, as chairman of the Music Committee has done a great deal of research on appropriate music for the pageant, and her efforts in securing the popular Karl Rohde and his orchestra for a Saturday night at this busy season of the year, will be appreciated by all who hear his splendid tunes.

Mrs. M. H. Hintlian is supervising the costuming of the pageant, and Mrs. Anita McGaragle will do the coaching.

BOY BICYCLE RIDER STRUCK BY AUTO

Joseph S. Powers, 11, of 39 White street was painfully injured shortly after 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon when the bicycle he was riding on Highland avenue near Prospect street was in collision with a Pontiac sedan, headed north on Highland avenue and driven by Mrs. Aline Poirier of Park avenue.

Young Powers was knocked from his machine. He was taken home by John Kazanian of 25 Blakeley road, Medford, and treated by Dr. Philip J. McManus for cuts on both knees and hands and bruises about the body.

Mrs. Poirier reported the accident to the Police, stating that the boy was riding in circles on the road at the time her car collided with his machine.

TRIPLE COLLISION ON MAIN STREET

Three cars were involved in a collision at the junction of Main street and Highland avenue shortly after 12:30 last Sunday afternoon. A Chevrolet coach, driven by Patrick J. Powers of Woburn, while headed north on Main street, swerved sharply to the right into Highland avenue, colliding with a Chevrolet sedan, driven by David Foley, Jr. of Arlington. Continuing ahead, the coach then collided with a LaSalle sedan, operated by Sidney G. Rubin of Somerville. All three cars were damaged but no injuries were reported. Powers claimed he had to swerve his car as he did to avoid a head-on collision with another machine.

HOSPITAL FINANCE COMMITTEE MUSTERS FOR DRIVE

Final Plans Announced for Campaign of October 15

Culminating a series of many meetings which have been held throughout the summer, the Winchester Hospital Finance Committee at a meeting held last Monday in the Staff Room of the Hospital perfected its plans for a fall campaign for funds which, beginning Oct. 15, will extend to the 25th of October. This drive, the first of its kind in the history of the Hospital, will seek to replace year-round individual solicitation of citizens by a compact campaign in which it is hoped more supporters may be found for the Hospital than has been possible under the previous method. The reasons for the campaign, which is expected to be an annual affair, will be developed in greater detail in next week's Star.

The Finance Committee is headed by Maurice F. Bird of Yale street. Serving with him in an executive capacity are Messrs. Edmund L. Dunn, Kenneth F. Caldwell, Theodore von Rosenvinge, R. Gilman Wallace and John Kenerson, who will respectively supervise the activities in precincts one and six combined, two, three, four, and five; Mr. Theodore Godwin who will be in charge of the Industrial Section; Messrs. Ernest W. Gross, Ernest Dudley Chase and John Ely Burchard, who are collaborating on publicity; Messrs. Geoffrey Neiley and Lafayette R. Chamberlin on general activities, Mr. Frank Crawford, Manager of the Hospital, has been at all the meetings of the committee ex officio.

In preparation for the campaign an interesting motion picture of all activities at the Hospital was taken during the early summer by Ernest Dudley Chase. This picture has already been shown at the Rotary Club, the Lions Club, the Rebeccas and the Elks. It is booked for showing at the Knights of Columbus on October 4, at the En Ka meeting at the home of Mrs. Harold Richmond of Swan road on Oct. 6, at the Methodist Church on Oct. 15. Permission has been granted for showings in the schools which are being arranged at the present time. Other bookings are in progress and any organization which wishes a showing should communicate with Mr. Bird.

Backing this display there will be posters, car stickers and buttons, all emanating from a unique design characteristic of our new Hospital, which was worked out by Mr. Chase. Mr. George C. Budd has supervised the design and construction of a large thermometer which will be erected on the grass plot back of the Winchester Drug Company in the center. Mr. Ernest Gross is additionally working on some special displays which will prove of great interest to Winchester citizens.

Due to the kindness of Mr. Locatelli, headquarters will be established in the Locatelli Building on the corner of Thompson and Main streets, as was the case in the Community Fund Drive. Decoration of these headquarters has been placed in the hands of Mrs. Fulton Brown. Two telephones will be installed at headquarters during the drive. They are listed in the Winhester exchange as Winchester Hospital Drive Headquarters and the numbers are Winchester 1904 and 1905.

Organization of the actual solicitation will be along military lines. Precinct chairmen have already been selected and are in the process of selecting their team captains each of whom will head a working group of ten solicitors. The personnel of this organization, uncompleted in time for announcement in this issue, will be given in next week's Star. Every effort will be made to intrust to each solicitor the visiting of families with whom he is already familiar.

Through the courtesy of the Fortnightly Club a large general meeting of the entire working personnel will be held Wednesday, Oct. 13, at 8 o'clock in the evening in Fortnightly Hall. At that time the reasons for the campaign and the working methods will be thoroughly reviewed, the motion pictures will be shown, the workers will be given useful working kits and uncompleted assignments will be made. Mr. Bird expects this to be a rousing meeting and regards it as the official starting gun for the campaign.

As has been said, the reasons for the campaign will be given in more detail at a later date. It may be useful to quote here from the brief foreword to the Hospital motion picture:

"In the past, the Winchester Hospital has been supported by special gifts, subscriptions and donations of material and money from a long list of generous, public-spirited individuals and organizations. These donations serve to cover the operating deficits that may exist, and now and then do take care of the barest replacement needs. By concentrating the collections of cash funds in a special campaign, more efficient financing can be brought about and . . . what is more important . . . public-spirited citizens who are anxious to support the work of the hospital can do so at one given period. The work of the various organizations which support the hospital will continue as in the past, and now this unselfish activity will be made even more effective by the generous public interest which is always aroused by any community campaign."

THE THRIFT SHOP

The Thrift Shop opens its sixth season on Monday, Oct 4 at 10 a. m. at 6 Park street, the same location as last year.

The loyal support of the people of Winchester has helped to make this worthy enterprise a success and it is hoped that they will continue their co-operation.

Anything and everything is acceptable and will be called for at your convenience. Lucy P. Burnham, chairman, tel. Win. 0320.

FRED W. ASELTINE
Chairman, Lynn Red Cross Drive

Mr. Fred W. Aseltine of Cabot street, widely known in furniture circles and president of the Hill-Welch Furniture Company of Lynn, has accepted the general chairmanship of the forthcoming Red Cross Roll Call in that city which opens on Nov. 11 and continues through Thanksgiving Day. This announcement was made public from the Red Cross National Headquarters in Washington.

THREE INJURED AS CARS COLLIDE

Three men were injured and the automobiles in which they were riding were badly smashed shortly after 11 o'clock Friday morning when a Buick sedan, driven east on Bacon street by Arthur S. Holmes of 3 Gleason street, West Medford, was in collison with a Chevrolet coach, headed east about 200 feet from the intersection of Main street and being driven by John M. Black of 3 Marshall street, Chelmsford.

Holmes sustained injuries to both knees and a hand. Herman L. Meyer of 110 Allston street, Medford, riding with him, complained of injuries to his shoulder. Black sustained a cut on the forehead. Both cars had to be towed to the Central Garage.

Black told the Police that he fell asleep at the wheel, losing control of his car.

Mr. Ray Harris of 3 Sanborn place returned Tuesday from a business trip to Maine.

Miss Maribel Vinson, internationally famous skater and resident of this town, is opening an engagement with her troupe of figure skaters Nov. 4 at the Olympic Arena, Lake Placid, N. Y. Afterward she is leaving for the continent to put on exhibitions of figure skating in various countries in Europe.

OUR MODERN AGE

By J. J. Doherty

GAMBLING

Now and then we get a shower of wide reforms from those in power. The most rockeyed of all, however, is no doubt this inspired endeavor of politicians of all classes to weed out gambling from the masses. A slot machine war breaks each year, and lottery drives are always here. But here's what makes us lose our lunch—the biggest gamblers of the bunch are really those same politicians who wave red flags at these conditions.

Why gamble with your hard earned money when it is so easy to have work done by dependable experts who guarantee quality workmanship at reasonable rates! If there is any plumbing work needed in your home have it handled by Fells Plumbing & Heating Co., of 656 Main St., and be sure of complete satisfaction.

BETHANY NOTES

The Silver Tea, sponsored by the Finance Committee, was quite well attended.

Miss Abby Potter had charge of the games, and presented the prizes, and while Miss Potter didn't object to giving two prizes to one person, she (we thought) rather reluctantly, gave the third prize also to the same "meanie" amid remarks "sotto voce" sounding very much like "should be shot at sunrise," the "meanie" etc. Lest the "Champion" should feel too "puffed up," we won't even mention her name. We will say, however, that Mrs. Amy Twombly was a very close second and should have honorable mention.

After the games, some very special looking sandwiches were served by Mrs. Rony Snyder, Mrs. Clarence Eddy and Mrs. John Webber.

The perfectly gorgeous cakes, which proved very delicious also, as they seemed to disappear like the proverbial "dew before the sun," were served by Miss Abby Potter and Mrs. Edward Weber. Mrs. L. J. Higgins poured the tea, and since no one can make coffee like Mrs. Susan Foster, who also served, and was assisted in pouring by Mrs. Clarence Eddy.

Everyone enjoyed a very pleasant afternoon and among those present were Mrs. L. J. Higgins, Mrs. Annie Foster, Mrs. Susan Foster, Mrs. Edward Weber, Miss Abbey Potter, Mrs. Rony Snyder, Mrs. John Webber, of the finance committee, and Mrs. Clarence Eddy, Mrs. H. N. Josephson, Mrs. William Cutter, Mrs. Charles Bonnell, Mrs. W. S. Farnham, Mrs. P. B. Thompson, Mrs. William J. Nutting, Mrs. H. C. Goodwin, Mrs. Amy Twombly, Mrs. Minnie Fogg, Mrs. John Robinson, Mrs. Peter MacDonald, Mrs. Ellen Dickie, Mrs. H. G. Kempton a guest of Mrs. MacDonald, and Mrs. John A. McLean.

FALL TEA

On the afternoon of Sept. 28, the Winchester Mt. Holyoke Club was entertained by Mrs. Kenneth C. Reynolds at her home on Seneca road. Mrs. Charles E. Greene the chairman for the past year, presided at the business session during which Mrs. William A. Kugler was elected by unanimous vote to be the chairman for the coming year.

Next in order was a report on the coming series of book reviews which are to begin this Tuesday morning at 10 a. m., at the Winchester Public Library. These entertaining talks on current literature are given by Mrs. Alice Dixon Bond, one of the well known lecturers of greater Boston.

A report was then given by Mrs. Kenneth Reynolds, chairman of the ticket committee. At this time also she announced the following officers: Treasurer, Mrs. Gerald R. Barrett; Posters, Waldon B. Hersey; Publicity, Mrs. James B. Willing.

The plan of establishing a permanent scholarship to be awarded to a Winchester girl who was entering or already attending Mt. Holyoke College was discussed with enthusiasm. The Club unanamously voted to use their funds for this purpose.

Following this business session, Mrs. James S. Allen and her social committee entertained the club at tea.

Mrs. George W. Hayden is chairman of the Dessert Bridge which the Women's Republican Club is holding on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 20, at the home of Mrs. Reginald Bradlee on Ledgewood road.

SUCCESSFUL DOUBLES TOURNAMENT AT PALMER STREET

The annual fall doubles tournament for boys and girls under 15, held last Saturday at Palmer street under the direction of Park Commissioner William S. Packer, produced some of the best tennis by players in the younger class yet shown in these deservedly popular competitions, which include boys' and girls' doubles and play for mixed teams.

Several of the best younger tennis players in greater Boston were included in the large entry list and competition was keen throughout. A large gallery was kept interested through the day, play lasting from early morning until about 5 o'clock. Perfect weather conditions prevailed.

Priscilla Tapley was the only local entrant to land a title, she combining with Dorothy Wightman of Chestnut Hill to win the girls' doubles from another Winchester girl, Natalie White, who paired with Norma Meister of Sharon.

Dick Bugbee of Winchester was a finalist in the boys' doubles, playing with Stockwell Evarts of Newton. This team was defeated in the championship round by the Newton team of Phil Scanlon and Ernest Johnson.

Winchester failed to land a team in the mixed doubles final, honors in this class going to Dorothy Wightman and Worcester Bruce Daniels, Cissy Madden of Jamaica Plain and John Lynch of Newton were the defeated finalists.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

Last Saturday night Fred Fish gave the members quite a treat. He showed some six reels of a sea trip in a 52 foot cruising schooner. This took place in 1935 and covered from Marblehead to the Bay of Fundy, with especial emphasis on the Maine coast. Some of the pictures were in black and white. Most, however, were in colors. They were wonderfully clear and beautifully tinted. A dozen or more Medford Boat Club paddlers were present to view the pictures.

Sunday Sailing

There was a strong wind for the sailing and it was puffy, too. The day was marked by several upsets and mishaps. Phil Cabot and Conrad Larsen, Jr., tipped over a couple of times. "Lad" Milliken broke a stay and nearly lost his mast. Junior Larsen, sailing Bill Craughwell's "Gutter Snipe," broke his rudder and finally ended up on shore. "Red" Irving broke a fore stay on John Ross' boat and had to put into Medford's Club for repairs. Taking it all in all, it was quite a blow.

First Race. All Snipes—Dick Merrow, 1, 28 minutes; Red Irving, 2; Skipper Hill, 3; Bud Blanchard, 4; Phil Cabot, 5; Don Simonds, 6.

Second Race. Handicap Special—Blanchard, 1, 28 minutes; Bryne, 2; Reeves, 3; Simonds, 4; Merrow, 5; Cabot, 6.

Third Race. Handicap Extra—Reeves, 1, 30 minutes; Blanchard, 2; Bryne, 3; Simonds, 4; Milliken, 5; Merrow, 6.

"Phil" Cabot sailing Ned Bean's decked sailer with the sliding keat, tipped over about 16 times in a half-hour. He went over with most every puff and bringing her up into the wind, would over again go, and then do it all over again.

NEW ENROLLMENT FOR THE C. C. C.

Young men between the ages of 17 and 24, U. S. citizens, unmarried, unemployed at the time of enrollment and in need of employment are eligible for enrollment in the Civilian Conservation Corps. Men who have an honorable discharge and have been out of the service six months, who have not reached their 24th birthday may re-enroll. When a man enrolls he is expected to stay in the Camp at least six months. Otherwise he causes the Government excessive expenditure for clothing, transportation and other items and does not fulfill his part of the enrollment agreement.

Physical fitness is important as physical examinations are given to all men. Those in camp will receive free medical care, and hospital care if needed. In case of accident in the line of duty, enrollees will come under the United States Compensation Law.

Camp life consists of a balanced program of work and leisure time activities. For those who wish instructions in subjects of practical value, there is a worthwhile educational program.

Miss Jeanne Phelps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Phelps of Grasmere avenue, left this week to begin her second year at Edgewood Park, Briarcliff, N. Y.

MARBLEHEAD WON FROM WINCHESTER

Locals Lose First Game on New Field, 14—0

Marblehead spoiled Winchester's first football game on its new enclosed gridiron at the Shore road last Saturday afternoon by defeating the local eleven, 14—0, before a crowd estimated at close to 3000. The setting for the game was perfect, bright sunshine combining with the green of the new gridiron to make a fine background for the colorful scarlet and black uniforms of the 'Headers and the new black and scarlet outfits of the home team. The field was in fine condition, thanks to the efforts of the Park Department and a big Police escort under Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Sergt. Charles J. Harrold handled the crowd and traffic nicely. The gridiron was kept free of spectators during the entire afternoon, permitting the Marblehead Band to strut its stuff unmolested between the halves.

From the spectator point of view the day was ideal, but from the standpoint of the players weather was much too hot for ball, and possibly the heat may have had something to do with the listless play of the local warriors, who really were rather more outclassed than the score would indicate.

Winchester's blocking was very ineffective and its tackling bad, even for early season, while at times the local boys in their efforts to cope with the tricky visiting offense looked more like a team of "rookies" than a practically veteran club playing a team quite a bit weaker than the eleven they held even at Marblehead a year ago.

Winchester was noticeably lacking in drive and except for one brief spurt in the third quarter, showed nothing even faintly resembling a consistent offense. The Scarlet horde made nine first downs to four for Winchester, rolling up 200 yards to 95 for the locals. The visitors lost 24 yards from scrimmage while Winchester got set back 43, losing five more for an offside penalty. Winchester fumbled twice, losing the ball both times, while recovering Marblehead's one fumble. Neither team completed a forward pass, though both used the lateral with some success.

The locals had Marblehead back on its toes in the opening minutes of play when Ficociello kicked far down the field to the visitors five yard line. On first down, however, Clark broke off the weak side tackle for a romp to the 32 and thereafter the visitors were in no real danger.

Winchester broke up a scoring threat when Lentine intercepted a pass at his 19 early in the second quarter. Shortly thereafter Godfrey kicked across the Winchester goal line and play resumed at the 20. A double lateral from Ficociello to Murray to Galuffo covered 9½ yards, and on the next play Ficociello hit off tackle for a first down at the 32.

Here a fumble was recovered by Marblehead and a double reverse and lateral with Clark carrying went to the 25. Three downs later Godfrey hit off tackle for a romp to the eight and three thrusts at the line advanced to the one yard stripe. On fourth down Keenan on a reverse was pocketed five yards behind the line, but twisted and turned away from several half-hearted tacklers to score standing up off his own right end. Clark circled Winchester's right end for the extra point.

After the half the going was rather even until midway through the third quarter when Godfrey kicked to Murray at Winchester's 9. Here the locals flashed their only real offense, crashing for three first downs in a row with Ficociello, Murray and Johnson carrying.

Starting the last quarter the ball was at Winchester's 42. On second down Geoghegan, a freshman back, was piled up for a 20 yard loss on an attempted end sweep and though Johnson got this back on a reverse to the weak side, Winchester had to kick. Ficociello's short boot being returned by Clark to his 30.

A costly offside helped the visitors to a first down at the locals' 48, from where in six rushes Clark and Keenan swept to the 10. On first down Clark, on a double reverse, circled Winchester's right end for the touchdown, Keenan on a lateral from a reverse went around the locals' left flank for the extra point.

This ended the scoring. Coach McGuinness sending in practically a second team to play the few remaining minutes of the game. For the visitors, Clark, Keenan and Daniels stood out. Co-Captain "Pete" Sibley was outstanding for Winchester with Paul Lentine and "Dan" Delorey playing well. "Art" Johnson was Winchester's best ground gainer, really running on the reverse play which was very effective the few times it was used. The summary:

WINCHESTER GIRLS AT EDGEWOOD PARK SCHOOL

Enrolled at the Edgewood Park School, Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., this fall are the following Winchester girls: Miss Jeanne Phelps, Miss Mary Jane Dickson, Miss Pamelia Leola Mitchell, Miss Mary Alice Mason, Miss Barbara Corwin, Miss Evelyn Hawes and Miss Betsy Jane Jones.

WINCHESTER SKIERS HOLD FIRST MEETING

The first gathering of Winchester's skiers was held last Friday night at Winton's hardware store on Mt. Vernon street. Fourteen skiers turned out for this preliminary meeting and some of the subjects discussed were—a place to meet throughout the winter (any suggestions will be more than welcome), what the program of activities should be, the possibilities of obtaining the use of open slopes in Winchester, the obtaining of an instructor, not only for grown-ups, but for children as well, for which there is a great need, and the selection of Nancy Bradlee as temporary secretary, at least.

Marshall Pihl is working on the possibilities of open slopes and trails in Winchester and Harry Bean is looking out for winter quarters. Both would welcome ideas along these lines.

Marshall Pihl also is working up a set of by-laws which will be gone over at the next meeting to be held on next Wednesday night, Oct. 6 at 7:30 p. m. at the Winchester Boat Club. Those who attend this meeting as well as those who were at the first meeting are qualified to apply as charter members.

Every member of the Winchester club will also be a member of the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association. This includes junior members under 18 years of age, for whom the special junior membership is available. Automatically included in each membership is a subscription to the ski bulletin and the ski annual. The Winchester club will also become a part of the U. S. Eastern.

At the next meeting, the subject of name, dues, object, by-laws and other business will be taken up and officers will be elected. Application blanks for the U. S. Eastern will be available and upon payment of dues and approval by the Association, those applying will become full-fledged members of both the Winchester club as well as of the Association with the full benefits of both.

Mr. Carl E. Shumway—"Old Man Winter"—in the Boston Transcript, who had planned to be at the first meeting, but who was unavoidably detained, has promised to come out to help in any way he can. His 30 years of experience in all phases of skiing, as well as the fact that he was one of the first presidents of the Dartmouth Outing Club, guarantee very valuable assistance.

Those who would like to come in as charter members, but who will be unable to be present personally, may signify their intentions by mail to Miss Nancy Bradlee, 89 Bacon street, Winchester. These letters or cards should be mailed so as to reach her in ample time for the meeting.

INJURED AS CARS CRASH

Miss Dolly M. Hill of 125 Salem street, Wakefield, complained of injuries to her right leg Tuesday evening when the Ford sedan she was driving was in collision at the junction of Washington street and the Mystic Valley Parkway with a Pontiac sedan, driven by Frank Barone of 386 Washington street. Both cars were badly damaged, the Pontiac being towed to Haggerty's Garage and the Ford, to the Central Garage.

TELEPHONE NUMBER 0029

Along with the million (yes—that's right) other statements and denials made by our Washington rulers, we wonder how many still believe that blurb denying that the social security—so called—would not regiment everyone in this nation? What's your number? Had it tattooed yet?

When traffic conditions in the center are finally straightened out we hope the authorities will either enforce or abolish the stop and directional lines on Church street at the northerly end of Common street. As things are now the careful driver, who stops first at the stop line as he should is generally the last away, being hemmed in by the boys and girls who can not stop for anything and who sail by him on both sides down to the very railroad tracks. The directional lines mean less than nothing to these breezy drivers and usually the co-operative soul who stops in the right lane for a right turn on Main street has to back pedal abruptly as some first-away operator cuts sharply to the right across his bows from the second or even the third lane, endangering both his fenders and peace of mind. It is practically impossible to turn from Main street into Common street to reach the station unless the operators who have ignored the stop line will back up to make an opening. Possibly it would be better to have the directional lines painted ahead of the stop line, but unless the stop line is enforced that too would not help. We think the stop line is an aid to orderly and efficient traffic flow, but if it is not to be enforced, it should not be maintained to penalize those who now observe it.

DESIGNATION OF CADET TO U. S. MILITARY ACADEMY

Examination at New Post Office, Lowell, Saturday, Nov. 6 1937, at 9 A. M.

The War Department has notified me that I am entitled to designate from the Fifth Congressional District of Massachusetts one candidate for cadet in the United States Military Academy at West Point, such cadet to enter the Academy during the summer of 1938. I am also entitled to designate two alternates who will be designated in order of rank if the principal fails.

The men whom I shall designate, both as principal and alternates, to enter the examination for admission to the United States Military Academy, will be selected as a result of a district-wide competitive examination. This examination, which is entirely unofficial, I have requested the United States Civil Service Commission to hold, and the Commission will, without my intervention, prepare the questions, hold the examination, correct the papers, and certify to me the ranks and relative standing of the competitors. This examination will be held at the new Post Office, Lowell, Mass., on Nov. 6, 1937, at 9 a. m.

I have requested the Civil Service Commission to give an examination of substantially the same degree of difficulty and in the same subjects as those which comprise the examination for admission to the Academy. The examination will consist of algebra, plane geometry, English composition and literature, United States history, ancient history, English grammar.

The first three in rank at the mental examination of Nov. 6, 1937, I shall cause to be examined by an official United States medical examiner, on a date to be set later, but subsequent to Nov. 6, 1937.

There will be no expense whatever involved in taking the above mental and physical examinations, other than the items of the applicant's travel. The examination I desire to be absolutely free to every young man residing in the Fifth District who will be within the proper age limits prescribed by the government as stated below.

Copies of a circular and official pamphlets, giving in detail the physical, mental and other requirements of the government and specimen examination papers, will gladly be sent free on request.

Those desiring to take the unofficial examination of Nov. 6, 1937, should furnish me with their names, addresses and schools attended, as soon as possible, but in no event later than Oct. 18, that I may be able to forward to each a card of authorization to take the examination.

VERMONT - NEW HAMPSHIRE BOUNDARY LINE IS LONGEST RECENTLY ADJUSTED

In 1912 Vermont and New Hampshire decided to ask the U. S. Supreme Court where one begins and the other ends. Now they know.

Finally approved a few weeks ago was Special Commissioner Samuel S. Gannett's report on the 238-mile boundary line which follows the meanderings of the Connecticut River between the two States. Actually, 206 disputed miles of line were surveyed, from which the whole boundary was marked beyond doubt or question.

This, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society, is the last word in a boundary squabble which has caused bloodshed, engineered a refusal to admit the free republic of Vermont to the United States until 1791, and inspired Vermont's flirtation with a Canadian union. It even involved efforts to split off a separate state between Vermont and New Hampshire.

Ten Dams on Boundary River

The newly approved boundary apparently changed no one's post office address, transfers not a single mile-square parcel of ground, and will necessitate no changes in maps on an ordinary scale. The Connecticut River's west bank in recent years has been the accepted boundary, and the new line merely marks off the west bank's original low water mark before dams were built to alter the river's flow.

The result has been to allot Vermont jurisdiction over a few more bucketfuls of river in one spot, several tubfuls more to New Hampshire in another. It may now be definitely known at which ripple Vermont regulations govern trout fishing and where New Hampshire game laws apply.

The true basis for a boundary dispute this late in history is the problem of bridges and taxation. It is a question of which State shall receive the taxes on riverside paper, lumber, and pulp mills, and the huge hydro-electric plants from whose dams on the Connecticut River power lines carry electricity throughout much of New England. Vermont is awarded a new island or so and some new exclusive tax clients. New Hampshire wins the duty of maintaining most of the bridges.

The upper Connecticut is a well-behaved little river, and would hardly have worn out the boundary line if left to itself. Except for several cutoffs, its rocky route, twisted and slow, has changed little since a lively logging industry filled it with rafts of timber from low wooded mountains on both sides. Now logs must come down to the pulp mills by truck or rails, for the river is blocked by ten power dams in its 200-mile career as a boundary. Because height of the river is now almost completely controlled by these dams, the natural low water mark was lost and had to be "fished" for. To establish it, a survey of the river had to be supplemented by old maps and blue prints.

Seven State Bouncary Disputes Adjusted Since 1920

Accuracy of this survey was guaranteed by starlight. Early American surveyors worked with a compass, which varies even during a day in the same place. This survey was checked every three of four miles by reference to the North Star. With transit, surveying rods, and chains, a single commissioner and his small field party of engineers settled a boundary which had baffled three commissions before 1792 and had caused bitter fighting.

THIS WEEK'S GARDENING

By Alfred A. Fraser

Seed pods of weeds will make you lots or work next spring. Gather and destroy them.

Cut off dead wood from shrubs.

Pick up and burn dead peony leaves.

While you're cleaning up, bury any old fruit lying around—save disease later on.

Plant mock oranges, lilacs, mallows and the like now.

Gladioli and Dahlias should be lifted now and stored in a cool moist place all winter. Cut the stems a foot long, lift the bulbs, let dry for a few days, clean, and put away until next spring in a cool moist place.

Newly planted trees and shrubs want lots of water—need it to carry them over the winter.

Of course you're going to sow seeds next spring. Now's a good time to take up what soil you'll need for filling your seed boxes.

Mulch trees and shrubs with well-rotted manure, if you have it.

Chrysanthemum plants in bloom can be lifted and potted for household use.

Leaves and garden rubbish make fine manure when prepared with suitable chemicals.

"Unreality is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, October 3.

The Golden Text is: "Thus saith the Lord, What iniquity have your fathers found in me, that they are gone far from me, and have walked after vanity, and are become vain?" (Jeremiah 2:5.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness. . . . For I the Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying unto thee, Fear not; I will help thee" (Isaiah 41:10, 13).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Fear, which is an element of all disease, must be cast out to readjust the balance for God. Casting out evil and fear enables truth to outweigh error. The only course is to take antagonistic grounds against all that is opposed to the health, holiness, and harmony of man, God's image" (p. 392).

Plans are going forward for the rededication week program Oct. 10-17. At the fellowship Supper on Friday night, the Rev. J. Lester Hankins, former secretary of the Emergency Peace Campaign who spent this summer travelling in Europe, will give his impressions of the European problem.

FOYNES, NEW AERIAL THRESHOLD OF EUROPE

Foynes is the newest aerial threshold of Europe. American clipper planes and big British flying boats recently used this River Shannon port as the landing and taking-off place on trail-blazing flights over the projected North Atlantic air route.

Thus the little-known Irish Free State town assumes an important role as one of the aquatic "stepping stones" on the airline that will link Southampton, England, with the U. S. and Canada. Another stop used during the flights was Botwood, Newfoundland.

Foynes is situated, not on the rippling Irish stream invoked by the song "Where the River Shannon Flows," but on the river's wide, calm estuary, a lakelike expanse of water sixty miles long and ten miles wide at its mouth on the Atlantic, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society.

Shannon Also Noted for Salmon

Foynes Harbor, stretching between the town of Foynes, on the river bank, and Foynes Island, north of it, is well sheltered and affords safe anchorage for both ships and seaplanes. At nearby Rynanna, a radio station is being equipped to give the flying boats bearings during their long ocean crossings.

Foynes has excellent modern docks and adequate storage space for gasoline, oil, and coal. Supplies are easily obtained from Limerick, an important manufacturing city and railroad junction about twenty miles farther up the Shannon. Limerick is also linked by canals with Dublin, the Capital, on the east coast of Ireland.

At both Foynes and Limerick the blue Shannon is full of traffic: black-sailed peat-carriers and ships carrying flour, butter, and salmon to British ports. Boats plying the river have to avoid salmon weirs, for Limerick is the headquarters for Ireland's valuable salmon fisheries.

At Ardnacrusha, three and a half miles north of Limerick, the Shannon has been dammed. The water harnessed by an enormous hydro-electric plant generates electricity for almost the entire Irish Free State, partly compensating it for lack of sufficient coal. Lake Derg, an expansion of the Shannon about twenty-five miles long and three miles wide, is the reservoir which stores water for the plant.

OBSERVATIONS

(By The Observer)

The WINCHESTER STAR covers fair Winchester like a roof.

Maybe that Winchester fellow is right who claims that the best laws are those that are never enacted.

There is a serum to protect you against almost everything except friends who have the borrowing habit.

And the worst of it is, his gloom is catching. It will spread to others near him. This invariably happens everytime.

One of the best salesmen that ever came to Winchester is an extra good listener.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

(By Ann Page)

Grapes are in full season, including native Concords and other slipskin varieties and the California eating grapes such as Thompson seedless, Tokays, Malagas and Ribiers. Apples cranberries and grapefruit are also helping replace the summer fruits.

Iceberg lettuce is again cheap. Tomatoes, onions, peppers and celery are reasonable. Potatoes, both white and sweet are low in cost.

Ducklings and lamb are the best buys in the meat line though pork is a little lower. Both beef and veal prices have risen. Eggs and butter are showing the usual fall increases in price but are still reasonable.

Seasonable foods make up the following menus:

Low Cost Dinner
Pork Chops Sweet Potatoes
Creamed Cabbage Bread and Butter
Apple Tapioca Pudding
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner
Baked Ham with Apple Rings
Mashed Potatoes Green Beans
Floating Island Bread and Butter
Tea or Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner
Grape and Grapefruit Cup
Roast Duck with Apple and Onion Stuffing
Browned Sweet Potatoes
Brussels Sprouts Combination Salad
Bread and Butter
Coffee Ice Cream Wafers
Coffee

The progressive Winchesterite has his vision trained onward and upward, but the wise fellow who succeeds, pauses to glance backward for there lies the highway paved with experience—the route from the fields of wisdom.

WINCHESTER GROUP THEATRE

With the current widespread interest in the theatre, and particularly in small theatre groups, Winchester followers of the drama will be delighted to know that the first Winchester Group Theatre production is already underway. Informal rehearsals have been taking place at the Yale street home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyndon Burnham and production is scheduled for Nov. 20, when "The Cat and the Canary," famous mystery melodrama of some 15 years ago will be given in the high school auditorium.

The original New York cast of this play included such well-known names as Henry Hull, Florence Eldridge and Blanche Frederici; and Dr. Eugene Pollard, president of Winchester's Theatre Group promises a talented and experienced cast to do full justice to the clever lines and thrilling situations.

The Group's second selection of the season, to be given in late winter or early spring, will be Jane Austen's famous "Pride and Prejudice." This offers an unusual opportunity for Group members in costume and scenery designing.

Admission to these plays, as usual, will be by membership only, and Mrs. Herbert T. Wadsworth, chairman of membership, announces her lists to be rapidly filling.

LIONS CLUB

The regular meeting of the Lions at the Elks last Monday noon was very interesting as a fine talkie movie was put on by the representatives of the Johns-Manville Co. showing home insulation. A trip through their plant showing preparation of material to produce rock wool which is applied to wall spaces for keeping the house warmer in winter and cooler in summer was certainly worth while. The method of application and the science of insulation of homes is another exponent of the trend of time.

Fred put on another one of his famous lunches and the missing Lions are certainly missing much.

President "Bob" Emery hustled through all business so that more time could be had for the social hour. Next meeting we expect a good speaker to entertain us with a subject interesting to all.

As the Calumet Club has re-opened we are to hold the next meeting there at 12:15 p. m. Monday, Oct. 4.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY HOLDS FIRST MEETING

The Ladies' Friendly Society of the Unitarian Church meets for the first time this fall on Tuesday, Oct. 5. After a 1 o'clock luncheon there will be a business meeting and the Rev. Wilton E. Cross, pastor of the Taunton Unitarian Church, will speak on "Turning the Pages." Last year the Taunton Church celebrated its 300th anniversary. Entertaining the Unitarian minister and his wife from Taunton, England, Mr. Cross is a young man, an able and interesting speaker, and one well worth hearing. All those interested in this meeting of the Ladies' Friendly are cordially invited to attend.

THE WESTERN MISSIONARY SOCIETY

First Congregational Church

The Western Missionary Society will meet Thursday, Oct. 7. Board meeting at 11. Luncheon will be served at 12:15. Those bringing guests are asked to notify Mrs. Harold Twombly, Win. 0484. The Thank Offering boxes are to be brought in at this meeting.

HEART TO HEART TALKS

Why Not Brotherly Love?

We Americans live in the greatest country on earth. We stand as a people, in the presence of a commanding history. Our past is a halo of glory. The chief reason for our great success as a nation is due to the determination of our illustrious progenitors to maintain complete religious freedom. They sought to build a government on the rock of freedom, but we do not show signs of substituting prejudices for the better things of living? Our people have fallen down on the business of fellowship. Not only politically but religiously the atmosphere of our great country is thick with the flying, poisoning arrows of suspicion and acts of meanness toward others. In some respects we do not seem to have advanced much beyond the so-called Dark Ages so far as the harmful, malicious and hateful spirit of religious intolerance is concerned.

It isn't the kind of life a man lives so much as it is the church he attends. The bigots have no monopoly on any one creed. The slanderers, falsifier agitators aiming to stir up racial and religious hatreds are found in every creed.

We need brotherly love and a lot more of it than we ever had before. If we accept the teachings of the church we attend or believe in for our rule, our guide, our standard and philosophy of life things will run along smoothly in every sphere of human action. If we live decent lives ourselves—either as Catholics, Jews or Protestants—we will put into practice the Golden Rule.

What this land and the whole world needs is to master the lesson of brotherly love. Nine tenths of the prevailing religious indifference and unhappiness of our people generally would be done away with if more of us practiced what we preached. Men need a vision of Better Living. We need to mount higher altitudes of living and outlook. We need God. The true defense of any nation is the strong character of its people.

"ARTISTS AND MODELS" AT THE UNIVERSITY THEATRE

"Artists and Models," a glittering musical extravaganza, which starts Sunday at the University Theatre, presents an imposing array of film and radio talent. Jack Benny heads the list of players, and the featured names include Martha Raye, Ida Lupino, Gail Patrick, Richard Arlen, Ben Blue, Judy Canova, Connie Boswell, The Yacht Club Boys and Andre Kostelznetz.

Peter Lorre, the screen's master of impersonation, thrillingly portrays J. P. Marquand's diminutive Japanese master of crime detection in "Think Fast, Mr. Moto," the companion feature. The supporting cast includes Virginia Field, Thomas Beck and Sig Rumann.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes "The Green Light" co-starring Errol Flynn and Anita Louise and "The Gay Desperado" featuring Nino Martini, Ida Lupino and Leo Carrillo.

Madeleine Carroll and Frances Lederer, the screen's newest and brightest romantic team, are brought together in the scintillating romantic comedy, "It's All Yours," which starts Thursday.

In what is described as the most elaborately stages, and most highly emotional picture of her brilliant career, Kay Francis comes in the companion feature. It is the drama "Confession" adapted from the famed European stage play, "Mazurka," which had sensational runs in the Continental capitals.

Winchester fellow has a cold and he muses:
My air's dejected, gloomy, sad.
Dispirited and gloomy.
My nose is red, my temper bad.
My eyes both red and rheumy.
Though once I smiled I smile no more,
And laughter I have forgotten.
To me living is a bore
And believe it or not, I'm feeling mighty rotten.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Preservation of Antiques

The Fortnightly Antiques Group under the guidance of Mr. W. H. Ropes, a councillor at the Essex Institute spent an interesting afternoon in Salem.

The Pingree House which stands next door to the Institute on Essex street was designed and built by Samuel McIntire in 1804. It was built for Captain John Gardner, eldest son of John and Sarah Derby Gardner, a merchant and master mariner. The War of 1812 ruined him but he started to rebuild his fortune with his son John. His mansion was sold several times. Finally in 1834 David Pingree acquired it. He was the sixth Mayor of Salem and a well known merchant. The fine mansion occupied by ship owners of wealth was owned by the Pingree family for nearly a century. Mayor Pingree's son David was senior vice president of the Essex Institute and his heirs gave the mansion to the Institute several years ago. Many restorations have had to be made. The house is now one of Salem's great attractions for visitors and students of Samuel McIntire's work. It is a three story brick mansion with an ell in the rear. The plan for each floor are practically the same, four rooms, each with a fireplace. The house is furnished throughout as though lived in by successive generations.

There are many fine sets of Hepplewhite and Sheraton chairs, Martha Washington chairs and sewing tables, a walnut Queen Anne Highboy of 1760, a swell front inlaid Hepplewhite bureau, a pie crust table, together with many other fine examples of Salem Chippendale. The rear parlor is furnished in teakwood in tribute to the great amount of this type of furniture brought back by Salem skippers. In the china closet are services of Canton, Nankin and Oriental Lowestoft. This mansion restored displays Salem Life at its height—completely furnished to represent the early 19th century period of wealthy ship-owner prosperity.

Passing on to the John Ward House built in 1684 we find a picturesque example of our earliest pretentious dwellings. In the lean to portion of the Ward House, are to be found an apothecary shop of 1830, also a weave room with loom, spinning wheels and many other devices used in turning flax and wool into cloth, and a "cent shop," a forerunner of the modern "five and ten."

There is nearby a complete shoemaker's shop of the early 19th century, with bench and forms, the lasts left almost as if the cobbler had just stepped away from his work. In the fireproof annex are found collections of baskets, wooden ware, sleighs, buggies, Roger Groups together with many fine examples of our early industries.

In the museum are all the accessories which made life attractive and pleasant. There are dresses of silk and satin, veils, kerchiefs and dainty French slippers. Bridal gowns of bygone days are there for you to see and study. Lovely fans, beautiful tortoise shell combs displayed in attractive cases. Samplers are in great variety, painting, quilwork and embroidery. Lovely baby clothes, carriages, cradles, children's toys and dolls.

"The men are no less well represented. The military uniforms, as well as other elegant clothes are on display. Miniatures painted on ivory, snuff boxes and watches in great variety. Mr. Ropes has assembled a fine collection of buttons and coins. The fine examples of blown and pressed glass, china, pottery, silver, early lighting devices, pewter and many a score of other special collections make the Essex Institute a treasure house of American beginnings.

The plot of "Topper," dealing with the hilarious escapades of madcaps from another world, provides a story that bursts all the bounds of high comedy. "Topper" is something absolutely new in screen entertainment and one of the funniest pictures ever made.

Jack Oakie and Ann Sothern in "Super Sleuth" is the second attraction on the bill starting today. Jack Oakie is cast as a famous screen star who plays detective roles. His success on the screen makes him think he can solve crimes even when out of pictures. OBSERVATIONS

It is the ambition of one Winchester small boy to have a mouth large enough to play a concert harmonica.

The jump in the Federal payroll reminds us that the letter carrier even in Winchester earns all he gets.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"Between Two Women," starring Franchot Tone, Virginia Bruce and Maureen O'Sullivan, plus Bobby Breen in "Make A Wish" is the double bill opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. "Between Two Women" present Franchot Tone as a surgeon at a hospital. He is in love with a nurse, Maureen O'Sullivan, but she is married to another doctor. Virginia Bruce, an heiress, is brought in for an emergency operation. Tone operates and the girl becomes infatuated with him. Tone tells her he will marry her if she will agree to live on his salary. Too late they discover it was a case of infatuation on the part of both and not love. Others in the cast are Cliff Edwards, Janet Beecher, Leonard Penn, Charles Grapewyn, June Clayworth and Edward Norris.

"Make A Wish," opens with the sensational young singing star, Bobby Breen, at a boys camp where he meets Basil Rathbone, a composer. Bobby becomes very fond of Rathbone when his mother, Marion Claire comes for him he presents his new friend. This irritates her fiance, Ralph Forbes. The situation reaches a minor climax when Rathbone urges Bobby's mother, a former singing star of the stage, the leading role of his new operetta.

DINNER PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Franklin entertained at dinner last Saturday evening at their home on Fairmount street in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell D. Mansfield of Springfield, former widely known residents of Winchester, who came on to Boston with the Springfield college football team, of which Mr. Mansfield is end coach. Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Raymond V. Hayward of Eaton court, Dr. Paul Hugenberger of Boston, Mr. Edward Bartlett of Beverly, high school faculty member; and Mr. James Penaligan.

Following dinner, Messrs. Mansfield, Bartlett and Penaligan and Dr. Hugenberger repaired to an out-of-town horse-shoe court where the first two named engaged the latter pair in the second of a series of matches, the result of which can not be made public at this time. Messrs. Franklin and Hayward, after a bit of kabitzing, at a safe distance from the court, withdrew into the night in search of warmer entertainment.

Returning to the Franklin home, the party was augmented by the arrival of Mr. Otis Alley of Walnut street, who entered into with Mr. Mansfield a somewhat technical discussion of the probable chemical content of an apparently abstruse specific for the treatment and amelioration of athlete's foot. Vocal numbers were sung by an impromptu quartet comprising the "Squire" and Mrs. Franklin, Mr. Hayward and Mr. Penaligan, their efforts being pleasing to all but Mr. Bartlett, who seemed definitely not in the mood.

Refreshments were served and greatly enjoyed, especially by the Mansfields' bull-pup, "Jack," who wandered considerably from his usually rigorous diet. Cards and other games of skill, with brief snatches of football discussion, aided in making the evening pass all too swiftly.

OBSERVED 25TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Thwing observed their 25th wedding anniversary Monday evening at their home on Lloyd street where a group of friends and business associates of Mr. Thwing's gathered to offer congratulations and their best wishes for the future. Many congratulatory messages and cards contained gifts with a number of gifts, among which were a huge bouquet of roses and a treasure chest of silver dollars.

An amusing incident was the staging of a mock wedding with Mr. Gilbert A. Arnold of Lexington as the bridegroom, Mr. William A. Bridgeman of Stoneham as the blushing bride and Mr. Howard Leavitt of Somerville as the clergyman. The bride's costume was most unusual and her novel bouquet comprised very late fall blooms, carrots and red celophane. The clergyman was chiefly distinguished by his brilliant red ascot tie, and the groom, by his proclamation that he had tickets for the world series.

William J. Thwing and Miss Mildred Hawkes were married Oct. 4, 1912, in Shelburne Falls, and have made their home in Winchester for the past 13 years. They have a daughter, Miss Marguerite Thwing, and two sons, Roger W., a senior at Northeastern, and Kirby Thwing, a member of the sophomore class at Bowdoin.

GOODWIN—GLIDDEN

Miss Arria Somes Glidden, daughter of Mr. E. R. Glidden of Ossipee, N. H. and Richard Henry Goodwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Goodwin of Grandview road, Arlington, were married Saturday afternoon, Oct. 2 at 4 o'clock, at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Herson, 41 Glen road, by Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church. Only relatives and a few intimate friends attended the ceremony and the small reception which followed. The bride and bridegroom were unattended.

Miss Glidden wore a street length gown of black taffeta with a corsage of white orchids. She is a graduate of Winchester High School, class of 1932, and has been making her home with her uncle and aunt on Glen road. Mr. Goodwin attended the Arlington schools and Wentworth Institute, and is associated with Livezey Linoleum Floors, Inc. He and his bride are to make their home in Malden.

HARVEST HOME SUPPER

There will be a fall get-together supper at the First Congregational Church, Friday evening of this week.

The 100th anniversary committee, which is already making plans for the celebration of the 100th anniversary in 1940, will report on that evening. The committee will show a series of unusual slides as part of its report.

Those in charge of the supper are planning to make this an event in the life of the church.

HOSPITAL DEFICIT TO BE ELIMINATED SAYS BIRD

"That each of you will spare no effort to have your entire working staff at our general meeting of Wednesday, Oct. 13, at 8 o'clock in Fortnightly Hall, is taken for granted," said Maurice C. Bird, chairman of the Winchester Hospital Finance Committee, in transmitting last-minute instructions to his precinct chairmen. "At that meeting, which will not be long, we intend to make clear to the workers exactly what they are supposed to do and why they are supposed to do it."

"The purpose of our campaign which begins on Oct. 15 and ends on Oct. 25 is to raise a sum of money which will cover the annual deficit of the hospital and provide a small margin for replacement of equipment which naturally wears out with service. This deficit is of course no new thing. It exists in every hospital which takes a public-spirited attitude towards those who cannot afford to pay the full cost of hospital care. As a matter of fact, due to the efficient management of Frank Crawford, our deficit is much smaller than it is in most similar institutions.

"None the less it exists and has existed in the past. In the past however it has been made up by private solicitation of a number of citizens. This solicitation has occurred at no regular interval, has taken a good deal of the manager's time, and in general has not spread the load as it should be.

"While I am of course concerned in eliminating this deficit, I am even more concerned in making our hospital a truly local institution in which every citizen may not only take pride but in which he may also feel that he is a part because he helps to support it. Hence perhaps our primary objective in this canvass is to obtain a very large total number of subscribers.

"To succeed in this our solicitors, their captains, the precinct chairmen, must have as clear an idea of our needs and objectives and reasons as we of the Finance Committee have obtained through the summer. To that end we will present these facts at our Wednesday meeting through the medium of short speeches and a motion picture. We will have music and light refreshments and we hope to establish at the outset an esprit de corps which will be maintained through the campaign by contacts at our headquarters in the Locatelli Building.

"The soldier who fails to call for his equipment at issuing time usually isn't in good shape when the bugle blows. We want all our men properly equipped and this can only be achieved by a full attendance at a meeting which we can promise will be anything but a bore."

OBSERVED SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Town Engineer and Mrs. Parker Holbrook of Mt. Pleasant street observed their 25th wedding anniversary on Sunday, Oct. 3, enjoying first a week-end motor trip which they had planned in anticipation of the event, and returning Sunday evening to find at their home a large group of relatives and friends waiting to offer their best wishes and congratulations.

Though taken by surprise, the Holbrooks were able to voice their appreciation of their friends' thoughtfulness and to extend their thanks for the anniversary gifts which they received. An informal reception and social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

Parker Holbrook and Miss Anna Arnold were married in 1912 by the late Rev. Murray W. Dewart, then rector of the Church of the Epiphany. They have two daughters, the Misses Marjorie and Shirley Holbrook and a son, Arnold R. Holbrook. Mrs. Holbrook is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Arnold of Dix terrace who were among the guests at the anniversary celebration.

SENATOR HENRY CABOT LODGE, JR., TO BE GUEST OF FORTNIGHTLY

The Fortnightly is happy to announce that on Tuesday evening, Oct. 26, at 8 o'clock, in Fortnightly Hall, the Legislation Committee, with Mrs. Warren C. Whitman as chairman, will present Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., who will speak on "Washington Highlights."

With all eyes turned toward Washington—and to Senator Lodge as our especial corner of Washington—the story of current events in Washington today, as told by Senator Lodge in person, will be of interest to all Winchesterites. For that reason the meeting will be open to the public, with no admission charge—and the Legislation Committee cordially invites all Fortnightly members to come and bring their friends.

Guests who do not care to play bridge will be most welcome. A room will be provided for knitters and those who wish to sew.

Bring you own favorite game and find your partners.

GEORGE FOREMAN

George Foreman, long identified with the leather industry and a resident of Winchester for 40 years, died Sunday noon, Oct. 3, at his home, 22 Nelson street, after a two years' illness.

Mr. Foreman was the son of Daniel and Carrie Foreman and was born in Buffalo, N. Y. After receiving his education in the Buffalo schools he entered the leather industry, learning the business thoroughly and being employed in plants in several towns of the Pennsylvania leather section. He was actively identified with the Odd Fellows at this time.

Mr. Foreman was last employed in Pennsylvania by the late Elisha W. Cobb, coming with him from Ludlow, Pa., to Winchester when Beggs & Cobb's leather plant was established here 40 years ago. Until his health failed two years ago, he had been employed at the local plant as master mechanic, his knowledge of processes and tanning machinery making him a valuable employee.

On Oct. 12, 1917, he married Bessie Fohlin, who survives him with two daughters, Mrs. Ralph W. Hatch and Miss Virginia Foreman, both of Winchester; a sister, Mrs. John Anderson of Erie, Pa.; two brothers, Frank Foreman of Erie, Pa., and William Foreman of Randolph, N. Y.; and three grandchildren, George William, Jean and Donald Hatch, all of this town.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at the late residence, with Rev. George A. Butters, pastor of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church, officiating. Three past grands of the Waterfield Lodge, I. O. O. F., of this town, Ralph W. Hatch, Carl Morse and Arthur Cameron, were bearers with Charles Fohlin and Paul Fohlin of Boston and Nels Anderson of Milton. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

MRS. MARGARET RANKIN REID

Mrs. Margaret Rankin Reid, wife of Daniel Reid, died Saturday, Oct. 2, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Margery Phillips, 50 Myrtle terrace, in her 78th year.

Mrs. Reid had lived in Winchester since last June. She was born in Glasgow, Scotland, daughter of Thomas and Margaret Rankin, and for several years lived in Bradford, England, before coming to this country in 1908. She was for 25 years a resident of Medford, coming to Winchester from that city.

Surviving, besides her husband and daughter, are two sons, Robert Reid of Allston and Harry Rankin Reid or Lakewood, Ohio, and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon in Meyer Chapel of the Unitarian Church with Rev. Seth Roger Brooks, pastor of the First Universalist Church in Malden, officiating. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke, president, called to order the first meeting of the Women's Republican Club for this year and after a few words of welcome introduced the speaker of the day, Dr. George O. Lillegard, who spoke on "The Yellow Peril or Red Menace."

Having recently returned from many years missionary work in China, Dr. Lillegard was able to give us a true, and very interesting picture of conditions in that unfortunate country.

Dr. Lillegard decried the President's idealistic speech at Chicago as being altogether too subtle, adding that the country may well wonder whether he intends to thrust the nation into war, in an attempt to develop a dictatorship overnight.

At the conclusion of the meeting tea was served, forming a delightful social hour in which to greet old friends and new.

MARRIAGE OF WINCHESTER INTEREST

Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church, will go to Wellesley Saturday afternoon to officiate at the marriage of Miss Barbara Bourne to Harold Earl Bray which is to take place at 4 o'clock in the Wellesley College Chapel. Miss Bourne, a graduate of Wellesley, is the daughter of Mr. Phillip Payson Bourne of Foxboro, who formerly made his home in Winchester on Symmes road. She prepared for college at Winchester High School where she was actively identified with athletics and popular with her classmates.

"THE GHOST TRAIN"

Opening Play of Parish Players

The Parish Players of the First Congregational Church will open their twelfth consecutive season with Arnold Ridley's famous mystery-farce, "The Ghost Train." This play ran six months at the Copley Theatre, Boston, some years ago. It was the most successful play ever staged there. Those who saw it will welcome the opportunity of seeing it again, and to those who will see it for the first time a thrilling evening is promised.

The Parish Players have secured the sound and other equipment used in the original production, and the man who ran it. An opportunity to see this equipment after the play will be afforded those who attend.

The second play is Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew." This is a rollicking comedy, with enough solid sense in it for people to get their teeth into. It is not all froth. There is enough in it to make one think as well as laugh.

The last play of the season will be Ivor Novello's modern comedy "Fresh Fields," which had a successful run in New York and London.

The Parish Players feel that they have never presented a better balanced program to their subscribers than in this season's series. The plays will be given as usual, in the parish hall of the First Congregational Church, and the delightful opportunity for social intercourse over coffee served between the acts will be observed.

The dates are as follows:

Nov. 5—"The Ghost Train"
Feb. 4—"The Taming of the Shrew"
April 22—"Fresh Fields."

NEW TRAFFIC LIGHTS ARE ON

Watch your step when you drive through Winchester center. The new traffic lights are working. Keep in your own lane and stop at the street markings, otherwise you may find yourself in trouble.

The new control unit was received last week, and by Wednesday the lights were connected and tested. On Wednesday night, or more properly speaking on Thursday morning at 1 a. m., a complete check-up was made of the automatic device controlling them.

At 11 a. m. Thursday morning the lights were officially put in service, the policeman's stand in the center removed and every driver put on his own.

At the present time it seems too early to make any criticism of the new system. Various faults have been pointed out and many suggestions for improving the outfit made, but it will take several days to determine just how efficient the lay-out is. Experiments are to be made both in handling the traffic automatically and by hand control.

There is no doubt whatever regarding the automatic ston signals shown all over the square when the railroad gates are lowered. This is working out satisfactorily.

WINCHESTER AT STONEHAM

Winchester High journeys to Stoneham tomorrow afternoon for a Middlesex League football game with Stoneham High on the Pomeworth street grounds, commencing at 2 o'clock.

On paper this should not be a hard game for the locals. Stoneham is reputed to be weak this fall, and aside from a passing threat to have little about which to worry.

Winchester would be a bit better prepared for tomorrow's battle had its eleven had a bit more competition from Concord last Saturday, for Stoneham will at least put up a battle against the locals, and it is still easy to remember what happened to an over-confident championship club at Pomeworth street two years ago.

Coach Lauer expects to start the same club that took the field against Concord and is not anticipating any drastic lineup changes for this game at least.

BACHELOR DINNER FOR TROOPER TO MARRY WINCHESTER GIRL

State Trooper Thomas Fitzgerald of Dorchester, who is to marry Miss Alice M. Kenney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Kenney of Fenwick road on Columbus Day, was tendered a bachelor dinner by a large group of his friends and associates Monday evening at the Hotel Manger, Boston.

Lieutenant-Governor Francis E. Kelly and Timothy Murphy, secretary of the Department of Public Safety, were among the guests, and many prominent in civic life were included on the large committee in charge of arrangements. Corporal Arthur T. O'Leary of this town and State Troopers Albert Goslin and Samuel Beattie were the Constabulary representatives. Trooper Fitzgerald has been a member of the force for 10 years and is at present attached to the Grafton Barracks.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the town clerk as follows:

John Francis McCormack of 21 Winchester place and Dorothy Ida Foley of 33 Franklin street, Woburn.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Four members were absent from the meeting of Oct. 7.

Sergeant Frank Enman is off on an automobile tour of the Southern States; he promises to return to us in two weeks. Past Sergeant "Nat" Nichols is officiating during Frank's absence.

Edmund Sanderson, chairman of our recently appointed menu committee, reported at this meeting. Edmund, as usual, is very much "on the job." He avers that any praise coming to the committee will be welcomed with open arms but nevertheless complaints will receive full attention.

This club instituted its Junior Rotarian service for the present season at the current meeting. Daniel Delorey and Richard P. Grosvenor, students at the Winchester High School, have been appointed Junior Rotarians for the period October-December 1937 inclusive. We take much pleasure in welcoming these fine young men and believe that their association with our club will be mutually advantageous.

The Rotary Club of Needham, which claims our district Governor as a member, will hold a reception for Governor John and Mrs. MacGregor in the Needham Town Hall at 6:30 p. m on Tuesday, Oct. 19. Members of this club are invited to attend. Please notify your club secretary if you can attend so that proper arrangements can be made for your entertainment.

With respect to the Sino-Japanese struggle as it affects Rotary we quote from the Rotary News letter of Sept. 30. "The Rotary Clubs of both China and Japan are functioning as usual and in accordance with Rotary policy are not involved in the political situation. The fact that the Shanghai club is doing relief work among the sufferers in that city and that other Rotary clubs may assist it with contributions for relief purposes does not indicate that Rotary is involved in any way in the political struggle between China and Japan."

Our guest speaker on Oct. 7 was Major James Coats, Supervisor of the Boston division of the Province of New England, Salvation Army. Major Coats described at some length the organization of the Army which at present is serving 101 of the world's nations and peoples. He also acquainted us with the religious and social activities of his organization. It is needless to state that the Salvation Army is everywhere recognized as one of the world's greatest alleviators of human suffering and misfortune; as such it has the willing support of Rotary. We urge our memers to assist it to the best of their abilities.

Once more we announce that in place of our regular meeting of Oct. 21 we shall participate in the joint meeting at Armory Hall, Stoneham on Tuesday, Oct. 19. There will be no meeting on Oct. 21. But stay! The regular meeting of Oct. 14 will convene as usual at the Calumet Club. Don't confuse these dates.

Percentage of attendance, Sept. 30—90.63 per cent.

Average attendance for September 1937—83.59 per cent.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL PLAYER INJURED

Winchester High had its first serious football accident in several seasons on Monday afternoon when John Geoghagan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Geoghagan of Hemingway street, freshman half-back on the varsity squad, broke his right leg just above the ankle while engaging in a practice scrimmage on Manchester Field. He was taken to the Winchester Hospital where X-rays were taken and the leg set Tuesday morning by Dr. Daniel Joyce of Woburn.

Though playing his first year of varsity football, Geoghagan showed much promise of real brilliancy. Backfield Coach Edward Bartlett rating him potentially with such stars as Frank Provinzano and Gerry Ficociello. How his injury will affect his future in the game remains to be seen. He is definitely out for the season.

EN KA SOCIETY

Morning coffee provided the background for the fall meeting of the En Ka Society held at the home of Mrs. Harold Richmond's on Swan road. Previous meetings have always been held in conjunction with an afternoon tea and the inovation of deliciously prepared sandwich and coffee was most enthuiastically received.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Guy Howe, this year's president of the society.

Mrs. Samuel Cole, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee reported on the committee's activity to date, and announced that members of the club will usher at the Boston Post Charm School to be conducted on Oct. 19, 20, 21 at Symphony Hall.

This is a further step in the Society's program to contribute useful and necessary equipment to the hospital.

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The Winchester League of Women Voters will hold their first meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. Joseph Worthen, 29 Wedgemere avenue on Wednesday, Oct. 13 at 2:30 p. m. Mr. John Pearson, New England Director of the Social Security Board and a resident of Winchester, will speak on the Administration and Development of the Social Security Act. Mrs. Merle Fainsod, Massachusetts League President will give a short talk on "How Our Towns, City, State and National Leagues are linked together."

The Massachusetts League of Women Voters held its annual fall conference in Andover on Tuesday, Oct. 5. A large attendance, made up of delegates from the 23 chapters in the state, was indicative of the day's interest felt by League members in the many pressing problems now confronting the state, nation, and world.

The Winchester League was represented by the following members: Mrs. Clifton S. Hall, president; Mrs. Ralph Sparks, chairman of the Department of Government in Operation; Mrs. T. W. Monroe, chairman of the Department of Government and Economic Welfare; Mrs. Philip H. Johnson, chairman of the Finance Committee; Mrs. Marshall R. Pihl, secretary of the League; Mrs. Theodore Atkinson; Mrs. Walter H. Wilcox and Mrs. Gordon Fisher of Woburn.

The morning session was given over to committee meetings which were held in the homes of some of the members of the Andover League, which acted as hostess to the visiting chapters.

After a luncheon hour, the afternoon session was called to order in the Peabody House on Phillips street, which served as headquarters for the League. Mrs. Merle Fainsod of Cambridge, president of the Massachusetts State League, introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mr. Thomas Eliot, Council for the Social Security Board in Washington, D. C., who spoke on the subject of social security.

Mr. Eliot, a grandson of Dr. Eliot, President Emeritus of Harvard University, who has been with the Security Board since its inception two years ago, was able to give a very clear explanation of this act; what groups it was designed to help; and how it is working at the present time. Mr. Eliot urged upon his audience the fact that only by abolishing the abject fear of the future by the unemployed, the old, the sick, and needy widows with dependent children can we in this country hope to make American democracy secure.

WHY THE WINCHESTER HOSPITAL?

Frank Crawford, Manager, Answers Questions

"At various meetings of the Winchester Hospital Finance Committee during the summer, questions have been raised concerning reasons for having our Hospital," said Frank Crawford, manager, in a statement today. "These questions have been put in a friendly spirit but in answering them it has occurred to me that others in the town might like to hear what we think. The questions are usually prompted by a fairly common present-day theory that only large central hospitals can afford the type of facilities needed for the treatment of modern disease."

"There are of course rare types of disease which require equipment that is used so seldom that it can be afforded only by a large institution. But these cases are really rare and as a matter of fact any one who cares to visit us will be surprised at the amount of modern equipment we have.

"We might let it go with the statement that we have all the equipment which experience shows is needed to deal with the cases which are brought to us. When we come to the reasons why patients do come to us, we have something more to say.

"Many patients and their relatives find it reassuring to know that we have only graduate nurses in attendance. This of course cannot be the case in hospitals which run training schools. Our patients find our hospital, really located almost in the country with a fine view over trees and water, unusually restful and quelt particularly during convalescence. One of our patients reminded me that it was just like 'living in a private park.' The accessibility of the institution to the families of Winchester, the informality which is possible only in the smaller type of hospital, the smoke-free air, all appeal; and finally I must not forget our kitchen. I honestly wouldn't dare repeat to you the nice things which have been said about our table and our dietitian. I think we have to take our cap off to no one in this particular.

"This sounds like a sales talk," said Mr. Crawford, with a smile," and I don't want it to seem like that for hospitals compete only in seeking to be more and more serviceable to the community, but I would not want the Finance Committee's present campaign to get under way with any one in our town believing that our hospital was not first-class and did not fill a first need. Most people do not realize for example that many first-rate doctors do not like to practise in a town which does not have a hospital and I think the existence of this institution is one of the factors which has brought to Winchester so able a corps of physicians and surgeons.

"And people do hear of us in other places. Last year we served 950 out-of-town patients, from 63 different towns, who were brought here by 79 different physicians. We have about two major operations a day and we bring into the world close to one child every day. Our 85 beds do not classify us as an extremely small hospital, either. I think, if nothing else, everybody in Winchester ought to remember that emergency may strike anybody, any time. When that emergency strikes, the citizen affected will be mightily glad that we have our hospital. He will feel hapier inside, on entering our doors if he has remembered the admonition of the Finance Committee, 'Suport Your Hospital.'"

In addition to being vestryman, Mr. Pike, with 22 years of parish service, was clerk from 1910-1928. Mr. Kelley is the present senior warden, and Mr. Heath, with 11 years service, was junior warden in 1928-29, and senior warden from 1929-36.

The two oldest living wardens are Herbert S. Underwood, at present in Europe, who served 13 years as vestryman, commencing in 1891, and as warden from 1911 to 1914; and Alfred S. Higgins, whose 22 years service includes vestryman 1904-07; treasurer, 1911-15; and warden, 1915-28.

STRIPED BASS

Through the kindness of Selectman W. Allan Wilde, who, with Edward H. Merrill discovered Cuttyhunk over the week-end, a small group of local business and professional men met at Randall's Tuesday noon and enjoyed a most delicious luncheon. Striped bass, augmented by blue fish, comprised the main course. Messrs. Wilde and Merrill sailing from New Bedford with a party of friends, put into Cuttyhunk on Saturday evening. It was there that they found a new fishing experience. They met with substantial luck, and Tuesday's party was such as to absolutely substantiate any fish stories which may be produced from now on by either one of the gentlemen. The bass and blue fish were most thoroughly enjoyed, Messrs. Bob Cook, T. Price Wilson, Judge Curtis W. Nash, Dr. John R. Wallace and the two hosts reaching a most amicable agreement regarding the catch.

ALLIGATOR IN MYSTIC

Tuesday morning about 8:30 a. m. Steward Swicker of the Winchester Boat Club saw an alligator about a foot and one half long basking in the warm sun on the bank of the lake between the club house and Cambridge street. He attempted to capture it, but it dove into the lake and swam away. This baby alligator probably was brought up from Florida as many people do and it either escaped from its owner or they got tired of it and put it in the lake. Last week Friday an alligator three feet in length was shot and killed on the banks of the Souhegan River in the very center of Milford, N. H., while a year or so ago one was killed in Wright's Pond in Medford. Fortunately ice and cold weather are near and this is always fatal to alligators.

CHARLES HENRY PRATT

Charles Henry Pratt, formerly of Somerville and brother of the late George E. Pratt and D. W. Pratt of this town, died Sunday afternoon, Oct. 3, at his home, 5 Grove street, after an illness extending over several years.

Mr. Pratt was in his 76th year and was a native of Somerville, the son of Daniel and Sarah (Fitts) Pratt. He attended the Prescott School in Somerville and was graduated from high school in Leominster, later returning to his native city, where he held life membership in Soley Lodge of Masons and was past regent of Excelsior Lodge of the Royal Arcanum. He was also past patron of Longfellow Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, in Arlington.

Mr. Pratt had made his home in Winchester for the past five years. He was a civil engineer and was formerly for 17 years employed in the City Engineer's office in Medford. His wife, Mrs. Jessie H. Pratt, is his only survivor.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at the late residence, with Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church, officiating. Interment was in Leominster.

FIELD HOCKEY SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED

Coach Rosamond Young of the Winchester High School girls' field hockey team made public her current schedule this week, as follows:

November
3—Melrose at Winchester.
5—Arlington at Winchester.
10—Belmont at Belmont.
16—Lexington at Lexington.

Coach Young is also trying to arrange an alumnae game for her charges, but these always interesting contests are becoming yearly more difficult to schedule and it may be impossible to get the "old grads" lined up to play this fall.

The present varsity squad includes Captain Loretta Gaffney, Judy Hersom, Peggy Shinnick, Shirley Smith, Myrtle Goodhue and Jean McKenzie, letter players; Frances Glidden Marjorie Manzie, Esther Colucci, Ruth Merrow, Jean Clement, Marion Ambrose, Peggy Shaughnessy, Betty Dickson and Ruth Olmstead, second team players; and Margaret McNally, Mildred Rogers, Christine Flaherty, Barbara Hayden, Florence Farnham, Doris Power, Carolyn Blanchard, Phyliss Bragdon and Rita Collins.

To these will be added about 14 more girls who will be selected by Coach Young from her freshman, sophomore and junior class groups. There is much enthusiasm for hockey being shown by this year's freshman class with 50 signed up for the sport and an average of 30 playing regularly.

WINCHESTER HIGH BLANKED CONCORD, 20—0

Winchester High School's football team broke into the win column, and incidentally got off to a good start in its Middlesex League competition, last Saturday afternoon by blanking Concord High, 20—0 on the new Shore road athletic Field.

From the standpoint of a contest the game was a disappointment, but from the angle of reviving flagging local football spirits, the victory was just what the doctor ordered, though Coach Lauer would probably have preferred a bit more worthwhile competition.

Concord was woefully weak, both offensively and defensively, making it hard to judge the real effectiveness of the locals' running game while throwing little or nothing, aside from a late game passing flurry, against the home club's defense.

Winchester had noticeably more drive than against Marblehead, its sparkplug, Co-Captain "Gerry" Ficociello playing truly great football to score all of his team's points.

Winchester made 17 first downs to five for Concord, rushing for 328 yards to 45 for the visitors. The locals completed one pass for 9 yards in four tries, were penalized five times for offside and backs in motion, lost 11 yards from scrimmage and fumbled four times, recovering once. Concord passed 16 times, completing six for 73 yards. The visitors drew no penalties, lost 25 yards from scrimmage and recovered their only fumble.

Ficociello gained at will through the Concord line and "Fran" Murray also did some effective running off the tackles. Toward the end of the first quarter Murray ran back a Concord kick 20 yards to the visitors' 39, and from there, aided by a Murray to Sibley pass, Ficociello carried nine out of 11 times, finally to crash over from the Concord three. "Ficcy" also plunged for the extra point, the locals not bothering to offer any kick deception.

On the last play of the third quarter Ficociello intercepted a Concord pass at his seven, and Murray broke off tackle to the 23. With Ficociello carrying every other time, the locals plowed to the Concord 38, where on first down "Ficcy" found a big hole off his own right tackle, broke into the clear and legged it 38 yards for the second touchdown, plunging again for the extra point.

With Umpire Kingsley just about to blow the game's final whistle, Ficociello smashed through the sagging Concord line, this time off left tackle, and cutting back raced 35 yards for the final score, the try for point by rushing failing when Winchester was offside.

The locals lost another good opportunity to score when "Dan" Delorey fell on a Winchester kickoff at the Concord 25, the ball being wrongly given to Concord. The way Ficociello was going, a first down at the 25 would have meant a touchdown against the sort of opposition Concord was offering last Saturday.

The visitors twice held the ball at, or inside Winchester's 25 yard line, but each time wasted two bucks before trying to pass and in both instances their overhead game failed to click with the locals expecting a pass.

After Winchester's second touchdown Concord took to the air in earnest, and starting at their own 28, with Mara passing, completed three forwards and a lateral to advance the ball to Winchester's 20, Captain Rodgers making a corking completion at that point in the midst of a knot of defenders.

Mara, the visiting star, was hurt on the play and forced out, Berlied replacing him. A lateral picked up only two and on third down Berlied's pass was intercepted by DeTeso at his 10, Murray galloping 18 yards, and Ficociello 21, to rush the leather out of danger.

The visitors missed one good chance to score when Ficociello tossed a lateral after being tackled, the blindly thrown oval being recovered by Concord. Had the visiting player gotten to the spot a split second sooner he could have been away for a clean touchdown. The summary:

OPENING FALL BOOK REVIEW

For solid entertainment no book lover could have spent a pleasanter hour and a half than that afforded by Mrs. Alice Dixon Bond in her opening lecture on Tuesday morning, Oct. 4 at the Winchester Public Library. Mrs. Bond always offers that extra personal glimpse of the author at home in his own study.

How often when a reader closes a satisfying book does he think, "Now what kind of chap wrote this?" Mrs. Bond answered just that question for her audience in "Northwest Passage" by describing her recent interview with its author Kenneth Roberts. From reports of the ensuing conversation her listeners gained an unusually clear picture of just how this talented novelist gets down to work.

This year Mrs. Bond is following a new policy. Instead of sketching in detail the plot of a novel, she analyses a particular writer's style and his background. This method instead of lessening a reader's curiosity as she starts a book rather heightens it.

In this manner Mrs. Bond also laid the background for one's enjoyment of "And So Vichoria" by Vaughan Wilkins and "Katrina" by Sally Salminen. Brief mention was also made of "One Life One Kopeck" Walker Duranty, "Oh Say Can You See" Lewis Browne, "Recapture the Moon" Sylvia Thompson and "Remembering Laughter," Wallace Shegner. In closing Mrs. Bond exhibited her own delicious sense of fun in her comments on James Watkins' "On Borrowed Lane" a subtle mixture of humor with serious overtones, and in her reading from Stephen Vincent Benet's uproarious farce "Death and Daniel Webster."

At the next meeting on Oct. 19, Mrs. Bond will discuss one of the most important among the fall publications, "The Arts" by Hendrick William Van Loon.

The committee for the first meeting were as follows: acting chairman, Mrs. H. A. Morrison; treasurer, Mrs. Gerald Barrett; assistants, Miss Katherine Spaulding, Mrs. Adin Bailey and Mrs. J. W. Campbell Ross.

LeBlanc of 57 Jackson street, Cambridge, who was headed south.

Mrs. LeBlanc told the Police that the boy was running diagonally across the street from the east sidewalk, but had stopped at the central white line, suddenly starting up again just as she approached.

John was taken to the Winchester Hospital by George Lizotte of 72 Irving street and treated by Dr. Richard W. Sheehy for abrasions to his back and right leg. He was later taken home, where it was reported that he would be confined to his bed for several days.

The damage done Wednesday night at the town's new athletic field would lead one to believe that the season for football vandalism is now open. Why any one should want to destroy athletic equipment or what thrill can be obtained from such rowdyism is beyond us, but we wish the police luck in their effort to locate the responsible parties and hope that the authorities will go the limit in impressing upon them, if their identity is learned, the error of their ways. The argument that college boys smash down goal-posts after a victory does not cover the destruction of town property by young hoodlums, nor can inter-school rivalry in the matter of rowdyism be advanced in extenuation. This town especially has been lenient with youthful destructivism. It is distinctly time to call a halt!

PROTESTS HIGH COST OF FOOD

Representative Rogers Takes a Hand For Massachusetts

Although our rulers in Washington have constantly endeavored to raise prices, now that they seem to have accomplished the fact, at least in foodstuffs, the people are beginning to grumble. Contrary to the expressed opinion that only the economic royalists would suffer from these rises, it is falling upon the poor and middle class.

Taking active part in the rising protest, Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers sent the following illuminating telegram to Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, yesterday:

Congress of the United States
House of Representatives
Washington, D. C.

Hon. Henry Agard Wallace,
Secretary of Agriculture,
Washington, D. C.

Today a desperate situation confronts the people of Massachusetts, as a result of the abnormal increase in the cost of necessary foodstuffs. Protests pour in from all over the Commonwealth demanding fair and lower prices. I believe it is within your power to remedy this distressing condition. Therefore, I again appeal to you to help us.

In order that you may know, first hand, the effects of the high prices of foodstuffs upon our people, I extend to you an invitation to come to Massachusetts, to my Commonwealth District, to the city of Lowell, so that you may inspect and see for yourself the resulting hardship. I appeal to you and urge you for action—now.

Here in Massachusetts, it costs almost 30 per cent more to feed a family now than it did in 1932. Wages have not increased proportionately. In fact in the majority of cases wages have actually declined. Unemployment has not been noticeably reduced. Relief has been discontinued to many. With this intolerable condition facing the people of Massachusetts, as well as those of the industrial sections of the whole country, how can you expect anything but a decrease in their welfare.

Today our people must pay 20 per cent more for dairy products; 47 per cent more for meats; 20 per cent for bread and cereals; 20 per cent more for fats and oils than in 1932. Specifically butter has increased almost 50 per cent; bacon 90 per cent; ham 48 per cent; sirloin steak 36 per cent; round steak 41 per cent; rib roast 42 per cent; chuck roast 50 per cent; lamb 34 per cent and cheese and milk 20 per cent over 1932 prices.

These unwarranted and prohibitive increases place these essential foods beyond the reach of the large majority of our people. If the American people are not to continue to be "ill fed, undernourished" and weakened, this policy of abnormally high prices must be stopped.

A policy which necessitates large numbers of our people on relief and at the same time sponsors prohibitive prices for essential foods, is completely inconsistent and unfair. Any policy causing our people to be ill fed and undernourished is wrong. Such a policy must be discontinued.

In view of these facts, I implore you to take immediate action to bring the prices of the necessities of life within the purchasing range of the pocket book of our people.

With the added burden of approaching winter costs, unless such action is taken, our courageous Massachusetts people will suffer as never before. These unbearable conditions call for drastic action—now.

Member of Congres

APRECIATES FIREMEN'S EFFORTS

To the Editor of the Star:

May I have the courtesy of your columns to express my deep appreciation of the work of the Winchester Fire Department in handling the fire of Oct. 4 in the White Building? Prompt and efficient action on the part of Chief DeCourcy and his men unquestionably prevented a very serious conflagration. Surely the pride which our citizens take in their Fire Department is not misplaced. Thank you.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Friends of Mrs. William H. Foss, formerly of this town, will be pained to learn that through injuries received in a recent automobile accident she is confined to the Cape Cod Hospital at Hyannis, where her condition is regarded improving. She suffered broken bones, cuts and shock. Mr. Foss, who was with her at the time, was also injured, although less severely. The accident was caused by the driver of an approaching car turning suddenly into the car in which the Foss' were riding in an endeavor to avoid striking a dog.

Boys creating a dangerous situation Wednesday evening when they pulled down the warning barriers at the Swanton street bridge over the main line of the Boston & Maine Railroad. The bridge is under repair and the removal of the barrier might have resulted in some one getting a bad fall and serious injury. Fortunately the removal was discovered by Patrolman James E. Farrell and the Police put red lanterns in place.

BETHANY NOTES

The first Bethany luncheon Tuesday, started the season with a fine attendance, all chairs at four tables being filled and everyone enjoyed the usual delectable food, so attractively served.

Beef being the "piece de resistance" we were glad we went, as the soaring prices on that item forced us to mark it off our menu, and we had almost forgotten how delicious it was.

The ladies responsible for the fine luncheon were: Mrs. L. J. Higgins, Mrs. Susan Foster, Mrs. Annie Foster, Mrs. Minnie Fogg, Miss Abbie Potter, Mrs. Ronald Richburg and Mrs. John Webber.

Mr. Jones proved his prowess as salesman by disposing of a large number of pictures of the interior of the church showing the beautiful new organ. The pictures were taken by Mr. Leslie Nutting, to be sold for the benefit of the organ fund. Those not fortunate in obtaining one should make application at once before the supply is exhausted.

Mr. Jones also furnished literature on a new household necessity—Re-no, and hopes the ladies will all purchase large quantities as this is also to benefit the organ fund. It is inexpensive and takes the irk out of work.

At the meeting which followed a large number of members were present and spent a busy afternoon preparing the schedule for the coming season. The first event being the luncheon for Nov. 2, next a sale and supper for Nov. 12. Please remember the dates.

We expect Mrs. George Potter to return from her summer home to serve on the next luncheon.

It was quite a treat to have Mrs. Susan Belville with us again.

While the rubber runners for the kitchen have not yet materialized, the committee is still hard at work and hope soon to have the problem of obtaining them solved.

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, October 10.

The Golden Text is: "The law of the Spirit of life in Jesus Christ hath made me free from the law of sin and death" (Romans 8:2).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "When he was come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed him. And, behold, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. And Jesus put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will; be thou cleans. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed." (Matthew 8:1-3).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If sin, sickness, and death are as real as Life, Truth, and Love, then they must all be from the same source; God must be their author. Now Jesus came to destroy sin, sickness, and death; yet the Scriptures aver, 'I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill.' Is it possible, then, to believe that the evils which Jesus lived to destroy are real or the offspring of the divine will?" (p. 474.)

THIS WEEK'S GARDENING

Clean, undiseased leaves and garden refuse makes fine manure when composted with chemicals made for that use.

Start parsley plants on your kitchen window sill.

Chrysanthemum clumps can be lifted and potted for indoor use. Will need a lot of water.

Mulch newly planted trees and shrubs with well-rotted manure.

Tulips, narcissi and Spring bulbs should be planted now. Best grade bulbs from reliable firms give you more and larger flowers.

Time to start bulbs for inside growing, too.

House plants are now in good variety—will be worthwhile Winter companions.

Lilacs, mock orange, crabs and several other such plants can be set out now.

This is a good time to start fixing frames for Spring use.

If you have planted a hedge near a perennial or annual border, it might be well to sink a strip of sheet iron or lead 1½ feet deep to prevent the hedge roots taking all the moisture.

Gather and burn all old fruit—stop disease.

ELECTRIC COOKING SCHOOL

A large and interested audience attended a two hour electric cooking school at the local Edison Shop on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 6. The preparation and cooking of a complete electric oven meal served as the center piece for the interesting session which was routined to show how all of the modern home electric appliances are best used in the home. The handy electric toaster was put to work, refrigerator desserts were prepared and such smaller appliances as the electric egg cooker, demonstrated. Electric cooking recipes were distributed at the close of the class. These interesting sessions bring periodically to local housewives intimate and practical phases of homemaking and are now an accepted part of community life and interest.

FIRE IN WHITE BUILDING

A fire was discovered in progress in the White Building at the corner of Church and Common streets Monday evening, Box 23 being sounded at 8:19 o'clock.

The fire was found by the firemen to have started in a waste barrel in the Boston Shoe Repairing shop, owned by George Yeatropoulos, and considerable damage was done both to that establishment and to the Hollywood Cleansers next door, though the latter suffered mostly from smoke. There was some water damage in the shoe shop, the total for the building being estimated at about $1000. A good sized crowd was attracted by the blaze and arrival of the apparatus in the square.

FORTNIGHTLY CHARITY BALL

The Town of Winchester is going to waken, one of these fine mornings, to find itself chuckling with glee over the number of historic characters to be found actually living within the confines of our fair village. If this sentence sounds too enigmatic, you may find it completely solved when you attend the Charity Ball and Pageant on Oct. 23, and actually see your favorite character in history actually come to life and walking down the aisle of Town Hall.

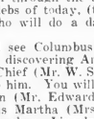
The casting committee have done a noble job on this pageant. Leaving no stone unturned to find that Winchesterite who most resembles each character to be represented—they have practically opened the pages of history for all Winchester to see.

The scene is laid in the Court of America, with Uncle Sam (Mr. Samuel S. Graves) and Columbia (Mrs. Robert A. Reynolds) receiving the leading historical characters, from Cleopatra, (Mrs. Warren C. Whitman) down through the ages to two little sub-debs of today, (the McIsaac sisters) who will do a dance of the flags.

You will see Columbus (Mr. Jesse S. Wilson) discovering America, with an Indian Chief (Mr. W. S. Gill) there to welcome him. You will see George Washington (Mr. Edward S. McDevitt) and his Martha (Mrs. Arthur S. Kelly)—Abraham Lincoln (Mr. William S. Leavitt) and Anne Todd Lincoln (Mrs. R. R. Carter). The Coolidges (Dr. Eugene Pollard and Mrs. T. P. Clarke) and the Roosevelts (Dr. T. A. Caulfield and Mrs. R. A. Cavanaugh of Woburn) are others that will surprise you by their accurate resemblance to the original characters.

The entire court of England will be presented, Queen Elizabeth (Mrs. Gertrude Murphy, Queen Mary (Mrs. John K. Maddocks) Queen Victoria (Mrs. Adele Emery) are but a few of the charming personalities.

The French Court of Louis IV—the Chinese Court, the three Scandinavian Courts, Mary Queen of Scotland—all furnish more reasons why you'll enjoy seeing history unfold on the night of Oct. 23.



BOY SCOUT NOTES

The Fellsland Council, Inc., Boy Scouts of America, covering Burlington, Woburn, Stoneham, Winchester and Medford, will inaugurate their season of training for leaders on Wednesday evening, Oct. 13 at the Legion Home, Washington street, Winchester. This is the first of a series of five weekly training sessions to be held on Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. This training course is under the direct supervision of Prof. Crosby F. Baker and Dr. Paul Warren, both of Tufts College. The course is open to any men from within the Council area who are at all interested in instructive programs for younger boys and is not limited to the men already enrolled in Scouting.

VANDALISM AT NEW ATHLETIC FIELD

Some time during Wednesday evening vandals visited Winchester's new athletic field on the Shore road, smashing one of the goal-posts, cutting the boundary rope in nine places and removing the boards from the bleecher seats. An attempt was made to spell out a word with the boards, but the vandals were evidently frightened away before the job was finished, the letters "S" and "P" being all that there had been time to form The Police are investgating.

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

At the second meeting of the Winchester Ski Club on Wednesday night at the Boat Club, officers and directors were elected, by-laws adopted and members were officially enrolled.

The officers for the season 1937-38 are Ted Elliott, president; Arthur Razee, vice president; Nancy Bradlee, secretary and Harry Bean, treasurer.

The paid-up membership started off with 23 members, both junior and senior, at least eight of whom applied as members of the U. S. Eastern Amateur Ski Association. Incidentally, it was voted to make membership in the U. S. Eastern voluntary instead of including it in each club membership as originally planned.

Mr. Carl E. Shumway—"Old Man Winter"—gave a very interesting talk on the possibilities of a ski club and was unanimously elected to honorary membership in the club.

Fred Whitney, who has had considerable experience with ski club activities in the past, painted a most excellent picture of what a ski club could do. The club was unanimous in expressing its thanks to Marshall Pihl for the excellent job he did on the by-laws.

Many who could not attend the meeting sent in word of their interest through friends. Although charter membership has been closed as announced in the Star last Friday, the club will be more than glad to welcome all those interested in skiing at the next meeting which will be held on Friday night at 8, the place to be announced in next week's Star. It has been suggested that if convenient to the owners, the ski hut which is being considered, be used for the meeting. This would enable each member to look the hut over as well as the trail. However, definite notice will appear in the Star for next week and each member will receive notification by mail.

If you ski, you're welcome!

PRESIDENTS CLUB TO BE GUESTS OF FORTNIGHTLY CLUB, OCT. 14

The first meeting of the Eighth District Presidents' Club will be held as the guest of the Fortnightly Club of Winchester in Waterfield Hall on Thursday, Oct. 14, at 2:30 p. m.

The new president, Mrs. Jesse S. Wilson will preside. One of the highlights of the program will be a report of the Herald-Tribune Conference by Mrs. John M. Wilcox, past president of the Woburn Club. There will be a program of monologues by Mrs. Robert Reynolds, president of the Fortnightly Club. The musical part of the program will be supplied by Idabelle H. Winship, soprano, who will sing a group of solos, accompanied by Miss Lucy Wilcox.

Following the meeting tea will be served by the hostess club.

FOLIAGE BEAUTIFUL

Winchester residents have no need to plan Berkshire trips this fall if our local foliage continues to turn as it has started this week. Admiration is heard on every side for the wonderful fall colors already to be seen about town. One tree on Wildwood street now in its passing, has been especially admired as a perfect riot of color. Winchester is fortunate in its abundance of trees and foliage. From present indications this fall will see some of the best autumn colors in years here.

ATTENDED WOBURN BANQUET

Edward P. "Mack" McKenzie, local newspaper man and Supt. Thomas McGowan of the Park Department were guests of the Woburn Recreation Commission Wednesday evening at the annual banquet of the Woburn Municipal Baseball League in Times Hall, that city. Chairman George T. Davidson of the Park Board, an ardent baseball fan, was also an invited guest, but was prevented by a previous engagement from attending.

Winchester fellow says one good thing about these white collar jobs at this season of the year and in the months to come, one's collar does not wilt.

A born enthusiast lives right here in fair Winchester. During the summer just closed, he got a real thrill out of teaching his wife to swim.

What has become of the Winchester miss who used to sing while helping mother do the dishes?

Winchester fellow avers that vacation is a period when we feel like charging old Time with an outrageous violation of the speed laws.

A certain Winchester young man is said to be a pretty bad egg and this is why some folk are wondering why his fiancee doesn't care to drop him.

It is a long head that has no turning.

A man is known by the secrets he keeps.

Wincheser man got a large quantity of cider from his mother's home in New Hampshire and he is now said to be working overtime.

Winchester is afflicted with the bore who persists in telling about his cold when yours seems much more interesting.

Talking about family trees, there is a fellow here in Winchester who claims that his wife's family tree must have been a cocoanut tree.

Winchester family who was unable to go out of town for a vacation this summer just closed, say that they enjoyed all the effects of a vacation away from home by keeping all the windows wide open and removing the screens.

HEART TO HEART TALKS

Span of Human Life

The span of human life is seen in its brevity. The brevity of it is in its incompleteness. There has been but one entirely complete life. His was the divine—human life even, our Lord. At the end of the three years public ministry when He was being crucified, looking back over the brief period of His existence, and knowing that He had lived well and long enough He could say "It is finished." Simeon of old could say "Now let thy servant depart in peace, according to thy word for mine eyes have seen thy salvation." But most people do not want to depart from this life for their eyes have not seen the fulfillment of all that was in their hearts to do. There are hopes that have not realized, plans they have not perfected and tasks not yet accomplished. Let us remember that

"Life is too short for logic, what I do I must do simply, God alone must judge."
"Men's lives like oceans change in shifting tides, and ebb from shore to shore."
"Our life is scarce the twinkle of a star, in God's eternal day."
"Life: is the story of love and troubles, of troubles and love, that travel together the round world through."
"Life—what is life? but the immediate breath we draw."

But on the other hand while life is short

"Life is real and life is earnest, and the grave is not its goal."
"Dust thou art to dust returnest was not spoken of the soul."
"Catch O catch the transient hour
Improve each moment as it flies;
Life's a short summer man a flower.
He dies, alas how soon he dies."

So says the Psalmist

"So count your days that you may apply your hearts unto wisdom."

Short though human life may be, there is a wonderful opportunity to expand in Christian growth and service. It has been told us that a mere fragment of radium has power enough in it to ring a bell for a thousand years. A little raindrop is the beginning of the great father of waters. Small things may be despised but greatness is frequently found wrapped up in littleness. Just a word at the right time changed the whole life and made a career for Charles II, Spurgeon, Christianity had small beginnings, but its branches now cover the habitable world. A young man who had recently been converted, was asked by his pastor to witness for Christ and he pleaded a lack of talents. His pastor told him to just live Jesus Christ. This he did and won many souls to the Lord. We all need to get back to the Lord's way of living. If we have but one talent, let it be used for Christ. "A grain of faith will produce an excellent harvest of good deeds."

READING THEATRE

After lavishing a fortune on the girl he loves, "Jim" Fisk, picturesque railroad magnate, learns that his business partner and best friend has won her affections in RKO Radio's dramatic screen play, "The Toast of New York," with Edward Arnold, Cary Grant, Frances Farmer and Jack Oakie sharing starring honors and showing at the Reading Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

"The Toast of New York" brings to the screen a throbbing panorama of the most colorful period in the financial history of America. Josie is played by Miss Farmer. Cary Grant is cast as Fisk's handsomer and more successful rival.

Ordinarily, a journey across the Pacific aboard an old four-masted sailing vessel might prove very uneventful, but thrills and excitement-plus are the order of the day aboard the vessel on which the major part of the action of George O'Brien's new picture, 'Windjammer," occurs also at the Reading Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

FITZGERALD—KENNEY

The altar of St. Mary's Church was decorated with white chrysanthemums on the morning of Columbus Day for the marriage of Miss Alice Marie Kenney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Kenney of Fenwick road, to State Trooper Theodore Edward Fitzgerald, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Fitzgerald of Bullard street, Dorchester. The marriage ceremony was performed at 9 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Conrad J. Quirbach, who was also celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed. Miss Florence Fisher, organist at the church, played the music for the entrance of the bridal party.

Miss Kenney was given in marriage by her father and had for her honor attendant the bridegroom's sister, Miss Dorothy Fitzgerald of Dorchester. Miss Dorothy Sullivan of Dorchester and Miss Doris Fitzgerald of Medford were bridesmaids.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin and a long tulle veil arranged with a coronet of ivory satin to match her gown. Her flowers were white sweetheart roses and valley lilies. The honor maid wore a gown of Burgundy chiffon velvet with matching hat and slippers, and carried yellow roses. The bridesmaids were gowned alike in porcelain blue chiffon velvet, and like the honor maid, wore matching hat and slippers. Their flowers were red roses and blue larkspur.

Thomas J. Kenney, Jr., of this town brother of the bride, was best man, and the corps of ushers included Leo Fitzgerald of Dorchester, brother of the bridegroom; John Linehan of Dorchester, cousin of the bride; Edward O'Toole and Walter Hardiman, both of Dorchester.

After the mass a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, who assisted in receiving with Mrs. Pauline Barrett, sister of the bridegroom. The house decorations were white chrysanthemums, matching those on the altar at the church.

Trooper Fitzgerald and his bride are spending their honeymoon on a motor trip through the South. Upon their return they are to make their home in Winchester. The bride is a graduate of Medford High School and attended a private business college. Trooper Fitzgerald, who is attached to the Grafton Barracks, has been a member of the State Police for the past ten years. He was given a large bachelor dinner last week Monday evening in the Hotel Manger, Boston, at which Lieut. Gov. Francis E. Kelley and others prominent in public life were present.

DR. BLAISDELL IN RADIO ADDRESS

How group hospitalization affects the individual physician and the health standard of the community was the subject of a radio broadcast by Dr. J. Harper Blaisdell, chairman of Winchester's Board of Health on Wednesday at 7:30 a. m. over Station WTOP.

Dr. Blaisdell told the radio audience that a membership in the "Blue Cross" goes a long way toward raising the health standard of the community, explaining that this health factor will be felt as more and more persons are enrolled as subscribers in Associated Hospital Service, the state-wide non-profit plan for hospital care in Massachusetts.

"The individual physician will find it a source of great satisfaction to know that subscriber patients can be hospitalized whenever they require it without having to assume a large financial burden for hospital expense," Dr. Blaisdell declared. "The individual who knows that his hospital bill will be paid for him will not neglect a minor illness and allow it to grow into a major operation," the doctor said.

SHERIFF JOSEPH M. McELROY

TO ADDRESS FIRST CONGREGATIONAL MEN

The first fall meeting of the Men's Club of the First Congregational Church of Winchester will be held Thursday evening, Oct. 21 at 8 o'clock in the parish hall of the church. An interesting evening of movies and a speaker has been planned and every member is urged to attend to hear of plans for the organization for the coming year.

The guest speaker for the evening is to be the High Sheriff of Middlesex County, Mr. Josph M. McElroy. Widely known as a dynamic and forceful speaker the Sheriff has maintained a reputation in his position as the highest executive officer of our own county. His improvements in both the Billerica and Cambridge jails, his well-known ability to carry on his difficult department with an economy no other sheriff has been able to match and his more recent "cracking wide open" of the famous Simpson case have earned for him a lasting place in the political world of our State. Every man who thus assiduously carries on in his work must needs be subject to political jealousies and criticism and yet Mr. McElroy has been able to over-ride his enemies and to justify the trust placed in him by those who are his friends. The sheriff will bring to the meeting his experiences and trials in an illuminating talk on "Criminology and Penology."

Following Mr. McElroy's talk there will be movies shown of our own Winchester Hospital in actual pictures of the various phases of the hospital carried on throughout the year. Every member is urged to bring friends who they think might enjoy the meeting or who would like to join the Men's Club for the coming year. The Board of Directors have a most interesting and varied program for the year.

BRAY—BOURNE

Miss Barbara Bourne, daughter of Mr. Phillips Payson Bourne of Foxboro, formerly of Winchester, and Harold Earl Bray of Framingham were married Saturday afternoon, Oct. 9, at 4 o'clock in the chapel at Wellesley College by Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church. A reception followed the ceremony at the Wellesley Inn.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore white satin and carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Miss Phyllis Bourne, the bride's sister and honor maid, was gowned in turquoise, and the two bridesmaids, Mrs. Browning Baker of Winthrop and Miss Elaine Cole of Natick, wore fuchsia.

Mr. Bray had Mr. Frank Tonis of New York for his best man and the ushers were Mr. Robert Cushman Lane of Weston and Mr. Paul Reardon of Framingham.

Both Mrs. Bray and her sister are graduates of Wellesley College. The former prepared for college at Winchester High School and has many friends among the town's young people.

MRS. MARY E. LANGILL

Mrs. Mary E. Langill, wife of Daniel W. Langill, died Monday morning, Oct. 11, at her home, 44 Mt. Vernon street, after a ten months' illness. She was in her 66th year.

Mrs. Langill was a native of Antigonish, N. S., but as a young woman came to this country and for the past half century had resided in Winchester, living for many years in the Highlands section of the town before moving to her late home on Mt. Vernon street. Besides her husband she leaves two daughters, Mrs. Anna A. Pearson and Miss Helen E. Langill, both of Winchester; a brother, John Kennedy, living in Nova Scotia; five grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held Thursday morning from the late residence, with requiem high mass celebrated in St. Mary's Church. Interment was in Arlington.

KICKOFF AT 2 P. M.

WINCHESTER VS BELMONT

Saturday's Game May Decide Middlesex Championship

The Winchester and Belmont High Schools, co-champions of the Middlesex County Football League in 1936 will square off Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock on the Shore road Athletic Field in the game that probably will decide the circuit title for the current campaign.

Both Winchester and Belmont are undefeated in league competition this fall, Winchester having crushed Concord and Stoneham while Belmont has overwhelmed Maynard and Lexington. It is hardly likely that any of the defeated teams will upset the defending co-champs though such a possibility remains to maintain interest through the season.

On paper Winchester should win tomorrow. Last year the locals blanked Belmont 19-0, and this year's eleven is practically a veteran club. It has played one more game than Belmont and in Arlington and Marblehead has met two tougher teams than the Weymouth team Belmont has played outside the league.

Belmont is undefeated, having tied Weymouth, and Winchester scouts bring back word that it has a big rugged club with plenty of power and a good passing attack. Its Rizzo was about the best passer in the league a year ago.

Neither team will be at full strength at the starting whistle. Winchester's "Frannie" Murray, speedy back, is definately out with a knee ailment and Co-captain "Pete" Sibley, star end is nursing a leg injury that will prevent his starting if nothing more. Dwyer, veteran end, and Rizzo, flashy back are not listed in the Belmont starting lineup as given out by Coach Tom Newell.

According to the published weights Winchester, with a team average of 164, has a better than 10 pounds a man advantage over Belmont at 151. Perhaps the weights are right! At all events Saturday's meeting looms as one of the games of the year in Winchester, with Winchester's experience likely to prove the deciding factor.

Belmont is bringing over its 40 piece band, and if past games are a criterion, seats will be at a premium. Remember only season ticket holders are guaranteed seats, and they only up to 10 minutes before game time, 2 p. m. Better get around early!

SPECIAL MEETING TUESDAY

William Parkman Lodge, A. F. & A. M., is holding a special meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 19 at 8 p. m. for the purpose of installing the elected and appointed officers for 1937-38. The meeting will take place in the Masonic Apartments, at Winchester Square and the installation will be conducted by J. Arthur Gibson of Cambridge, Past Grand Senior Warden of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, assisted by Vincent P. Clarke of Winchester, Past Master of the local lodge. John R. Wallace, who is just completing a successful term of two years as Master of William Parkman Lodge will have charge of the arrangements. The newly elected officers to be installed include Kingman P. Cass, Master; W. Allan Wilde, Senior Warden; Francis E. Booth, Junior Warden; Adna E. Smalley, Treasurer; and Ernest R. Eustis, Secretary. All Master Masons residing or visiting in Winchester have been invited.

GATES MAY BE MOTORIZED

It is reported on good authority that the Boston & Maine Railroad has agreed to motorize the crossing gates in the center. This is dependent upon co-operation by the Town in certain details incidental with the work. If this is carried out a new gate tenders' house will be built in combination with a traffic stand, the building, for which plans are understood to be drawn, to be modernistic and an ornament to the square. Where it would be placed has not been determined. Undoubtedly the improvement would prove most acceptable to all residents.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the town clerk as follows:

Cortlandt Ryder Campbell of 19 Ridgefield road and Sylvia Collamore Hatch of 9 Cabot street.

Anthony John Keaney of 49 Canal street and Belinda Conlon of 2 Dartmouth street.

Thomas Joseph Griffin, Jr. of Carlington avenue, Billerica and Elsie Evelyn Lundgren of 721 Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Forbes D. Smith of Wilson street are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Esther Margaret Smith, to Mr. Edwin Walton Allen of Bennington, Vt. Mr. Allen is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George W. Allen of Troy, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pooler of Hemingway street are the parents of a son, born Monday at the Choate Memorial Hospital in Woburn.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Eight members were absent from the meeting of Oct. 14, one of whom has already made up for his absence.

Last week the chairman of the menu committee gave us to understand that praise for the work of the committee would be thankfully received. Wherefore the writer hastens to affirm that he has heard several remarks to the effect that this committee has achieved praiseworthy results. Keep it up, Edmund!

Past Sergeant "Nat" was explaining today how simple it is to gain a margin of $5. And so he commanded the undivided attention of his hearers until it developed that one who seeks to gain $5 must have the $5 when he starts. Which makes the process less simple than some of us had hoped.

Within the first four months of 1937 12 Rotary Clubs, in co-operation with Rotary International have conducted Institutes of International Understanding, so called. As suggested by the title these institutes seek to promote the fourth object of Rotary by bringing about a more sympathetic attitude among nations and peoples with respect to such conflicting viewpoints as may arise or have arisen and, in general, to further acquaintance and fellowship on a universal scale. During the current Rotary year it is probable that some 120 such institutes will be held.

At our meeting this week Mr. Manning, representing General Motors Corporation entertained the club with an address which reviewed various researches being conducted in the interests of science and the benefits derived by industry from such research. Mr. Manning presented many concrete illustrations of results so far obtained. Which brings to us the thought that science does not stand still and that many amazing accomplishments in this field will continue so long as civilization endures.

The next meeting of this club will be the joint meeting to be held at Armory Hall (on Main street, beyond the Square) Stoneham, on Tuesday, Oct. 19 at 12:15 p. m. Participating clubs—Malden, Melrose, Stoneham, Reading, Wakefield, Winchester and Woburn. Speaker, President Gray of Bates College. The seven clubs mentioned above propose to enjoy even more cordial relations than heretofore. Every Winchester Rotarian is urged to do his part by being present at this and future joint meetings. Remember, Tuesday, Oct. 19.

Percentage of attendance, Oct. 7—87.50 per cent.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

The new traffic signals are on trial and are being very closely watched for efficiency and changes which could be made to increase the speed and safety of vehicular and pedestrian traffic through this very busy intersection. Winchester citizens are requested to obey the lights and thereby set an example to out of town drivers who seem to cause less trouble than Winchester drivers. If it is realized that over 17,000 cars pass through the centre in an average day, it can easily be seen that efficient signals are an absolute necessity and the obeying of these signals of the utmost importance.

Lee D. Mellett, 52 Vine street, was drawn for the first session of the Superior Criminal Court at Cambridge, to appear Nov. 1.

The Board's attention has been called to the lack of a suitable place in Arlington to wait for the Winchester buses. The Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company has been advised of this complaint and no doubt some action will be taken by the management to make arrangements for the accommodation of bus patrons.

The Winchester Boat Club has been licensed to conduct two dances on Oct. 22 and 27.

The Boston Edison Company has been requested to put the wires on the west side of Shore road underground and to erect two ornamental poles to replace two of the old light poles.

The old dog pound burned a while ago and plans for a new one are being considered.

Tentative plans have been presented by the Boston & Maine Railroad for a combination traffic tower and shelter for the crossing tenders to be located in approximately the same place as the present shelter. The Board has the suggestion under consideration.

The manager of the Eastern Mass. St. Ry. Co. has been requested to instruct the drivers of the buses not to allow passengers to embark or disembark anywhere in the center except at the authorized bus stops. Stopping in the middle of the street is not only dangerous but also slows up traffic.

Miss Jeanne Moran of 27 Mt. Pleasant street, who has a decided talent for art, is studying this winter at the Vesper George School of Fine and Applied Art in Boston.

W. D. SULLIVAN RETIRES

Winchester Man, Managing Editor of Globe, Newspaper Veteran

Mr. William D. Sullivan of Fletcher street, for more than half a century associated with the Boston Globe and for the past 12 years managing editor of the paper, is retiring from active service this week. His post is to be filled by Lawrence Winship, who has been city editor.

Mr. Sullivan first entered the Globe's employ while a student at Harvard 54 years ago. He started as Harvard correspondent, and upon graduation joined the city staff of the paper, advancing through various posts of responsibility to city editor, a position he held until the death of the then incumbent, Arthur A. Fowle of Woburn, 12 years ago, when he was promoted to managing editor.

Mr. Sullivan is not only one of the best known newspaper men in Boston, but is also widely known throughout the newspaper fraternity. He has covered all sorts of assignments, written stories of every description and has a sound sense of news values to add to the technical knowledge necessary to direct the publication of a big metropolitan daily from the managing editor's desk.

He has been always keenly interested in intercollegiate football, especially in Harvard's gridiron destinies, and for many years wrote personally feature stories of the Crimson's major games, that were widely read.

His football background is extensive, there having been few of the great matches of the past that he did not witness and few of the so-called football "immortals" that he did not see in action. The writer still recalls with pleasure the evening (some 25 years or so ago) when he entertained a group of young men with his football remeniscences in the old Phi Delta rooms in Lyceum Hall.

In announcing Mr. Sullivan's resignation the Globe states that the paper will follow his policies under the new managing editor, Mr. Winship. The retiring editor has the best wishes of a host of friends for a well earned rest.

BARTLETT—KELLEY

The marriage of Miss Dawn Kelley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Kelley of Mystic Valley Parkway, and Raymond Young Bartlett, son of Mrs. Marguerite H. Bartlett of Warren street, took place on Saturday, Oct. 9 at noon, in Meyer Chapel of the Unitarian Church. Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the church, performed the marriage ceremony and music for the entrance of the bridal party was played by the church organist and choir director, Kenneth W. Moffatt.

Miss Kelley was given in marriage by her father. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Robert Smith of Cambridge, and by Miss Rayma Whittemore of Newton, small niece of the bridegroom, who was flower girl.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with a tulle veil and instead of the conventional bouquet, carried a prayer book with valley lilies. Mrs. Smith wore a Dubonnet velvet gown with matching velvet hat. The flower girl wore a long white frock with a coronet of flowers and carried an old fashioned bouquet.

Mr. Bartlett had for his best man James W. Pollard of Cambridge, and the ushers were Mr. Smith, brother-in-law of the bride; and James Fletcher of Boston.

After the ceremony the bridal party and guests went on to the Winchester Country Club where a wedding breakfast was served.

Mr. Bartlett and his bride are to make their home in Dubois, Pa. The bride attended the Erskine School in Boston. Mr. Bartlett, who is associated with General Foods Corporation, attended Phillips Exeter Academy and Dartmouth College.

WINCHESTER COUNCIL GIRL SCOUTS TO SPONSOR DRIVE

Once every year the Winchester Council Girl Scouts sponsors a drive for funds. This year, in view of the ever growing need of Girl Scouts in Winchester, the budget has been raised from $800 to $1500. The Scouts are supported solely by popular subscription. No other means for financing this organization has ever been devised. In Winchester Scouting is the only girls organization outside the churches.

At the first Council meeting of this season, Mrs. Clark W. Collins announced the addition of two new troops, and one new pack, bring the number up to 14 and four. The new Brownie pack is from the Noonan School, which the Council is very happy to welcome. In view of this expansion, the Council has found it expedient to engage the services of a professional director.

The members of the Council headed by Commissioner Davis, are fully conscious of their responsibility to provide the Scouts and their leaders with the necessary training to keep Scouting in its present flourishing state. They realize that it brings up a serious financial problem. Mrs. Samuel Cole, chairman of finances, has organized a team of over 100 workmen with ten captains to canvass Winchester on the 4th of November.

Half of the total budget will be expended for the maintenance of an executive and a headquarters office. All other officials and leaders give their time and effort without monetary compensation.

SHORE ROAD CLOSED

Those driving to the football game Saturday will have to go in by way of Washington street as Shore road will be closed to traffic because of the resurfacing job in process there.

MY PLEDGE AND CREED

SCHOOL COMMITTEE NOTES

The following is taken from a communication received from the American Red Cross office in Washington.

"The splendid report of Junior Red Cross activities carried on in the Winchester schools, which accompanied your letter of Sept. 24, has been read with great interest by every member of our National Headquarters staff. The wide variety of projects and the excellence with which they were carried through, indicate a broad understanding of the underlying principles of the Junior Red Cross program.

"We greatly appreciate your splendid interest and cooperation."

WEEK-END MOTOR ACCIDENTS

The first of several week-end motor accidents reported in Winchester took place shortly aftr 8:30 Saturday evening when a Ford sedan, driven by Richard A. Hansen of 52 Frederick avenue, Medford, in turning around at the traffic circle at the junction of Washington and Mt. Vernon streets, struck a basher beacon, moving it from its foundation at a 45 degree angle. The Ford was slightly damaged but no one was injured.

Harley H. Dickie of 169 Forest street, owner and operator of a Pontiac sedan, notified the Police that as he was headed east on Church street and stopping for the traffic lights at Fletcher and Bacon streets, his machine was in collision with a Chevrolet sedan, owned and driven by David L. Nylin of 91 Winchester street, Brookline, who was attempting to make a left turn into Bacon street. No injuries were reported.

Sunday night shortly before 10:30 Patrolman Joseph Quigley of the Police Department sustained a bruised leg when he was struck by the bumper of a Ford sedan, which was parked on upper Main street opposite Blanchard's lumber yard and was struck by a Ford sedan, owned and driven by Joseph J. Hurley of 149 Jacques street, Somerville. Officer Quigley was standing at the front of the parked machine with its owner, Oscar S. Heimlich of Eastern avenue, Woburn, who was attempting to crank it when the accident occurred. Both cars were damaged, but none of the occupants of either was injured.

WAS FORMER RESIDENT

Mrs. Ellen Cronin McCarthy, wife of Michael J. McCarthy of 9 Center street, Woburn, who died Monday morning, Oct. 11, in the Choate Memorial Hospital, that city, was a former resident of Winchester and the mother of Neil J. McCarthy of Brookside road.

Mrs. McCarthy was 84 years old and a native of County Cork in Ireland. As a young woman she lived in Winchester and in 1873, in St. Mary's Church, married Mr. McCarthy, moving to Woburn the following year. She was highly esteemed by a host of friends in that city.

Besides her husband and son in Winchester, Mrs. McCarthy leaves four daughters, Mrs. Clarence Staples of Dorchester, Mrs. Mary Rizzo of East Boston, Mrs. Joseph Hennessey of Somerville and Mrs. Eleanor Young of Allston; also two sons, Charles McCarthy and Police Sergt. John F. McCarthy, both of Woburn.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning from the late residence with solemn requim high mass in St. Charles Church, Woburn. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

CARS IN COLLISION ON HIGHLAND AVENUE

A LaSalle cabriolet, owned by the Piedmont Chevrolet Corp. of 518 Main street, Lynchburg, Va., and driven by Robert Lee Alvis of 707 Euclid avenue, Lynchburg, was in collision Tuesday night on Highland avenue near Wolcott road with a Plymouth sedan, owned and operated by Daniel J. Quinlan of 64 Moore street, Winthrop.

Both machines were damaged but no injuries were reported. Police say that Alvis claimed the Plymouth did not stop after the accident. He gave chase and Quinlan returned with him to the scene of the accident, where Patrolman John E. Hanlon refused to permit him to drive and took his machine to Police Headquarters. The authorities say they will seek a complaint charging Quinlan with violation of the traffic laws.

There is Winchester interest in the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Bent to Mr. John R. Park which took place on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 9, at 2 o'clock, at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Collins, on Plain road in Wayland. THE FLYING SQUADRON

Promptly at 4:25 in the frosty stillness of last Saturday morning, a Ford sedan, with Shellie Hamilton at the helm, left Winchester for Orono, Me., carrying as passengers Charlie Dolan, Dex Mobbs, Robbie Smith and Roger Thwing, bound for the University of Maine-New Hampshire State football game and a peek at a former Winchester boy, "Roddie" Elliott, in action on the gridiron.

The quintet arrived in Orono at noon, attended the game., watched Elliott perform at halfback on the Maine varsity and regretted that a shoulder injury kept another Winchester boy, Jack Hanlon, out of the going. "Steamer" is playing a very fine fullback indeed for New Hampshire as the travelers learned from his coach and teammates whom they accosted during the game.

Still another Winchester boy, Jim Harris, was contacted at Orono by the Flying Squadron, and "Bucky" reported that he is playing center on the Maine freshman eleven, with an occasional fling at quarterback.

Following the game, the annual Maine freshman-sophomore rush took place. "Dex" Mobbs, sneaking into the fray to give the first-year boys a much needed hand, did such yoeman work in the melee, that if the freshmen won, and the local boys seemed a bit uncertain of the actual outcome, it was largely due to the spirit infused into them by the sight of the former high school end in action. "Dex" surely won his numerals last Saturday at Maine.

On the way back to Winchester a stop was made at Brunswick for the purpose of visiting Kirby Thwing, a sophomore at Bowdoin, and Dave Fitts, varsity football captain there. Kirby was home, but Dave was in the infirmary being patched up after leading his eleven to an unexpected win over Wesleyan. Some excellent apples which Kirby's room-mate chanced to receive just prior to the arrival of the local contingent, were greatly enjoyed, and the trip back to Winchester accomplished without accident.

BETTER HOMES GARDEN CLUB

At its first meeting of the season, on Wednesday evening, Oct. 20, the Better Homes Garden Club will have an exceptionally fine speaker in the person of Bradford Williams. Mr. Williams, a landscape architect whose lecture last year was one of the most popular on the Club's schedule, comes as Field Secretary of The Trustees of Public Reservations to discuss "The Face of Massachusetts." The unusually bautiful colored pictures which will accompany the lecture include illustrations of the work of the English National Trust in their similar effort to preserve shore and countryside in England. Mr. Williams has just returned from two months' study of this project.

Since Mr. Williams is in great demand, and since his topic is of such present interest the Club feels fortunate in securing him, and hopes to have a large audience of members and others interested.

The meeting will be held at the Public Library, side entrance, at 7:45 p. m. Guest tickets may be secured by telephoning Winchester 0622, 1147 or 0679-W. Members are urged to bring entries for a non-competitive exhibition of "winter bouquets."

JUNIOR FLORENCE CRITTENTON MEETING

The fall meeting of the Junior Florence Crittenton was held at the home of Mrs. Richard Harlow, 71 Yale street, on Wednesday evening. Following a business meeting Mrs. Gormley, head of the District Nursing Association gave a very interesting talk on the work of the District Nurse in Winchester. An enjoyable social hour followed.

During the business meeting the annual bazaar of the Florence Crittenton at the Copley Plaza Hotel in Boston on Nov. 3 and 4 was discussed. The bazaar holds much interest for the Junior members of the Winchester group due to the fact that on Nov. 3 they are sponsoring a well known "Card Reader" who will give readings of 25 minutes in duration from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. Appointments may be made at the bazaar.

On Nov. 4 the Junior Florence Crittenton Circle will present the Vineyard Players who will give a Marionette Show entitled. "Columbine's Birthday." Both children and their parents should enjoy this delightful entertainment. Tickets may be obtained at the door or from any member of the Junior Florence Crittenton Circle. For information concerning either day call Miss Gretchen Stone, Win. 0928.

REEVES STARRING FOR BROWNE & NICHOLS

"Charlie" Reeves, blonde reserve halfback on last year's championship eleven at Winchester High School, is starring this year in the backfield of the Browne & Nichols preparatory school team.

In last Saturday's game with Rivers, Reeves scored three touchdowns to aid his team to a 26—0 victory. Browne & Nichols is being mentioned for day school championship honors and the speedy Reeves is being counted upon as an important cog in its gridiron machine.

JUNIOR FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

The Junior ball, which is being held by the junior club women of Massachusetts in an effort to raise money for a philanthropic project, is to be held at the Copley Plaza Hotel, Oct. 30, with Jack Marshard's orchestra playing for the dancing.

The money raised will be used to buy talking books for the Blind, which are book-recordings, each disc playing for over 30 minutes.

BILLMAN WINNER IN MARATHON GOLF COMPETITION

Chris Billman, carrying a handicap of 22 strokes, walked away with a lion's share of the spoils in the Winchester Country Club's second eight man marathon tournament which extended over three days and concluded Columbus Day. In scoring his first victories in competition, Billman won the low net for 54 holes with a score of 274, the low net for one day with an 85, the low ringer net with a 78 and the prize for the most net pars with 14. Paired with Dr. Charles Kelley, Billman also won the team prize.

Handicaps were adjusted so that the lowest handicapped man in the tournament played from scratch. The event extended over Saturday, Sunday and the holiday.

Other contestants were Fritz Craven, Dr. Kelley, Dr. Frank Rounds, Earl Bishop, Fred Chapman, Preston Cotten and James Rose. Dr. Rounds prevented Billman from scoring a clean sweep of the prizes by winning the award for the fewest putts.

IMPRESSIVE CAST ASSEMBLED

Co-producers of this exciting mystery are Miss Deborah Gilbert and Mr. Norman von Rosenvinge and they have been fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Arthur Holman of Boston as director. Professor of Dramatics at Leland Powers, a man who has acted and directed on both Boston and New York stages, Mr. Holman is no stranger to Winchester players and audiences and will be remembered particularly for his fine work in "Michael and Mary" produced by the Group last year.

The growing list of Group subscripers eagerly awaits production, on the evening of Nov. 20 in the high school auditorium.

WINCHESTER OUTCLASSED STONEHAM

Ficociello Stars Again in 25-6 Victory

Winchester High found Stoneham anything but tough last Saturday afternoon, running up a 25-6 score in the Middlesex League game between the two schools on the Pomeworth street grounds in Stoneham.

What the final score would have been, had the locals kept their first team in action, can only be guessed at. As it is a fumble and an offside penalty erased sure touchdowns when Winchester lost the ball inside the Stoneham five yard stripe.

Coach Lauer sent many subs into the fray, and even against the local replacements Stoneham was unable to go anywhere on the ground. The losers' one touchdown was made on the last play of the game when a forward and double lateral clicked from the 12 yard stripe against a makeshift Winchester lineup.

Winchester rolled up 16 first downs to 4 for Stoneham, rushing for 298 yards to 12 for the opposition. The locals tried one pass for a goal conversion, the ball being batted down. Stoneham completed 5 out of 20 passes for 65 yards and all of its first downs. Winchester lost 20 yards in two penalties and fumbled three times, losing the ball in each case. Stoneham lost 15 yards in three penalties, fumbled once, recovering for a five yards gain, and lost four yards from scrimmage, having a big edge in this respect over the locals who lost 30.

"Art" Johnson, with his spectacular runs of 63 yards and 46 yards for touchdowns was the darling of the fans, but it was "Gerry" Ficociello again who was the star of the game. Stoneham couldn't stop his bull-like rushes much better than they could have stopped a Mack truck, while his last touchdown when he spun away from three tacklers was a gem of individual effort. On the line "Dan" Delorey again stood out and his blocking helped Johnson to his first touchdown.

Winchester missed a touchdown in the opening minutes of play when Ficociello fumbled on the Stoneham five. Stoneham's kick was run back by "Fran" Murray to the 25, and Ficociello on a spinner crashed to the 10. Murray picked up six off right tackle and Ficociello hit inside left tackle for the score. He failed to plunge for the extra point.

The second quarter was only a couple minutes along when Stoneham kicked to Winchester's 36. Graham got seven at tackle and on the next play, a reverse to the right, Johnson shot into the clear and twisting away from one tackler, galloped 63 yards for the score, Delorey effectively erasing the one man between him and the goal line. Graham failed to plunge for the extra point.

"Art's" second touchdown came shortly before half time when he intercepted a long Stoneham aerial at his 44. O'Neil shot through center for 5 and Ficociello made it first down at the Stoneham 46. On the next play, Johnson took the ball on a reverse to the left and outran the entire Stoneham secondary to score without a hand being laid upon him. Ficociello plunged for the extra point.

To start the new half Winchester received at its 34 and rolled along to the 5, where an offside followed by a fumble gave Stoneham the ball.

On the last play of the third quarter Stoneham kicked and Murray made a nice run back to the Stoneham 41. Ficociello picked up seven and Murray slid off tackle for a first down at the 25. Ficociello smashed through the line for another first down at the 15, and on the next play, broke off his own right tackle, spun and bounced away from three Stoneham tacklers and went over for the score. A fake kick that developed into a pass was blocked.

In the waning moments of the game, with the ball deep in Winchester territory and a team of second and third string players on the field, Graham kicked and the ball was returned to the Winchester 38. A fumble picked up five and a nice forward and lateral reached the 12, from where on third down another forward and lateral permitted Huff to slide over for the touchdown. A pass for the extra point was grounded. The summary:

A PERILOUS VOYAGE

Last Saturday afternoon Police Headquarters received a telephone call, reporting several small boys apparently in trouble in a canoe on Wedge Pond.

Patrolman John J. Dolan went to investigate and found four youngsters the oldest 8 years, in a canoe well out toward the middle of the pond and in great danger of capsizing.

The boys were badly frightened and unable to make their way to shore, so Patrolman John J. Dolan secured a row-boat, owned by Stanley Mobbs of Lake street and went to their assistance, towing them ashore.

HOSPITAL FUND WORKERS IN SPIRITED RALLY

Fortnightly Hall Scene of Opening of Drive

Band music, cider and doughnuts, vigorous speeches and an atmosphere of enthusiastic co-operation marked the general meeting of Winchester Hospital Fund Campaign workers, held last Wednesday evening in Fortnightly Hall.

The band whose services were donated by Winchester Post of the American Legion kept every one in good humor before the beginning of the speaking program and in the interimissions. Maurice C. Bird, chairman of the Finance Committee, after making some introductory remarks, presented Dr. Richard W. Sheehy, Chief of Staff of the Hospital, who spoke of the work the institution was doing. This was supplemented by a showing of the motion picture "I Have! Have You?" which, photographed by Ernest Dudley Chase, portrays the hospital activities in a very full and interesting measure. Mr. Bird then again took the floor to explain the organization of the campaign and Frank Crawford, manager of the Hospital, in a spirited address sent the workers home confident in the desirability of their objectives and their ability to make this clear to the citizens of the town.

Throughout the campaign which begins Oct. 15, Chairman Bird explained, headquarters will be maintained in the Locatelli Building on the corner of Thompson and Main streets, the space having been kindly donated by Mr. Locatelli. Telephones would be provided with numbers of Winchester 1904 and 1905. The personnel of the organization he defined as follows:

Executive Committee—Maurice C. Bird, Chairman; John Ely Burchard, Kenneth F. Caldwell, Ernest Dudley Chase, Lafayette R. Chamberlin, Edmund L. Dunn, Theodore Godwin, Ernest W. Gross, John Kenerson, Geoffrey C. Neiley, Theodore von Rosenvinge and R. Gilman Wallace.

Moreover, when he does learn these things we have no fear as to what his reaction will be. He will immediately join the 'I Have' party and start asking 'Have You?'."

Winchester center has now assumed a new aspect with the removal of the big poles which bordered the railroad tracks. As soon as the poles on Shore road are moved and that street rebuilt, the work will be completed.

Peace or War—unless some one curbs these three foreign nations, and that pretty soon, we may wake up here in America before long to the sound of bombs. Let us all hope that when that time comes it will not be too late.

There is one good feature about our new traffic lights. When the railroad gates are down the entire center is clear. Furthermore, those persons who desire to cross the street may do so at that time. As the trains seem more numerous, the pedestrian traffic does not pile up as heavy as it might otherwise.

The fuss over the appointment of Hugo L. Black to the Supreme Court seems rather unnecessary. That he will remain a member of the court appears obvious. With everyone having the knowledge that his appointment was that of a "yes" man for the President, it is not surprising that he repudiated his membership to the KKK, and his decisions may be just as faithful. Political expedience is an important factor in today's New Deal.

HIGHLIGHTS FROM THE PRESIDENT'S SPEECH

2. Balanced Abundance.

WINCHESTER EMBLEM CLUB

We had a double surprise at our meeting last Monday evening. The newly elected President of the Supreme Emblem Club, Mrs. Mary T. Smythe and her escort Mrs. Young were our honored guests.

There were eight delegates from our club attended the National Convention last week at the New Ocean House in Swampscott. Perfect weather greeted us and a marvelous time was enjoyed by all. Three hundred and seventy-five from various parts of the United States attended the banquet.

After the meeting last Monday in Lyceum Hall, our organist, Sister Agnes Fallon was given a surprise gift from members of the club in anticipation of her coming marriage this month. The bashful young man was induced to join in the festivities which were planned by Vice President Callahan. A cake decorated with bride and groom figures was the central attraction, white and gold being the prevailing colors of the general scheme of decorations. Refreshments were served by Past President Anna Lochman with Chaplain Anna Little as co-chairman, all being ably supervised by our President Myrtle Goodhue, whose mammoth apples and individual favors made by her artistic daughter Mrytle elicited exclamations of delight from all.

At our next meeting, Monday, Oct. 25, we are to have a Hallowe'en party, and on Nov. 8 a charity whist with orders for turkeys to be given to the three most fortunate ones.

Contractors have been busy this week widening and rebuilding Shore road, and on Wednesday the work of resurfacing Thompson street was commenced. This work was necessary to repair the damage done these streets when the new Metropolitan sewer was laid.

PROGRESS SHOW COMING TO HIGH SCHOOL

The conveniences and comforts we may expect to find in general use 25 years hence will be demonstrated in a fascinating stage presentation free to the public at the Winchester High School next Thursday, Oct. 21. Under the auspices of the Lions Club, Chamber of Commerce, and Fortnightly Club, "Previews of Progress" will be offered for the entertainment and enlightenment of Winchester citizens. The show is sponsored by the General Motors Corporation but is in no way an advertising or selling feature.

Housewives of 1960, according to Ernest L. Foss, research engineer who conducts the demonstrations, may be preparing their meals on cold stoves, with the ice box where we now find ovens. In emphasizing his convictions, Foss fries an egg in a frying pan which rests on top of a newspaper, proving conclusively that such a thing as a cold stove is not impossible, although at this stage of development it is not practical.

Foss traces the development of the electric light, displaying specimens of each successive period, and concludes by showing two new types of light which are promising fair to become major industries in the future. One is a mercury vapor lamp, which gives two and one half times more light than our present 100 watt bulb, and uses only 85 per cent as much electricity. The other is a chemical solution which is the only man-made illumination which gives forth no heat. Foss points out that perhaps in years to come we may all be running down to the corner drug store every Saturday night for a couple of quarts of cold light to hang in the living room.

Experiments which mystify and amaze the audience will be explained in simple language by Foss. Although scientific in nature, "Previews of Progress" is non-technical. Many of the experiments and demonstrations will be used in the 1939 world's fair.

Two performances will be given, the first at 7 p. m. and the second at 8:30. A special showing for school children will be offered Friday morning by special arrangement with Superintendent James J. Quinn. For that reason the evening performances will be for adults only.

Admission is absolutely free.

MANY VISITED FELLS

Many Winchester residents took advantage of the opportunity to visit the Middlesex Fells in the vicinity of the Winchester reservoirs on Tuesday. Through the efforts of our Water Department officials, the roads surrounding the reservoirs were open through the day, and a total of about 400 persons availed themselves of the opportunity to view the three reservoirs and the fine autumn foliage. There were over 70 automobiles and many walking parties. In years past when this visitation has been allowed few have made the trip on foot, but the previous announcement that foot travel was permissable brought out many who desired to enjoy the woods at their leisure.

ELKS SHOW FIGHT PICTURES

A feature of the regular meeting of Winchester Lodge of Elks next Tuesday evening will be the showing if sound pictures of the Joe Louis Tommy Farr fight. The picture, entitled, "Carnival of Champions," will interest every fan. A news reel will also be shown and refreshments served.

FIRE AT GIRL SCOUT CABIN

The Girl Scout Cabin in Brooks Woods at the rear of Ridgefield road was damaged Tuesday afternoon by a fire which the authorities believe was set by boys. Box 27 was sounded at 2:46 and the men found upon arrival that a fire had been set on the floor of the cabin living room. It was quickly extinguished and, aside from a section of flooring about three feet square, which was burned through, there was little damage done the building.

It was found that access had been gained by forcing a storm window on the westerly side of the cabin and breaking a pane of glass to reach the window catch. Two boys were seen riding bicycles away from the cabin, going toward Medford, and it is believed they may have been responsible.

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, Oct. 17.

The Golden Text is: "God is faithful, by whom ye were called unto the fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord" (1 Corinthians 1:9).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in him: . . . For in him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily. And ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principality and power" (Colossians 2: 6, 9, 10).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Glory be to God, and peace to the struggling hearts! Christ hath rolled away the stone from the door of human hope and faith, and through the revelation and demonstration of life in God, hath elevated them to possible at-one-ment with the spiritual idea of man and his divine Principle, Love" (p. 45).

A New Field of Endeavor

for Sales Representatives

The business of appraising and surveying is unusual in that it offers opportunities to men of the proper caliber. A New England Institution desires local Sales Representatives, permanent positions, full or part time. No experience necessary. We will train you. This organization with headquarters in Boston, and facilities for doing business over the entire New England States, will train and employ men with or without experience, who have the foresight to invest their time in training for the appraising and surveying field.

Sales ability is not essential; we discount sales experience in favor of genuine desire to work hard and learn. Only individuals with outstanding ability, character, personality, and the willingness to co-operate in giving of "Service to the Public Only" need apply.

If you have an established residence in any City or Town in New England and can furnish good character references, write us.

LIONS CLUB

The regular meeting of the Winchester Lions' Club was held last Monday noon at the Calumet Club.

President Emery opened the meeting with 16 gathered around the festive board. After luncheon and a short business session intermingled by snappy singing a la Jerry, the guest of the day, Mr. C. P. Lowe of the W. F. Schrafft & Sons Corp., was introduced.

He presented a moving picture of the making of candy in the Schrafft plant. It was very interesting and very educational and one that would be of value if shown to any group. The scenes preceding the plant inspection were especially good as Boston with its many historical spots were shown.

The source of supply of the candy ingredients proved interesting as well as the efficient clean factory program.

The next meeting will be held at Calumet next Monday.

What is "Specially Processed"? It is a sanitary, more healthful method, by which ALL of our poultry is dressed and cared for.

Immediately after dressing the bird, it is singed, head and feet cut off, entrails drawn, giblets separated; it is then given an ice water bath for one hour in order to remove the animal heat. READING THEATRE

"Mamma Don't Like No Mountain Music," an old time favorite in good old hillbilly style, is sung by Rufe Davis, erstwhile cotton chopper turned movie actor in "Mountain Music," the comedy which opens on Sunday at the Reading Theatre.

He became an entertainer. Within a few months he became a Broadway sensation and when Bob Burns, who is co-starred with Martha Raye in, "Mountain Music," set about casting the picture he sent for Rufe immediately.

The director who is credited with the "discovery" of Shirley Temple as a motion picture star, and who has worked in every department of motion picture production during his 22 years in the industry, directed "Exclusive," the dynamic newspaper story also opening Sunday at the Reading Theatre.

A LETTER FROM IRELAND

Ernest Dudley Chase Writes a Friend from the British Isles

Greetings:

Thought you might like to get a few words from me about my experiences in Ireland, being as how there's plenty of time to write on account of the rain which inhabits this country along with the patient folks who seem to put up with it without a murmur.

We landed at Larne 25 miles north of Belfast about 9:30 in the evening and did our first night driving to Belfast with an 11:30 arrival in a punk hotel.

Next morning, decided to leave for the north as soon as possible, but with papers to get out for car, oiling, greasing of the same and other things, it was after lunch before getting started. Didn't clean the car! Was fair all day. Not a drop of rain! Had a lovely drive up the coast road, famous as one of the best in Ireland, ending up with a trip through the Glenariffe—full of waterfalls, rustic bridges, and so on. Got a good impression of the country. Small hotel beside the sea.

Up next morning with the birds and cleaned the car all off. Hadn't been gone an hour before rain fell and continued 'til mid-afternoon. We had to walk a mile in to see the Giant's Causeway, one of the wonders of the world, where Nature made the rocks look like 5, 7 and 8-sided piles driven into the shore at that point. They are all broken off at various heights and in places you can walk on the ends. You have seen them drive piles under where a building is going to stand? Well, these odd-shaped stones look something like piles.

We didn't get rained on much, but on the way in we heard an old priest who was coming out say he had sat in the "Wishing Chair," which meant that the seat of his pants must have been wet, for the "Chair" is a part of the rock formation that turns out something like a chair, the seat and sides and back being raised above where your feet go. Now when I sat in it I got my pants wet, and even if he was a priest, I believe he got wet, too!

Nothing more happened in the p. m. except that the road took us along the North road and Coast through bleak, bare country, with peat bogs on all sides, and that night we had a tough hotel at Londonderry. Big enough room, but dirty in the corners, as the wife put it.

Next morning before breakfast, cleaned the car! Started out with the most beautiful prospects of a fair day. Crossed into the Free State without trouble, and was the country grand! Beautiful scenes on all sides.

Clouds thickened, windshield wiper put to work—dirt on clean car! But it cleared in the p. m. and that night we got to Bundoran, a "resort place," so-called, and there we found a hotel in the middle of a golf course that was modern and clean, green tiles, black tile, fine white tub in bathrooms, and all the fixings. Decided to stay two nights. Had a magnificent sunset, and there on a concrete floor, put in on the sand way up above the ocean, a one-eyed fiddler played Irish jigs, and the girls and fellows came up from the town to dance square dances. We left at ten for the hotel, and 'twas still light and fair.

Next morning, couldn't sleep because of the gale blowing rain against our windows, and while we had our day of rest, black clouds rolled in from the Atlantic (we were on the west coast) laden with wet rain. Then blue sky would appear to kid brave golfers out on the links; soon they'd come in, drenched, only to go out again, to have the same thing happen!

Next morning tried to get some of the salt off the windshield and windows, and as before, thought the day was to be fair, so continued our journey, but no, 'twas an "in-and-out" day. Some showers, then sun to glorify the beautiful landscapes and seascapes. Gee! Ireland is beautiful!

Following a man's advice who seemed to know his Ireland, we made for a "fine hotel" at a place called Carna, passing up an Abbey, which we mistook for a Duke's castle, and which we later heard took in travelers; to motor 10 miles down through the barest, rockiest country we had ever seen, to this Mongan's Hotel at Carna.

He looked us all over, then he said, "You're lucky, that you are! I've only one room left." And while we were here, 10 miles from nowhere, and probably 30 from any kind of a third-rate hotel, his room, though small, had electric lights and hot and cold running water. Fishermen make it their headquarters for fishing trips to nearby lakes and streams for trout and salmon, bring their families with them, and what the women folks do while the men are fishing, or the kids, I haven't the slightest idea.

There were 39 in the dining room that night, all at once, and one man (in a dress suit) and one girl waited on all of us! At breakfast (9 a. m.) the same, and we were late getting off, and still later paying the bill, for 'twas Sunday and the old man had gone to Mass! He was the only one who could take the cash, so we had to wait.

I forgot to say there was the dandiest flower garden one would want to see in front of the hotel, and all down in this veritable desert of rocks!

We drove 15 miles out without seeing a tree, just ledges and big boulders, tons and tons heavy, little patches where poor folks were trying to wring a living from the soil.

Cleaned the car before leaving, but it didn't rain until afternoon.

That night we came to Adair, where is the Manor House of Lord Dunraven, and stopped in the Dunraven Arms Hotel, which he owns and which was quite fine. Here we saw not only Adair Abbey, one of the prettiest we had ever seen, and with a golf course now on three sides of this picturesque ruin, but Desmond Castle ruin (both within the Earl's Estate) which the famous Desmond family and their retainers fought and died to prevent the English from capturing in the good old days before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock. It was won and lost many times, and finally that old devil, Cromwell, blew it up. Now it is a very fine, vine-covered ruin.

We stayed an extra night in Adair, we liked it so well, and the second morning I scrubbed our car clean once more!

I photographed an old lady out on the peat bogs who had on a red homespun petticoat, or rather skirt (excuse me, I don't know as she owned a petticoat) and other home-made garments which I asked her about, and she said: "Sure and we spin our own yarn and make our own clothes by weavin' of thim, we have our spuds and ither vegitables we cut out peet for fire. Sure we git on all right!"

Ducks and geese crossing the road in front of the car have a way of looking at you and saying: "Quack, quack, toot and be darned," and waddle over as snooty as an elephant would.

At Adair, and in some other hotels, they serve liquors at the same counter where you register for rooms; and can you imagine waiting for breakfast until 9 o'clock? Well, that's about the rule and the towns are hardly awake until then.

We meet lots of little donkeys on the roads, some hauling carts, or loose, wandering around, or once in a while a full-grown man riding bareback with his feet dangling, the same as they do in the Holy Land or Mexico.

In front of some of the little cottages along the roads are ducks, hens, geese and even turkeys, and oftimes they are poking their noses in the doorway, which is usually open, or are way inside!

One old lady said, as we were admiring her vine-clad, thatched roof cottage: "Yes, people like to take pitchers of it, indade they do, but they wouldn't want to live in it." None of the comforts of a real home as we know them.

In some of the hotels we felt quite sure that they folded up the napkins for the next fellow to use, and the same applied to bath towels as well. They looked it, anyway.

Well, as I said before, I gave the car a nice cleaning-up in Adair and the Mrs. put a few finishing touches on it while I was busy photographing Desmond Castle. Then, an hour after we started for Killarney, it rained again, and by the time we drove into the lake region the bus looked as if it had never been cleaned.

Killarney was filled with folks, and we went to four hotels before we could get a room, and that was for one night only. Briefly the sun shone on Muckross Abbey, which is a very nice old ruin, and I snapped it in that time and got one or two of the lake, too. In Killarney there were also the fine ruins of Ross Castle.

No garage space available, so car stayed out all night and got rained on. (Sometimes it pours in the night in Ireland, when you're not looking) and 'twas so wet I couldn't clean it off, as I had no sponge, nor enough rags, and while it didn't rain much during the day we went over a good many miles of dirt road, and it looked bad again when we parked it in front of "Ireland's finest hotel." (This is written with reservations, but that's how the head porter described it to us.) The Great Southern at Parknasilla, south of Killarney is an exclusive piece of land bordering an inlet coming up from the sea. The building is of stone, and they've planted a lot of palms and tropical shrubs to make people think they're in the Tropics. I guess it is warmer here than in some places, due to the Gulf Stream.

Here, after wiring for a room, we got "the last one." Four dollars a day, and pitcher and bowl. It being on the last place west, almost, I suppose they charge New York prices for a third-rate place, and—can you beat it? the menu in the evening was typewritten in French!

Well, we enjoyed the sea air, the "parms" and other tropical vegetation, a good night's rest, and a rainy morning to get away in. Hooray! I didn't have to clean the car!

Our journey East was uneventful. Rain ceased by 10, and after a long mountain climb and down the other side, we came to Glengarriff, a famous "pretty" spot, then over a wild pass—the rockiest yet—and down again we came to Cork for luncheon.

Hotels are not famous in Ireland (in our experience) for cleanliness. The Imperial was no exception. Again the luncheon menus were in French.

Up to Blarney, a matter of eight miles, to photograph others being lowered by their hind legs, until by leaning backward with their faces tilted far back, they could smack where millions of others have smacked!

Well, 'twas a great old pile. After looking our fill, we found a rambling hotel called St. Anne's Hydropathic way up on a hill, and there they sold us a room from which we could see the Castle. It was comfortable and clean, except the head waiter's dress suit, which had seen many a soup spot, etc., etc., an infinitum.

Friday the 13th—the only one this year—that's something to flirt with in a "foreign" country! Cleaned two day's mud and clay off the bus as best I could and for the first seven hours we enjoyed at least 50 per cent sunshine, as on toward Dublin, or rather Kingstown (just south) we flew, taking the shortest route. At 4 p. m. sharp she broke, and I don't mean maybe, or the Ford, but the cloud overhead, black and sinister. For an hour there was the start of the second flood. We had to stop by the side of the road to let the water go by—downward, and then along the roads in rivers. That's why there are no snakes in Ireland. They were all drowned ages ago! Hope St. Patrick had an umbrella and rubber boots—and a cloudburst coat.

Of course, the stuff all ran out—that is, whoever forgot to turn it off came back onto the job, and it only rained medium-like for the rest of the day, evening and night. I don't mind wasting water in Irish hotels, for I know there's never any shortage.

Dublin, the busiest part, looked very good, as it was given the once-over, but the barber shop I went to, and the two Mrs. tried, or ratio-er looked into, wouldn't have been tolerated in the North End. During this layoff day, the car was oiled and greased and then washed for 87½ cents. A sure sign of heavy rain in any country.

The fairest of all our days came the next day after our day over in Kingstown and Dublin. Although not a drop of rain fell during the oil-up and wash-up day. Leaving Kingstown, we motored north through Dublin and on un into the north of Ireland, having no trouble as we went over the Frontier, but before we had gone 50 miles, there came the first shower and after lunch we either dodged several, or overtook them until the car needed another cleaning!

So we came to Belfast and lunched decently; then on by devious roads to Larne again, where on Monday morning we departed for Scotland and England, having circumotorvated Ireland entirely, mostly along the coast line roads, driving in all 1350 miles.

Rain makes Ireland the Emerald Isle!

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Ann Page

Good food is made more appetizing by careful seasoning which need not mean pepper and spices but imaginative use of the onion family, lemon juice and rind, celery leaves, parsley and other herbs.

Meats in general are lower but particularly forequarter beef and pork loins. Eggs are an excellent value. Fish is fairly plentiful and reasonably priced. Cheese continues to be one of the best possible values. Oysters are again in fairly general distribution.

Apples, grapes and grapefruit are the outstanding fruits though many others are generally available. Vegetables are plentiful and reasonable.

Seasonable foods make up the following menus:

Low Cost Dinner

Quick Pot Roast — Potatoes
Onions — Carrots
Bread and Butter
Banana Bread Pudding
Tea or Coffee — Milk

Medium Cost Dinner

Beefsteak — Baked Potatoes
Green Beans — Bread and Butter
Spanish Cream
Tea or Coffee — Milk

Very Special Dinner

Celery — Carrot Sticks
Roast Turkey with Oyster Stuffing
Sweet Potatoes — Brussel Sprouts
Green Salad — Rolls and Butter
Floating Island
Coffee — Milk

SEEN IN A NEW LIGHT

He was a real, rare gentleman
With bright and piercing eye:
He always waved his hand at me
When evenings I went by.
Sometimes he would speak to me—
I can remember twice
He stopped me for a little while
To give me sound advice:
And oft' times, now, I will recall
His words so strong and choice,
It almost seems that I can hear
An echo of his voice.

In winter when the wind blew cold
Upon his rosy cheeks,
He was a stern, more silent man
For days and even weeks:
In summer when the sun beat down
Upon his chiseled brow,
To see him filled me with respect
And reverence, somehow;
And as I hurry through our square,
I'll think of him tonight,
For I suspect that cop's somewhere
Near our new traffic light.

STRAND THEATRE, MALDEN

Don Ameche and Loretta Young in "Love Under Fire," plus "The Life of the Party" with Gene Raymond, Joe Penner, Parkyakarkus, Harriet Hilard, Victor Moore and Helen Broderick is the double bill opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden today. In "Love Under Fire," Loretta Young forced by trickery into the belief that she is a hunted thief, seeks obscurity in Spain. Here she meets Don Ameche a Scotland Yard detective who is on a vacation. Don is forced to arrest his susceptible suspect, but their trip back to England and justice is interruped by the appearance of the pretty owner of some fabulous jewels which are being sought by military officials. The fate of the gems has an immediate and telling effect upon the fates of a multiude of innocent bystanders, and the adventurous suspense and excitement works up to a high climax when a British vessel is stopped at sea by a Spanish gunboat. The drama created by the war-like backgrounds is lightened by the antics of Borrah Minnevitch and his gang and their manager, Walter Catlett. Others in the cast are Frances Drake, John Carradine, Sig Rumann, Harold Huber and Katherine DeMille.

"The Life of the Party" is a musical comedy but the story angle predominates, despite a sparkling variety of supplementary musical and dance features plus comedy interludes. Gene Raymond is cast as the heir to a fortune which he loses if he marries before he is 30. He falls in love with Harriet Hillard, a struggling young singer whose mother wants her to marry a rich man. When her mother forces wealthy Joe Penner on her, Miss Hillard pretends she is married to Raymond. This throws everybody into confusion with Penner, Parkyakarkus, Victor Moore and Helen Broderick providing the laughs. From romantic ballads to novelty numbers, the musical numbers of "The Life of the Party" are well emphasized by Miss Hillard's four vocal numbers, two by Gene Raymond and one song by Joe Penner.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"Souls at Sea," with Gary Cooper, George Raft, Frances Dee and Olympe Bradna as the stars head the double bill opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. Gary Cooper is cast as a sea captain serving under master Harry Carey. Carey is killed at sea and Cooper because of his rank assumes command. A mysterious fire breaks out and gets out of control. Realizing that there are not enough life boats to take care of all the passengers, Cooper holds one of the weirdest trials ever held on land or sea. He orders the entire ship's company and passengers to the quarter deck and decides who will go and who will stay with the doomed ship. Cooper includes himself in those who are to take to the boats because he is the only navigator. He brings the boats through in safety and is arrested for manslaughter on the high seas. The chief witness against him is his sweetheart Frances Dee. She loves Cooper but feels he did wrong in making her brother stay on the ship. The outcome of this trial is as amazing as the tale itself, which is based on historical fact. George Raft as the hard-boiled pal of Gary Cooper is said to give a superb performance. Hundreds of well known players appear in "Souls At Sea," making it one of the outstanding films of the year.

Jane Withers in "Wild and Wooley" is the second attraction on the bill starting today. Completely surrounded by her greatest cast which includes Walter Brennan, Douglas Fowley, Jackie Searle, Paulin Moore Robert Wilcox and Berton Churchill, Jane Withers learns of the old time West from her grandpop, Walter Brennan. Brennan runs for sheriff every year but is always defeated by the political machine of Berton Churchill. Then Jane decides to help Brennan win the battle and enlists the aid of Jackie Searle, the leading banker's son. Another helper is the comical banjo eyed "Alfalfa." Jane plunges the characters into a series of adventures and misadventures, riding runaway trains, getting grandpop into a duel, scaring the wits out of tenderfeet in a grave yard at midnight, chasing gangsters on a careening stage coach and roping young lovers into romance. "Wild and Wooly" is easily Jane Withers funniest picture.

FORTNIGHTLY CHARITY BALL

On Saturday night, Oct. 23, the Town Hall will present a scene so brilliantly colorful, so picturesquely artistic and so historically accurate that Winchesterites will not want to miss it. One hundred and seventy-eight prominent historical characters, each selected for his or her particular similarity to the person represented, will pass in review before the Court of America. All countries will be represented, as well as all ages, from Cleopatra, who, with her Julius Caesar and Mark Antony, will represent Egypt of old, down to the Luke and Dutchess of Windsor, and the Roosevelt family, en masse. Each country will be represented by its native songs and dances, as well as its leading historic characters, each one more entertaining than the last. Gay, colorful costumes will sweep down the broad main aisle of the vast "World Court," as the better known characters of history come to life and appear before the throne of Uncle Sam.

So come and see your favorite character in history—see your favorite country represented by its loveliest costumes and dances, hear its famous tunes sung, played and danced to—then linger on for the dancing that is to follow and talk over the highlights of the pageant with your fellow Winchesterites. For there will be dancing to follow—yea! verily!—and the tempting tunes of Karl Rohde and his splendid orchestra need no introduction to dancing Winchesterites. You have heard him on the radio, at the Boston Gardens, where he played for lovely Sonia Henie in her skating shows, and for Eleanor Holm Jarrett and her swimming group. You have probably danced many times to his lilting rhythms at the New Frolics Night Club—but never have you heard him when you have had enough room on the dance floor on which to step out and test your stride. In the spacious confines of the Town Hall, you will have elbow room, foot room, and every possible chance of arriving home afterward with the toes of both shoes intact.

So come to the Town Hall on Saturday night—see the loveliest Pageant your tired old eyes have ever enjoyed—dance to the best music you have ever enjoyed—dance to the best music you have ever dreamed of—and be utterly happy in the knowledge that over and above the evening's entertainment and enjoyment, you have done your stint for charity in a commendable manner.

The Pageant will start promptly at 8, so that there will be plenty of time for dancing.

WAS WELL KNOWN HERE

Many Winchester music lovers will regret to learn of the death of John C. Spooner on last Sunday in Somerville, after a brief illness that followed an operation.

Mr. Spooner was for many years a member of the choir of boys and men that won such wide recognition while singing at the Church of the Epiphany under the direction of J. Albert Wilson. Previously he had sung at All Saints in Ashmont and later in Milton. He was also one of the key singers in the superb bass section which was the boast of the Winchester Choral Society. His pleasing personality and beautiful low voice will be missed by all who knew Mr. Spooner and enjoyed his friendship and musicianship.

HEAVY STORM DAMAGED ROADS

The heavy rain of Wednesday evening caused several washouts on town roads, perhaps the worst of which was on Main street near Stowell road where a depression more than a foot deep was discovered. A large hole was made in the sidewalk on Swanton street near Emerson court and a catch basin on the Parkway at Manchester road was badly flooded, with cars reported stalled at that point. Hill street was washed out and another washout was reported on Main street at the mill of Osborne & Nelson. A third washout was reported on Everett avenue in front of the residence of Mabelle M. Long, and a large hole was torn between the sidewalk and street on Winslow road in front of the residence of Fred L. Stratton.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

Those in charge of the Salvation Army drive hope to conclude their work in Winchester this week-end.

Instead of uniformed members of the Army who have visited Winchester in past years the work is being done by a group of local women under the direction of Mr. Harry Winn, chairman for the drive in this town.

Checks may be sent to the drive treasurer, Mr. G. Dwight Cabot, at the Winchester Trust Company, or given to any member of the committee.

GEORGE ARTHUR BARRON, D. O. S.

George Arthur Barron, D. O. S., of 26 Winthrop street, former president of the Massachusetts Society of Optometrists and a resident of Winchester for nearly 50 years, died Sunday, Oct. 17, in the Winchester Hospital, following a brief illness. He was in his 81st year.

Dr. Barron was the son of Henry and Elana (Noyes) Barron. He was born Oct. 4, 1857, in Charlestown, attended the old Prescott School and was graduated from Boston English High School with the class of 1877.

As a young man he served his apprenticeship at the Waltham Horological School and after becoming an expert craftsman, was placed in charge of the watch and clock repairing department of A. Stowell Co. in Boston.

Becoming interested in diseases of the eye, he devoted his spare time to study and was graduated from the Klein School of Optics in 1897, opening an office for the practice of Optometry at 406 Washington street, Boston, the following year. Later he was located at 3 Winter street, and when the Blake Building at 59 Temple place was completed 25 years ago he opened offices there, remaining at that location until June of this year when he retired from active practice.

Dr. Barron had an extensive practice, making regular trips to New Hampshire and Vermont where he treated many patients in addition to those in and about Greater Boston. He was especially interested in massage and diet as curative agents in the treatment of eye troubles, having considerable success in benefiting a number of especially bad cases of defective vision in this way.

He was president of the Massachusetts Society of Optometrists from 1919 to 1920, a member of Needles Institute of Optometry, a member and past secretary of the American Optometric Association, a charter member of the Distinguished Service Foundation, a charter member of the New England Council of Optometrists, a member of the Boston Society of Optometrists, and in 1935 was awarded a fellowship by the Distinguished Service Foundation. He served as dean of the Optical Department of the then University of Massachusetts from 1918 until 1923.

Dr. Barron was a 32nd Degree Scottish Rite Mason, a member of William Parkman Lodge of Winchester, of Woburn Royal Arch Chapter and Boston Council, Royal and Select Masters. He was also a member and past grand of Siloam Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Roxbury, and a former member of the Calumet Club.

On June 8, 1891, he married Addie M. Quimby of Winchester, who died Sept. 24, 1920. Aug. 1, 1921, he married Lottie Perkins Witt of Windsor, Vt., who died July 6, 1935. He was a brother of the late Clarence Barron, widely known financier and publisher of the Boston News Bureau. A brother, Amos N. Barron of Cleveland, Ohio, survives, with two nephews, Emer W. Barron, M. D., of Malden; and Willard E. Munday of Southbridge; also three nieces, Mrs. Hugh Bancroft of Cohasset, Mrs. Edna I. Stacey and Mrs. Florence E. Stone of Belmont.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon in Ripley Memorial Chapel of the First Congregational Church, with the pastor, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, officiating. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

ATTEMPTED THEFT OF CAR

At 11:30 Wednesday night Howard A. Walsh of 1 Appalachian road notified Police Headquarters that an attempt had been made to steal his Buick sedan. Patrolmen John H. Boyle and James F. Noonan went to investigate and found that Mr. Walsh's car had been rolled from the driveway and against a large stone at the side of the road. The left front wind deflector had been forced open, but the thief or thieves had been frightened away before further damage was done.

Mr. Walsh told the Police a car had driven away from his home toward Medford, and an alarm was broadcast with the result that the Medford authorities picked up two young men shortly after midnight yesterday morning, riding in a LaSalle coupe reported stolen in Boston.

Sergt. Joseph Derro and Mr. Walsh went to Medford Headquarters where the latter was able to identify the coupe as the one he had seen leave his home, but could not identify the occupants. They gave their names as Joseph J. McCarthy, 19, of 22 Brainbridge street and Luke E. Howell, 23, of 20 Carney street, both of Charlestown. They were turned over to the Boston Police.

CHILD HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Willard C. Blackenton of 165 Governor's avenue, Medford, reported to the Police yesterday that at 10 o'clock in the forenoon while his Buick sedan was being driven north on Main street at Stowell road by William A. Dolan of 146 George street, Medford, a two year old boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wallis of 17 Everell road, ran into the right rear fender of his machine.

The child was taken to his home and attended by Dr. Richard J. Clark. It is reported that he was not seriously injured.

BADGER AGAIN PRESIDENT

Erastus B. Badger, president of the Winchester Country Club, was again elected president of the Massachusetts Golf Association at the annual meeting held at the Brae Burn Country Club Wednesday night.

HOSPITAL DRIVE PASSES HALF-WAY POINT. SUCCESS ASSURED

The excitement and activity among some 350 solicitors, their 25 captains and the six precinct chairmen is reflected at the headquarters of the Hospital campaign in these closing days of the campaign.

Maurice Bird, chairman of the drive committee, is kept busy answering phone calls or receiving visitors who come to ask questions and make contributions. We asked Mr. Bird how the drive was going. "Perfectly grand," was his first comment.

"It is remarkable how the town has gotten behind this drive. We have received many hundreds of contributions so far and the most gratifying thing about this is that these contributions come from every part of the town and not only from one or two precincts. Winchester, as a whole, is supporting its hospital." Mr. Bird then took us over to the headquarters in the Locatelli Building and showed us how he was handling the returns so that everything would be kept in orderly fashion till the final contribution has been made.

"In going over these cards of the business institutions about town we find that, of the returns received so far, some 70 per cent have come back with contributions. Winchester's business organizations can be counted on to give Winchester functions real support. These business men deserve special commendation for their helpful cooperation throughout the drive."

The cards being turned in from the various precincts showed the interesting fact that 62 per cent of the people called upon and reported to headquarters had contributed. Many residents of the town have not been contacted yet, but the closing days of the drive will place one of the workers in touch with every family.

"The last days will surely put the campaign over the top in fine style enabling the hospital to look forward to a year of carefree, helpful service to all," said Frank Crawford, manager of the Winchester Hospital.

The Winchester hospital is truly a community institution as the support it is getting from citizens in all walks of life and all sections of the town proves. Everywhere the slogan is made to mean more and more. People all over town are saying "I have, have you?"

KEANEY—CONLON

The marriage of Miss Belinda Conlon of Dartmouth street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Conlon, to Anthony John Keaney, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Keaney of Canal street took place Tuesday morning, Oct. 19, in St. Mary's Church, which was decorated with chrysanthemums, palms and autumn foliage.

Rev. Fr. Conrad J. Quidbach performed the marriage ceremony at 9 o'clock and also celebratel the nuptial mass which followed. Music for the mass was sung by St. Mary's Choir with Miss Florence Fisher at the organ.

Miss Conlon was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Bartholomew Conlon of this town. She was attended by her sister, Miss Anna Conlon of New York City, and by her small niece, Miss Patricia Anna Conlon of Winchester. Mr. Keaney had for his best man his cousin, John Cullen, also of this town.

The bride wore a princess style gown of white satin with a veil of old fashioned embroidered lace, and carried a white prayer book with streamers of valley lilies. The honor maid wore a gown of fuchsia transparent velvet with matching hat and slippers and carried yellow chrysanthemums. The flower girl's frock was of robin's egg blue taffeta, trimmed with fuchsia, and she carried an old fashioned bouquet of sweetheart roses.

After the ceremony a reception for members of the immediate families was held at the Shaker Glen House in Woburn. Mr. Keaney and his bride are spending their honeymoon in Springfield and New York City. Upon their return they will live in Woburn where they will be at home after Oct. 26 on Highland street, Woburn. 26 on Highland street.

STREET CONSTRUCTION NEARLY COMPLETED

Assistant Superintendent of Streets Michael Grant told the Star yesterday that the actual reconstruction of the Shore road will be finished this week and that next week the town would commence the grading along the sides. The wires that have been on poles along the road are to be run underground and two ornamental light poles are to be installed.

Everett avenue was opened to traffic Wednesday evening, but there still remains about a week's work to be done there, grading and seeding. The completion of these two streets will finish the actual reconstruction work about town, but there still remains enough odd jobs to keep the Highway Department busy for some time to come.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the town clerk as follows:

Daniel Joseph Kerrigan of 30 Porter street, Woburn and Edith Alma Lundgren of 721 Main street.

Robert Freeman Comfort of 87 Highland avenue and Dorothy Lydia Ireland of Washington avenue, Wilmington.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. John J. McCarthy of Washington street have announced the engagement of their niece, Miss Frances Barbara O'Neil, to Robert L. Burr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Burr of Pond street, Stoneham.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB DESSERT BRIDGE

The beautiful picture of the dessert bridge held in the spacious home of Mrs. Reginald Bradlee, on Ledgewood road, last Wednesday, will long remain in the minds of the 250 women who braved the inclement weather and were rewarded by a perfectly delightful afternoon.

Mrs. Bradlee's lovely dining room, decorated with yellow and bronze chrysanthemums and yellow candles, made a charming background for the pourers, Mrs. Reginald Bradlee, Mrs. J. Harper Blaisdell and Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke. The Social chairman, Mrs. Alfred W. Drew, and her assistants, Mrs. William E. Priest, Mrs. Theodore H. Elliott, Mrs. James K. Morrison, Mrs. Leon D. Hughes, Mrs. Clarence A. Perkins, Mrs. Gerald E. Monroe and Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes, served the guests.

After dessert had been served, a splendid fashion show was given by Madame Gracie, the well known Winchester Stylist, who is a member of the Designer's Guild. A group of the newest and smartest fur coats, suits and frocks for sports, afternoon and evening wear were modeled by Mrs. Reginald Robinson, Mrs. Marshall Pihl, Mrs. Forest F. Bursley, Mrs. Rasmus K. Miller, Jr., Mrs. Willard D. Chandler, Jr., Mrs. Ralph E. Carlisle, Miss Betty Budd and Miss Lillian Speedie. Mrs Clifton S. Hall, the very capable commentator, used a microphone furnished by Boodry & Cook, local Radio experts.

Mrs. John A. Maddocks chairman of Hospitality, was assisted by past presidents, Mrs. Ashley K. Hayden, Mrs. Joseph Fessenden, Mrs. Louis K. Snyder and Mrs. Alonzo F. Woodside—also Mrs. Arthur D. Speedie, Mrs. Reginald H. Robinson, Mrs. Charles R. Burnham and Mrs. Reginald Bradlee.

Mrs. William W. Goodhue, chairman of Prizes, had a large and active committee who stepped in and acted as liason officers, among whom were Mrs. Sylvester Taylor, Mrs. William H. Bowe, Mrs. Chester F. Wolfe, Mrs. David D. Choate, Mrs. Robert R. Elliott, Mrs. Allen Howard and Mrs. Henry F. Dolan.

The usually difficult problem of tickets and finances was made a simple routine under the skillful direction of Mrs. Fred. S. Scales and Mrs. C. Harold Smith.

Mrs. Gordon Mann, director of Publicity, left no stones unturned to make all New England conscious of the interesting activities of the Winchester Women's Republican Club.

During the afternoon, a delicious new beverage, called 7-up, was served to a most appreciative group of bridge players, through the courtesy of Mrs. George W. Hayden.

Grateful acknowledgement is hereby made to the many kind friends who generously contributed toward the success of our party. Through the courtesy of Carter & Young, we were able to serve Beechnut coffee.

General chairman in charge of this most delightful afternoon were Mrs. John B. Nichols and Mrs. George W. Hayden.

WINCHESTER AT READING

Winchester High School's rough-riding football team has a breather from Middlesex League competition tomorrow afternoon when its eleven plays Reading at the Junior High School field in Reading commencing at 2 o'clock.

This doesn't loom as too tough an engagement for the locals as Reading is reputed to be weak this season. However, Reading beat Hamilton 41—0 last Saturday, so there must be some sort of an offense up north, and Winchester may well have a bit of a let-down after its crucial game with Belmont.

It is unofficially reported that Ficociello has a sore shoulder and Doug Graham, a broken nose. Sibley's injured ankle, while not as bad as at first was thought will probably keep him on the sidelines tomorrow, but with Bairstow, Welburn and Horie ready for action at the wings, Winchester should not be weak at that point.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Dunham of Auburn, Me., announce the engagement of their daughter, Christiana Emma, to Mr. Richard Winthrop Aitchison, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Aitchison of Governor's avenue.

No date has been set for the wedding.

CHURCH LEADERS RETREAT

On Wednesday afternoon and evening, Oct. 20, the leaders and friends of the First Baptist Church met for their Fellowship retreat.

The afternoon session was held in the Chapel at 3 p. m. The worship services conducted by Rev. Stanley M. Inman, of Dorchester on "What Can I Do For God?" prepared the hearts of the hearers for Dr. Paul Jefferson's address on "20th Century Evangelism." Dr. Jefferson challenged his hearers to follow Jesus method of saving the world by loving men into the Kingdom of God. Dr. Isaac Higginbotham of Boston, delivered a most significant address on the contribution that Christianity has made in the world. He urged church leaders in Winchester to share their religious experiences with the needy men and women with whom they come in contact. The pastor of the church Rev. R. Mitchell Rushton, closed this service in a most impressive way by calling attention to the beautiful golden cross at the altar and readinf as a prayer of consecration "When I survey the wondrous Cross."

Dinner was served in the social hall at 7 p. m.

The social committee (Mrs. Charles A. Burnham chairman) was in charge.

The evening session was held in the auditorium at 8 p. m. Again Mr. Inman conducted the worship service using as his theme "What Can God Do for Me?" He challenged Christian people to live on a plane above the ordinary run of men, on a plane that required the help of God. Our weaknesses and failures in life are unmistakable evidences that we are living in God's world without God's help. Dr. Ambrose M. Bailey of Lowell gave the address of the evening, on "The Aim of the Church." Out of a wealth of experience in pastorates on the west coast and in New England Dr. Bailey convinced his audience that the church of Christ is the greatest institution on earth.

The music of the evening was provided by the Vested Choir under the direction of Leroy Bezanson.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

On Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 13, the Winchester League of Women Voters held its first meeting and tea of the season at the home of Mrs. Joseph W. Worthen, 29 Wedgemere avenue.

During the business meeting, presided over by the president, Mrs. Clifton A. Hall, the secretary's report was read by Mrs. Marshall R. Pihl; as also was the report on finances by the chairman, Mrs. Philip H. Johnson. Mrs. Theodore Brown, chairman of government and education, announced that the first study group of the League, to be devoted to the subject, "Public Libraries," would be conducted under her direction on Oct. 27, Nov. 3, 10, and 17. The Oct. 27 meeting will be held at the Public Library at 10 o'clock, with the following meetings to be held at her home, 443 Main street, at the same hour.

The guest of honor, Mrs. Merle Fainsod of Cambridge, president of the State League, gave a brief talk in which she expressed great appreciation of the work being done in the individual study groups by the Winchester League.

The main speaker of the afternoon was Mr. John Pearson, New England Director of the Social Security Board, who spoke on the subject, "The Administration and Development of the Social Security Act." Mr. Pearson in a practical way, discussed the act in its application to Winchester, and predicted that within a year, an office to be run like the Postoffice will be established either in Winchester or Woburn to carry on the local administration of the Social Security Act.

After a question period which brought out many pertinent inquiries, the remainder of the afternoon was given over to a social hour, when tea, graciously presided over by Mrs. Howard J. Chidley and Mrs. George G. Bravley was served. Mrs. Theodore M. Atkinson, in charge of the tea, was ably assisted by Mrs. J. Waldo Bond, Mrs. Charles N. Eaton, Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke and Mrs. John D. Dickey.

COLLEGE NOTES

Charles P. LeRoyer, Jr., of this town was awarded the coveted Greenwood Prize in Oratory at the annual award of Academic Honors at Tufts College on Wednesday.

Miss Helen Ghirardini of Wedgemere avenue, a sophomore at Boston University, has recently been initiated into Peta Chapter of the Phi Gamma Nu Sorority.

Bernard J. Gaffney of Hemingway street has been re-elected secretary of the chemical Society at Northeastern University.

John "Steamer" Hanlon, New Hampshire State sophomore fullback, who has been kept on the sidelines during the past two weeks with a shoulder injury, did not get into the Colby game last week-end and may be through for the year. With two more years of college football ahead, it would seem wise to risk no further injury this fall.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

The many friends of Mr. Edgar F. Rassat of Chisholm road will be pleased to learn that he is convalescing after his recent illness at the Middlesex Hospital.

While on Church street yesterday afternoon Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy of the Police Department stopped a 14 year old West Side boy and extracted from his pocket a .38 caliber revolver. He took the youngster to Headquarters where the firearms laws were explained to him. The gun was taken in charge by Chief Rogers.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON NOTES

The Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League held its opening meeting of the season on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 21, at the home of Mrs. Frederick N. Stephens on Swan road.

Mrs. William C. Cusack, the president, presided. Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Church of the Epiphany offered prayer.

Among the interesting announcements was that of Mrs. Loring P. Nichols, chairman of the Winchester committee for the bazaar to be held at the Copley Plaza on Nov. 3 and 4. The special feature will be herbs. A large variety of both plants for window boxes and seeds, some of which are very rare. Each box contains six plants of either garden herbs or sweet herbs.

Mrs. Wilburt Kinsley announced a dance to be sponsored by the Circle on Dec. 4 at the Winchester Country Club.

Miss Gretchen Stone reported for the Junior Circle that a Marionette show will be staged by the Juniors at the Bazaar on Thursday afternoon, Nov. 4, at 4 oclock and said they considered it an excellent opportunity for mothers to see the bazaar while their children are being entertained.

Mrs. Mary E. Chute, superintendent of Welcome House, told several real life stories showing the fine and permanent work which is being accomplished by the preventive department.

Mrs. Idabelle Winship music chairman, introduced Mr. Ralph Tailby, baritone soloist, and Mary Ranlon Witham, accompanist. The lovely music of these two fine artists contributed greatly to the joy and interest of the meeting.

Mr. Tailby sang: "Blind Plowman," by Clarke; "Wher'er You Walk," by Handel; "Going ter Hebbin'," by Wolfe; "Bless This House," by Brahe.

Judge Emma Fall Schofield gave a stirring address on, "The Art of Living." Her talk was based on Henry Van Dyke's poem, 'The Zest for Life.' The large audience was deeply moved and greatly inspired by the many beautiful and worth-while ideas on living given to them in a most impressive manner.

A delightful tea was served by Mrs. Harris S. Richardson and her committee, Mrs. Bowen Tufts and Mrs. Nathaniel M. Nichols poured.

Mr. and Mrs. Deeb E. Peter of 31 Church street, together with Mrs. Peter's sister, Miss Natalie Stevens, and Mr. Edward Packer of Salem, left last week Friday for Baltimore, Md., where they attended the Harvard-Navy football game. They drove over the road and returned to Winchester Sunday night, after staying overnight in New York City.

OUR MODERN AGE

By J. J. Doherty

ALCOHOL VS. SCIENCE

Drunken drivers have always been a menace to the community. Many and varied methods have been tried to determine the extent of their drunkenness and each has had its own merits. The latest method to be devised is scientific in every detail and may be used with or without the culprit's co-operation. This method consists of checking the influence of the breath on a chemical solution. Presence of alcohol will always register positive in proportion to the amount of alcohol consumed. This is really a great advance in the right direction.

The use of modern methods and equipment and quality, durable materials enable the experts of Fells Plumbing & Heating Co., 656 Main St., to give you better service and better workmanship on all plumbing jobs—repairs or modernizations. For complete satisfaction let them handle the necessary plumbing work in your home.

"THE LAST RESERVE"

The Emperor Napoleon once said to his officers: "Providence is always on the side of the last reserve."

And the "last reserve" of every home and of every business today should be such unfailing protection as insurance offers. When disaster occurs, a moderate insurance premium is a small price to have paid for complete security against financial loss.

Enjoy peace of mind and freedom from worry in the coming years. Protect your home, automobile, business, person and property with insurance.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The first meeting of the 57th year of Fortnightly will be held in Fortnightly Hall on Monday, Oct. 25, with dessert and reception to new members at 1:30 and business meeting at 2:30, during which "Memorygrams from Swampscott" will be given by the reporting delegates, Mrs. Reginald Robinson and Mrs. Earle Andrews. This will be followed by a musical program by the Olympian Male Quartet from the Boston University College of Music.

On Tuesday, at 8 p. m., the Legislation Committee will hold an open meeting at which Senator Henry Cabot Lodge will speak on "Washington Highlights." Fortnightly members and their friends are cordially invited. There will be no admission fee.

Twenty members of the Fortnightly spent Thursday afternoon at the Isabelle Stewart Gardner Museum, Boston. The tour of the Museum was made under the able guidance of Miss Becker of the Museum staff.

During August of this year the Museum underwent a thorough cleansing, with its magnificent tapestries taken down for dusting, the walls of the courtyard made spotless and the flower arrangement changed.

Every object in the Museum is in the exact place it occupied when Mrs. Gardner was alive, for according to the terms of her will, nothing is to be removed or changed in any way. The only additions to the collection were made last season. One is a marble statue of a woman, which dates from the first century before Christ and the other a copy of a Greek bronze, circa 450 B. C. found on the site of the Gardens of Sallust, in Rome. The ancient Roman statue stands in the court on the ground floor, near a mosaic pavement of the same country and period. In the Spanish Cloister, adjoining the court, may be seen John Singer Sargent's painting, "El Jaleo" more generally known as the "Spanish Dancer." The rooms on the ground floor contain pictures by such recent artists as Whistler and Degas.

The tapestry room is on the second floor, its walls hung with ten large XVI century tapestries. It is on this floor that concerts are given each day the Museum is open.

Also on the second floor are the Dutch room, which contains a number of famous paintings by Rembrandt, notably, his "Storm" and "Self Portrait," Hans Holbein Vermeer, Rubens and other Flemish and Dutch masters, and the Raphael and Early Italian Rooms, which contain many of the most important Italian primitives in the United States, numbering among other artists Pesellino, Fra Filippo Lippi, Fra Angelico and Raphael.

On the third floor are the lace room which contains many rare pieces of French, Belgian and Italian laces and the Gothic Room, with its Spanish wheel window, dating from the XIII century, and the official portrait of Mrs. Gardner by Sargent.

Here also is the Titian Room, which contains his most brilliant mythological painting, "The Rape of Europa" and an example of the jeweler's art which is reliably attributed to Cellini.

NEW GOLF CLUB BEING FORMED

The Unicorn Country Club has changed hands, and the new corporation will be known as the Unicorn Golf and Country Club. It will be run along the lines of a membership club, except that the club is not offering memberships for sale, but playing privileges. The playing privileges will be non-assessable and non-participating.

For the first time since the club was originally built, women will be allowed to play. It has always been a men's club, but the locker rooms are now being remodeled to accomodate ladies.

The greens are all being re-built; and over 40,000 square feet of the finest velvet bent sod will be laid on the worst greens; and the others will be repaired. This course has been one of the finest layouts in the East, and it is the aim of the new corporation to have the greens in the same class.

The fairways are in excellent condition, and fortunately there are practically no "side hill lies" on the course.

It is also peculiar to the course that in an 18 hole lay-out on rolling ground, there is only one up-hill hill. The architects were ingenious enough to lay it out this way.

The playing privileges will be sold at popular prices, and due care will be taken to see that the course is not congested. To people living near the course, it offers an excellent chance to play a golf course that cost over $500,000 to build, at prices that are attractive.

The main clubhouse will be all redecorated and re-built by spring. The ladies' dining room will be in the main house; the men's dining room in the locker room.

WINCHESTER WON FROM BELMONT

19—6 Victory Put Locals at Head of League

Winchester High took a long leap nearer the Middlesex League football championship when its veteran eleven defeated a hard hitting Belmont High team 19—6, last Saturday afternoon on the Shore road athletic field. The victory gave the locals undisputed possession of first place in the league.

The game itself was a corker, a slam-bang battle of offenses, with both teams rushing up and down the field until the well filled stands and crowded sidelines were pop-eyed with excitement. Both clubs packed plenty of punch, but Winchester had the stouter defense and toward the end of the game, the crushing power of Ficociello gave the locals a clean-cut offensive edge. Belmont gambled on its ability to stop "Ficcy" and for a while its burly line did a very effective job.

Standing up under the hammering of the local powerhouse, however, proved quite a chore, and in the last quarter Winchester's big co-captain was ripping through the tired Belmont forwards at will. Only the final whistle prevented his scoring at the end of a personnally conceted drive from the Winchester 19 to the Belmont 5.

Following closely behind Ficociello in the offensive picture was tall "Artie" Johnson who scored twice on the end of the reverse play that has baffled all Winchester's opponents since early season. "Doug" Graham, playing the injured Murray's halfback, also contributed a 15 yard touchdown dash.

For Belmont, Arico was immense, a mighty mite if ever there was one. Winchester never did quite bottle up this weaving, twisting, driving bundle of dynamite who was just about the best looking back to play against the locals this season. Connolly, too, proved himself quite a passer, and it surely was not his fault that his club did not have at least one more touchdown and a point conversion. His heaves in the clutch were both times faultless.

Statistics show that Winchester made 15 first downs to 11 for Belmont, rushing for 232 yards to 144 for the opposition. The locals completed all four of their forward passes for 59 yards, while Belmont completed seven out of 12 aerials for 117 yards. Two of their forwards were intercepted and both interceptions were costly, one breaking up what looked like a late-game touchdown surge. Each team fumbled once from scrimmage, Belmont recovering for a five yard gain. Winchester lost 20 yards in two penalties and 15 yards from scrimmage. Belmont was set back five yards three times and lost two yards from scrimmage. There were but four punts in the entire game, three of them being by Winchester and two of the three bringing plenty of grief to the Belmont rooters.

The game was only a few minutes along when Belmont was forced to kick and the ball went out at Winchester's 20. The locals couldn't click and Ficociello punted, the ball being muffed by Arico and recovered by the alert "Pete" Sibley at Belmont's 30. On third down, after a five yard Belmont penalty for offside, Johnson took the ball on a reverse to the weak side and scampered over for the touchdown. An attempt to plunge for the conversion was piled up.

Winchester kicked and shortly after, Johnson intercepted a Belmont forward at the visitor's 42. The locals crashed to the 18 where Ficociello attempted a placement kick that was no good and downed by Bairstow on the five.

Co-captain Sibley was hurt on the drive and was replaced by Bairstow. Belmont started to town when Arico broke loose for a corking individua. dash to the 43 as the quarter ended.

Fontaine picked up two and a forward and lateral with Arico carrying went to Winchester's 40. Foley got five on a reverse and a pass frou. Connolly to Thomas went to Winchester's 19. Arico and Fontaine picked up 9 and a five yard penalty against the locals placed the ball on the five.

The fighting Winchester line stopped three tries at the frontier with three yards, but on fourth down, a perfect forward from Connolly to Fontaine went for the score. An equally perfect pass was muffed for the conversion.

Welburn returned Foley's kickon to the 38, and Johnson reversed for a first down at the 49. A Ficociello-to-Johnson pass went to the Belmont 35 and Ficociello broke through for a weaving run to the 15. Two bucks by Graham made 6 and Ficociello smashed through to the five. Three bucks gained about two yards and on fourth down Johnson again reversed for the score, standing up. Ficociello failed to kick the goal from placement.

That ended the half but not the scoring. The third quarter had just begun when Belmont recovered a fumble at its 25. Mixing running plays with some fine passes to Arico and Thomas, the visitors advanced to Winchester's 15, where a bad pass from center on third down hurt like blazes but was followed by a perfect forward from Connolly which the Belmont receiver muffed in the clear just over the goal-line.

"Ficcy" was ganged up for a four yard loss and Johnson dropped back to kick from his goal line. His beautiful low sailing spiral landed beyond midfield and rolled to the Belmont 38 where it hit Arico and was recovered by big "Bob" Gardner who was down the field fast.

This kick and recovery were definitely the turning point of the game, for Johnson reversed to the Belmont 24 and Ficociello smashed to the 14 with interspersing short gains off the tackles. On the first play of the final quarter Graham found a big hole off his own right tackle and dodged and weaved across the goal line for the last score of the game. A payoff on Belmont's condition came when "Ficcy" easily plunged for the extra point.

Belmont kept trying, but its first drive fivvered on its 47 when Arico gambled on a buck for about two fee. on fourth down, and its last desperate attempt, which covered 65 yards from its five to the Winchester 15, went for nothing when little "Tony" DeTeso intercepted a forward at his five and ran back to his 19. From there Ficociello, aided by a five yard penalty against Belmont for too many times out, and a 13 yard pass to Bairstow, carried nine out of ten times to reach the Belmont five. The summary:

BELMONT GAME SIDELIGHTS

Belmont's student band made an attractive appearance in their West Point colors and got a nice hand when they manouvered to form a big "W" in front of the Winchester stands. Their drum-major was the easiest to look at we have seen for several years.

Three bands so far this year and each taking a prize. Arlington for playing, Marblehead for appearance and Belmont for its drum-major.

Winchester has had at least two shots at student bands, having one way back around 1905 in the days of Paul Dotten and not so long ago when Harry Stevens was in school. Both were volunteer affairs and naturally didn't get very far. Money, a good deal of time and skilled direction are necessary to produce a good student band. Many can't see why Winchester can not have one.

Saturday's game was probably the most exciting to watch in recent years, but we think the Belmont game which Winchester won 13-6 in 1933 and the Maynard game the locals took 10-7 the following year were better played. The Bemont backfield in 1933 with McCurdy, DiNatale, Serafian and Aldrich was one of the best schoolboy groups we remember since Kelly, French, Kendrick and Winer of Winchester's 1922 undefeated club.

"Gerry" Gaffney, former football captain and backfield luminary, was on the bench covering the game for the Boston Globe. "Gaff" thought the game was a real humdinger but, like the writer, figured that Belmont '33 gang was a better all-around club than this year's outfit. It surely had more offensive balance.

Many at Saturday's game asked if something couldn't be done to squelch the fire burning on the dump across the track. The smoke and smell surely added little to the pleasure of the occasion.

Any one who undertakes to tell Chairman George Davidson anything about conditions at the new field next March won't have a chance. George and his lieutenant, Superintendent "Tom" McGowan, are at every game getting first-hand information on what is what.

Coach "Tom" Newell of Belmont nearly blew up when his star back, Ted Arico, was dumped into the press table and water buckets. We couldn't blame him too much for with Arico out, Belmont wouldn't have amounted to much offensively. It really wasn't the scribes fault, "Tom," and if you hadn't been so excited, you might have wangled a 15 yard penalty out of the officials against Winchester for tackling your boy off the field of play.

Quite a little delegation of youngsters and some not so young scaled the fence at the rear of the Christian Science Church. Most of the big crowd on the field paid but there were also plenty who did not.

Coach Lauer probably will have few more jittery moments than those he sat through while Belmont was making its early game sorties up the field. The Red and Blue surely had a versatile attack, but lacked a crushing bucker of the Serafian or Aldrich type to pick up a yard or two when needed to help out its passing game!

Yea, Gerry! Yea, Ficociello!

VARSITY GIRLS EDGED SECONDS

Winchester High School girls' field hockey team opened its current season last week Thursday afternoon when the varsity eleven managed to edge the jay-vees in a closely contested game, 2—1, on Manchester Field.

The seconds held the upper hand throughout the first half, threatening to score several times and generally showing to better advantage than the first club.

Neither team was able to tally before half time, but as the new half got under way, the varsity rallied and with Frances Glidden, Loretta Gaffney and Peggy Shinnick teaming nicely, rushed the ball to the jay-vees uprights, only to have Goaler Ruth Olmstead save.

Finally from a sharp scrimmage in front of the seconds' goal Esther Colucci swiped the ball into the net for the opening tally, which was quickly followed by a successful shot from scrimmage by jay-vee Betty Dickson, tieing the score.

The deciding goal was scored by Frances Glidden on a long shot just inside the striking circle. Following is the summary:

WINCHESTER CHAPTER, GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The opening luncheon of the Winchester Chapter, Guild of the Infant Saviour was attended by nearly 125 members and was an ideal way to welcome and introduce the many new members who will be with the chapter this winter. Mrs. James Gaffney welcomed all and outlined the year's work. Much stress will be placed upon sewing during the coming season under the supervision of Mrs. Jonathan Felt. Another interesting lecture series, conducted at different homes will be sponsored and these will be in charge of Mrs. M. H. Hintlian. Other afternoons of interest includes a cooking demonstration, a dramatic afternoon, a Christmas party and a rummage sale. The guest speaker for the day was the Rev. Robert P. Barry, director of Catholic Charities and spiritual advisor of the Guild. Mrs. Anna Newman, Somerville gave a splendid musical program. Mrs. James Carr was chairman of the day.

Among the important dates in the very near future will be the supper dance at the Cipley Plaza Hotel on Nov. 5. Table reservations may be made with the president of the Chapter, Mrs. James Gaffney and as it is always a gala affair, many are expected to attend.

On the same date at Lyceum a rummage sale will be conducted by Miss Mary A. Lyons, chairman assisted by the board. Donations of all clothing, household furniture, toys and bric-a-brac will be gratefully received, provided they are useable. On Nov. 16 the annual bazaar will be held and will be shown as a County Fair. The Winchester table will be Middlesex County and will offer miscellaneous wares. Everyone is urged to assist on this day.

The next meeting will be on Tuesday, Oct. 26 at Lyceum Hall. A busy afternoon of sewing is planned and tea will be served by Mrs. Thos. Riley hospitality chairman and her hostesses.

WINCHESTER S. P. C. A. AUXILIARY NOTES

The Winchester S. P. C. A. Auxiliary began its seventh year of organized work on Thursday afternoon of last week, gathering at the home of Mrs. Richard S. Taylor for the first meeting of the fall season.

Annual reports were read and the following officers were elected for the coming 12 months:

President—Mrs. Richard S. Taylor.
Vice President—Mrs. Albert O. Wilson.
Recording Secretary—Miss Evelyn Parker.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Daniel C. Dennett.
Treasurer—Miss Bessie M. Small.
Work Committee—Mrs. Ernest R. Eustis.
Ways and Means Committee—Mrs. R. S. Taylor and Mrs. Andrew P. Cornwall.

The fall season opened with a full program. Owing to Armistice Day the regular November meeting will be put forward one week and will occur on the first Thursday of the month, Nov. 4 at the home of Mrs. John H. Clarke, 154 Mt. Vernon street.

On Nov. 10, at the Copely Plaza Hotel, the Boston Auxiliary of the Mass. S. P. C. A. will have its annual bazaar, and the Winchester group will have charge of a surgical dressings table on that day.

In Dtcember a food sale is planned by the Winchester Auxiliary and will be held on Thursday, the second, at Mrs. Taylor's home, 137 Mt. Vernon street.

The secretary's annual report was in part as follows:

"In a mere statistical summary of the Winchester S. P. C. A. Auxiliary's record over the past twelve months, one cannot draw an accurate or complete picture of what the organization has done. Only through a knowledge of the day-by-day cases which are handled by the president, Mrs. Taylor, could one comprehend the nature and extent of the work, and the constant need for it.

On the second Thursday of each month from October through May, the members have gathered to discuss methods, hear reports from committees, fold surgical dressings, and frequently listen to an address by some person closely connected with the humane cause.

At the January meeting the guest of the afternoon was Mrs. H. W. Haswell, whose husband is superintendent of the Rest Farm for Horses at Methuen. At the May meeting, Dr. C. E. Blakely, veterinarian at the Angell Memorial Hospital was present and gave a very interesting description of hospital work. In February one of our own members, Mrs. Albert O. Wilson, was the speaker.

These meetings are held at the homes of members. During the past season three have been at Mrs. Taylor's home, and the hostesses for the remaining ones were Mrs. Daniel C. Dennett, Mrs. G. Russell Mann, Mrs. Leo J. Houlihan and Mrs. Alfred H. Hildreth.

On April 9 the auxiliary held a food market at Winchester center in the large corner store of the new Locatelli Building. The entire proceeds from this sale went to the Shelter Fund.

Several contributions of money were sent during the year to the Mass. S. P. C. A., particularly for the summer watering of horses, the horse's Christmas, and as a small expression of appreciation for the very generous ambulance service which Winchester receives from the Mass. S. P. C. A. and the Angell Memorial Hospital.

The committee in charge of the surgical dressings department has carried on faithfully and the auxiliary feels that this is an important part of its work.

Dressings to the number of about 100 dozen have been folded and sent to the Angell Memorial Hospital during the past 12 months.

The week in April that is observed throughout the world as "Be Kind to Animals Week" was recognized in Winchester in several ways, chiefly by means of special programs in the schools. These "humane day" exercises are always most entertaining. The thought of kindness to animals and of our debt to them is brought out through various methods; by no means the least of these is dramatization, which both the pupils and the audience seem to enjoy to the fullest extent.

The anxiliary is especially gratified to find its membership list increasing year by year, and the past season has been a satisfactory one in this respect."

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

The girl Scout Council of Winchester feels that every citizen of Winchester wishes to share in the support of the Winchester Girl Scouts. The fees charged to Scouts cannot cover the services they require. The 50 cent registration fee goes to National headquarters, and the weekly five cent dues are retained by the troop. Public subscription is the only means of support yet devised. With this idea in mind, the council gives everyone a chance to contribute by leaving an envelope at each house on Nov. 2. November 4th these will be collected. It is believed that every house-holder will place one dollar or more in the envelope. All contributors are asked to write their names and addresses on the envelopes.

The Scouts themselves will make the distributions, under the guidance of the following:

Mrs. Ober Pride
Mrs. Gilbert Tapley.
Mrs. Herbert Kelley.
Mrs. Harold Farnsworth.
Mrs. James McCormick.
Mrs. A. Allen Kimball.
Mrs. Wendell Pray.
Mrs. Jesse Wilson.
Mrs. Earl W. Doub.
Mrs. F. M. Gunby.
Mrs. Charles E. Greene.
Mrs. Alan O. Murray.

Team captains for the collections are as follows:

Chairman—Mrs. Samuel Cole.
Mrs. Ralph Bonnell.
Mrs. L. V. Griffiths.
Mrs. Leon Hughes.
Mrs. Harris Richardson.
Mrs. Richard Parkhurst.
Mrs. Kenneth Grant.
Mrs. Earl M. Wood.
Mrs. Paul Budgell.
Mrs. Robert Drake.
Mrs. Harold Fifield.

FISHERMAN'S LUCK!

Our Winthrop correspondent writes in that three well known local fishermen, Preston "Five Shirt" Corey, "Lennie" McNeil and "Charlie" O'Connell of Bonnell Motors were in his town Tuesday evening after smelt.

Chartering a sea-worthy dory, the trio embarked for the smelting grounds where it was necessary to cast anchor. Apparently the mud-hook was heavy and must have been thrown high.

At all events it lassoed "Charlie" nicely and took him overboard with a splash and a holler. No real harm done, the water being so warm that "Charlie" said he would have enjoyed his swim if it hadn't been for his rubber boots.

He was hauled aboard by his comrades and fishing was begun, not without a certain exchange of compliments among the fishermen. The catch numbered 37 smelts with "Five Shirt" high man!

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

On Tuesday, Oct. 19, the Rotary Club of Stoneham held a joint meeting at Armory Hall, Stoneham, acting as host club to the Rotary Clubs of Arlington, Everett, Lexington, Melrose, Malden, Reading, Somerville, Wakefield, Winchester and Woburn. Fourteen members of the Rotary Club of Winchester presented themselves in person at this meeting. At this point time is called so that Winchester Rotarians may pause and ponder.

We were pleased to see Junior Rotarians Dan Delorey and Dick Grosvenor at the Stoneham meeting.

The meeting of the Board of Directors of this club scheduled for Oct. 19, has been postponed to Oct. 28.

Maurice Duperrey of Paris, France, President of Rotary International, arrived in Washington, D. C., on Oct. 19 after a tour of South America and Cuba. He was heard in a nation-wide broadcast over the stations of the National Broadcasting Company on Wednesday, Oct. 20. After attending meetings of various committees of Rotary International at Chicago from Oct. 23 to Nov. 2, President Duperrey will address several great inter-city meetings in this country and in Canada, returning to France on the "Normandie" on Nov. 10. Mme. Duperrey accompanies President Duperrey on this tour.

Dr. Clifton D. Gray, President of Bates College, was guest speaker at the joint meeting at Stoneham on Oct. 19. The subject of his address was "American Foreign Policy in a World at War." Dr. Gray clearly and impartially outlined the principles governing the two schools of thought which seek to influence the attitude of the United States government with respect to its relations with foreign nations in dealing with those conditions which so seriously threaten the peace of this nation and the world at large. Dr. Gray's scholarly effort together with his evident earnestness of purpose made a deep impression on his audience. In the critical days just ahead we believe that this address will definitely assist those who heard it to think clearly about matters of vital concern to every one of us. We are indeed grateful to our Stoneham hosts for making it possible for us to listen to Dr. Gray.

The next meeting of this club will be on Thursday Oct. 28 at our regular quarters. It will offer a real opportunity for all of us to renew cherished acquaintances each with the other. "Time Marches on." Rotary calls you.

BOY STRUCK BY CAR

Angelo Amico, 11 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paolo Amico of 100 Swanton street, was painfully injured shortly after 10 o'clock last Sunday morning when he was struck by an automobile after alighting from a machine in front of St. Mary's Church on Washington street.

The driver of the car that struck the boy, George Kaplan of 58 Bellingham street, Cambridge, told the Police that he was headed east on Washington street and that young Amico got out of a car that stopped in front of the church, running from the rear of the machine into the left front fender of his car.

Kaplan took the boy to the Winchester Hospital where he was treated by Dr. A. P. Aitkin for abrasions to his left knee, ankle and hand. He was held at the hospital for observation.

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

Word has been received from the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association that the Winchester Ski Club is to be an active unit of the Association this fall and is therefore entitled to enter its qualified members in amateur ski competitions sanctioned by the Association this winter. In addition, members desiring amateur ratings may so qualify.

Our next meeting will be this evening, Oct. 22, at 7:30 p. m. at the Boy Scout's Cabin on Border road, above Highland avenue. At this meeting we have been asked to elect two delegates and two alternates to represent the Winchester Ski Club at the annual convention. This convention will be held beginning at 10:30 a. m. on Sunday, Oct. 31, under the auspices of the Dartmouth Outing Club and headquarters will be at the Hanover Inn, Hanover, N. H.

Also, at our meeting tonight, the question of an ensignia will be discussed and it has been suggested that members submit designs to be judged by a qualified committee of non-members.

Any further people interested in this great sport of skiing and desiring to join us, are welcome at this meeting, at which applications for membership may be received which will be acted upon in time for active participation in the club activities at the next meeting.

The price of admission for attending this meeting Friday night is a fire place log which each one is asked to bring along.

Things have been pretty quiet (?) lately, so our President has decided to call a speical session of Congress at a cost estimated at a million and a half dollars Do you suppose it is possible that Mr. Roosevelt could do something without it costing anything?

ABUNDANT BALANCING

The recently coined, neat and adroit phrase "Balanced Abundance," credited to Franklin Delano Roosevelt, seems to have turned out about the same as the rest of "Gone With the Wind" New Deal experiments. A slight reversal of the phrase brings us to his "Abandant Balancing," as exemplified in Tuesday's papers as follows:

President Roosevelt predicted today a net deficit for the current fiscal year of 695 million, which is 277 million greater than what he predicted in April and 732 million more than he estimated in January. Added to the 200 million to be spent for the paying off debt, the nation will run 895 million in the red by next June!

A notable omission in his budget statement was any reference to the fiscal year of 1939, for which he had also predicted a balanced budget.

Balanced Abundance! We'll say so. But why put the cart before the horse?

Winchester, Oct. 18, 1937.

Ed. Note:—It really looks quite a bit, boys, as though we wouldn't do very much at all about it, greatly as we would like to. What with social security, unemployment relief, taxes and other trifling perquisites of the "more abundant life" and "balanced abundances," we couldn't buy a benny for ourselves, let alone the general public! However, our attitude hasn't changed. We still feel that your intrepid swimming merits the reward you seek, and perhaps the En Ka Society, which, after all, benefitted most from your deed of "derring-do," will care to present you with the apparel you crave. If so, we shall be pleased to offer the hospitality of the Star office for the presentation!

OCTOBER D. A. R.

The Committee of Safety Chapter of D. A. R. held their first meeting with Mrs. Francis O. P. Carlson, Mystic Valley Parkway, on Monday, Oct. 18, with Mrs. George M. Bryne, Chapter Regent presiding over a full meeting. The usual procedure of Scripture, prayer, salute to the Flag and the American's Creed followed.

Four of our members attended the conference in Swampscott and Mrs. Sewall E. Newman gave us a very vivid description of certain phases of it. The first was this—"With nations of the world arming as never before in history, the greatest menace is not from poison gas but from poisoned ideas and poisoned words," declared Mrs. William A. Becker of New Jersey and Washington, president-general of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Three things listed by the Rev. J. Burford Parry of Wellesley as worth living for and worth dying for were, the love of home, maintaining law in a community, and bringing about peace. This question he said, must be settled, whether there shall be rule by liberty or rule by fear, liberty loving nations are coming to the place where they are saying, Liberty can prevail and if you want to take it, you take it with our lives."

Mrs. J. Churchill Hindes read a short paper telling of the raising of one of our Continental gondolas "Philadelphia" in Lake Champlain. This boat one of 15 was placed there in 1775 and was sunk by the British in October 1776. It has remainded 60 feet in the mud of the lake for over 150 years. When raised the main mast was upright. Many articles of clothing, buttons, silver buckles, pewter spoons, etc., were found in the hull. Today, recovered from the bottom of Lake Champlain she is but a shell of a vessel that served with the first American fleet. In July 1936 she was placed on a barge at Burlington, Vt., a temporary historical museum afloat on lake then the Hudson River.

We were honored by the State Chairman of motion pictures Mrs. Fiske. She advocated the two hour plan, one good picture with news reels, having children read the book before seeing it pictured on the screen.

Refreshments were served by our hostess, Mrs. Carlson and her hostesses: Mrs. J. Churchill Hindes, Mrs. Harold C. Warn, Mrs. Archibald C. Jordan and Miss Ethel C. Smith.

W. C. T. U.

The annual meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held on Friday, Oct. 15, in the Baptist Church, Mrs. Annie M. B. Sanborn, in giving her annual report as treasurer, spoke of the contribution which the Winchester Union had made to the Hostess Fund, in connection with the notable International convention in Washington in June the meeting of the World's W. C. T. U. It was hoped that the million-dollar National Temperance fund might be completed this year but all the Unions have not doubled their quota, as they were asked to do. One Union quadrupled its quota.

Our temperance education program includes road signs and posters, motion pictures, radio broadcasts, printed literature, exhibits and demonstrations, newspaper and magazine articles, lectures in schools, conferences and meetings and the establishment and maintenance of a research library and museum at the National Headquarters, covering the entire subject of alcohol education.

Those of our 80 members who were not present at the annual meeting missed the thrill of some of the statements that were read. The following are a few of them.

„Believe it or not, we spend more money per capita for drinks than we do for the public schools."—Voice.

(Excerpts from an advertisement in the September issue of American Legion Magazine placed by Brewers' Board of Trade, Inc. of New York.)

The Brewers

"It is fitting that you of the American Legion who played a leading part in restoring beer to its place in the American system should have this greeting from us. While an organization like yours exists, beer will be maintained for the American people. We, as brewers, pledge you that we shall do our part in serving the public interest"

(This advertisement is in striking contrast to the following statement made by General Pershing.)

General Pershing

"Banish the entire liquor industry from the United States. Close every saloon, every brewery, suppress drinking by severe punishment to the drinker, and if necessary, death to the seller, or maker, or both, as traitors, and the nation will suddenly find itself amazed at its efficiency and startled at the increase in its labor supply. I shall not go slow on prohibition, for I know what is the greatest foe to my men, greater even than the bullets of the enemy."

REVIEW OF "THE SAGA OF AMERICAN SOCIETY—A RECORD OF SOCIAL ASPERATIONS" 1607—1937

On the morning of Oct. 19, Mrs. Alice Dixon Bond gave the second in her fall series of book talks. This meeting can hardly be described as a lecture for it was sheer entertainment. In reviewing Dixon Wecter's new history "The Saga of Americar Society—A Record of Social Asperations 1607-1937." Mrs. Bond had certainly found a book after her own heart. The faibles and idiosyncrasies, the customs and taboos of society were illustrated copiously by spicy anecdotes and extracts from diaries and newspapers both old and recent. As Wecter himself says in his preface—"To dismiss society as vanity of vanities or as a chronique scandalense is to throw away a rich segment of human experience, moulded of wisdom and folly, graciousness and snobbery."

Also the fabric of society was illustrated through the tracing of the genealogies of various celebrated American families as, for instance, the Vanderbilts, Cabots, Adams and Astors. And what surprising people some of the founders of these illustrious families did turn out to be!

This second meeting was a history lesson in an hilarious manner and it was doubtful who enjoyed the oddities of their forbears the most the lecturer or her audience.

Contrary to her previous plan of reviewing "The Arts" by Hendrik Van Loon at the Oct. 19 meeting, Mrs. Bond will discuss this important book at the Nov. 2nd meeting. This book covered such a wide field of subjects that Mrs. Bond feels the need of more time to gain a perspective for her criticism.

WATCH THE DOUGHNUTS! HARRY!

Assessors Harry Winn and John Cassidy, Tax Collector Nathaniel M. Nichols and Mr. Allan McLatchey are leaving today to close up the Winn summer cottage on Lake Winnipesaukee, an annual pilgrimage, from which Assessor Frank Enman will be missing this year. Further reports of the expedition are eagerly awaited, for when Harry and Nate get away on a trip together anything is likely to happen! Local apple growers in particular will be especially vigilant!

HEART TO HEART TALKS

Cherishing Dreams

This life of ours is richer and nobler for cherishing dreams that are never realized. There is bitterness of life in its incompleteness and disappointments of life in hopes not cherished. But is it better not to have aims if they do not all become a reality? By such arguments we go far astray. Little aims make little souls. Great aims make great souls. There is a refining and enriching, and enabling influence in every high and noble purpose. We remember that for David it was not a mere waste of cherished ambition to build a temple for God although he went to his grave without seeing it done. This dream of the father became the deed of the son Solomon. "Thou didst well that it was in thy heart." The Almighty reckons honest effort for achievement. No doubt God took David's will for his deed and in the eternal record of the heavenly realm there is a finished temple marked down to the credit of David, the shepherd king of Israel.

In this era of trouble and seemingly greater impending troubles we need men and women who will stand steadfast to the highest and best purposes of life. There are some very grave conditions facing us today. The letdown in public morals is clear to all of us. In politics we see the spending of huge sums to win success at the polls. The churches are not without fault and in every sphere of human action we note decay and apathy.

The building of character and life of the soul go hand in hand. "Let every man take heed how he buildeth." This is the language of the Bible. These are the days of speculative building, imitations and substitutes. With great material blessings and scientific talk and spiritual leadership there is very little justification for a decline from the high standards set by the founders of this nation. There is no excuse for insincerity, carelessness and dishonesty in matters that are essentially spiritual. Inferior bricks in a wall are dangerous, no less than the spirit of modern youth which is being taught a perverted philosophy of life.

"Let every man take heed how he buildeth," should be applied to character building and life of the soul. Cornelius Loder states the case in keeping with Paul:

"Build it well whatever you do
Build it straight and strong and true
Build it clear and high and broad Build it for the eye of God."

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Ann Page

Eggs are an outstanding value considering the season and, unlike most foods, they are cheaper this year than last. Meats are again higher. Egg dishes alone or combined with cheese make appetizing and inexpensive dinner or supper dishes.

A bumper crop of apples makes this fruit an excellent one to use freely, especially as oranges are high. For variety bananas and grapefruit may be chosen.

As frosts strike many sections of the country the supply of home grown vegetables must be supplemented with those from the south and west.

Seasonable foods make up the following menus:

Low Cost Dinner

Meat Loaf — Scalloped Potatoes
Cabbage and Carrot Slaw
Bread and Butter — Dutch Apple Cake
Tea or Coffee — Milk

Medium Cost Dinner

Fricassee of Chicken with Dumplings
Mashed Sweet Potatoes and Turnips
Green Beans — Bread and Butter
Snow Pudding — Custard Sauce
Tea or Coffee — Milk

Very Special Dinner

Grape, Banana and Grapefruit Cup
Baked Ham — Mashed Potatoes
Cauliflower in Cream
Salad of Mixed Greens

"Probation after Death" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, October 24.

The Golden Text is: "He that shall endure unto the end, the same shall be saved" (Matthew 24: 13).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I have set the Lord always before me: because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved. . . . Thou wilt shew me the path of life: in thy presence is fulness of joy: at thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore" (Psalms 16: 8, 11).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Progress is born of experience. It is the ripening of mortal man, through which the mortal is dropped for the immortal. . . . The death of a false material sense and of sin, not the death of organic matter, is what reveals man and Life, harmonious, real, and eternal" (p. 296).

LINCOLN ADDED TO MT. RUSHMORE MEMORIAL

Three gigantic stone faces now look out from a peak in the Black Hills. On September 17 the head of Abraham Lincoln was unveiled and dedicated. His rugged features thus were added to those of Washington and Jefferson as a part of the Mt. Rushmore memorial to four great builders of the American Nation. The sculptor of the heroic figures, Gutzon Borglum, has not yet started the carving of the fourth bust, that of Theodore Roosevelt.

The Mt. Rushmore tribute to rock-ribbed democracy is but one of the many unusual attractions of the Black Hills region of South Dakota, says a bulletin from the Wahhington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Once Happy Hunting Ground of Indians

Although the mountains lie somewhat off the main rail, air and highway routes between the East and West, this highland region in the Great Plains has played a distinctive role in American life ever since it was a happy hunting ground of the Indians.

The first written history of the country is a pictorial chronicle of the Sioux on prepared skins. Lewis and Clark, the explorers, passed north of the hills in 1804, and it was not until the period between 1856 and 1859 that officers of the U. S. Army, who made the first real surveys of the section, came into the region.

But the Black Hills—really misnamed because they are the highest mountains between the Rockies and the Atlantic—remained an Indian reservation until gold was discovered in their gulches and canyons in 1874.

When Congress in 1877 opened this area to white settlement, it started one of the wildest gold rushes in American history. Turbulent frontier life developed in such mining camps as Deadwood and Lead. The exploits of Calamity Jane and Wild Bill Hickok become the inspiration of the American Dime Novel which came into being about that time.

Ghost Towns and Modern Cities

All is changed now. Much gold is still mined in the hills, but on a corporation and machine basis. Once hectic mining camps have become modern cities, with paved streets, garages, brick buildings, neon signs and beauty shops. Their rough and ready past is depicted chiefly in modern movies. Other rip-roaring gold rush settlements of the 70's are but ghost towns today, with only a few shacks and mine tailings recalling one of the most glamorous periods in the history of the West.

The huge Homestake Mine, at Lead, is still one of the largest gold diggings in the world, and has yielded more than two hundred million dollars of the precious yellow metal.

The Black Hills was a new center of national importance when the late President Coolidge spent his vacation in 1927 at the Game Lodge, a state owned hotel in the Black Hills. At the Rapid City High School, where he maintained the summer White House, he made his famous 'I do not choose to run' declaration.

Scene of Stratosphere Take-Offs

The region was again the focus of national and international attention in 1934 and 1935, when the National Geographic Society—U. S. Army Corps Stratosphere flights took off from the Stratobowl, near Rapid City. This admirably sheltered basin in the Black Hills was chosen, after a careful search, as the best place to inflate the giant ballon which, on November 11, 1935, attained a world's record altitude of 72,395 feet.

For tourists and posterity Rapid City recently established a synthetic dinosaur park. On a hilltop overlooking this mining farming resort, several of the gigantic reptiles have been fashioned of concrete to give an idea of the type of prehistoric creatures which once roamed the region.

In spite of the inclement weather Wednesday night, Oct. 20 there were 200 present at the open house given by the P. T. A. in the Junior High School. This is certainly proof that the parents appreciate this opporunity for informal discussion of personal problems with each teacher in his or her room.

The hosts and hostesses who introduced parents to the teachers were Mr. and Mrs. James Blackham, Raymond Dexter, Earl Doub, Charles Eaton, A. Russell Ellis, Harry Goodwin, William Harris, Frank Horne, P. Stuart Newton, James O. M. Murray, Alvin L. Olson, Gordon Parker, Forrest Pitman, Wendall B. Pray, E. Ober Pride, Clarence Russell, Carlton Strong, Chandler Symmes, Gilbert Tapley, John D. West and Mesdames Carl Eaton, Robert Holmes, Arthur Jackson, Harris Richardson and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse B. Wilson, chairman.

Refreshments of cider and doughnuts were served at an attractivery decorated table in the corridor of the second floor by Mrs. Meriel Preston Mrs. Clifford Lindberg and Mrs. Marcus Fowler, chairman.

ATTENDING BURDETT COLLEGE

Burdett College, Boston, is experiencing one of the most satisfactory enrollment years in its long history in both day and evening divisions. The school opened in September with increases in all departments, emphasizing the importance which young people and their parents are now placing upon the practical value of vocational education.

Among the many young men and women in attendance in the Secretarial, Business Administration and Accounting courses at Burdett College are: Beverly Cox, Robert Costello, Lindsay Caldwell, Mary Chase, Elizabeth Grant, Mary Penna.

The humiliation of discovering how little we know is tempered by the suspicion that other people probably do not know nearly as much as they pretend to.

LIONS CLUB

A good number attended last Monday's meeting at the Calumet Club. A lively spirit was in evidence with Phil as the ring leader and Jerry did not allow the singing to lax.

President Bob carried through a snappy business meeting and then introduced Mr. Foss of the General Motors Corp., who presented many interesting highlights in the research field of science. Mr. Foss is here to supervise the free exhibition of the company's "Previews of Progress" in the high school auditorium Oct. 21, sponsored by the Lions Club.

The club is holding a Hallowe'en party at the Calumet Club on Friday evening, Oct. 29. Dancing and games will round out a very pleasant evening, so get your tickets Lions, as they are free for you and your guests. It was decided to make admission no charge but tickets must be shown at the door. Bring your family, your friends, and make this a banner party of the year. The committee is working hard to make this a grand success and hope to handle a good sized crowd.

Next meeting at usual time next Monday so come and listen to arrangements and get tickets.

GEORGE WASHINGTON-HIGHLAND MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The mothers and teachers of the Highland and George Washington Schools are cordially invited to tea at the home of Mrs. Leslie Tucker, 54 Hillcrest Parkway on Tuesday, Oct. 26 from 3:30 to 5:30 This is a delightful way for mothers and teachers to become acquainted, so please come.

JUNIOR FORTNIGHTLY CLUB

Miss Helen L. Campbell of the Vesper George School of Art will be the guest speaker at the first meeting of the year to be held Monday evening, Oct. 25, at 7:45 at the home of the club's president, Eleanor Allen. All members as well as those interested in the club are urged to attend, for Miss Campbell will speak on, "Fashions."

HE LEARED TO SWIM

"I am a happy man, today, Doctor. My youngest child learned to swim."

The writer was only a boy himself when he heard this conversation between his father and the town's leading banker. In the next words, the banker told the doctor that he had taught each of his children to swim as early as they could learn because it was such a protection against avoidable tragedy. He said, "My children may die in a sailboat accident, but at least they will know how to swim and do all in their power to save themselves if at all possible. Some tragedies would be only scares if the participants knew how to swim."

The resolve was born in a boyish heart that such words were the wisdom of experience and when the time came, his own children would be taught to care for themselves in water.

It was with a feeling of joy that he arrived in Winchester and found such swimming training in the hands of trained teachers and supervised by Red Cross leadership. His children, along with 97 other Winchester boys and girls, would be cared for each morning for seven weeks during the summer. The figures are arresting.

The total attendance was 742. Here are the records for the past summer:

Beginner swimmers enrolled	61
Beginner swimmers passed tests	31
Advanced swimmers enrolled	20
Advanced swimmers passed test	16
Junior Life-savers enrolled	12
Junior Life-savers passed test	8
Senior Life-savers enrolled	7
Senior Life-saver passed test	5

Every parent will feel grateful to Red Cross and the people who make such training possible when his son or daughter is one who is taught to swim, that he might save his own life, or who is taught to be a life-saver, that he might save the life of another.

In her annual report, Mrs. H. C. Goodwin, chairman of Red Cross life-saving committee writes:

"To appreciate the swimming supervision, one must see the morning workout of 40 or so tiny youngsters lined up in the shallow water striving mightily to kick, breathe and 'make arms go' as being taught by the Red Cross swimming instructor. During the excessively hot weather the value of having these lessons as an incentive for regular beach attendance cannot be overestimated."

Swimming instruction and life-saving is but one of many activities of the Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross.

"LOST HORIZON" AT THE UNIVERSITY

What promises to be one of the most important screen events of the year takes place at the University Theatre next Sunday when Frank Capra's production of "Lost Horizon" starts a four day engagement. Starring Ronald Colman and featuring Edward Everett Horton, H. B. Warner, Jane Wyatt, Margo, John Howard, Thomas Mitchell, Isabel Jewell, Sam Jaffe in the much discussed High Lama role, the picture is an adaptation of James Hilton's celebrated novel of the same name.

"Blonde Trouble," the companion feature is the film treatment of a recent stage success by Ring Lardner and George S. Kaufman.

The dramatic story of China's teeming millions, their struggles, their hardships, and the intensely human heartbeat of the great and little known nation, is transcribed from Pearl Buck's epic novel to the screen in "The Good Earth," starring Paul Muni and Luise Rainer, and opening Thursday. Fruit of four years of research and preparation, of the work of a film expedition that passed a year in China filming exteriors, studying details and bringing back thousands of authentic properties—the picture in which thousands of Oriental players appear—is one of the most gigantic tasks ever undertaken by Metro-Goldwyn Mayer.

BETTER HOMES GARDEN CLUB

Mr. Bradford Williams, landscape architect and field secretary of the Trustees of Public Reservations was the speaker at the meeting of the Better Homes Garden Club, held on Wednesday evening at the Public Library. It is regrettable that the rainy weather prevented a larger attendance, for Mr. Williams had an interesting story to tell and his colored slides were superlative.

The work being done in Massachusetts by the Trustees is similar to that carried on in England by the National Trust and in Holland by a similar group; that is, to cultivate the spirit of conservation and to arrange to preserve and hold for the public enjoyment whatever places are outstanding in natural beauty, in historic significance, in typical architecture or landscape. In England places held in trust include Stonehenge, Harlech castle, a Devon village, stretches of moor, of downs, of chalk cliffs, and a Lake country valley to the peaks of its surrounding hills. There is also a fund devoted to clearing away from cathedrals the adjacent unrelated buildings as they come into the market, to provide better views of the cathedrals.

In Massachusetts, with active National Park Service and Department of Conservation, the field is not as wide as in England, where such services do not exist, but the Trustees have been responsible for several valuable contributions to the public fund of beauty. The Hemenway estate at the Gates of the Charles In South Natick, the Breakheart Hill reservation in the Lynn Fells, William Cullen Bryant's home in Cummington, Gore Place in Waltham, are some of them. Mr. Williams stressed the point that, like curators of an art museum, the Trustees stand ready to take charge of any precious places confided to their care, and urged the duty of all lovers of the countryside to assist by active interest and recommendations to the Trustees.

Mr. Alexander Heimlich, well known landscape gardener of Winchester will speak to the club at the next meeting, on the evening of Nov. 17. He will talk on, "Ledge Gardening" and his colored illustrations will have an extra interest in that they include many views of Winchester gardens. The December meeting is being planned as a workshop for Christmas greens. Native materials will be available and instruction and help provided for making unusual Christmas decorations.

READING THEATRE

A show within a show is enacted in directing Bobby Breen's starring musical romance, "Make A Wish," at the Reading Theatre, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The scene depicts a boys' summer camp in Maine, and the 160 youngsters in the picture are putting on an amateur performance of Rip Van Winkle.

As added entertainment, on a nearby set Leon Errol and Henry Armetta are staging a nonsensical scene, Errol's rubber legs being featured. Basil Rathbone and Marion Clive play the romantic leads in the production.

Ray Milland, the handsome film star who makes his appearance with Jean Arthur for the first time in "Easy Living," the smart comedy by Preston Sturges which also opens Sunday at the Reading Theatre, is a former officer of the celebrated "Household Cavalry," the personal bodyguard of the King of England.

His skill as a horseman and his prowess with firearms won him a part in the regiment, which is made up for the most part of the sons of important English peers and dignitaries.

The Observer can't answer this one: Don't the elderly spinsters know a lot about bringing up children, and does not nearly all the expert advice on how to bring up children come from them? Or rather The Observer does not care to engage in an answer. No doubt the topic is important. But what's the use?

THIS WEEK'S GARDENING

By Alfred A. Fraser

Bulbs that are grown in water-like Paperwhite and Soleil d'Or narcissi—should be started now for Christmas.

Pick up and burn diseased leaves.

Feed rhubarb with well rotted manure.

Glycerine (one-third) and water (two-thirds) will help preserve colorful autumn leaves if you place the stems in the mixture.

Fix up frames for next spring's use. We're going to tell you lots of interesting plants that can be grown later.

Cover the compost heap with gathered leaves.

Uncultivated land should be prepared for next year's use by a deep spading to destroy insects and weed seed that has a footing.

Cut alder berries last better in water.

'Lost Horizon" Wins Plaudits of Editorial Writer

To "Lost Horizon" goes the credit of being one of the few motion pictures if all times to be named and praised in the editorial pages of a leading Boston daily newspaper. It was the Boston Traveler which saw fit to cast aside world affairs and eulogize this film in its editorial columns. The Traveler editorial, appearing during the roadshow engagement of the picture, read as follows:

"Many years ago, when the motion pictures were merely custard-pie jiggly-pictures, George Santayana, then a professor at Harvard, told one of his students that:

'It is a new medium for art, with tremendous possibilities.'

What Santayana said is proved by the production of 'Lost Horizon.'

'Lost Horizon' is the story of a group of moderns who found tomorrow's world in a fertile valley enclosed by Tibetan mountains. In the valley of the blue moon, a Belgian priest had established a civilization for the preservation of virtue and beauty against a day when the rest of the world had annihilated its civilization by headlong animosities and passion.

Photographically, 'Lost Horizon' is almost incredibly beautiful and, again, awesome. Artistically, the roles are convincingly cast. In every respect, 'Lost Horizon' is well worth one of your evenings or afternoons.

Much is heard in today's world of peace on earth among men of good will. Here is a pictorical opportunity to glimpse what it might be like if we ever should decide to try the experiment."

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE

"Varsity Show," filmusical extraordinary, is the big attraction opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden today. The Jones Family in "Hot Water" is the second attraction on the bill opening today. The latest in the popular series starring America's favorite family presents Jed Prouty, Spring Byington, Shirley Deane, George Ernest, Russell Gleason, Kenneth Nowell and June Carlson in the leading roles.

ART LOVERS CLUB OF GREATER BOSTON

The president, Mrs. Ralph K. LaRose, was hostess to the club and guests at her home, 3 Euclid avenue, for the opening meeting.

The report of the annual meeting was read by recording secretary Mrs. E. H. Mendell and the Federation secretary, Mrs. F. W. Pote, gave the report of the State Federation meeting.

Mrs. F. O. Griffin, program chairman, introduced the artists for the afternoon.

Mr. Arnold Hartmann, Jr., offered three piano selections: "Etude" by Ad. Henselt, followed by "Evening in Granada" by Claude Debussy, most appropriate, as it got the audience into a fitting mood for the part of the program to follow. For his closing number Mr. Hartmann played "Sandades das Selvas Brasileivas" by the well known Brazilian composer H. Villa Lobos. Mr. Hartmann's interpretations were enjoyable and interesting and enthusiastically received.

Mr. Ralph K. LaRose followed with a lecture illustrated with moving pictures which he took on a recent cruise of the West Indies.

With Mrs. La Rose we entered the harbor at San Juan, Puerto Rico, seeing Fort Morro Castle, so long in building that the slaves brought there to work on it are said to have died of old age before its completion. Then the leper island and the prison, also Governor Winship's residence with its gardens, gorgeous in color, came to view. All the furniture in the mansion is of hand carved mahogany, Moorish in design, and the glassware over 200 years old, bears the Spanish seal. The walls are adorned with paintings of former governors including our own Theodore Roosevelt. From Puerto Rico we arrive at the French port of Guadeloupe, two large islands. The narrow streets are lined with shops on either side and are filthy with water and sewerage running through the gutters. The natives, a French colored race, are extremely poor and typical beggars, satisfied with conditions and resenting any interference with their mode of living. The next port is the beautiful harbor of Granada which is under English rule. Green hills, old forts and red tiled houses rise from the steep tropical shore. Then follows the coast of Trinidad, one of the principal ports of call, having a mixed population of 400,000, made up of Europeans, Chinese, East Indian Creoles and full blooded negroes. Next Mrs. La Rose took us to La Guayra, the seaport of Carvacas on South American soil. Corkscrew turns and wide sweeps or winding roads carry you upward from the port to the breeze swept bowl of the Andes where the capitol, a city more Spanish than many in Spain, sits in splendor. The region reminds one of the Grand Canyon of Colorado. At the Dutch port of Curucao much shipping is done. The capitol is divided in two parts by Santa Ann harbor Here one encounters the trade winds and it is one of the cleanest ports in th West Indies.

At Castagena, one of the four walled cities in the world, one is welcomed by the colored boys diving for coins from boats carved or hollowed out of solid logs. Here one feels the atmosphere of old Spain. At Cristobal one is thrilled to step on American soil once more. Here trains are waiting to transport travelers to old Panama and Panama City. Automobiles drive through the residential sections to the ruins of the old Cathedral where the famous golden altar was—now in a new church in Panama City. On through Calabra Cut to the Gaton locks where in three lifts one sees the raising of a ship 85 feet above sea level.

Kingston, the largest island in the British West Indies, is more than beautiful. Great mountains rise to an elevation of over 7,400 feet upon which orchids grow in profusion. Motor drives take one through the most beautiful tropicalside in the whole West Indies. Its principal industry is fruit, controlled by United Fruit.

The last port of call was Havana, the capitol of Cuba and a marvelous combination of old Spain with modern surroundings. It is filled with old historical cathedrals and forts. Since the Spanish-American War, beautiful boulevards, parks and public buildings have been built. Its residential sections are exceptionally beautiful. The capitol is beyond description having 25 different kinds of imported marble from all parts of the world used in its construction. In the center of the floor, directly under the dome is a 24 carat diamond, presented to the Cuban government by the labourers who worked on the capitol. It is set in an onyx base and under glass. It has 32 cuts which make it a perfect diamond. All distances throughout Cuba are measured from the center of the diamond as a starting point. After a three days sail home to New York, this marvelous trip, which Mr. La Rose so delightfully narrated, ended with a wonderful banquet and entertainment for all on board the Holland-American liner.

The club was most enthusiastic and appreciative of Mr. La Roses' vivid descriptions and excellent illustrations. A social hour followed during which refreshments were served.

A man may be down, but he is never out of excuses.

A man less than a hundred miles from Winchester tripped over a fallen tree and broke his leg while chasing a skunk. Providence sometimes employs hard methods to protect humans from the result of their folly.

Winchester aspiring poet sent in this stanza:

Long have I sought, but vainly have I striven
To pen a song of all men's songs most rare.
My soul has felt the fire, but to me it is not given
To strike the perfect note, the poem beyond compare.

GENTLEMEN, WE GIVE YOU THE MOST MODERN CHASSIS IN THE WORLD

NOW ON DISPLAY at BUICK Showrooms Everywhere

Under the new beauty of Buick, modern engineering makes history, co-starring the DYNAFLASH ENGINE and TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING

WHAT HAPPENS inside the 1938 Buick engine happens nowhere else in the world.

That is not advertising language, it is cold-steel engineering fact.

Speeding through the raceways of the intake manifold, the fuel mixture vapor hurricanes into the cylinders at speeds around 250 miles an hour.

As it sweeps past streamline valve contours, a scientifically designed Turbulator, built into the piston face, flings it into airswirls of terrific turbulence.

The spark that leaps through that compact storm-center sets off a flashing cyclone of power, exploding with tornadic force!

Sitting in the driver's seat you become aware of power that is livelier and more brilliant because gasoline is giving up more performance than it ever gave up to motorists before!

TO MATCH this incomparable stride, Buick engineers now give you a kind of springing you will likewise find on no other car in the world.

Poised on jarless coils of easy-flexing steel, Buick floats free of bobble, jar, chatter, jounce.

The car will not over-steer or under-steer—skidding, even on icy highways, is blessedly reduced.

Rear tires no longer scuff half their life away through power-wasting wheel-slip.

Through winter and summer, without need of grease and without "seize" from rust, dirt, water or ice, springs keep their gentle, even cushioning for the life of the car.

YES, IT IS a great story, the story of these twin engineering triumphs in the 1938 Buick.

So great a story that it obscures half a score of other advances, themselves enough to make any car a wonderful buy.

We invite you to learn more about them this week at any Buick showroom.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILT THEM

OBSERVATIONS

Just think! In less than three months the people of fair Winchester will be writing it 1938. Or doesn't one like to worry about such things?

The smaller the man the more likely he is to be satisfied with himself.

Building For The Almighty

All of us are building a temple. Why not build it for God? Our life is that temple. It makes all the difference in the world what we put into the building. There are three things we must keep in mind as we pass along the thorny pathway of human life. These will not take away any joy or happiness but rather will add to our joy and happiness.

First. Make your life useful. We do not need to seek popularity, but certainly should seek to be eminent. I mean eminence distinguished by merit or virtue. Many folk seem to think the best in life is to have their names in the papers for some big achievement in life. Let your work show virtue and merit and you will not need to seek a place, the place will seek you.

Second. By the help of God, you make your life Christian. Happy are those people whose God is the Lord. Religion is the one important thing in life. No man or woman can do his or her best work away from God. Jesus says: "Without me ye can do nothing," and a writer in the Old Testament says, "Apart from God, we are dead."

Third. We must live to share our Christian joy with others. Let us not be selfish with our religion. Let all our neighbors know that we are Christians, and that we want them to enjoy the same happiness. Let them see in us good Christians by our daily deeds rather than by our going to church. Too many alleged Christians thing religion ends once they step outside the church door.

Winchester couple got married in a hurry for fear the other would back out.

Cheerfulness is not merely a matter of choice; it is an obligation we owe to our fellow Winchesterites.

It's a peculiar coincidence how an ad in the Star brings results. On Tuesday forenoon Mr. Lewis Parkhurst asked us to insert a "dog lost" advertisement, stating that a dog which he had at his home for the winter had disappeared. The dog was owned by a Brookline lady who is away for the winter. The last time she saw the animal was at the Cape last June, and Mr. Parkhurst felt that he would be ultimately found either at her Cape residence or her Brookline home. Sure enough, by Tuesday noon the dog was discovered by Brookline Police sitting on the steps of his home. He certainly had not read the Star, for the ad had not been published, but he aided mightily in obtaining results.

FORTNIGHTLY CHARITY BALL

Another page has been completed in the history of Winchester's noteworthy social events—containing the story of the picturesque pageant produced in connection with the Fortnightly Ball, in Town Hall last Saturday. Cleverly cast, beautifully costumed, and perfectly presented, it gave one a never-to-be-forgotten picture of the beauties of history, and proved a lasting tribute to the organizing capabilities of the women of Fortnightly.

No matter what your ancestry, your native land, or your favorite country—it was there to be seen and enjoyed, both in character, costume and music. Your correspondent, being 99.44 per cent pure Scotch, went for that scene in a big way. The skirling of the bagpipes by William Knowles, resplendent in a Gordon plaid, and the dainty Highland Fling, by Mary Campbell, who wore the lovely Douglass plaid, just about stopped the show for this loyal descendent of the House of Douglass.

The colorful costume worn by Mrs. Lorence Woodside in the Scandinavian scene, has an interesting historic, as well as romantic, story to tell. It is a Norwegian Bridal costume, having been worn by nearly 100 brides, and is probably the only authentic Norwegian Bridal costume in this country.

To a great many, the splendid Queen Victoria of Adele Emery prove the highlight of the pageant—to others, the startling similarity of William T. Levitt's Abraham Lincoln, for sheer loveliness, William S. Gill's Hans Anderson, surrounded by his Fairies, took the prize. It would be difficult to decide just what countries, character, costume, song or dance received the most applause. All were lovely—each scene perfect in every way.

Orchids are certainly due Mary Ghirardini, the General Chairman, Anita McGaragle, the coach; Mary Ranton Witham, the musical director; Margaret Hintlian, who did the costuming; Ellouise Graves, Beatrice Budd and Dorothy Wills, the casting committee; Adele Williams, who not only planned, but executed all the decorations; Muriel Barnes, in charge of refreshments; Jane Robinson, in charge of tickets and their many aides and assistants. Their responsibilities were many, their work arduous, but surely their efforts were rewarded by the splendid sight of the gorgeous, smooth flowing Pageant that resulted. The program follows:

Mr. Stow is a graduate of the University of Chicago, where he also received his Ph.D. He is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. Both he and Miss Harrington attended the American School of Classical Studies in Athens, Greece.

ENGAGED TO WINCHESTER MAN

Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Gebhard of Wilmington announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Muriel Anne Gebhard, to David F. Wadsworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth of Highland avenue.

Miss Gebhard attended school in Wilmington and studied at the Emerson School of Oratory. Mr. Wadsworth attended the Oxford School of Business Administration and later studied aviation. He is now associated with the Mayflower Airlines at the East Boston Airport.

MAYNARD HERE TOMORROW

Another Championship Struggle Looms For Local Fans

Maynard High School comes to Winchester tomorrow afternoon to play the Middlesex League game which should definitely decide the circuit championship for 1937.

If Winchester wins, the locals look to be definitely "in there" and a win doesn't seem beyond the rather easy reach of Coach Lauer's charges. Belmont won 19—0 from Maynard and Concord eked out a 7—6 victory over the Orange, making it appear that the boys from the mill town are not so tough as usual this autumn.

Maynard, however, has proved the thorn in Winchester's championship aspirations before now and may upset the local applecart again tomorrow. The Orange walloped Lexington, 19—0, Monday, and may have a distinct edge in condition over the locals who have loafed since the Belmont game.

Maynard's Downey is perhaps a faster runner than Arico and Priest; Toivinen, Dagata and Whelan were members of the club that defeated Winchester 13—6 a year ago. The 19 year old age limit has given Coach Mike Vodocys many a gray hair, but if his club runs at all true to form, it will play its best game of the year against Winchester. And that probably will be good enough to make the locals tend very strictly to their knitting.

If Ficociello, Murray, Sibley and Graham are ready, Winchester should be an odds-on favorite, but if especially "Ficcy" is out of the running, then we're making no predictions.

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

Mr. Christian Herter, State Representative, and President of the Massachusetts Republican Club, will be the speaker at our meeting next Wednesday, Nov. 3 in Fortnightly Hall. Mr. Herter is always a welcome guest at the Winchester Women's Republican Club, his easy, informal manner of speaking and his extremely interesting information on the many topics, making him one of our finest speakers, and a much loved fellow citizen. We anticipate his visit with a great deal of joy.

Mrs. Eva Bowler, who will present the musical program, needs no introduction to music loving Winchesterites. Her singing is always the highlight of any program, particularly to her fellow citizens and club members who are so proud to consider her one of them.

Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke, the president, extends a cordial invitation to all Winchester Republican women to join the club, in order to better keep abreast of the trend of the tide in our Country, in these critical days.

LOONEY—DONNELLY

Miss Mary Christine Donnelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Donnelly of Francis circuit, and John T. Looney of Somerville, son of Mrs. Michael Looney and the late Mr. Looney, were married in this town on Saturday morning, Oct. 23, at 9 o'clock.

Miss Donnelly was given in marriage by her father and had for her honor attendant, her sister, Mrs. Kathryn Metules of Newark, N. J. Another sister, Miss Loretta Donnelly of this town, was bridesmaid.

Leo E. Looney of Somerville was his brother's best man and the ushers for the reception, which was held in Association Hall, were Dr. Joseph M. Looney of Worcester, also a brother of the bridegroom; and James L. Butler of Norwood, cousin of the bride.

Mr. Looney and his bride left after the reception to enjoy a wedding journey to Washington, D. C., and through the State of Virginia. Upon their return they are to make their home in Arlington.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School. Mr. Looney, a practising attorney, is a graduate of the Suffolk Law School.

SENATOR HENRY CABOT LODGE, JR., GUEST OF FORTNIGHTLY LEGISLATION GROUP

A meagre half hour of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge's splendid personality, is like one tiny piece in a luscious looking box of candy—and the which should definitely decide the circuit championship for 1937.

If Winchester wins, the locals look to be definitely "in there" and a win doesn't seem beyond the rather easy reach of Coach Lauer's charges. Mrs. Coolidge is president of the Medford Historical Society. She has been, for many years, a student of the early history of this part of the State of Massachusetts. GROVE STREET HOUSE RANSACKED

Another of the type of breaks which have been reported in Winchester recently was discovered last week-end when the family of Mr. Winsor C. Nickerson of Grove street arrived home to find that their house had been ransacked. Preliminary investigations failed to disclose much of any value missing, and this condition has prevailed in previous breaks of this sort here. Access to the Nickerson house was gained by breaking the glass in a second floor door over a sun-porch on the easterly side of the house.

Henry K. Roberts, Boston business man and former Harvard football player, died Tuesday morning, Oct. 26, at his home, 161 Highland avenue, after a long illness. He was 57 years old and had made his home in Winchester for the past 14 years.

For 30 years Mr. Roberts' business associations had been with the Star Refining Company in South Boston, of which he was president and treasurer. He was a member of Essex Lodge of Masons in Salem, of Winslow Lewis Commandery, Knights Templar and of the Salem Marine Society. He was also a member of the New England Foundrymen's Association and of the Association of Brass Founders of New England.

MISS MURPHY ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Murphy of Clark street announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy, to Mr. George A. Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Davidson of East Braintree.

HOSPITAL CAMPAIGN COMPLETELY SUCCESSFUL

Even though the hospital campaign ended Monday night, Oct. 25, members of the Hospital Finance Committee, captains and solicitors have been working at the headquarters in the Locatelli Building these last few days tabulating results, establishing amounts conributed in cash and pledged during the year and getting everything ship-shape for Maurice Bird of the Finance Committee to make his final report to the directors of the hospital.

Everybody connected with the drive has nothing but praise for the smooth and effective conduct of this worthwhile charitable activity. Throughout the drive, the watchword was "co-operation" and the unusually high number of contributors from all walks of life shows that this co-operation among those conducting the drive was so contagious that it spread to the public and resulted in the public's desire to do their part.

When asked whether final figures could be released at the present time, Chairman Bird stated that figures could not be released for a few days until every last contribution had been properly checked. However, he said "Our goal of $10,000 has not only been reached by the fine work of the hundreds connected with the drive, but has even been surpassed. If there was ever any doubt in anybody's mind as to the desirability of maintaining a hospital in Winchester, that doubt has been dispelled once and for all. The people of Winchester have spoken through their contributions. Everybody has tried to do his bit. Contributions have varied from a few cents to many hundreds of dollars."

Mr. Frank Crawford, manager of the hospital, was so excited about the success of the drive that he was hard pressed to find words complimentary enough to describe his feelings toward all those that insured the smooth functioning of the hospital for the coming year. He said "Mr. Bird's army marched into Winchester as if from nowhere, and due to their peaceful but effective organized work are withdrawing complete victors over the situation. While everyone of the hundreds who participated in the success of the drive deserve special thanks, our fullest appreciation must go to the chairman of the drive for carrying out his well constructed plan in such a perfect manner."

We have always been proud of our Winchester Hospital, and now we are convinced that some 1800 families in Winchester share this pride with us.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Two members were absent from the meeting of Oct. 28. This is a pleasing contrast to the attendance registered at the joint meeting in Stoneham on Oct. 19.

There was a meeting of the board of directors with sessions both before and after the regular meeting of Oct. 28.

Advices from District Governor John MacGregor inform us that Maurice Duperrey, president of Rotary International, will address the Rotary Club of Springfield at noon on Friday, Nov. 5 in the ball room of the Hotel Kimball, Springfield. President Duperrey returns to France on the following day but will pay a return visit to the United States in January at which time it is hoped that he will address a special meeting of New England Rotarians.

The Rotary Club of Chelsea will give a party in commemoration of the 10th anniversary of its organization, at the Hotel Westminster, Boston, on the evening of Nov. 30.

We are in receipt of the preliminary announcement of the 1938 convention of Rotary International. This covention will assemble at San Francisco, Calif., with headquarters in the Exposition Auditorium, located in the beautiful civic center of San Francisco. We certainly hope that some of our members may be in a position to gratify their wishes to attend this convention and enjoy at first hand the hospitality of our great Pacific Commonwealth. Now is the time to plan the trip. We shall submit from time to time announcements relative to the convention.

One of Rotary's most important pamphlets, namely, the 1937 revision of the Manual of Procedure, has just been published. The present issue also contains the constitution and bylaws of Rotary International and the standard club constitution and bylaws. The copy at hand is assigned to the club library and of course is for consultation by any officer or member of the club.

Entertainment at the current meeting consisted of motion pictures presented by Mr. Carl P. Lowe, representing the W. F. Schrafft Corporation well known Boston confectioners. Various processes connected with the manufacture and distribution of high grade confections were illustrated and all present were treated with generous samples of the candy maker's art. The Schrafft Corporation performs a distinct service in bringing before the public an illuminating exposition of various fundamentals pertaining to one of this nation's great industries.

Our first November meeting is scheduled for Thursday the 4th. May we register an attendance record at least as good as that of Oct. 28.

Percentage of attendance, Oct. 19—65.63 per cent.

NOTABLE EXHIBITION UNDER ART ASSOCIATION'S AUSPICES

The Winchester Art Association is very fortunate in having been able to secure, for the benefit of all of the residents of Winchester, some of the best examples of the work of one of America's foremost artists, Robert Strong Woodward. Eighteen of his paintings are now hanging in the gallery of the Public Library where they will remain through Nov. 6.

Mr. Woodward is a resident of Shelburne Falls. He has devoted most of his life to portraying the countryside of verdant New England. His material is really in his own backyard where he finds as subject matter the tilled fields, the rambling old buildings, and the old elms and oaks which spot his farm. Nor has he neglected his poorer neighbors, for he has captured on canvas the old forsaken barn and the dilapitated back porch. Spring, advancing to a fruitful summer is one of his favorite periods for painting. These landscapes are definitely American both in character and subject matter. The following pictures are in the exhibition:

Apples and Silk.
The Hill Road.
The Old House and Young Trees.
Between Winter and Spring.
Mr. Franklin's House.
Inspiration.
Mrs. Keach's Front Porch.
Winter Song.
Summer Valley
June Corn.
Busy Sugaring.
New England Autumn.
At Peace.
Portrait of a Shadow.
Four Maple Trees in March.
Maple Flame.
The Winter Porch.
May Woods.

On Sunday, Oct. 31, from 4 to 6 o'clock, the Art Association will give a tea for members and their guests who would like to embrace the opportunity to study these beautiful paintings.

NO HARM INTENDED

Last Sunday night at 9:45 Miss Harriet Constantine of 9 Monument street, West Medford, reported to Patrolman Clarence Dunbury that a man had attempted to board her automobile while she was driving north on Bacon street near Lakeview road.

Officer Dunbury went to investigate and found a Winchester man who admitted attempting to stop Miss Constantine's car, but only for the purpose of chasing a Ford coupe that had sideswiped his machine which he was repairing on Bacon street. The coupe had failed to stop and the driver had put out his lights so the number was not visible.

BISHOP SHERRILL TO MEET EPISCOPAL MEN

Bishop Sherrill of the Massachusetts Diocese plans to meet hundreds of laymen of the Episcopal Church during the next two or three weeks at a series of supper meetings to be held over the diocese.

Under the auspices of the Men's Division of the Church Service League of which Mr. Bradford Eddy of this town is president, the diocese has been divided into six areas and a supper was held in each of these areas, the first in the crypt of St. Paul's Cathedral, Boston Area, on Tuesday evening, Oct. 26.

Bishop Sherrill is attending each supper and speaking on events at the recent general convention at Cincinnati.

The officers of the Men's Division believe that through these meetings men in the same areas will get better acquainted with one another and with their Bishop, interest in their parish work will be reawakened, if it has fallen off, and interest in the work of the diocese will be stimulated. In short, it may get many more men to go to church. The Bishop feels that if this movement grows, as it should, it won't be long before he has a strong army of laymen at his back, all ready to help him solve problems or to meet emergencies.

The committee for the Central Area is made up as follows: Norman Hutton, Jr., chairman; F. M. Andrews of Watertown, N. J. Neall of Boston, Albert Morrissey of Medford, Arthur Hamilton of Needham, L. Lee Street of Newton, H. Graham Stevens of Framingham.

JUNIOR FLORENCE CRITTENTON BAZAAR NOTES

This is a grand way to amuse the children while their mothers are attending the bazaar on Thursday afternoon, and even the grown-ups will enjoy this delightful show. Be sure to bring your children in for the Children's Hour on Thursday.

On Wednesday from 11 o'clock to 5 Mrs. Anne Brabrook will tell fortunes by cards. This will be a very popular as well as most interesting pastime at the bazaar.

Then there will be the attractive table sponsored by the Junior Circle of hand wrought pewter. Lewis Whitney, an artists craftsman, of Bearskin Neck, Rockport is displaying his attractive dishes, trays and all sorts of things which would make very lovely Christmas gifts.

RED CROSS

The services rendered by the American Red Cross this year have been manifold.

The battle for the prevention of the dread disease—Pellegra—has been one of the victories for Red Cross. A few years ago when deaths from pellegra were reaching a frightful total, particularly in the southern states, the Red Cross entered the fight. With cakes of yeast and vegetables as their weapons, the Red Cross has reduced the deaths from pellegra over 50 per cent in most localities.

To fight against deaths and permanent injuries on highways the Red Cross has established over 1600 first aid stations at strategic spots along main highways with trained first aid administrators. Drivers of police patrols, highway departments and others have been equipped to render first aid assistance until the Doctor or the Ambulance can reach the scene of accident.

The Public Health Nursing Service organized to combat sickness and disease. In mountains, over the plains, along the rugged Atlantic and Pacific coasts they go—neither rain nor snow nor darkness stops them. They relieve suffering, and teach better ways of living to others. Also these same nurses have instructed more than 35,000 persons in Home Hygiene and care of the sick methods. Courses include personal hygiene, eating habits, diet corrections, and methods of caring for members of the family who might be ill.

Junior Red Cross, 8,000,000 strong, are also carrying on service work. Favors, scrapbooks, puzzles, etc., sent to hospitals; gifts to children in foreign lands; collecting magazines for Veterans' Hospitals; inter-change of ideas and customs by portfolios sent to foreign countries; helping to raise disaster and roll call funds are few of the many services. These civic services are character building for future citizens.

The Red Cross considers it a major responsibility to assist disabled veterans and their dependents. Veterans at hospitals are assisted by the Gray Ladies. The Home Service department assists them with their family problems.

Red Cross Volunteers all over the country are transcribing books and magazines into braille so that they may bring cheer to the blind through reading.

Ohio Mississippi Flood—The Red Cross, through you and millions of other Americans, assisted 245,000 families, giving them food, clothing, shelter and medical aid through that terrible emergency, later repairing or rebuilding or refurnishing the homes of those who could not meet their own needs.

This is only a partial account of what Red Cross has been able to accomplish this year. This work is made possible each year by the Annual Red Cross Roll Call. To meet the demands for continued service, a greater membership is essential. The Red Cross is no stronger than its membership.

The Winchester Chapter needs $1800 in $1 memberships in addition to a number of larger gifts to carry on its part in the local and national work and is confident the citizens of Winchester will give loyally and readily in the Roll Call beginning Nov. 11.

WHAT, NO BAIT!

It just seems as though if it isn't one thing, it's another with those hardy smelt fishermen, Preston "Five Shirt" Corey, "Lennie" McNeil and "Charlie" O'Connor.

After nearly drowning "Charlie" two weeks ago, the trio, augmented by George Nowell, went smelting down Winthrop way again last Saturday night, and this time the trouble was bait.

"Five Shirt" had the bait detail and arrived equipped for the trip with a tall can in which, according to his conservative estimate, there were about 1500 worms; at least 1200, well say an even 1000. "You won't want more than 1000, will you boys?"

Off the fishing grounds the boys took a look-see in the bait tin which seemed surprisingly light. Nary a worm could be found, even after the most diligent of searches. The theory was advanced that the big ones had eaten the small ones, but even beyond "Five Shirt's" vigorous contention that there were no small ones was the question, where were the big ones?

There was nothing to do, but go ashore and buy bait, and as was the case when "Charlie" went overboard, compliments were exchanged! "Five Shirt" may live down his failure to provide the necessary, but somehow we have our doubts.

DINNER PARTY

Miss Ruth Carrier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Carrier, gave a dinner party at her home on Lloyd street last Friday evening before the first Freshman Assembly.

Her guests included Bunny McLeod, Jean Pentz, Eleanor Randall, Leila Jane Smith, Ann Jo Woodward, Craig Greiner, Peter Hickey, Lane McGovern, Richard Robb, Daniel Ropp and Leonard Sherman.

FLOWER COMMITTEE SPONSOR LECTURE

The Flower Committee of the First Baptist Church will sponsor a lecture by Alexander Irving Heimlich at the social hall of the church on Tuesday evening, Nov. 9.

"Ornamental Trees and Shrubs" will be shown on the screen in beautiful natural surroundings and also in the more formal settings of landscape architecture.

WINCHESTER CHAPTER OF THE GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

Mrs. Patrick Walsh, Mrs. H. Warren Arnold, Mrs. James Carr and Mrs. Peter Caulfield were the hostesses at the second meeting of the Winchester Chapter Guild of the Infant Saviour on Tuesday afternoon. The afternoon was spent in sewing and tea was served.

Members were urged to remember the rummage sale on Friday, Nov. 5, at Lyceum Hall from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. conducted by Miss Mary A. Lyons. Donations should be sent to Lyceum Hall Thursday. In the evening the supper dance will be held at the Copley Plaza Hotel. A great many reservations have been received and those who have not made theirs to date may do so by calling Mrs. James Gaffney, Win. 1774.

The next meeting, Nov. 9 will be donation day and each member is urged to bring articles that can be sold at our Middlesex County miscellaneous table at the bazaar, Nov. 16, at the Copley Plaza. The grabs will be capably handled by Mrs. A. H. L. DeMorris who is filling her bag with many nice things for young and old.

PAROLE SYSTEM SAVES

Many of the nation's best executive and judicial minds are now divided on the present parole system. There are those who claim that the parole boards' methods are too lenient and there are others who claim them to be too stringent. Regardless of this, however, the fact remains that the parole system now in effect DOES rehabilitate those who have wronged society.

If the plumbing system now in your home has become unsanitary, inconvenient and inefficient as a result of long use, it is time to have it modernized or replaced by the experts of Fells Plumbing & Heating Co., 656 Main St. Let them help you to realize the added beauty, comfort, health and convenience of modern plumbing.

All set? listen: HERE'S THE ENGINEERING MUST STORY OF THE YEAR!

Featuring the DYNAFLASH ENGINE and TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING — in the Most Modern Chassis in the World

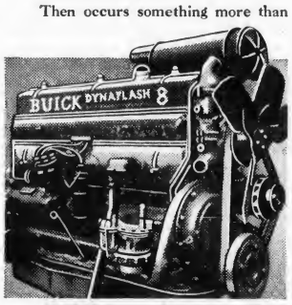
YOU won't drive a hundred yards in a new Buick without realizing that something marvelously new and different is happening here.

It's something that happens in no other car, in no other engine.

Speeding through the intake manifold, the fuel charge hurricanes into the cylinder at something like 250 miles an hour.

Leaping to meet it is the piston, with a unique device called a Turbulator built into its face.

Then occurs something more than high compression—literally cyclom-pression—as swirling gasoline vapor is compacted about the spark plug.



The spark sets off a fist-size hurricane—and gasoline gives up more performance than it ever gave up in a commercial engine before!

This livelier, smarter power might seem enough for engineers to lavish on a car in a single year.

But matching DYNAFLASH power in importance is Buick TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING and its arroflite ride.

Take a Buick over a railroad crossing—around a curve—over bumps.

There's no thud and chatter, no tail-swing or roll; you cover rough going with the silk-smoothness of a panther on the prowl.

All because old-type leaf springs are gone! In their place, each wheel has a soft, shock-smothering cushion of stout coiled steel.

Skid risks are blessedly reduced. Rear tires last longer. The whole car handles more easily! That's TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING at work!

TRUCK CRASHED BUILDING

Considerable excitement was occasioned in the center last Saturday forenoon when an S. S. Pierce delivery truck, parked on Elmwood avenue near Park street, started rolling down the incline to crash into the side of the building on Park street, owned by Mr. Jonas A. Laraway of 310 Main street.

The driver of the truck, John J. McLean of 55 Sterling street, Somerville, was unable to account for the accident. Both the building and truck were damaged, the latter so badly that it had to be towed away. Fortunately no one was injured.

READING GAME POSTPONED

Wisely deciding not to risk injuries by playing under last Saturday's adverse weather conditions, the authorities of Winchester and Reading High Schools postponed the football game between their two elevens to Saturday, Nov. 20, both clubs having that date open.

This will give Winchester a game on the Saturday just preceding the Woburn classic, something the locals have not had for some years.

Reading is not supposed to be too potent this season and should not extend Winchester beyond a reasonable limit, permitting Coach Lauer to work his first string no more than is necessary to have them on edge for Woburn.

AMONG THE FANS

Among those at the Casey-Johnson wrestling match Tuesday in the Boston Garden were Police Chief William H. Rogers, Patrolman James P. Donaghey, David H. Katcoff and "Billy" Richardson of Bonnell Motors. Chief Rogers shook hands with the "Crusher" after the bout and opines he has quite a grip. "Jim" didn't think the wrasslin' amounted to much beside the old independent Winchester-Woburn football games years ago. "Dave" rooted enthusiastically for Orlob the Russian, but couldn't quite bring him in a winner of "Dazzler" Clark.

STOLEN CAR WRECKED HERE OPERATOR ARRESTED

A stolen car was wrecked in a construction ditch on High street and its operator arrested by Motorcycle Officer Winthrop Palmer after a chase in which two shots were fired Tuesday shortly before noontime.

Winchester got its first thrill when two cars, a Buick sedan and a Plymouth, came roaring through the center shortly before noon, heading west on Church street. Traffic Officer John J. Regan made a futile attempt to halt the speeding cars.

Shortly afterward a telephone call was received at Headquarters reporting that a car had gone into a construction ditch on High street, Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Motorcycle Officer Winthrop Palmer being sent by Desk Officer James P. Donaghey to investigate.

On High street the officers learned that the driver of the Plymouth, seen speeding through the center, was Officer C. A. Sullivan of Station 15, Charlestown, who had been chasing the Buick sedan, found ditched, having spotted it as a stolen machine while driving from Winthrop Square toward Winchester.

Officer Sullivan told the local authorities that the driver of the Buick had been doing about 70 miles per hour and the marks on the road showed that his wheels had dragged more than 150 feet as his car crashed through a warning horse to "straddle" the construction ditch.

The operator of the Buick had leaped from the machine as it went into the hole and ran, followed by W. P. A. workers who were busy on the construction job. They lost their man in the swamp at the rear of the Dr. Ordway cottage.

Sergeant Cassidy and Officer Palmer took up the chase, and the latter finally saw his man running through the orchard of Mr. Thomas Vinson. He was captured only after Officer Palmer had pursued him nearly a quarter of a mile and fired two shots from his revolver.

At Headquarters the man gave his name as Raymond E. Benoit of 41 Belmont street, Charlestown, aged 21. The Buick sedan he was driving was reported stolen near Hanover street in Boston Monday night and was later seen going over "the loop" in Charlestown at a terriffic rate of speed.

According to the Police Benoit admitted stealing the car, but said it had in turn been stolen from him and that he had not been driving it when it went over "the loop." The authorities claim Benoit intended to strip the car, being in need of money because his wife was soon to have a baby.

He was on his way to a hide out to leave the machine when he was spotted by Officer Sullivan who is a night officer and had gone for a spin in his own machine.

After being booked by the Winchester authorities Benoit was turned over to the Police of Division 1 in Boston.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The first meeting of the fall season of Fortnightly was held in Fortnightly Hall, on Monday, Oct. 25, with a dessert luncheon and reception to the incoming officers. In the receiving line were the president, Mrs. Robert A. Reynolds, first vice president, Mrs. Paul H. Howard, second vice president, Mrs. Clifton S. Hall, recording secretary, Mrs. Alonzo D. Nicholas, corresponding secretary, Mrs. George W. French, treasurer, Mrs. Franklin J. Lane.

The two tea tables looked unusually lovely with sprays of yellow tea roses and ferns carrying out the club colors. The pourers included four past presidents, Mrs. F. L. Ripley, Mrs. E. L. Dunning, Mrs. N. M. Nicholas and Mrs. W. W. Winship. The social chairman Mrs. J. S. Barnes and her committee, assisted by the Hospitality Group, served. Among this group were Mrs. Harold Partridge, Mrs. D. W. Randall, Mrs. H. E. Berquist, Mrs. W. Hudson, Mrs. A. S. Harriss, Mrs. R. Merrill. Mrs. F. G. Chase, Mrs. E. Weber, Mrs. John Carruthers. Also Mrs. M. H. Hintlian, Mrs. R. R. Carter, Mrs. F. H. Butterfield, Mrs. W. A. Dolan, Mrs. E. C. Grant, Mrs. J. B. Felt and Mrs. J. F. Gaffney.

The business meeting was called to order promptly at 2:30, by the president, Mrs. Robert A. Reynolds, who called upon each chairman for a short report of future activities, and by their report to acquaint the club with their countenance and personality "Memorygrams from Swampscott" were given by the two reporting delegates, Mrs. R. H. Robinson, and Mrs. Earle A. Andrews. A delightful musical program was presented by the Olympian Male Quartet from the Boston University College of Music, which delighted an unusually large and appreciative audience.

DRIVER BOOKED AFTER COLLISION

Friday evening shortly after 9:30 Patrolman James E. Farrell of the Police Department took into custody two men who were riding in a Ford sedan when their machine bumped a Plymouth sedan, owned by Jeannette R. Asaro of 83 Harvard street and parked on Swanton street in front of the Jenney Gasoline station.

The operator of the Ford, who gave his name as John J. Joyce of 147 Salem street, Medford, was booked on the charge of drunkenness and driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. His companion, Frederick A. Lunn of Salem street, Medford, was booked on a drunkenness charge and later released. Joyce appeared in the district court at Woburn Saturday morning when his case was continued until Oct. 30.

Things are undoubtedly picking up for the small business man. Even though against our better judgment and in spite of our antipathy to the New Deal, we feel that this slight improvement should be noted, for our fine for doing business and giving employment to eight persons was the smallest for the last month it has been thus far! Of course this penalty is still a drag, and the fact that it has been cut somewhat, meaning that these eight persons we are giving employment to have received less money, is all beside the point. If these fines can continue to be cut, we at least, will be able to return to a basis but a few degrees lower than that enjoyed before the New Deal. This prosperity may or may not continue. If, by any unanticipated factor, business should pick up, and we are enabled to increase our wages, our fine will of course be properly raised. Evidently recognizing this condition, those in charge of this penalty placed upon us have requested that we publish a series of articles relative to questions concerning the many features and ramifications connected with it which are so puzzling to us all. We are requested to publish these discourses for an indefinite period. This is fitting. If we can, being classed among the Economic Royalists, reduce our number of employees by one, we understand we may escape the penalty, although we have serious doubts regarding our personal ability to evade it. Under such a situation it must be highly desirable to discuss the situation in the Star. Of course no distinction may be made between the small business man who is subject to the fine and he who escapes. The fact that he who pays should receive proper consideration over him who escapes is one point which we imagine will not be touched upon, and where money is to be spent the penalty man is properly excluded from paying patronage, he being affluent enough through his employing ability to be passed up without further consideration. Once again this seems very fair under New Deal government. We must one and all be brought to a common level if we are still doing business and not holding a Government office. Our checks for the last month were reduced to $35.56! This, we hasten to admit, seems a small penalty for doing business, no matter how little. Figured on a yearly basis our fine would only amount to $426.72! Of course it will be much more than this. But every little saving is encouraging, and we may properly look forward to a steady reduction in this fine up to next year, when it will be properly increased providing we do not decide to turn our business over to the New Deal in its entirety.

RESOLUTIONS ON MRS. FAUSEY'S DEATH

Resolutions were passed last week by the West Springfield Woman's Club on the death of Mrs. John R. Fausey, wife of the superintendent of schools of that city and a former resident of this town.

Mrs. Fausey died at the Broad Street Hospital in New York City on Sept. 5, where she had been a patient for about seven weeks. She resided in Winchester for several years, her husband being well known here as a former superintendent of schools.

Resolutions extolling the virtues of Mrs. John R. Fausey were adopted by the West Springfield Woman's Club at its meeting last week and presented to her husband, Superintendent of Schools John R. Fausey. The resolution:

Whereas, God, in His infinite wisdom, has seen fit to call to Himself one of our most valued members, who, in our club work and in our personal associations with her, has ever been an inspiration because of her talents, her intelligence, her love of beauty and her broad sympathies, and whose friendship was treasured by us all; be it

Resolved: That the West Springfield Woman's Club place in its records this expression of grief for the death of Lena Corbin Fausey, and be it further resolved that our sympathy be extended and a copy of these resolutions sent to her husband, John R. Fausey.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON THE UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION LAW

If you have any questions on unemployment compensation write them to the Question and Answer Editor of this paper or to the Unemployment Compensation Commission, 1 State street, Boston.

Question 1. I finished High School last June and obtained my first position two weeks ago. I was told that I would get $15.00 a week, but when I got my first pay check it was $.30 short. My employer told me that this money was taken out for Old Age Benefits and for Unemployment Compensation. I understand about Old Age Benefits, but what is Unemployment Compensation?

Answer. Unemployment Compensation is a system whereby you and your employer set aside certain sums of money while you are working so that if you become unemployed through no fault of your own you will be eligible to receive weekly cash benefits. Just as you pay a little each week for other kinds of insurance, in Unemployment Compensation you insure yourself against the loss of wages when you lose your job. You must work in those types of businesses covered by the Law and you must fulfill certain other requirements before you will receive weekly benefit checks.

Question 2. I am a textile worker getting $12.00 a week pay. My employer has been taking $.24 out of my envelope each week since the first of January, 1937, which they tell me is for Old Age Benefits and for Unemployment Compensation. I understand Unemployment Compensation, but what are Old Age Benefits?

Answer. Federal Old Age Benefits will be paid monthly during old-age retirement to wage earners in proportion to the wages which they earn in occupations covered by Law between Jan. 1, 1937, and the time they become 65. To qualify, an individual must be so employed for some part of each of five years and earn at least a total of $2,000 during this period. For such wage earners who reach 65 without qualifying for monthly benefits or for the estates of those who die, a lump sum payment of 3½ per cent of total wages so earned is now payable. Claims should be filed with the nearest office of the Social Security Board.

Question 3. I have a friend about 67 years old who has no relatives in this country and who receives a check every month from the Government. Is this the Old Age Pension?

Answer. No. Unless his "pension" is based upon personal services for the government, this monthly check is "oid-age assistance." Such assistance is paid through local boards of public welfare to aged needy persons who meet the requirements of the Massachusetts Law. Each application must be investigated, and payments are made on the basis of need. Funds from the Federal Government under the Social Security Act, from the general treasury, help the State in enabling the local authorities to provide this assistance.

Question 4. We had an argument at the shop about unemployment compensation benefits. Unemployment Compensation is a State Law administered by a Commission of three members appointed by the Governor.

Question 5. I was born in France and I have been in this country 20 years. I have always worked in a woolen mill. My brother told me that I could not receive unemployment benefits because I am not a citizen.

Answer. If you have satisfied the various requirements of the Law, you are eligible to receive benefits whether you are a citizen or not.

Question 6. I am a machinist and have worked at the trade for 45 years. I am 67 years old. I have been told that I cannot expect to get unemployment benefits if I loaf because I am over 65 years old. Is this true?

Answer. No. Your age makes no difference, so far as unemployment benefits are concerned.

WINCHESTER HARRIERS DEFEATED WOBURN

Winchester High School's well balanced cross country team added Woburn High to its victims, defeating the Orange and Black harriers Tuesday over their own course, 22—38.

Individual honors were won by Captain Psyzola of Woburn, but the tanner was forced to break the course record to nose out Connolly of Winchester, and it was not until the two boys had entered the high school stadium side by side that Psyzola was able to pull away. Dineen and McPartlin finishing third and fourth and Gray in fifth place practically gave Winchester the meet.

In a preliminary meet between second teams, Winchester won 27 to 28, with Connolly of the locals finishing out in front. The summary:

MISS AVERY OPTIMISTIC

Miss Eunice H. Avery, widely known lecturer on world events, began last Wednesday before a large gathering at the Wyman School auditorium her 15th year of lectures in Winchester. These talks are sponsored by the Smith College Club to raise scholarship funds for graduates of the Winchester High School. Seven girls have been sent to Smith through this work.

In her opening lecture Miss Avery generally sets the stage for future more detailed discussion of the world's sore spots and high lights. In Wednesday's talk she attempted to sketch in the psychology of the European countries she visited this summer, psychology which she feels she understands better than she ever did before through the fact that she drove her own car. Having to get the car greased and gassed in the different languages brought her close to the feeling of the people.

The thought in American minds considering the rest of the world is, how can we keep out of war and what to do about undeclared wars. Miss Avery believes that the existence of these undeclared wars is a definite evidence of respect for law and order; until war is declared any blockade or interference is illegal, and the nations involved fear to legalize such proctoring. The only war that we can positively stay out of is a war that is not fought. Our declaration that war exists between other countries would automatically apply blockades and cut off war supplies, but a belligerent not dependent on outside supplies would then have a vantage point from which to do as he pleased. One outstanding fact which makes the Neutrality Act defective is the increasing unity of Europe and Asia; the Neutrality Act was predicted on Europe as the source of danger.

The nine nations revolving around the policies of Mussolini and Hitler are undergoing tremendous changes. The Italian empire is in full swing and Germany is inexorably on her way to empire and the domination of middle Europe. Empire put Italy into Spain, because she must force a balance of power in the Mediterranean to ensure her navy's free come and go to her colonies. Empire put Germany into Spain, because she must separate Britain and France to prevent them, combined, from thwarting her middle European activities. The cleavage in Spain is not so much between fascism and communism as between dictatorship and self government.

Miss Avery notices two strong undercurrents in Europe, one toward the eventual elimination of war, the other toward more self government. Great Britain's rearmament has not progressed to the point where she is ready to fight a war. Neither Italy or Germany is self sufficient, industrially autarchic, although they are straining every nerve to that end, and Germany, in addition, has had three years of food shortage to undermine her people's stamina.

An interesting sidelight was the fact that the German youth vacations, wholesale excursions of the training Nazis, are almost always indicators to the region of the next political move. This year the excursions went to Memel, East Prussia, Danzig, the Danish Border. Miss Avery noticed also the wholehearted pride of the Italians in their rejuvenated empire and their super-man leader. French traffic convinced her that the nation could never be organized for any length of time under a dictator. The spread of Flemish speech and feeling in Belgium, formerly dominated by the Latin Walloons, is a sign of the country's gradual reversion to the Germanic. The vicissitudes of traffic driving in Belgrade, ultra modern city set in the midst of an ultra peasant country, were very amusing.

Miss Avery feels that Europe is taking ugly, faltering steps toward the elimination of war, toward the Commonwealth of European Nations. The units of opposition, from little castles on neighboring hills, have merged and merged again; they are becoming bigger and bigger groups of people who have to practise teamwork within the units. Communication makes them all elbow-neighbors, the national programs all teach teamwork and co-operation, and these habits, so thoroughly being pounded into all the peoples, may effect the adjustments necessary to prevent war.

At the next lecture in the series, on Nov. 10, Miss Avery has promised a discussion of "Japan's Problem and China's." A few tickets for the series may still be obtained and of course tickets for single lectures.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SCHOOL NOTES

A very interesting and worthwhile illustrated lecture on "Winter Birds," was given recently before Grades 1 to 6 inclusive by Mrs. Harriet Goode, Junior Field Agent of the Audubon Society.

The annual Junior Red Cross election was held at the George Washington School, on Sept. 30. The following officers were elected: Everett Stevens, president; Ronald Leary, vice president; Stillman Hilton, secretary; Charles Slack, treasurer.

For room representatives, Grade 1 elected David Thomas; Grade 2 elected Lillian Gross; Grade 3 elected Scott Doub; Grade 4 elected Samuel Perkins.

On Wednesday, Oct. 13, the children of the school had an opportunity to see an excellent film showing the interior and exterior of the Winchester Hospital and the splendid work that is being carried on by the members of the hospital staff. As each picture was shown, Miss Parker explained in detail the various phases of work.

On Friday, Oct. 22 the first Junior Red Cross meeting was conducted, with President Everett Stevens in charge. The officers made their reports and each room representative reported its activity for the month of October. Attractive Hallowe'en favors are to be sent to the patients in the Winchester Hospital for Hallowe'en. Following the meeting the pupils of Grade 5 presented a one act play entitled, "America for Americans." Peace and good-will were stressed throughout the play. It pointed out that all may help accomplish world peace by learning to live happily among our own neighbors, regardless of racial distinction.

The teachers of the George Washington-Highland Schools were entertained at a delightful tea on Tuesday, Oct. 26 at the home of Mrs. Leslie Tucker, 54 Hillcrest parkway. This provided a pleasant way for mothers and teachers to become better acquainted.

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, October 31.

The Golden Text is: "Blessed is the man whom thou chastenest, O Lord, and teachest him out of thy law" (Psalms 94:12).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, nor of darkness. But let us, who are of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love; and for an helmet the hope of salvation. For God hath not appointed us to wrath, but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ" (I Thessalonians 5:5, 8, 9).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Every day makes its demands upon us for higher proofs rather than professions of Christian power. These proofs consist solely in the destruction of sin, sickness, and death by the power of Spirit, as Jesus destroyed them. This is an element of progress, and progress is the law of God, whose few demands of us only what we can certainly fulfill" (p. 233).

STRAND THEATRE, MALDEN

"That Certain Woman" with Bette Davis, Henry Fonda, Ian Hunter and Anita Louise as the four star cast opens a seven day run at the Strand Theatre in Malden today. "That Certain Woman" is described as more thrilling than Miss Davis' recent "Marked Woman" or "Dangerous" which won her the Academy Award as the best actress of the year. Bette Davis is cast as the wife of a gangster who is killed. Four years later wile putting flowers on his grave she is photographed by a reporter who is doing a series of stories on "gangsters" and their molls of yesterday. He offers her $1000 for the use of her name. She refuses and goes back to her office where she is employed as secretary to Ian Hunter, a brilliant attorney. The reporter follows her to the office and threatens exposure. Ian Hunter then reveals that he has known all the time the brave fight the girl has put up to conceal her past. Then Henry Fonda returns from a pleasure jaunt in Europe. He and Miss Davis have been in love for some time, and they marry against his father's wishes. The father has the marriage annuled and sends him back to England. Fonda does not know that his wife is to have a child when he consents to the annulment. Ian Hunter dies and leaves a large sum to Bette Davis which capults her into the front pages again, the implication being that she was his mistress and he the father of her son. Henry Fonda, meanwhile has married Anita Louise, Bette Davis fearing the publicity will effect the son's life sends him to the father Henry Fonda. Then Anita Louise dies from the result of an accident and Fonda comes back to his former wife. This part affords Miss Davis a chance to run the entire gamut of human emotions and she turns in a performance that will have to be considered for the best acting of the year.

"Charlie Chan On Broadway" with Warner Oland, Joan Marsh, Keye Luke, J. Edward Bromberg, Louise Henry, Donald Woods, Douglas Fowley and Harold Huber as the featured players is the second attraction on the bill starting today. Fresh from his triumphs in foreign lands Warner Oland as the famous Chinese sleuth, "Charlie Chan" is called in to solve the mystery of a Broadway night club.

"SOULS AT SEA" AT THE UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The gripping, unforgettable drama of the last slave ship, woven into a romance as tender and beautiful as ever reached the screen, is presented in "Souls at Sea" which opens Sunday at the University Theatre. The cast includes Gary Cooper and Geo. Raft, Frances Dee, Henry Wilcoxon, Harry Carey, Olympe, Robert Cummings, Porter Hall, Virginia Weidler and Joseph Schildkraut.

"Between Two Women" with Franchot Tone and Virginia Bruce is the supporting feature.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes "Hell Divers" featuring Clark Gable and Wallace Beery and "My American Wife" co-starring Francis Lederer and Ann Sothern.

A gay and magnificent musical, "Thin Ice," brings Sonja Henie and Tyrone Power together opening at the University Thursday.

"Super Sleuth" the companion feature co-stars Jack Oakie and Ann Sothern.

GRANADA THEATRE

"The Broadway Melody of 1938," with a star-studded cast that includes Robert Taylor, Eleanor Powell, Binnie Barnes, George Murphy, Buddy Ebsen, Sophie Tucker, Judy Garland, Raymond Walburn, Robert Benchly, Willie Howard, Charles Grapewin and hundreds of extras opens at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. "Broadway Melody of 1938" is the most pretentious film in the musical comedy cycle. The story is fast moving with an amusing plot twist. Miss Powell's father is a horse breeder who goes broke. He gives her the last of his stable and she works in a night club to support the horse. Robert Taylor, a playwright, buys in the horse at an auction to save it for her. Eventually, the horse comes through a winner in a big race and everyone is repaid. The songs are already hits. Eleanor Powell and George Murphy present "I'm Feeling Like A Million." Miss Powell solos in "A Pair of New Shoes," and then anneals with Geo. Murphy and Buddy Ebsen in "Follow My Footsters." Sophie Tucker revives her famous number some of these days and little Judy Garland goes to town in her number, which just about steals the show. No one can approach Miss Powell as a dancer and the support and lavish settings give her the greatest opportunity of her career. Through all the comedy, musical ensembles and specialty numbers runs the romance between Miss Powell and Robert Taylor. Incidentally, Robert Taylor sings in this picture and does surprisingly well.

"Footloose Heiress," with Ann Sheridan, Craig Reynolds and Anne Nagel as the stars is the second attraction on the bill starting today. Ann Sheridan plays the part of a very spoiled girl who has always had her own way, plus a great deal too much money to have it with. Her father, played by Hugh O'Connell, has despaired of ever taming her down, but Craig Reynolds, who enters in to the picture with some new and drastic methods, proves to be more than adequately prepared to handle her most violent outbursts. One of the means which Reynolds employs is an honest-to-goodness spanking which he administers to Miss Sheridan right in public. This scene is one long laugh.

Pageant Pickups

Add the pageant to the worth-while things that have been done in Winchester in recent years. What a pity more people could not have enjoyed it. Even the attendance of club members was disappointing.

Of course the date was unfortunate. A Harvard-Dartmouth Saturday night is always busy in Winchester, and there was the Country Club dance to interfere. The pageant coming on top of at least three major drives for funds also helped to keep some at home.

You just couldn't pick the best thing in the pageant. Queen Victoria got the biggest hand, and we thought, deserved it. Her portrayal was very high grade throughout.

The only spoken word in the entire pageant was the dialogue of Cleopatra and Anthony, and Hans Anderson's summoning the characters of his fairy kingdom. Both were among the striking bits of the pageant, the scene of the Serpent of the Nile for its drama, and the appearance of the fairy troupe for its sheer beauty and youthful appeal.

The little girls, dancers, fairies and all the rest were especially dainty and doubtless won the hearts of a majority of the audience. We cast our weak vote, however, for Richard Carter as the elf and Robert Berenger as the Chinese page. We thought they were quite all right.

As striking figures as any to parade before Columbia and Uncle Sam were the Vikings portrayed by Molly Tufts and Ted Godwin. Mrs. Levitt, too, as Queen Whilhelmina of Holland was very regal.

Feminine hearts doubtless skipped a beat when their owners saw Mrs. Maddocks' costume as Queen Mary. Even a mere man could appreciate its beauty.

Among the characters who looked more like the originals than the originals themselves were William Levitt's Abaham Lincoln, Christine Clarke's Grace Coolidge, Dr. Caulfield's "F. D." (should have had nose glasses, Doc!) Dick Barnard's Jim Roosevelt, Adele Emery's Victoria, Gertrude Murphy's Queen Elizabeth (star this one) Lenore Gamage's Wally, Clifford Cunningham's Mussolini and Len Witham's Hitler.

Dr. Milne Blanchard's Napoleon was a favorite with the crowd, and "Doc", a clever actor, made a lot of his part, easily outstriding Hitler, whose "goose-step" seemed rather of the duckling variety.

"Bill" Spaulding, Jr., waving a fan behind his father as Mark Anthony, managed just a bit of a grin during the recessional.

Now we know where shorts originated. The Injuns wore 'em

We suppose the role of Cleopatra was the most difficult to assume and costume. Mrs. Whitman's conception was most praiseworthy.

It is just as well that two veterans of the stage, Clara Reynolds, president of Fortnightly, and Sam Graves, were cast as Columbia and Uncle Sam. There was some sort of mixup in the musical scores and the orchestra struck up the "Marseillaise" when they made their entrance. Both maintained their poise admirably and prevented what might have been an awkward moment.

All the music was good, but we especially liked "Home on the Range." We would!

It's a far cry from Harvard quarterbacking to dancing whatever they danced in the French court, but as far as we could judge Dana Kelly carried out his latter assignment perfectly. Too bad some of his old teammates on the high school championship team of '22 couldn't have seen him last Saturday.

Nice bit of baton twirling by Eileen Miller and Bob Cavanagh. The latter was very smooth in an unobtrusive way.

All the dancers, amateur and professional, young and adult, added to the pleasure of the evening. Our preference was the Geisha girls and the "Dutchies," though of course the MacIsaac Sisters were not hard to watch, and the waltzers were very graceful. "Ed" Merriam was right courtly we thought, and the girls in their billowy gowns were very bonny.

All the queens and court ladies were beautiful. Our courage isn't equal to a special choice. Expert opinion near us seemed to think Ruth Carter's Mary Todd Lincoln was quite special, and we will wager that George Washington would have been pleased to act as escort to Martha Kelley as his Martha.

Gerry Hill and Dermot Townley-Tilson must have gotten quite a work out carrying the load of medals that went with their British kings' uniforms.

Those who wondered what became of St. Patrick's monk in the recessional could find the answer in the program. Russell Davis doubled up his monkish duties and went out with Columbus' troop.

Mrs. Hintlian's appearance as "Peace" was most dramatic and striking, bringing the Pageant to a beautiful conclusion.

Will some one please tell us why "Jim" Farley and "Madam" Perkins weren't in line? And how about "Babe" Ruth!

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

Last Friday evening Sergt. Joseph Derro and Patrolman James F. Noonan recovered on Bacon street near the railroad bridge a DeSoto sedan which had previously been reported stolen by the Police at Division 16 in Boston.

The radio and heater had been stripped from the machine and an attempt had been made to pry open the trunk at the rear of the car. The car was found to be the property of John Whoriskey of 1712 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge. It was towed to the Central Garage and the Police of Division 16 notified of its recovery.

CARS CRASHED AT HIGHLAND AVENUE-MT. VERNON JUNCTION

Another bad collision took place at the junction of Mt. Vernon street and Highland avenue at about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon when a Plymouth sedan, driven by Robert H. Kroepsch of 939½ Main street, Woburn, and a Pontiac sedan, operated by Lucido Bortone of 147 Albion street, Somerville, came together with sufficient force to overturn the Pontiac on the easterly sidewalk of Highland avenue.

According to the Police, Kroepsch was driving east on Mt. Vernon street, while Bortone was headed south on Highland avenue. Both cars were disabled and the Pontiac badly wrecked.

Bortone was removed from his car by the Police and taken into the nearby office of Dr. Robert L. Emery, who treated him for contusions above the right ear and a concussion, taking him home after treatment.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

An unusually interesting meeting was held by the Women's Republican Club on Wednesday afternoon. The Legislation chairman Mrs. Warren C. Whitman presented a very worth while group of facts on current legislation. Mrs. Philip Woodward gave a short talk on the Community Fund Drive—following which she told us of the interesting programs to be broadcast by the National Economy League, on Thursday evenings, at 7:30 over WNAC. The first one, which will be presented on Nov. 11, will give the speech of George Washington in refusing a proffered third term. A beautiful musical program was presented by Mrs. Eva Bowler, soprano, and Mr. John Hermann Loud, pianist.

Mr. Christian Herter, the speaker of the day, told us about his work with the Recess Committee, which spent the summer making a study of the expenditures of the State. When one realizes that out of the 425,000,-000 people in Massachusetts, 1,600,-000 are carried by the tax payer (this includes, of course, Federal, State and civic employees, as well as inmates of institutions, WPA workers and their families, and those totally unemployed) the great problem of relief becomes just that—a great problem. The only chance of giving work to those people out of work is by having those at work create opportunities for more work—which solution cannot be gained because of the undistributed profits tax.

At the conclusion of the meeting doughnuts and cider were served by the Social chairman Mrs. Alfred W. Drew and her committee, giving the members an opportunity to discuss the many interesting data presented in Mr. Herter's splendid talk.

G-MAN AT WEDNESDAY NIGHT CLUB

First Congregational Church, Nov. 10

A genuine, real honest-to-goodness G-Man will be the guest of the Wednesday Night Club of the First Congregational Church at its regular monthly meeting to be held in the parish house next Wednesday evening at 6:30 p. m. He will be no fictitious movie or magazine character of ephemeral substance, but a worthy representative of the highest traditions of the service—Mr. E. A. Soucy, Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, United States Department of Justice. Mr. Soucy will speak on "The Work and Functions of the Federal Bureau of Investigation." This will include not only a discussion of the selection and training of personnel, the fingerprinting and identification of criminals and noncriminals, but also the latest methods of scientific crime detection illustrated by actual cases. The G-Men have become probably the most powerful factor in our country in the suppression of organized crime and extreme lawlessness. Their personnel consists almost entirely of recently graduated college men and their exploits in the extermination of America's public enemies have won them the admiration and gratitude of law abiding citizens throughout the world. The warning has been sent to Club members that those not attending the meeting will be suspected of harboring machine guns in their homes. A large attendance is anticipated.

There will also be a special musical program by Mr. Fred Housen, a senior in our high school. He is a talented accordian player, and has been enthusiastically received by many local audiences.

WINCHESTER AT WELLESLEY ARMISTICE DAY

Winchester High plays a non-league football game with Wellesley High at Wellesley on Armistice Day, commencing at 2 o'clock, there being no game the following Saturday.

Last year a strong Wellesley team defeated a crippled Winchester eleven, 16—0, handing the locals one of their worst defeats in several seasons. Naturally the locals haven't forgotten that trimming and in the starting lineup the holiday, will be a number of players who opposed the victorious Scarlet a year ago.

Wellesley is not nearly so strong this season as last and Winchester's chances for complete revenge are very bright. Coach McNamara at Wellesley teaches the double wingback razzle-dazzle used so successfully against the locals this year by Marblehead. He lacks the veteran players to make this sort of offense go against a rugged and experienced club like Winchester, and the locals shouldn't have much trouble in winning with plenty to spare.

POLICE DETAIL FOR PARADE IN WOBURN

A police detail, headed by Lieut. Edward W. O'Connell and including Sergts. Charles J. Harrold and Joseph Derro, and Patrolmen James E. Farrell, John F. Hogan, John E. Hanlon, Henry P. Dempsey, John J. Murray, Clarence E. Dunbury, Joseph L. Quigley and Winthrop A. Palmer, is being sent to Woburn Sunday for the big Home Coming Parade in honor of Woburn's new Legion National Commander "Dannie" Doherty. The local Police are to report to Chief Charles McCauley at Woburn at 1 o'clock.

Sunday's parade is reported to be the best to be held in this vicinity for years, and many from this town are planning to attend. Winchester Post, 97, A. L., with its Colors and crack prize winning brass band is to be in line. The parade is to start promptly at 2 o'clock at the corner of Fowle and Main streets, proceeding along Main street to Montvale avenue, to Bow street, to Salem street, to Main street and thence to the Common in Woburn Square.

OUTSTANDING EXHIBIT

Art Association Showing Paintings by Robert Strong Woodward

A private view of the paintings of Robert Strong Woodward, for members of the Winchester Art Association, was held last Sunday afternoon in the art gallery of the Public Library, opening the Association's current season. Mr. Charles Hadley Watkins, president of the Association, greeted members and their guests, and tea was served with Mrs. Anthony Kelley pouring.

There has been no finer exhibit under the auspices of the Association than that of Mr. Woodward. Not only does he paint in masterly fashion, but his subjects, chosen from the picturesque New England countryside, have a universal appeal. He has, first of all what many present-day artists seem to lack, the ability to draw well, the detail in his pictures being remarkable without in the least detracting from the general effect of the subjects. The delicate tracery of his trees, his grasp of perspective, the depth and haze of his skylines and his clear sense of color values all show the mastery of the true artist and craftsman.

In Mr. Woodward's exhibit are two beautiful groups of trees, one warm with the fresh greens of spring, and the other ablaze with the reds and orange of fall. There is "Inspiration," a magnificent panorama of hills and sky; "Mr. Franklin's House," a colorful little cabin in a beautiful setting of trees and rocks; "Mrs. Keach's Front Porch," a general favorite, done in soft olive greens with a wealth of homely appeal in its detail; and "June Corn," a large canvas showing sprouting corn in long rows with farm buildings in the background.

This painting was sold before it was hung in the library, and another, "Maple Flame," is having its first showing at any exhibition here. The writer's favorite is the appealing "New England Autumn," showing a rambling old gray house and out buildings against a clear blue sky with a striking yellow tree to the right and heavily laden apple trees in the left foreground. Two beautiful studies in gray are "Busy Sugaring" and "Four Maple Trees in March."

"Onto the Winter Porch" is an arresting bit of work and actually conveys the impression of looking out through small glass panes onto a wintry landscape. Seldom will you see a more unusual picture than "The Old House and Young Tree," which presents a striking example of the artistic in the commonplace.

All lovers of art are urged to see this fine exhibition, and those who are not members are invited to join the Art Association and aid in bringing other worth-while exhibits to Winchester.

MISS ALICE SHOVELTON

After a brief illness in Madison, Conn., Miss Alice Shovelton, esteemed teacher for many years, died on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 30.

Miss Shovelton was born in Leigh, Lancashire, England in 1861 but came to America at an early age. Her girlhood was spent in New England and she was graduated from the Framingham Normal School, with high honors. Always keenly interested in matters of broad humanity, Miss Shovelton found her sphere of greatest service in the field of teaching, bringing to it rare attributes of mind, understanding and character. She taught in both the North and South, but her career reached its finest fulfillment in private school work, where her experience and enthusiasm made her invaluable.

With Miss Amy S. Bridgman, her friend and companion of many years, she acted as associate principal of the Hillbrow School in Newton until the time of her retirement, giving specialized instruction fo a select group of students. Upon her retirement in 1922 she spent a year abroad then came to Winchester to make her home.

Miss Shovelton had a rarely observant and analytical mind. She was an ardent traveller, an omnivorous reader, and an enthusiastic follower of world affairs, particularly such as concerned the cause of human advancement.

She was a member of the 20th Century Club, and of the League of Women voters, the. Fortnightly, and the Church of Epiphany in Winchester.

Nearly five years ago she lost her sight, but even under such a handicap her valiant spirit carried on, and up to the time of her death she preserved, unimpaired, her interest in life, her sympathies, her contacts, even her activities.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at the Church of the Epiphany. Through special courtesy and concession on the part of the Rector, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, the strict ritual of the church was not followed, and the participatiin of Rev. Howard J. Chidley added to the impressive beauty of an unusual service.

AN APPRECIATION

The Winchester Fortnightly, through its President, Mrs. Robert A. Reynolds, and its General Chairman, Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini, desires to express its deep and sincere appreciation to the many good friends of Fortnightly for their generous contributions of talent, time, costumes and other donations, which made the Historical Pageant and Charity Ball such an outstanding success, socially as well as financially. It is this splendid feeling of friendship and co-operation between the many different organizations which makes Winchester one of the finest places on earth in which to live.

COMFORT—IRELAND

The marriage of Miss Dorothy L. Ireland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joel P. Ireland of Wilmington, to Robert Freeman Comfort, son of Mrs. Edward Woolston Comfort and the late Mr. Comfort of Highland avenue, took place on Monday evening Oct. 25, at 8 o'clock in the Wilmington Methodist Episcopal Church, which was attractively decorated with white pom-poms, white chrysanthemums, ferns and evergreen.

The pastor, Rev. G. B. Seaboyer, performed the ceremony, and the music for the entrance of the bridal party was played on the organ by Mrs. H. B. Emery. Just preceeding the ceremony Mrs. Wilbur Stavely, soprano, sang De Koven's "O Promise Me."

Miss Ireland, wearing a white satin gown and carrying a shower bouquet of valley lilies and white roses, was given in marriage by her father. She was attended by her sister, Miss Marjorie M. Ireland of Wilmington, who wore rust colored velvet and carried a bouquet of talisman roses. Two little flower girls, Carol Hadley of Wilmington and Judith Hamblin of Worcester, in attractive harmonizing frocks, carried old fashioned bouquets of roses and vari-colored pom-poms.

Mr. Comfort had for his best man Robert E. Sanborn of Winchester and the corps of ushers included Charles I. Smith of Somerville, Bruce Hamblin of Worcester, Dr. Frederick Sanborn of Winchester and David B. Wilson of Wilmington.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors, with the parents of the bride, the bridegroom's mother and the bridal attendants assisting in the receiving. Upon their return from a wedding trip through Vermont and to the Great Lakes and Canada, Mr. Comfort and his bride are to make their home in Winchester at 185 Highland avenue, The bride is a graduate of Boston University and has been associated with the advertising department of the Denison Manufacturing Company at Framingham. Mr. Comfort is a graduate of Huntington Academy and Tufts College. He is a member of the Gamma Eta Kappa fraternity and is associated with the Boston banking house of Paine, Webber & Company.

DeMINICO—DeMATTEO

A wedding of Winchester interest took place in St. Leonard's Church, Boston, following the 11 o'clock mass on Sunday morning, Oct. 31, when Miss Mary DeMatteo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeMatteo of North street, Boston, became the bride of Carmine DMinico, son of Mrs. Marion DeMinico of Florence street. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Fr. Roger Imperiale.

Miss DeMatteo was given in marriage by her father, and had for her honor maid her sister, Miss Lucille DeMatteo. Another sister, Miss Josephine DeMatteo, was a bridesmaid. with Miss Angie DeMinico, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Frances Giaimo and Miss Constance Calabruso. The small ring bearer was Marie Interante.

The bride wore a colonial style gown of ivory satin with a long train and a tulle veil falling from a simple cap of lace. Her flowers were bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The honor maid wore a gown of casino blue taffeta with matching hat and slippers, and carried a bouquet of pale yellow chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids were gowned alike in rust taffeta with hats and slippers to match, and carried bronze chrysanthemums. The ring bearer wore a white taffeta frock and matching poke bonnet.

Mr. DeMinico had for his best man Anthony Chefalo of this town, and the corps of ushers at the church included Frank DeMinico, brother of the bridegroom, two brothers of the bride, Cyrus DeMatteo and Charles DeMatteo, and Daniel Mistretta of this town. At the large reception which was held at the Ritz Plaza in Boston this group was augmented by Nicholas LaFauci, Anthony Freni, Anthony DeMatteo, brother of the bride, and Joseph Gattozze. More than 500 guests attended the reception and wedding breakfast.

Upon their return from a wedding journey through the South Mr. DeMinico and his bride are to make their home in Winchester on Florence street.

HEADS MIDDLESEX TEACHERS

Principal Wade L. Grindle of the Winchester High School was on last Friday honored with the presidency of the Middlesex County Teachers' Association, the election taking place at the annual convention of the organization in Boston. The association has a membership of about 6000 teachers.

Mr. Grindle's election is his second in recent years, he having previously been chosen a member of the executive board of the Massachusetts Teachers' Federation.

A DAY OF PRAYER

For several years it has been the custom in the Episcopal Church to set aside Armistice Day, Nov. 11, as a day of prayer for peace and justice among the nations. In the Church of the Epiphany there will be a service of Holy Communion at 9:30 in the morning, and from that time until 4 p. m., members of the parish will come to the church for a short period of prayer and meditation.

STORES TO CLOSE

President George H. Lochman of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce announced this morning that local stores will be closed on Armistice Day, Nov. 11.

CAMPBELL—HATCH

At a candle light service in the Church of the Epiphany last Saturday evening, Oct. 30, Miss Sylvia Collamore Hatch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Hatch of Cabot street, was married to Cortland Ryder Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse S. Campbell of Ridgefield road. The rector of the church, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, performed the marriage ceremony, assisted by Rev. William S. Packer of Winchester. Just preceeding the entrance of the bridal party, five choir-boys from St. Paul's Church in Bedham sang, "Ave Maria."

Miss Hatch was given in marriage by her father and had for her honor attendant Miss Esther Knox of Portland, Me. Bridesmaids were Miss Priscilla Guild, Miss Eleanor Lampee, Miss Janet Bradlee and Miss Ruth Aseltine, all of Winchester.

Kenneth Campbell of Winchester and New York City was his brother's best man, and the corps of ushers included Hubert N. Bernard, Herbert Ross, both of Winchester; Gordon Ellis of West Medford and Victor Petou of Hanover.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin with a long tulle veil, bound with satin and arranged with a satin crescent, surmounted with a shoulder veil that shaded her face as she approached the altar. Her flowers were bride's roses in a shower bouquet.

The honor maid wore raisin rose satin with a Juliet cap and matching veil and carried talisman roses. The bridesmaids were gowned alike in deep turquoise blue, and like the honor maid, wore Juliet caps with veils to match. Their flowers were roses in shades of pink.

At the immediate conclusion of the service while the bride and bridegroom knelt before the altar, the choir-boys sang one verse of the Canadian, "O Perfect Love," followed by a "Choral Amen." As she left the altar on the arm on the bridegroom, the bride's short veil was lifted to leave her face exposed.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, and late Wednesday afternoon Mr. Campbell and his bride sailed for a honeymoon in Nassau and Havana.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and attended the Chamberlain and Fay Schools in Boston. Mr. Campbell prepared for college at Huntington School and Chauncy Hall in Boston and attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Friday evening, preceding the marriage Miss Hatch gave a dinner for her bridal party at the Winchester Country Club, covers being laid for 26.

McCORMACK—FOLEY

Miss Dorothy Ida Foley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Foley of Franklin street, Woburn, and John Francis McCormack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCormack of Winchester place, were married Saturday afternoon, Oct. 30, at 4 o'clock in St. Charles Church, Woburn, by the pastor, Rev. Fr. Charles P. Heaney.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. James Doherty, organist, and the bridal party proceeded to the altar upon a white runner which covered the center aisle of the church. The entrance to the altar was banked with palms and the pews reserved for members of the immediate families were tied with white ribbons and decorated with carnations.

Miss Foley was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Foley of Woburn. The bride wore a princess style gown of white satin with a peacock train of Alencon lace. Her long tulle veil, arranged with a coronet of pearls and orange blossoms, was caught with valley lilies, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and sweet peas. The honor maid wore a gown of turquoise blue pussy-willow satin, trimmed with American Beauty velvet. With her matching turban she wore a short veil of American Beauty tulle and her flowers were American Beauty roses.

Thomas McCormack of this town was his brother's best man, and two more brothers of the bridegroom, Fred McCormack and George McCormack, both of Winchester, were ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, who assisted in receiving with the parents of the bridegroom. The house was attractively decorated with autumn flowers.

Upon their return from a wedding journey to Virginia, Mr. McCormack and his bride are to make their home at 86 Mall street in Lynn, where the bridegroom is associated as foreman with the Agoos Leather Company. Mrs. McCormack is a graduate of Woburn High School and Mr. McCormack, of the Winchester schools.

TO RECEIVE PURPLE HEART

Winchester friends of Mrs. Warren C. Whitman of Prospect street will be interested to learn that her father Mr. Oran J. Randlett of Lawrence, a Grand Army Veteran, has received notice from the War Department that he has been awarded the decoration of the Purple Heart, founded by General George Washington and given to soldiers wounded while performing distinguished service on the field of battle

Mr. Randlett served as an officer in the Union Army during the Civil War and was three times wounded, once severely. He was stationed on duty in Ford's Theatre, Washington, the night President Abraham Lincoln was shot, the great statesman being carried directly by him as he was taken from the building.

Mr. Randlett passed his 94th milestone on April 13, and is the only surviving G. A. R. Veteran in Lawrence.

FETED ON 75TH BIRTHDAY

Veteran Grain Merchant Honored by Associates

Mr. Eugene MacDonald of 92 Bacon street, veteran Boston grain merchant who has been in business in that city since 1877, was feted Monday noontime at a dinner in the Exchage Club, given by a delegation of fellow members of the Boston Grain & Flour Exchange upon the occasion of his 75th birthday.

Mr. MacDonald, a native of Boston, went directly from Boston Latin School to learn the grain business, entering the employ of Goodwin, Locke & Co., afterward H. B. Goodwin & Co., at 15 India street, located where the Insurance Building now stands. At that address he was for 10 years associated with Mr. Bernard J. Rothwell, now prominently identified with the grain industry as president of the Bay State Flour Mills of Winona, Minn., and the Lawrenceburg Roller Mills of Lawrenceburg, Ind.

Those were the days when State street, the financial center of Boston, was lined with narrow two and one-half story brick and stone buildings, when the postoffice was located at 53 State street, the site of the present Boston Stock Exchange, when horse cars plied between Boston and suburban points and the city's select hotels were the Revere House in Bowdoin Square, the Tremont House at the corner of Beacon and Tremont streets and the St. James Hotel on East Newton street between Washington and St. James streets. The last named, facing Franklin Square later became the home of the New England Conservatory of Music and is now the Franklin Square House. The aristocratic "Back Bay" was just being rescued from the sea.

Office buildings of that era were hoisted by elevators and there were neither electric lights, telephones nor typewriters.

In 1887 Mr. MacDonald founded his own firm under the name of Eugene MacDonald, which became the A. S. MacDonald Co. when his son, Mr. Alexander S. MacDonald of this town, became associated with him in the business.

The firm's offices are on Milk street in the Grain & Flour Exchange, and for 60 years the elder MacDonald has been in business in that vicinity, being widely and favorably known.

It was as an expression of the esteem in which he is held by his associates that the dinner was held in his honor on Monday, and it is of interest that Mr. MacDonald's old associate and long time friend, Mr. Rothwell, was present to reminisce most delightfully upon the old days "on 'Change." A family birthday party was held Monday evening at the home of Mr. MacDonald's son on Ravenscroft road.

Mr. MacDonald and his wife, the former Ida Sherlin of Portland, Me., came to Winchester in 1912, and have since made their home here. He is still actively engaged in business, going to Boston daily.

WINCHESTER TAX PAYERS' ASSOCIATION

Mr. F. M. Gunby was elected president of the Winchester Taxpayers' Association at the first fall meeting of the directors held Tuesday evening at the Library. Mrs. T. W. Conlon and Mr. Charles Y. Wadsworth were elected vice presidents, and Messrs. Gunby and James Nowell, former president, were chosen to represent the local association at the December meeting of the Massachusetts Federation of Tax Payers' Associations.

The remaining officers of the association, who were chosen hy the members at the last annual meeting, are Mr. Charles Gallagher, treasurer; Mr. Thad Smith, clerk; and the following directors: Mrs. T. W. Conlon, Mrs. A. F. Woodside, Miss A. Natalie Jewett, and Messrs. Ralph H. Bonnell, H. L. Bennett, William Ferguson, F. M. Gunby, Charles H. Gallagher, J. A. Laraway, Harrison F. Lyman, William F. Morton, James Nowell, Joseph J. Tansey and Charles Wadsworth.

WINCHESTER AT LEXINGTON

Winchester High goes to Lexington tomorrow afternoon to engage the Minuteboys in the final football game of its Middlesex League series. Regardless of the outcome the locals are in the championship money, for if beaten Winchester will still tie for the title in the event Belmont wins its remaining game.

A win will give Winchester undisputed possession of the old gonfalon, and it is hard to figure how Lexington can stop the locals. The Minutemen were easily beaten by Maynard 19—6 and Winchester had no trouble taking Maynard, 19—0. Even the danger of depending upon comparative scores seems hardly sufficient to prevent predicting a local victory.

The kickoff is at 2 o'clock and it is likely that a big delegation of rooters will accompany the Winchester team to the game which will really decide the league championship for 1937.

HIGH WIND OVER WEEK-END

Winchester experienced a wind of gale proportions Saturday afternoon, and again on Sunday the wind was at times unusually heavy. Trees suffered more or less around town, one tree being blown down on Hillside avenue so as to block the road.

It is reported that the flagpole at Boy Scout headquarters at the entrance to Middlesex Fells was blown down and Sunday afternoon Custodian Robert Eason noticed that two long lengths of copper ridgepole had been blown loose from the roof of the library building.

The ridge pole was hanging in such a way as to be dangerous, and after an unsuccessful attempt to remove it himself, Mr. Eason notified Fire headquarters where Ladder 1, in charge of Lieut. Ray Hanscom, was sent to the scene.

Firemen Everett Kimball, Walter Carroll, Frank Amico and Callman John Pearson raised a 55 foot ladder to reach the roof of the library and lowered the ridgepole to the ground. Repairmen made good the damage Monday.

Meeting

Next Tuesday, Nov. 9 will be donation day at the regular meeting and all members are urged to attend and bring any articles they wish to donate to the miscellaneous table at the County Fair, Nov. 16, at the Copley Plaza. Mrs. DeMorris will also appreciate small gifts for her grab bag and any wrappings or ribbons which may be used to make the grabs attractive. There will be sewing and tea by the hostesses. As the sorting and arranging of donations always is most interesting the program will be dispensed with for this meeting.

Rummage Sale

The rummage sale conducted by Miss Mary A. Lyons in Lyceum Hall on Friday will remain open until 6 p. m.

Supper Dance

Many Winchester people have made table reservations for the supper dance on Friday evening at the Copley Plaza. Among those entertaining groups are Mrs. James A. Gaffney, Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini, Mrs. M. H. Hintlian, Mrs. Philip O'Rourke of Winchester and several groups from Medford, Woburn and Arlington.

ANOTHER JOB FOR THE POLICE

Last Saturday evening shortly before 10 o'clock Herbert W. Cutter of 35 Woburn street, Wilmington, came to Headquarters reporting that his Ford sedan, while headed north on Cambridge street and turning left into Church street had been in collision with another machine, the driver of which had failed to stop after the accident.

The number of the second machine was given the Police who found that the owner was a Somerville man. The Somerville Police were notified to have the owner get in touch with local Headquarters, and at 11:35 he phoned, stating that he had driven his car through Winchester that night but had no accident of which he was aware.

As it was inconvenient for the car owner to come to Headquarters with his machine, Sergt. Joseph Derro and Patrolman John Hanlon went to his home to examine his car for signs of an accident. They returned with the report that it was impossible to determine whether his machine, a 1928 Reo, had collided with Cutter's car. It was all in a night's work for the Police and Hallowe'en night at that!

UNUSUAL ACCIDENT

An unusual automobile accident was reported to the Police last Saturday shortly after noontime when a Ford sedan was disabled by running onto a big beam which fell from a truck on Cambridge street.

According to the Police the Ford was being driven south on Cambridge street near Arlington street by W. Ernest Lutz of 20 Adams street, Bangor, Me. The truck was headed north on Cambridge street and was owned and driven by Edward H. Zannoni of 38 Vermont avenue, Dracut.

As the truck swerved to make a turn in the road a big beam, 10 by 12 inches and 14 feet in length, fell from it into the path of Lutz's sedan, which struck it, damaging two wheels and both the front and rear ends. Lutz was uninjured, but his car was disabled and traffic was tied up for about half an hour until the machine could be towed to the Central Garage and the big beam removed from the road.

YOUTH INJURED AT FOOTBALL GAME

Peter Tomyle, 16, of 202 Main street, Maynard, while at the new athletic field on the Shore road for the Winchester-Maynard football game last Saturday afternoon, slipped while running on the easterly side of the field and fell, breaking his left wrist.

He and a friend were taken by Police Chief William H. Rogers and Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy to the Winchester Hospital where the injured youth was attended by Milton J. Quinn.

HALLOWE'EN VERY QUIET

Little Damage Reported No False Alarms

Winchester's observance of Hallowe'en was unusually quiet this year throughout the town. There were no false alarms of fire and little actual damage done by youthful mischiefmakers.

At 6:40 Box 37 was sounded for a slight fire at the home of Anthony Dattilo at 10 Florence street where a jack-o-lantern set fire to some curtains.

A 20 foot flagpole was taken from its place in front of a dwelling at the southerly end of Rangely and placed against a house on Central street, and on Lebanon street boys were reported damaging young trees. A trellis was torn down at a home on Stevens street and a pear thrown through a front window at a home on Crescent road.

A boy's bicycle was stolen from a yard on Myrtle street and street signs were broken at Nelson street and Eaton street. Soccer goal posts were uprooted on Manchester Field, and in this case the names of the boys responsible were secured. At a home on Euclid avenue the air was let out of the tires of an automobile.

Two small panes of glass were broken at Osborne & Nelson's mill on upper Main street, the boys responsible being apprehended by Patrolman John H. Boyle and taken to their homes.

The Police Department suffered one casualty as a windshield wiper on a cruising car was broken when the machine struck a clothesline stretched across Washington street near Winthrop street. Several garbage pails were reported left in front yards and some clothespoles were uprooted at a home on Oak street. A resident of Highland avenue reported a large real estate sign left at his home and another resident of the same street had a garbage pail and wheel-barrow awaiting an owner. A rubber doormat was stolen from a house on Sheffield road.

During the night Patrolman D. Irving Reardon discovered a fire in progress at the southerly end of Manchester Field and several boys were reported active with slingshots in the vicinity of Grayson road. Sergt. Charles J. Harrold rounded up the latter marksmen and turned them over to their parents.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

A group of friends of Betty Anne Elliott helped her celebrate Hallowe'en at her home on 40 Woodside road on Saturday evening.

The guests came in costume, varied gay and ingenious and spent a happy half hour before dinner, guessing each other's identity.

After supper, the evening was spent partly in dancing and playing the usual Hallowe'en games.

Miss Betty Anne was assisted by Miss Althea Perkins and Mr. Clifford MacDonald. Those present were:

WINCHESTER BOY ASSAULTED

A 14 year old boy living on Nelson street, reported to the Police that shortly after 1 o'clock Sunday morning, while walking home from Holland street toward his home around the northerly side of the new athletic field, he was set upon and beaten by a thick set man wearing dark clothing and a dark short hat. The man threatened him with what the youth thought was a revolver.

The boy cried out for help and the man fled in the direction of the railroad tracks. Patrolmen Clarence Dunbury and James Noonan with the youth's father scoured the entire district, but were unable to round up any one answering to the assailant's description.

The Annual roll call for the American Red Cross begins Thursday, Nov. 11. Since the last annual roll call, the Red Cross has handled relief and rehabilitation funds of over 25 millions of dollars in the greatest peace time disaster in 56 years.

Last year nearly 800,000 new members were added to the American Red Cross. Such an impetus of new members greatly enlarges the scope of humanitarian endeavor of the organization and gives added incentive to greater efforts and response this year.

During the floods of last spring, factories were turned into hospitals for relief. Over the door of one of the emergency rooms a caption read, "Efficiency is doing the right thing, in the right way, at the right time."

This Winchester is trying to do by having a well-organized roll call with public minded citizens giving their time and energy to enlist 1800 members in this town.

Another caption, over a supply closet, read, "Do the best you can where you are with what you have today." This also, we believe, represents the spirit of our townspeople. Every home should be enrolled as a member paying one dollar. This will be the best many can do. Many homes should be enrolled as sustaining members paying ten dollars or even more. Let us adopt as our campaign slogan, "Do the best you can where you are with what you have" and Winchester will again lead the cities and towns of Massachusetts.

Of every membership or contribution of one dollar or more only 56 cents is sent to the National Headquarters in Washington and the remaining money remains in Winchester for use in the various fields of endeavor Red Cross promotes.

Let us receive our roll call workers gladly and cooperate with them to the best of our ability.

POST HALLOWE'EN HOODLUMISM

Those who felt that Winchester came through its Hallowe'en with a minimum of destruction got something of a jolt Monday night when additional damage was done about town.

An epidemic of window smashing took place with glass being broken at the Socony Filling Station at the corner of Sheridan Circle and Main street and a large plate glass window being smashed at the store of Salvatore Marchesi on Swanton street. Another plate glass window was broken at the automobile repair shop on Main street occupied by Everett Hambly, and still another, at Lynch's Market on Swanton street. In the latter instance the rock that broke the window continued on into the store to break the top of a glass counter.

At 6:30 Monday evening Sergt. Charles J. Harrold picked up two house signs which had been ripped from dwellings and thrown into the street on Highland avenue near Fells road. A street sign was discovered broken at the corner of Bushcliff road and Walcott road. The roof was ripped from a child's sandbox on Lebanon street and the air let out of the tires of a car on White street, the windshield wiper being also broken. Two boys thought to be about 16 years of age were seen running away from the machine, but it was impossible to identify them.

MYSTIC SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The Mystic School grade meetings which are being held this year in the form of teas at which parents and teachers find an opportunity for an exchange of ideas and for the discussion of school affairs, have called forth a good attendance. The kindergarten meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Hart, with Mrs. Clinton Mason as chairman for refreshments. The hostess for the first grade meetinng was Mrs. Francis Millet, with Mrs. Dermot Townley-Tilson and Mrs. Winslow Nutter as co-chairmen for refreshments. Mrs. John Kingman opened her house for the second grade meeting, with Mrs. Clarence Luitweiler in charge of refreshments.

Both parents and teachers have enjoyed these informal meetings and look forward with pleasure to those which are scheduled for November and December.

Mrs. Terry is planning to have Chinese music, and a Chinese tea will be served. Small children will be taken care of in the kindergarten room. Do come to these meetings, not only to meet each other, but to listen to interesting programs.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE ON WASHINGTON STREET

Not far from the scene of a fatal accident a few weeks ago, Mrs. Martha M. Lucas of 189 Forest street was painfully injured Tuesday evening at 7:30 when she was struck and knocked down by an automobile while crossing Washington street near the intersection of Swanton and Washington streets.

Mrs. Lucas told the police that she got out of an automobile, driven by her husband, Mr. James Lucas, and parked on Washington street about 150 feet south of Swanton street. She was crossing from the easterly to the westerly side of the street and stopped to permit a north-bound machine to pass her. As she started forward again she was struck by a Dodge touring sedan, driven by Alfred D. Elliott of 5 Chesterford road, who was headed south.

Mr. Elliott and his brother, Sidney, of 136 Pond street picked Mrs. Lucas up and took her to the Winchester Hospital where she was treated by Dr. A. L. Maietta for abrassions and contusions about the body. She was permitted to go home after treatment. Mr. Elliott told the Police that he did not see Mrs. Lucas until his machine struck her.

WINTON CLUB

The November meeting of the Winton Club was held Monday, Nov. 1 at the home of Mrs. Robert S. Clark, 13 Sheffield road. In addition to the regular work of sewing for the hospital, the annual election of new members was held. The newly elected members are: Mrs. Robert S. Abbott, 75 Arlington street; Mrs. Lyndon Burnham, 72 Yale street; Mrs. Frederick E. Ritchie, 48 Wedgemere avenue; Mrs. Frank W. Rounds, 43 Central street.

SAFETY

There's been a hue and cry of late to get our shyster lawyers straight. We'd better let this problem lie. Our highway traffic toll is high—but, brother, it would shoot much higher if all our shysters would expire. Just graze a rash jay-walker's pants and he will call an ambulance, entrust the case to legal hands and strip you of your home and lands. Just let them use their own free will and accidents will soon be nil.

Preservation of Antiques—Grandmother's Bandbox

On Friday, Nov. 12, at 2:30 p. m., the Fortnightly Preservation of Antiques Group are sponsoring their third Grandmothers' Day. Special seats will be reserved for grandmothers and great-grandmothers and a reception held during the social hour. Fred B. Tuck of Kennebunk, Me., will lecture on Grandmother's Bandbox and exhibit many fine and interesting examples from his outstanding collection. American bandboxes date from the second quarter of the 19th century. In the days of the stage coach, riverboat, and early railroad travel, these bandboxes were the equivalent of the overnight bag of today. The wallpaper that decorated them depicted life as it was in the time when these boxes were made and used. Many were covered with pictures of American views and Sporting Prints.

Serving with the chairman, Mrs. Earle E. Andrews, are Mrs. John Maddocks, Mrs. Arthur Speedie and Mrs. Mary Russell. Hostesses for the afternoon include the club president, Mrs. Robert Reynolds, Mrs. Nathaniel Nichols, Mrs. William Priest, Mrs. Eugene MacDonald, Mrs. Herbert Ross, Mrs. William Bowe, Mrs. Mary Symmes and Mrs. F. L. Ripley.

The tea chairman is Mrs. Harold Partridge assisted by Mrs. Harris LeRoy, Mrs. Carl Zimmerman, Mrs. John Carruthers and Mrs. Stanley Barnes. Mrs. William Adriance is the custodian.

Members of the Fortnightly and guests are invited to exhibit.

WINCHESTER BLANKED MAYNARD

19—0 Win Ensures Locals at Least Tie for Title

Winchester High School's football juggernaut continued to ride rough-shod over Middlesex League opposition last Saturday afternoon, blanking Maynard High on the Shore road athletic field, 19—0. The win makes it impossible for the locals to get worse than a tie for the current Middlesex League title.

Maynard brought its usual scrappy team to Winchester but the visitors lacked the size of former years and did not appear as mature as previous Orange outfits. There was no time when Winchester was in any danger of losing the ball game, and but once when there appeared any possibility of a Maynard score. Downey was the visitors' only offensive threat and he was seldom able to go anywhere, though he showed enough even when bottled up to indicate his possibilities could he have been shaken loose. On the rushline the stocky Toivinen played a great game at guard with Nyholm also showing to advantage.

Winchester's "Gerry" Ficociello was again the deciding factor of the game, his bruising, tireless line bucking slowing Maynard down to a walk as the game progressed. Sharing honors were Paul "Dead-pan" Lentine, little "Tony" DeTeso and reserve halfback Peter Galuffo. The latter, replacing "Art" Johnson in the second half, twice scored on reverse plays with weaving driving runs, and late in the game prevented a Maynard score when he came from nowhere to knock the tiring D'Agata outside at the Winchester 5 yard line.

Once Lentine and once Ficociello cut down the flying Downey when it looked like he might be headed for a touchdown. In return Downey twice brought Ficociello down from behind with a clear field for a touchdown.

Winchester scored in the first few minutes of play. On an exchange of kicks with the strong wind D'Agata kicked across the goal line, and Winchester put the ball in play at its 20. Ficociello hit the line for six, and on the next play broke into the clear, cutting to his right to leg it 46 yards to the Maynard 28.

Graham and Ficociello picked up eight yards, and Johnson on a reverse was barely knocked outside at the Maynard five. On the next play Ficociello literally plowed his way across for the touchdown. His attempt to rush for the extra point was smothered.

There was no more scoring the first half, but early in the third quarter Graham paved the way for Winchester's second score when he made a corking 40 yard runback of a punt to the Maynard 25. Three tries at the line made a scant five yards, but on fourth down Galuffo reversed out to the left and outran the Maynard secondaries to score standing up. Pozerycki squarely blocked the attempt to convert from placement.

At the start of the final quarter the locals missed a fine scoring chance when Galuffo fumbled after a nice 12 yard gallop to the Maynard 10 when he was tossed high and hard.

Aided by the recovery of a punt Maynard advanced the ball to its 40, but a moment later Graham intercepted a pass and got back to the same stripe, Winchester starting again.

Graham picked up five and Ficociello smashed through for a first down at the 25. A line buck was piled up and a pass grounded, but Galuffo on a reverse to the left reached the 10, and on another reverse, this time to the right, weaved and drove over for the score. Ficociello kicked the goal at placement.

D'Agata ran Ficociello's kickoff back to the 30, and Winchester lost five for offside, its fifth offside penalty. "Dick" McCormack broke through to drop Cuttel for a two yard loss, but on the next play, one similar to that on which Fraser scored against Winchester three years ago, D'Agata broke off his own right tackle, cut back sharply to the right, and breaking away from the wingback in the clear raced to the Winchester five where he was knocked outside by the hurtling Galuffo. The tall Maynard boy was just too tired to beat Galuffo to the goal line.

The locals smothered the next attempt to advance the ball and the game ended. Winchester rushed for 12 first downs and 212 yards to six first downs and 141 yards for Maynard. The locals lost eight yards from scrimmage to 31 for Maynard and each team fumbled three times, Maynard recovering all its bobbles, one for a first down. The visitors completed one of two passes for six yards and Winchester completed three out of four for 32 yards. The locals lost 25 yards in five penalties. Following is the summary:

SPORT JOTTINGS

Winchester's Dave Fitts, co-captain and star end of the Bowdoin varsity eleven, had the satisfaction of making one of the touchdowns for his Polar Bears in their 19—7 defeat of Bates in the Maine state series last Saturday. Dave's club can now get no worse than a tie for the title.

Out at Wilbraham Academy "Frankie the Ref" Provinzano is again carrying on in brilliant fashion at halfback for the football team. Two more Winchester boys, big "Sonny" Horie and "Herbie" Wood are also playing in the line.

"Dottie" Bruno, last year's tennis captain at the High School, and now a freshman at Radcliffe, has laid aside her racquet for the time being and is playing on the forward line of the Radcliffe varsity Field Hockey team, quite a distinction for a first year girl.

Ward Albro, a freshman at Tufts, is running on the freshman cross country team, and last Saturday finished second in the three cornered freshman meet among Tufts, M. I. T. and Northeastern.

Winchester tennis enthusiasts will be interested to learn of the appointment of Miss Hilda Boehm, widely known Malden "twin," to the physical education staff at Pembroke, the women's college at Brown. Miss Helen Boehm is commencing her third year as a member of the physical education department at Wheaton. Both girls have taught tennis at Palmer street and have many friends in this town.

Jack Hanlon is back in the New Hampshire State lineup after being out of the game with a badly injured shoulder. The injury must have healed much faster than was at first expected.

Last year's high school coach, Wendell Mansfield, now with Springfield College, paid a flying visit to Winchester last Friday night en route to Manchester, N. H., to scout New Hampshire in its game with St. Anselm's. Springfield plays New Hampshire Nov. 13.

"Roddie" Elliott, former Winchester boy, playing in the Maine varsity backfield converted after one of his club's two touchdowns against Colby last Saturday.

Injuries to Schwotzer and Reardon at B. C. gave Winchester's all scholastic center "Andy" Lentine a chance to play guard for the Eagles against both Detroit U. and North Carolina State. In both games "Tentine" gave a good account of himself and especially in the mud against Detroit made several fine tackles behind the line. We saw several worse linemen in the B. C.-Temple game than the former Winchester captain. Andy will make the trip this week-end to Baltimore for the Western Maryland game.

They are saying lots of nice things about the defensive end play of "Eddie" O'Melia at Holy Cross this fall. The Winchester boy and former Keith Academy athlete is light for an end at Mt. St. James, but has yielded practically no yardage around his flank. They are comparing his play with that of the famous grand opera twins, Colucci and Cavalieri, which is praise indeed.

Assistant Coach "Ted" Bartlett gave "Charlie" Reeves a bit of a rap at the Maynard game for his failure to score at least once for Browne & Nichols the day previous. "Charlie" has been running wild in the Browne & Nichols backfield this fall. He'd pick up quite a few yards for this Winchester team if he were back in school.

From one business man to another: "Well—I'll see you in the Poor House."

Amidst the Hallowe'en destructivism there were several acts of vandalism that seem inexplicable. What satisfaction there is in destroying playground equipment we cannot imagine, but this and all other hoodlumism pales into insignificance beside the smearing of Winchester's Roll of Honor in front of the town hall. It would seem that the names of those who served Our Country during the World War are deserving of sufficient respect to have them inviolate even on Hallowe'en. As we have said such vandalism is inexplicable and a sad commentary upon the appreciation which the youth of the town seem to have for what is being done for them!

Discussion of the new traffic signal system in the center appears to be opening up, and after several weeks' try out, criticism has reared its head. Starting the ball rolling, the Rotary Club of Winchester held an informal discussion at its meeting on Thursday. This discussion brought forth one interesting fact—that the way to handle the center traffic and remove the congestion is to take it out of the square. The Star advocated this long ago. If the Kellaway Plan had been carried out following its presentation to the Town, much money and inconvenience would have been eliminated long ago. This plan is sound and economical, and will not destroy Winchester's natural beauty. If Winchester really wants to improve its traffic conditions, make it easier for its merchants to do business and stop the continuous spending of money on its center, the quicker it adopts and carries out the Kellaway Plan, the sooner it will realize on this investment.

Seventy-five guests were present to enjoy an excellent entertainment program which was followed by the serving of refreshments.

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

On Oct. 27, the education study group of the Winchester League of Women Voters, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Theodore Brown, 433 Main street, met at the Public Library to hear a most instructive talk by the Librarian, Miss Cora Quimby. Because Miss Quimby has been connected with the Public Library since 1888, she was able from 50 year's experience to give a detailed history of the growth of this valuable institution.

Miss Quimby told her audience that in May, 1848, after several influential citizens of South Woburn had met together at the office of a Dr. Youngman in Richardson's Building and had decided that a library was desirable, the Public Library, with a capital investment of $100 was established. First housed in Dr. Youngman's drug store, then in a milliner's shop with a later return to the drug store, the Library has grown through the years until in 1930 the Township of Winchester voted to erect a new Public Library building. Upon Dec. 5, 1931, the present Library was dedicated.

It seems strange, but is a fact, that this valuable educational institution has received but $7050 from its public spirited citizens in all the years of its progress.

In formulating a definition of a public library, Miss Quimby stated, "The Public Library is a great opportunity; a college without entrance fee or examination: a club without dues: a society of the best minds where no introduction is needed: the most democratic institution possible. It serves all purposes of civic life, industrial, social, religious and recreational. It is available every weekday. It assists the education of the young and completes that of the adult. It enables those lacking knowledge to become the equal of those more fortunate. It is truly American, presenting to the citizen and immigrant our history and the ideals of our government . . . It is the clearing house for ideas, and the great stimulant to independent research. The best citizens are those who use it most freely, and widen their horizon by looking into the past and the future. The world has entered upon a new era which demands both vision and knowledge, which is power. To read, to discuss, has become a duty. Works of the importance are constantly appearing, embodying opinions and theories which will influence the future of mankind."

In speaking of the future, Miss Quimby visioned the time when there will be money enough to buy all the books that anyone may ask for: also a contact with every home and citizen of Winchester, possibly a book automobile that will call at the homes of shut-ins, or in fact any home that might desire the service.

Needless to say, Miss Quimby's talk stirred in her listeners a surge of civic pride in the courage and perservance of these founders of the present Winchester Library. The members of the League came away from the meeting with a sincere desire to do everything possible to make Miss Quimby's dream of the future come true.

The second meeting of the committee on government and education of the Winchester League of Women Voters was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Theodore C. Browne, 433 Main street. Mrs. Theodore M. Atkinson, the leader of the group, introduced Miss P. Louise Jones, library advisor of the State Division of Public Libraries under the State Department of Education.

Miss Jones gave a most interesting and informative account of the work of her department and sketched some of the problems faced by libraries throughout the state. Her talk was followed by a lively discussion upon various phases of public library work in Winchester and in other Massachusetts towns of comparable size.

Next week the group will again meet at 433 Main street at 10 o'clock and will hear at that time, a talk by Miss Virginia R. Owen, librarian of the Winchester High School, upon her work in the Winchester schools.

On Nov. 17, Miss Elizabeth Storer who is a special teacher for reading disabilities in the Winchester School system, will speak upon the subject of remedial reading in the grade schools. Miss Storer is a graduate of Wellesley with special study at Boston University in reading disabilities. Anyone interested in this important educational subject, whether or not she is a member of the League will be welcome at the meetings.

OBSERVED HORACE MANN ANNIVERSARY

The 100th anniversary of the election of Horace Mann to the position of secretary of the Massachusetts Board of Education was duly acknowledged by the high school in an assembly Wednesday morning, Nov. 3, presented by six members from Mrs. Stacy's history classes.

Eleanor Greene, as chairman, presided over the meeting. The aim of the assembly, as stated by the chairman, was to try to impress upon each member of the student body the magnificense of being able to say to all the world that you have fulfilled your duty in life to aid humanity in whatever way possible.

Rita McGonigle started the ball rolling on "Horace Mann, the Father of Free Public Schools." Her speech presented the fact that he was no different from any other human being, but possessed those dynamic qualities of courage, perserverance, and the will-to-do which formed the backbone of those gentlemen who fought for and finally won American Independence.

Genieva Manning continued along the same line with "Further Contributions of Horace Mann Toward Educational Development." The student today will probably never realize what they owe to this great American who literally saved them from slavery under the old time Puritan ideas of education.

Peter Sibley presented yet another wonderful example of Horace Mann's determinaton in his speech, "Horace Mann at Yellow Springs." The significance of Yellow Springs lies in Antioch College in which Mann set up the first pattern of co-education, so common now throughout the country. It is doubtful that the female sex might still be restricted to the "domestic arts" if this experiment had not taken place.

Proof that Horace Mann was no different from anyone of us was stated in Gerry Ficociello's version of "Horace Mann, a Real Fellow." Although he loves to study and preferred it in his leisure hours to some form of physical recreation, he was still human and indulged in pranks that could hardly be classified as scholarly.

Frances Glidden closed the assembly by summing up the "Value of Anniversaries." The value of setting aside certain days in the year for commemorating some event is to refresh the minds of the American people with the greatness of the participants in these events which would otherwise be lost in obscurity. The great nations of the world were built up by the good contributed by such men as Horace Mann. The only way we can hope to express any gratitude is to enjoy to the utmost and be proud of the present day privileges to which he devoted his entire life.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

The Ladies' Friendly Society of the Unitarian Church will meet Tuesday, Nov. 9 at 2 p. m. Mrs. Herbert Arrowsmith will lead the discussion on the interesting subject, "Calling Old Programs." LIONS PARTY

Last Friday evening the Winchester Lions Club held a very successful Hallowe'en party with an attendance of about 125 guests at the Calumet Club. The hall was decorated with fall foliage and varied colored balloons with a special feature of a large bag overhead that released over 100 balloons when President Emery gave the signal.

A grand march was formed at 10 o'clock with President Bob Emery and Mrs. Emery at the lead and everyone had the spirit and joined in with the officers and members. A "Paul Jones" feature created a lot of fun and resulted in everyone in the party getting well acquainted. A four piece orchestra furnished good music and both modern and old time dances seemed to please all.

At 11 o'clock a two-by-two line was formed and as they marched by Bob Emery and Fred Clement the guests were rewarded with fancy hats and noise makers. This ended with a waltz which was very colorful and you might imagine, noisy. The guests were then served a light collation furnished by the club members and their wives. The party committee, Blenkhorn, Coakley and Pike were assisted by Drs. McManus and Maietta, also Fred Scholl. They deserve much credit for such a fine party and the manner in which they seemed to enjoy themselves no doubt recompensed them for their efforts. At the conclusion of the evening's festivities, great applause was forthcoming from the guests and many registered their eagerness for another party in the near future.

Other activities will be discussed at the meeting of the club next Monday noon and we may find ways and means to keep up interest and make the winter season, a busy one.

"Adam and Fallen Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday November 7.

The Golden Text is: "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing" (John 6:63).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For as many as are led by the Spirit, of God, they are the sons of God. . . . The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ" (Romans 8:14, 16-17).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "In Science man is the offspring of Spirit. The beautiful good, and pure reflect his ancestry. His origin is not like that of mortals, in brute instinct, nor does he pass through material conditions prior to reaching intelligence. Spirit is his primitive and ultimate source of being: God is his father, and Life is the law of his being" (p. 63).

PUBLIC OPENING ALL ELECTRIC HOMES

Mr. William J. L. Roop, well-known local realtor and builder, President of the New England Home Builders, Inc. of Malden, is announcing the public opening of moderately priced all-electric homes on the North Shore of Winter Pond, east of Cambridge street. These houses are the first of a group of Colonial design houses to be built on this beautiful site, by them.

Mr. Roop states that the Reynolds Specification plan which they are using in the construction of these modern houses to provide air conditioning, reflective insulation and steel-reinforced plastering, has added immeasurably to the durability and investment value of the structures. The home buying public is demanding these modern comforts and construction features, Mr. Roop states, and they like the single responsibility of one manufacturer for a group of coordinated products, as is made possible under the Reynolds Specification plan.

"Today," Mr. Roop goes on to say "people buying a home want walled-deen instead of skin-deep utility in their homes. They know and understand the fundamentals and requisites of sound, enduring construction and of modern comfort.

"And this buyer has a surprising comprehension of the importance or efficient insulation in side walls and roof construction if he is to keep comfortable winter and summer. "More and more," Mr. Roop concludes, "home buyers are realizing that air conditioning and insulation go hand-in-hand one supplementing the other for maximum comfort and real fuel economy."

ELITE BEAUTY SHOPPE, 0517. READING THEATRE

Five of radio's foremost stars are cast in leading roles in the gay musical comedy, "The Life of the Party," a melange of melody and entertainment coming to the Reading Theatre Sunday for three days.

These headliners of the ether lanes are Joe Penner, Harriet Hilliard, Parkyakarkus, Victor Moore and Helen Broderick. All have starred on transcontinental radio programs during the past year, and have been heard by countless millions of listeners.

Miss Hilliard plays the romantic lead opposite Gene Raymond in "The Life of the Party," and the others enact stellar comedy roles in this story of the romantic tribulations of a titled girl whose mother tries to marry her to a man with money.

Twenty-five million armed men of all nations, who began treading the road back after the Armistice was signed, have lived the adventures described in Erich Maria Remarque's novel, "The Road Back," which Universal produced as a film also to be shown at the Reading Theatre starting Sunday, Throughout the world, at the end of the war, there were four women to every man.

BETHANY NOTES

The following ladies were receiving congratulations Tuesday on the success of their luncheon: Mrs. Frederick Bartholomew, Mrs. Charles Bonnell, Mrs. Clarence Eddy, Mrs. Susan Foster, Mrs. George Hartshorn, Mrs. H. N. Josephson, Mrs. L. J. Higgins, Miss Abbie Potter and Mrs. Rony Snyder.

Not only was the luncheon "especially outstanding," but the "record-breaking" attendance afforded the committee much pleasure and satisfaction.

Among the guests were Mrs. Harvey of Brookline, Mrs. Chandler and Mrs. Earl Richardson, guests of Mrs. McLean, Mrs. Donald True, Mrs. F. E. O'Neil, Miss Mary Cullen and Mrs. Chester McElhiney.

While our president, Mrs. Higgins, insisted on working in the kitchen, although suffering with a few dislocated ribs, she did not feel equal to remaining to the meeting which followed, and Mrs. Ronald Richburg ably "carried on" for her. We are all hoping Mrs. Higgins' "knitting" progress will be speedy and that her discomfort will be of short duration.

A large number of ladies were present, and we were glad to note there were quite a few in attendance, who, had the weather been inclement would have been forced to stay at home.

Mrs. Fogg reported progress for the sewing committee; but stressed the need of more aprons for the sale of Nov. 12.

The flower committee sent flowers to Mr. Ward, while in the hospital and we were glad to hear that he has returned home and is rapidly recovering from his operation.

All present were glad to vote in Mrs. Thomas as a new member.

The new rubber runners on the kitchen floor are a great improvement and afforded the ladies much comfort while preparing the dinner today—it was a real dinner, not a luncheon, and Mrs. Eddy should receive the gratitude of all for her efforts in obtaining them so quickly.

When in need of new neckties, don't forget to see the wonderful line of beautiful ties being sold by the members of the Sunday School, who deserve your patronage.

The sale and supper is scheduled for Friday afternoon and evening. Be sure to remember the date, Nov. 12. This will be a wonderful chance to obtain those hand made gifts for Christmas gifts—you know Christmas is "Just around the Corner" and you won't have time to make them yourself. Bring the family to supper and save time getting one at home for them.

The Missionary Society is to sponsor the silver tea given at the home of Mrs. Edward Weber, Allen road, Thursday, Nov. 18. Members and friends should make a special effort to attend as Mrs. Weber is to give a very interesting talk on her trip to Switzerland during June and July. Those who go by bus should take a Medford bus and get off at Madison avenue as it is only a short walk up the hill to Allen road, 22 is the number.

We understand Miss Betty Kendrick was the busy chairman who planned the wonderful social for the Sunday School, in the form of a Hallowe'en party. It was very largely attended, quite a number coming in costume and all enjoyed a wonderful time. Congratulations, Betty. The decorations by Mr. Glen Potter should also receive favorable comment and if anyone is anxious to raise money in a hurry, that same gentleman should be consulted, as we understand he not only collected, in his unique way, not only funds enough to defray the expenses; but also has cash on hand for the next social in the latter part of November.

We are grateful to our pastor, Mr. Jones, for the beautiful vesper services he has made possible and feel it is beautiful at the end of day to slip into the church awhile, to pray, to listen to the soft tones of our organ, grand, reverently played by a loving hand, to gain new courage from the Pastor's prayer and leave refreshed by having been there.

The third grade children invited the members of the first and second grades to their room Tuesday, Oct. 26, to see their Indian Museum.

A pupil dressed in Indian costume met the visitors at the door and welcomed them. Other pupils explained the pueblo which the children made.

The visitors were interested in an Indian mother who climbed a ladder to enter the pueblo. She carried her papoose on her back and wore a clay bowl on her head.

Inside the pueblo were mats woven by the children, gaily decorated pottery made by the children and a fireplace of stones beneath the "smoke hole" with its realistic fire of red cellophane. From the rafters hung rugs, dry corn, beads, green peppers, and a papoose cradle with its papoose. The following articles were made by the children:

Canoe.
Totem Pole.
Bow and Arrow.
Baskets.
Cherokee Doll.
Tepee.
Small pouch for flint and steel.
Sioux war club.
Buffalo horn spoon.
Sioux pipe case embroidered with quills.
Beaded rawhide case.
Moccasins decorated with colored beads.

ARLINGTON GAS LIGHT COMPANY COOKING DEMONSTRATION

Over ninety women attended the second of a series of cooking classes sponsored by the Arlington Gas Light Company last Tuesday afternoon in the Fortnightly Club.

The class was conducted by Mrs. Hazel A. Cheever, Home Service Director of the Arlington Gas Light Company. The subject of this particular class was "Keep The Family Fit."

There was a marked interest shown in the presentation of this cooking school, as Mrs. Cheever pointed out by actual cooking demonstrations, the modern methods of gas cookery as compared with the old style cookery in the old gas ranges.

The appliances that were used on the stage were a fully automatic Magic Chef Gas Range, a fully automatic Glenwood Range, together with the silent Electrolux Gas Refrigerator.

The third class in this series of four will be held next Tuesday, Nov. 9. The subject of this class will be "Busy Day Menu."

The prize winners were:
J. M. Brine, 219 Washington street.
Mrs. E. H. Smith, 6 Francis circuit.

AGRICULTURAL YEARBOOK NOW READY

Representative Edith Norse Rogers announces that the 1937 issue of the Yearbook of Agriculture is now available for distribution. This year the book is much larger than usual, being of nearly 1,500 pages, and it covers an enormous and varied field, dealing with vegetables, fruits, flowers, grasses and legumes, goats, turkeys, furbearing animals, ducks, honeybees, and even a chapter on dogs. It represents the work of the committee on genetics and goes into the subject of scientific breeding in a detailed yet readable manner.

Mrs. Rogers has placed a copy in the Public Library, but will be glad to send the book to anyone who will write for it to her Washington office.

Winchester fellow says he needs no call mornings. He isn't that kind of a man. He is out of bed as soon as he smells the bacon in the pan.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

The collectors for the annual drive for funds canvassed Winchester on Thursday of this week. They met with a most encouraging enthusiasm, but it is too soon yet to know what amount has been received. In a drive of this size it is inevitable that some people will be missed by the collectors. It is quite inintentional, and it is hoped that all the individuals who are not contacted will send their contributions to Mrs. Daniel P. Morse, Jr., 316 Highland avenue, or just drop in at the Girl Scout Headquarters in the Lyceum Building.

Mrs. Morse, assisted by Mrs. John H. Joy and Mrs. Curtis W. Nash, had charge of a tea served at the Headquarters Office Thursday for all the workers on the drive on Thursday afternoon after the collections had been made.

Rev. George Hale Reed gave a talk to the Girl Scouts in the Unitarian Church last Sunday. His words held the girls spellbound. The occasion was "Scout Own," held always on the Sunday nearest Juliet Lowe's birthday, which happened to be Sunday, the 31st this year. Juliet Lowe was the founder of Girl Scouting in America.

Mrs. Earl Wood, assisted by Mrs. James O'Connor, Mrs. Michael Hintlian, Mrs. Thomas Harkins and Mr. Wm. Croughwell took the Catholic Girl Scouts to Arlington where they were joined at mass by the Arlington Commissioner and her girls in honor of "Scouts Own."

HALLOWE'EN PARTY AT HOME FOR AGED

On Monday evening a Hallowe'en Party was arranged by Miss Stott and Mrs. Orella Kimball and was much enjoyed at the Winchester Home on Mt. Vernon street by the members of the Home and guests. The entertainment was mostly provided by the family. Music, readings, jokes, etc. Mrs. Welsch of Cambridge street played two violin solos, Mrs. J. Frank Tuttle rendered piano selections, and a charming little miss of nine years, Naamah Harris, danced two cute dances in costume. These added much to the pleasure of the evening. The "working staff" of the Home caused much merriment by dressing up in fantastic costumes, and guessing "who was who" was in order as they were well disguised. Doughnuts, cider and candies were served. An excellent reading was given by Mrs. Orella Kimball and Miss Annie Stott presided as Mistress of Ceremonies.

The program follows:

Piano Selection ..... The Witches' Flight
Miss Stott and Mrs. Wilson
Quiz ..... Conducted by Miss Stott
Violin Selection ..... Spanish Dance
Mrs. George Welsch

"THE ARTS"—HENDRICK VAN LOON

Third in the Book Talks Sponsored by the Winchester Mt. Holyoke Club

To many of us the joy of reading means the opportunity of extending our experiences far beyond our ordinary circumstances. This fuller life with some of its interesting by-paths was made very real to the audience which heard Mrs. Bond review Hendrick Van Loon's masterpiece, "The Arts," on Tuesday last.

How could one man attempt a work of such scope? This questiin was adequately answered by the lecturer in her sketch of Van Loon's life, scholar, newspaper reporter, traveler, college professor, musician, all these Van Loon has been at different times. During some 30 years of assiduous research he has gathered the mass of information which is the backbone of this great survey of art. But it is much more than a survey for as Mrs. Bond so cleverly suggested by her apt selections, Van Loon has made his history a living personal book by his gossipy asides, his countless anecdotes, his mind portraits of men long dead.

Van Loon in this book indicates his belief that history can be more romantic than fiction. He has given a world wide panorama of the arts—painting, sculpture, music and the crafts which makes the reader keenly aware of how colorful and inspiring art can be for him and for every other man, woman and child.

At the next meeting Mrs. Bond will evaluate the work of Louis Bromfield, one of the most important figures among the younger generation of American authors. Mrs. Bond will give a criticism of Bromfield's latest success that unusual and highly entertaining novel, "The Rains Came." This meeting will be held at the Winchester Public Library at 10 a. m. this Nov. 16.

OBSERVATIONS

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Ann Page

This week we can enjoy a beef roast or steak dinner, for beef prices are lower than they have been for some time. Pork and veal prices are a little lower, too. In poultry, ducklings are low, roasting and frying chickens are moderate. Due to heavy storms this past week, the supply of fresh fish may be limited.

There are many inexpensive fruits and vegetables, notably grapefruit, oranges and grapes, carrots, spinach, parsnips, beets and pumpkins. Lettuce and other salad greens are plentiful and cheap.

Fresh eggs are scarce and high. Storgage eggs, however, are plentiful, of excellent quality and are moderately priced.

The following menus are planned to use foods in season:

Low Cost Dinner
Braised Spare Ribs with Sauerkraut
Mashed Potatoes Buttered Carrots
Bread and Butter
Apples Baked with Brown Sugar
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner
Roast Chuck of Beef with Gravy
Browned Potatoes Creamed Onions
Orange and Grapefruit Salad
Bread and Butter
Pumpkin Pie
Tea or Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner
Broiled Grapefruit Halves
Sirloin Steak with Mushrooms
Baked Potatoes Broccoli
Lettuce with Cheese Dressing
Rolls and Butter
Caramel Custard with Date Cookies
Tea or Coffee Milk

HEART TO HEART TALKS

The Bar of Mental Blinders

Because of prejudice many people never see the spiritual. Too many people prejudge others. Their minds already are made up. But such folk live in a world of total blindness. If we bring to the fountain a full pitcher, how can we expect to carry any fresh water away?

I believe it was John Newton who said that prejudiced people searching for Truth were trying to light a candle without first taking off the extinguisher. The Bible yields its treasures only to the ingenious. Deep things are hidden from the wise and prudent not because they are wise and prudent, but because their minds are closed.

Psychologists tell us that only once do we see a thing as it really is. The first picture is clear. But every subsequent impression is shaped and tinctured with our own preposessions.

Heaven lies about us in our infancy!
Shades of the prison house begin to close
Upon the growing boy.
But he beholds the light and whence it flows,
He sees it in his joy;
The youth, who daily farther from the east
Must travel, still is Nature's Priest,
And by the vision splendid
Is on his way attended;
At length the man perceives it die away,
And fade into the light of common day.

Eugene Bertram Willard

THIS WEEK'S GARDENING

By Alfred A. Fraser

House plants are more easily acclimated at this time of year. The usual glazed pots are best for plants.

Get out all the weeds before they seed themselves for next year.

Water plants like rhododendrons and laurel under trees well—because tree roots tend to rob them of the moisture they need for winter.

Mark late-starting garden plants now—like aconite, blue salvia and mallow so you'll know where they are next spring.

Cut off and burn dead peony leaves.

Fill boxes with soil in preparation for early spring seed sowing. It'll take only a few minutes now and save you heavy exertion on frozen ground next spring.

Cut off Gladioli and dahlia tops one foot above the ground, lift the bulbs, let them dry for a few days, clean them, and store in a cool, moist place for the winter.

Build your rock garden now for spring planting, so that soil will have a chance to settle.

Be sure your climbing roses and other wall plants are securely fastened.

We are now equipped to stamp billfolds and fountain pens with names or initials in either gold or silver leaf. The Winchester Star, 3 Church street, phone Win. 0029.

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE

Bing Crosby and Martha Raye in "Double or Nothing," plus Pat O'Brien, Joan Blondell and Margaret Lindsay in "Back in Circulation" is the double bill opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden today. "Double Or Nothing" presents Bing Crosby and Martha Raye in the star positions, with the support including Andy Devine, Mary Carlisle, William Frawley and Samuel Hinds. "Double or Nothing concerns a freak will that promises a million dollars if either Bing Crosby, Martha Raye, Andy Devine or William Frawley, finders of planted purses, can double $5,000 in 30 days. The songs are "The Moon Got In My Eyes," "All You Want To Do Is Dance" and "It's The Natural Thing To Do."Other specialty numbers include the famed comedy team the Calgary Brothers and the noted eccentric dance team of Amos and Arno.

"Back In Circulation" is a comedy-drama of newspaper life with Pat O'Brien cast as an editor, with Joan Blondell as his ace sob-sister. Margaret Lindsay, a former night club entertainer is accused of murdering her husband with poison. The film moves at a terrific pace with humorous twists to lighten the heavy drama.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Three members were absent from the meeting of Nov. 4, two of whom have already made up for their absences.

President Warren calls attention to the fact that since the two November holidays coincide with our regular meeting days, which therefore will be omitted, we have an unusual opportunity to achieve a perfect attendance record for the month of November. Absentees please take notice. It can be done.

Nick Fitzgerald, working on an out-of-town contract, exerted himself to make our attendance record perfect last week. Thanks, Nick! And we know that you too, "feel fine" about it.

Governor John MacGregor passes along this one on Ralph Redfern, Governor of District 193 and a former citizen of this town. Governor Ralph, lecturing about one of his trips through the Alps, eloquently declaimed, "As I stood there a great abyss was yawning before me." Whereupon a listening Rotarian interrupted "Pardon me, Gov. Ralph was that abyss yawning before you got there?"

And now the secretaries of the 197th District are "observing with pride" that 71 out of their total number of 73 submitted their September reports before the expiration of the time limit. "There is hope."

Rotary International stresses the importance of the individual club publication and exhorts to greater care and attention for this significant activity. We quote from news letter No. 9.

"The Rotary club publication serves or should serve so many useful purposes that it deserves the constant interest of the club officers to see that it is functioning properly. Being the club newspaper not only for its members but for others, it needs the careful preparation that is given to general publications. The club bulletin should cover adequately the news of the clubs programs, committee activities, board meetings, news about Rotary International, and events concerning the membership which help to promote better acquaintance and fellowship."

The editor of this bulletin recognizes that he is afflicted with many editorial shortcomings. He has, at times, solicited assistance from club members looking to the improvement of the bulletin and would welcome further aid. Largely through this weekly letter our citizens become acquainted with Rotary affairs and its progress in attaining its ideals. It is a large assignment for one man to perform this service so as to achieve best results: indeed it is a matter which deserves the support of all local Rotarians. In grateful appreciation of the assistance he has already received the editor hopes to receive even greater support than he has hitherto enjoyed. Thank you.

Raulph Bonnell delivered a most interesting address at the current meeting, having to do with the amazingly rapid growth and industrial significance of the motor car industry. At the conclusion of his address Ralph invited a discussion from the floor about the traffic signal system in Winchester center. And in doing so it was generally agreed that Ralph "started something" to adequately describe which quite exceeds the space limit available in this bulletin. Good work, Ralph and others.

Percentage of attendance Oct. 28—100 per cent.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"Lost Horizon," the famed Frank Capra production which cost over two million dollars to produce, is the extra-ordinary attraction opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. Starring Ronald Colman, and featuring Jane Wyatt, Edward Everett Horton, Margo, H. B. Warner, John Howard, Thomas Mitchell, Isabell Jewel and Sam Jaffe in the much discussed High Lama role, the picture is an adaption of James Hilton's fantastic story of mystic and forbidden Tibet. Frank Capra, the director of "Lost Horizon," spent over two years making this surprising picture. The fantastic Shangri-La set required 150 workmen two months to complete. It is the largest individual set ever to be built in Hollywood.

Ralph Bellamy, Betty Furness, Robert Armstrong and Raymond Walburn in "It Can't Last Forever" is the second attraction on the bill opening today. The story concerns Bellamy and Armstrong who try to make a master mind out of Raymond Walburn. Walburn has a habit of getting drunk at the wrong times with hilarious results.

LEGION OBSERVED ARMISTICE DAY

The annual observance of Armistice Day by Winchester Post, 97, American Legion, opened Wednesday evening with the usual pre-Armistice Day banquet at Post Headquarters commencing at 6:30.

A turkey dinner with all the fixin's was served by the Post's board of stewards, under the direction of Jack Moynihan, and was followed by an entertainment program put on by professional talent with Legionnaire "Ed" Carey of Natick as master of ceremonies. P. T. Foley and Martin Foley were in charge of the entertainment committee.

Armistice forenoon a detail of Legionnaires, led by Post Commander Stafford Rogers, escorted the Post and National Colors to the War Memorial on the High School grounds at the corner of Main street and the Parkway.

Commander Rogers placed a wreath upon the base of the memorial while the colors were dipped and the Legionnaires came to salute. Taps were blown by trumpeter Norman Clarke.

THANKSGIVING DANCE

PARISH PLAYERS IN FINE PRODUCTION OF "THE GHOST TRAIN"

The Parish players of the First Congregational Church opened their twelfth season last Friday evening in the "Little Theatre Beneath a Spire" with an outstanding performance of "The Ghost Train," a drama in three acts by Arnold Ridley, for which the cast was as follows:

Richard Winthrop.....Samuel M. Graves
Elsie Winthrop.....Barbara Burrows Chidley
Saul Hodkin.....Oscar W. Crowers
Charles Murdock.....William M. Higgins
Peggy Murdock.....Doris Louise Perry
Miss Bourne.....Dorothy M. Wilt
Teddie Deakin.....Eugene M. Pollard
Julia Price.....Ellouise T. Graves
Herbert Price.....F. Milne Blanchard
John Sterling.....Harlow Russell
Jackson.....Edward A. Bartlett

It is hard to avoid superlatives in reviewing "The Ghost Train." The play was so gripping, so charged with those cardinal human emotions, excitement, fear, humor, pity, relief that no one could see it and not be profoundly affected by it. Even those who did not like it had to admit its appeal, the sparkle of its lines, the cleverness with which the plot unfolded to its denouement and the author's skill in breaking the high tension of his emotional scenes with a humorous line or situation. Those who sat unmoved through last Friday's performance should consult psychiatrists. Analyses of their nervous systems would seem very much in order.

The entire action of the play takes place in the waiting-room of the railway station at Clear Vale Junction, on a branch line near Rockland, Me. The plot has to do with the adventures of a little group of travellers who are obliged to spend the night in the depot and who are subjected to the machinations of a group of smugglers who use the station as a place to unload their contraband which they run in on "The Ghost Train," a real enough train but one which people have been cleverly led to believe is a phantom proposition, a ghostly train lost years before in a wreck not far from the station. Superstition had it that any one looking upon the Ghost Train when it returned to the scene of its tragic ending would perish.

The smugglers had planned to unload at the station on the night the travellers were marooned there, and to frighten them away they staged, aided by a feminine accomplice, a very convincing show, which included dead men, ghostly walking, singing, and rapping, lights that appeared and disappeared and the thundering and screeching of the Ghost Train.

The final solution of the mystery and apprehending of the criminals by a detective from Scotland Yard, on the trail of the head of the smuggling ring and disguised as a playboy Englishman, left the audience wide-eyed and breathless.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

Have you one of the interesting town histories? An inquiry was made as to the number of histories on hand, with the thought in mind that some effort should be made to dispose of them for the benefit of the town and the edification of the newest as well as oldest inhabitants. Possibly some white collar worker would be interested to make arrangements with the history committee, of which Mr. Edgar J. Rich is chairman, with the idea of selling on commission.

Senator Harris S. Richardson and Representative William E. Ramsdell met with the Board for discussion of possible 1938 legislation to provide for the dredging of Upper Mystic Lake and the disposal of matter causing pollution of the Aberjona. Both gentlemen offered their services on this project whenever necessary and the Board will co-operate with them at any time.

The Board is taking steps to lessen the traffic hazard at the Cambridge street end of Everett avenue by posting directional signs and otherwise indicating traffic flow.

The functions of Highland avenue, Mt. Vernon street and Mystic Valley Parkway, and also Washington street and the Parkway are being studied for more definite traffic control.

OBSERVED 55TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Anderson of 348 Washington street had the distinction of observing on Armistice Day the 55th anniversary of their marriage in Sweden, Nov. 11, 1882. Only a quiet informal family party was held in honor of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson have been respected residents of Winchester for 45 years. They have two daughters, Mrs. Gustave Hakanson of Lincoln street and Mrs. Emma Barkman of Boston; a son, Mr. Andrew F. Anderson of Kenwin road and four grandchildren. The Star offers its congratulations.

WINCHESTER PARTICIPATED IN DOHERTY PARADE

Winchester Post, 97, American Legion, had a detachment of about 100 uniformed men, including its crack brass band, Post Colors and color guard, in the big welcome home parade held last Sunday in Woburn to honor the Legion National Commander-elect, "Dannie" Doherty.

Chester Kochs, giant drum-major, led the band, which was followed by Post Commander Stafford Rogers and Post Adjutant A. Allan Kimball. Senior Vice Commander Conrad Larson led the Legion detail and the color bearers were George Donaghey and Fred Baker. Russell Carroll and Harry Goodwin were the color guards.

The local detachment created a splendid impression and received a fine hand all along the route of the parade. Across the front rank of the Legionnaires was a large banner with the words Winchester Post, 97, a means of identification that was much appreciated by those watching the parade.

In recognition of the work done by Winchester Post in promoting the election of National Commander Doherty the committee in charge of his home coming parade asked the local Legionnaires to detail one of their members to serve on the parade general staff.

Commander Rogers appointed P. T. Foley, who was one of the original Doherty boosters in this district. Unfortunately a death in Mr. Foley's family forbade his serving upon the staff and his place was filled by former Comdr. John H. McCarthy.

A detail of Police under Lieut. Edward W. O'Connell assisted the Woburn officers in handling the big crowd which was estimated at 75,000 persons.

GAVE T-WHARF CARNIVAL PARTY

Miss Ruth Ann Merrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. Merrow of Glengarry, entertained a group of her friends last Saturday evening at a T-Wharf Carnival party at the apartment of Mr. William Hauk on T-Wharf.

The young people went by bus to the wharf, where amidst the unusual atmosphere the wharf provides they enjoyed a novel program of games and dancing, presided over by their host, who was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Merrow, Mrs. Merrow impersonating "Madame von Wedge Pond," celebrated pianist; and her husband acting as "Maitre de Hot Dawg!"

An especial and much appreciated feature of the party was the novel programs, prepared by Mr. Hauk, entitled the "Aberjona Edition of the Wharf-Rat."

Among Miss Merrow's guests were the Misses Frances Randall, Jean Plass, Nancy Newton, Betty Newman, Ruth Manning, Kay Wyman, Betty and Bunny Collins, Grace Croughwell and Miriam Nash; also Richard Merrow, Richard Swanson, David Burnham, Hartlyn Horie, Ted Burleigh, Allan Abbott, Whitelaw Wright, Gray Twombley, Philip Quinn, Emmons Brooks, Jack Downs, David Riley and Joseph Burton.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

A large truck laden with cement blocks spent several hours at the rear of Police Headquarters Armistice Day. The driver was stopped by the local police as he was proceeding through the center without a permit, and his machine was held until after 1 o'clock in the afternoon when the Sunday laws no longer applied.

Motorcycle Officer Winthrop Palmer picked up two Woburn boys whom he caught stealing tonic from a truck at the corner of Cambridge and Church streets. The boys were held at Headquarters until the arrival of their parents when they were lectured a bit by Chief Rogers and permitted to go. The tonic they took was recovered.

The sewing director at the Recreation Center will gladly receive donations of odd pieces of percales and cotton suitable for patchwork, bags, hot-pads, etc.

WINCHESTER SWAMPED WELLESLEY

Winchester High got complete revenge for its 16 to 0 defeat at the hands of Wellesley High last year when the locals swamped the college towners at Wellesley Armistice Day afternoon, 42—0. Wellesley could do nothing with Winchester, even when the local second and third stringers were in action.

THOMAS GEORGE RANTON

Thomas George Ranton, widely known Boston insurance man, died Wednesday morning, Nov. 10, at his home, 9 Stratford road, in his 63rd year.

Mr. Ranton was born in Boston July 8, 1875, son of William John, and Lucy Hillman (Churchill) Ranton. His father was a prominent boiler manufacturer and Mr. Ranton was of the fifth generation to engage in that line. As a boy he went with his family to New York, and after completing his education learned the boilermaking business at the Ranton Boiler Works in Syracuse, N. Y., founded by his grandfather. He was considered a national authority on the subject of boilers and was often consulted as an expert in legal cases involving them.

Thirty-five years ago Mr. Ranton joined the Fidelity Casualty Insurance Co. of New York, serving until recently as the firm's New England manager with headquarters in Boston. More recently he had been associated with the Boston insurance house of Gilmour & Rothery. He was widely and favorably known in insurance circles, his strong personality and bluff friendly manner winning for him the esteem of both his business associates and all with whom he came in contact.

Mr. Ranton was a Mason, a member of John Abbott Lodge of Somerville, of Coeur de Lion Commandery, Knights Templar; and of Aleppo Temple of the Mystic Shrine. He was a member of the Elks of the Engineers' Blue Room Club of Boston and was past president of the American Institute of Steam Boiler Inspectators. He came to Winchester ten years ago from West Somerville where he was a member of the Republican Club and the Thirteen Club. He was actively identified with the Crawford Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church, of which he was a steward of the Official Board.

On June 4, 1902, at Peterboro, Ont., Mr. Ranton married Caroline Rose Sutherland, who survives, with a daughter, Mrs. G. Lindrov Witham of this town, widely known pianist and director of several instrumental and choral organizations.

The funeral will be held on Saturday afternon at 2:30 o'clock at the late residence, with Rev. Henry L. Wriston, pastor of the College Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church of West Somerville officiating. Interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

"LITTLE MEN"

To Be Produced in Winchester by The Children's Theatre of New York

Once again the Fortnightly is sponsoring three presentations of The Children's Theatre of New York, as an educational treat for the children of Winchester. The first play, Louise M. Alcott's famous "Little Men" will be produced on Saturday at 3 o'clock, in the High School Auditorium. It is the story of the school for boys which Jo, the heroine of "Little Women" and her Professor-Husband conducted in their home, and presents a splendid picture of the teacher-pupil problem.

These fine, high type plays are the best kind of entertainment for school age and older children, and it is hoped that every mother will avail herself of this opportunity to introduce her children to the Clare Tree Major Children's Theatre, at this unusually low price. These are the same plays, same cast, same costume and same scenery as have been put on at the Repertory Theatre in Boston and New York, at regular ticket prices. The reason we are able to offer them at such low prices is that our Superintendent of Schools thinks so highly of the project that he is allowing us the use of the High School Auditorium without cost, and the members of the Fortnightly Dramatic Committee have done all the work necessary for their production.

Reserved seats and rush seats, while still available, may be secured from Mrs. S. M. Graves, Winchester 1791-M.

MRS. VIRGINIA E. KIDDER

Mrs. Virginia E. Kidder, widow of William F. Kidder, died Thursday morning, Nov. 11, at the home of her son, Everett F. Kidder, 17 Symmes road, after an illness of several weeks. She was in her 82nd year.

Mrs. Kidder was the daughter of Charles R. and Emily (Nowell) Temple. She was born in Webster, Me. and spent her early life in that state, living later for 20 years in Saugus before coming to Winchester two years ago. She leaves, besides Mr. Kidder, a daughter, Mrs. Emily M. Kidder of Lynn, five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at the home of her son with Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church, officiating. Interment will be at West Bowdoin, Me.

The annual Red Cross roll call is on. Volunteer workers will call on every home in Winchester that every family may have an opportunity to enroll in this great movement. Winchester needs at least 1800 members for this year. The local chapter work will require a large number of five and ten dollar gifts if it is to carry on its work for the coming year.

Of every membership of one dollar, 50 cents goes to the National Headquarters in Washington, and 50 cents remains for work within our own town. Of every contribution of one dollar or more only 50 cents goes to Washington, and the remaining money does work in our local chapter. If one gave a ten dollar contribution to the Winchester canvassers, or sent it through the mails to Mr. William E. Priest of the Winchester Savings Bank, the local chapter would have $9.50 for carrying on its local activities.

Some of the activities of our local chapter are, swimming and life saving instruction at Wedge Pond beach, classes in first aid both for homes and for highway first aid stations, knitting yarn and cloth for sewing are furnished workers to be used for the needy, Thanksgiving dinners (given out under the supervision of the Welfare Board), Gray Lady service which maintains a ward in the Bedford Veterans' Hospital for the mentally sick, and makes weekly visits there, and an active Junior Red Cross organization.

Winchester does not pay out a cent for overhead, such as maintaining of chapter headquarters, or the hiring of clerks or secretaries. All work is done by volunteer helpers, and every effort is made to make every dollar do its full share of helpful service.

Let every family make Red Cross one of its first claims this year.

INSPIRATIONAL PROPHECY

From Bill Russell, playing on the Dartmouth Junior Varsity, we get this one.

Last week as the team was leaving the Hotel Kenmore for their game with the Harvard J. V's, one of the members, seeing a bible on one of the bureau's, conceived the idea of getting divine inspiration, and at random opened the book.

The words which met his eye made the group speechless for a couple of minutes. This is what he read, "And ye shall fall before the sword and lay down before the slaughter."

However, Dartmouth won the game 20—0.

WEEK-END MOTOR ACCIDENTS

A slight accident involving a Ford sedan, driven by Charles P. McKenna of 25 Arthur street, and a Ford sedan, driven by Edward W. Kindred of 13 Main street, Woburn, took place last Saturday on upper Main street. The Kindred machine was slightly damaged but no one was injured.

Sunday morning at 10 o'clock a Ford coach, being driven south on Main street, lost its left rear wheel as it was going through the square. The wheel rolled along Main street and crashed through a window in the Tam-o-Shanter Shop in the Locatelli Building. Albert G. Elwell of 330 Winthrop street, Medford, was the operator of the machine which was owned by Everett Keene of Main street, Wilmington.

A Ford sedan driven by Theresa Tarricone of 259 Chestnut street, Wilmington, shortly before 12 o'clock last Sunday afternoon, in swerving to avoid a collision at the corner of Cambridge and Church streets with a Chevrolet coupe, driven by Edward F. Farmer of Boston road, Billerica, ran across the sidewalk on the easterly side of the road and through a hedge on the Ghirardini estate. The hedge was damaged, but no one was injured.

Sunday night at 11 o'clock a Ford roadster, driven by Antonio Lombard of 1 Holland street, while pulling away from the curb on upper Main street was in collision with an Oldsmobile sedan, owned by the Colonial Garage, Inc. of 1668 Massachusetts avenue, Lexington, and driven by Harry Bradshaw of 22 Wade avenue, Woburn. Both cars were damaged, but no one was injured.

While on duty Sunday night at 11:30, Patrolman Clarence Dunbury discovered a Ford roadster smashed against a tree on Dix street and abandoned. Investigation disclosed it to be the property of Dyson V. Steeves of 30 Massachusetts avenue, Medford, who told the authorities he had lost control of the machine, which had crashed into the tree where Officer Dunbury had found it. Steeves arranged to have the car towed away.

CAPTURED AFTER ANNOYING GIRLS

After a chase through Brooks woods last Sunday afternoon, Police Chief William H. Rogers and Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy took into custody a man who it is alleged had been annoying two Winchester girls whom he encountered at a wooded part of Grove street near the Medford line. Objecting to his overtures, the girls entered a nearby home and reported the matter to the Police.

At Headquarters the man gave his name and an address in Malden. He was identified by the two girls as the man who had annoyed them. Police say he is wanted in several suburban communities.

Arraigned in the District Court at Woburn Monday, the man, who is 29, was committed to Danvers for 30 days for observation before any further action is taken.

INTERESTING FRENCH COURSE

Commissioner of Education, James G. Reardon, announces that a course in conversational French is to be given in Winchester High School Friday afternoons from 3 to 4:15 o'clock by the Division of University Extension, State Department of Education, starting Nov. 12. It will be conducted by Miss Emily H. Chamberlain of the Division of University Extension, who not only holds a diploma from Columbia University, but took a Master's degree there after several months' study at the University of Paris.

The course, of eight lessons, will be adapted to the needs of the majority of the class. If a group of beginners or of those with an elementary knowledge of the language constitute the majority, the emphasis will be placed on the mastery of the sounds, as a foundation of a good accent; on the training of the ear, and finally on the forming of simple sentences and questions, as a beginning in conversation.

If the group has had much training in speaking French, the instruction will be more advanced in nature, with emphasis on attaining fluency of speech. Active participation in the work of the class will be expected of all members.

To those students who fulfill the requirements of the course, state certificates will be awarded by the Massachusetts Department of Education.

OUR MODERN AGE

By J. J. Doherty

BOASTFUL MAKES GOOD

A friend I had, of little brain, whose joy it was to race the train, and by the engineer be cursed because he made the crossing first. He used to boast—"I cover the ground" but one sad day his parts were found just as he said. . . . Nay, do not smile; he covered the ground—Yes, half a mile!

If you want to boast of having a truly modern home it must be modern in every way. A home is not truly modern if it contains an old fashioned bathroom and kitchen. Add new beauty, comfort, cleanliness, and convenience to your home by having the kitchen and bathroom modernized—completely and expertly by the Fells Plumbing & Heating Co., of 656 Main St. Consult them today and see how easily and economically this can be done.

This year's annual meeting will be held at Epiphany Parish hall on Wednesday, Nov. 17 at 2 p. m. There you may see the exhibit of articles contributed by the members of the Winchester Branch now numbering more than 200, under their 21 directors.

Welfare groups from all the churches, the Public Health, School and Visiting Nurses, eagerly anticipate the distribution of the new warm garments and house-hold linens which each year come through this source.

Mrs. Wilson, of our Town Welfare Department, will give us glimpses of her work among the needy families, and show how deeply the gifts from the Guild are appreciated.

WAS TO HAVE ASSISTED WITH WINDSOR'S U. S. TOUR

It is reported that Francis Getty, a former well known resident of this town, was to have charge with Charles E. Bedaux of the now cancelled trip to the United States of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor. His picture appeared on the front page of a leading daily Boston newspaper Nov. 5.

Mr. Getty graduated from Winchester High School in the class of 1913 and then attended Amherst College. Getting a position as a newspaper reporter in Newport, R. I., he was successful in boarding the German submarine which put in there before the United States entered the war by being sworn in as a health officer and so got the only newspaper report of this interesting phase of the World War. Within a few days he got a telephone call from his newspaper in New York asking when he could sail for Europe and he replied in half an hour. He was ordered to leave at once for New York without packing his clothes and they would supply clothes and a steamship reservation.

He spent some time in London as American representative of a prominent news agency and when the United States entered the war, joined the American Expedionary Forces in France.

In the course of his work Mr. Getty has visited nearly every country in the world and can call many of the famous government officials by their first names he knows them so well. He is now located in New York City.

Albro of Francis circuit, has been running well in dual meets this fall. His father is a member of the Latin department at Winchester High School.

WINCHESTER OUTCLASSED LEXINGTON

33—0 Victory Gave Locals Middlesex League Championship

Winchester High swept to a 33—0 victory over Lexington High at Lexington last Saturday afternoon to win the 1937 Middlesex League championship without the loss of a game or a tie. The championship is the fifth straight the locals have either won outright or for which they have tied.

Lexington had next to nothing with which to oppose Winchester's championship surge, aside from Griffiths at left guard who played mighty well on the rushline. For Winchester, Ficociello was again outstanding, rolling up 19 points before leaving the game. Galuffo too played well, showing ability as a passer along with his ball-toting skill. Graham also ran well while "Clem" Bairstow and "Art" Johnson turned in two nice pass completions, the latter for a touchdown. Lentine, on his first carry of the year broke through for 23 yards on a fake kick.

Winchester rolled up 20 first downs to four for Lexington, two of the Minuteboys' coming on penalties. The locals rushed for 285 yards and completed three out of six passes for an additional 67. Lexington picked up 26 yards on the ground and completed three out of six aerials for 28 yards. The locals fumbled four times, recovering twice and lost 30 yards in penalties, losing six more from scrimmage. Lexington drew two five yard penalties, recovered one of its two fumbles and lost 17 yards from scrimmage, making its net gain only nine yards.

Lexington had a fine chance at the start of the game when Winchester fumbled on its 29. A moment later, however, Graham intercepted a pass and got back to his 20 to spoil the threat.

Just before the end of the first quarter the entire Winchester line was through to block a Nutt kick and though Lexington recovered, the locals took the ball on downs at the enemy's 25. Graham ran twice for a first down and Ficociello broke through to the three as the teams changed goals. On the first play of the new period, Ficociello went over and also kicked the goal at placement.

In the final minutes before the half DeTeso intercepted a Lexington pass to reach his 48. Ficociello faded back and tossed off a long pass which Bairstow grabbed at the 20 and advanced to the 10. In three rushes Ficociello crashed over and Graham plunged for the extra point.

To start the new half, Lexington kicked to Ficociello who was downed on his 15. Graham got away off tackle to the 40, and a moment later made it first down on the Lexington 49. Sibley hurt his ankle on the play and was replaced by Welburn. Graham sliced ahead to the 35, and in two rushes Ficociello bucked to the 25. Galuffo, on a reverse made eight, and on the next rush Ficociello spun through a big gap in the Lexington left flank and plowed his way over, literally carrying three Lexington boys on his back the last five yards. Graham plunged for the extra point.

Johnson's kickoff was returned to the Lexington 32, but on the first play Winchester recovered a fumble and started again. Galuffo and Graham made it first down, and after Galuffo picked up a yard at center, Johnson reversed to the 12. Graham added five and Galuffo ripped his way across the goal line on second down. His attempted conversion by rushing was smothered.

Johnson again kicked off and Lexington was forced to punt to O'Neil at Winchester's 35. Galuffo immediately broke off tackle and on a twisting, weaving run that was the best of the game pranced along the sidelines 55 yards to the Lexington 10. Johnson reached the two, but a fumble hurt and the locals lost the ball on downs.

Here Winchester lost five for offside, and another 15 for talking, Lexington kicking short to O'Neil at its 35. A pretty pass from Galuffo to Johnson advanced to the 10, O'Neil made five and another Galuffo heave, on which Johnson made a fine leaping clutch was completed in the end zone for a touchdown.

Galuffo failed to kick the goal and with its second and third stringers in the game, Winchester did not score again. The size of the locals' score can only be guessed at, had Coach Lauer kept his first stringers in there. The summary:

BUICK SPECIAL 4-door sport sedan—$1022 delivered at Flint. Fenderwells, white sidewall tires and special accessories extra.

Meaning—the Most Modern Automobile in the World is the new 1938 Buick—with DYNAFLASH ENGINE and TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING

IF YOU'VE put a sparkling 1938 Buick through its thrilling paces—

And tried to say in words what this standout car's got—

And found to your surprise you couldn't begin to do it justice—

Listen, don't think you're the only one!

"It's gotta lotta ummph!" say trier-outers vainly trying to express all the marvelous things they've felt.

"Ummph!" meaning zip—flash—power. "Ummph!" meaning all you ever expected to find in a car—and a great deal else in addition!

Fact is—demonstration, not conversation, is the thing to describe this new Buick.

To say it's quick—nimble—agile is to do only fractional justice to its DYNAFLASH engine and what it does every time you touch off its thrifty power.

To call its TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING ride velvety is only to part-picture its ride. Use the words jarless, level, floating, serene—and you come a little closer.

But still you neglect the directability this car gets from its new rear springing, the reduced risk of skidding, the simpler maintenance, and longer rear tire wear that go with it.

No, you can't cramp a new Buick into words—only its action can tell its story.

And wherever there's a Buick dealer there's a chance to try this great car out—now, today!

MATCH THESE VALUES!

Complete with DYNAFLASH engine and TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING, these models deliver at Flint, Mich. at these prices: Buick SPECIAL business coupe, $945; Buick SPECIAL 4-door touring sedan, $1047; CENTURY 4-door touring sedan, $1297; ROADMASTER 4-door touring sedan, $1645; LIMITED 8-passenger sedan, $2350. Special accessories, local taxes if any and freight extra.

A SAFETY CUSHION ON EACH WHEEL!

Buick replaces the usual type spring with this special spring of stout coiled steel and big direct-acting Transport Type shock absorbers. Rigidly aligned by the Torque Tube, rear axle and wheels cannot twist or distort, cannot affect steering, greatly reducing danger from skids. No shackles, no grease points, no chatter, no premature rear tire wear.

SOCIAL SECURITY FUND BEARS DOWN ON PEOPLE

[Boston Herald Mail Box]
To the Editor of the Herald:

Referring to the correspondence in your valued publication in regard to the social security act, a great many people seem to look at this social security act, which is neither social nor secure, as just one more "hand out" from the "balanced abundance" by the bountiful father of his country to "my friends and neighbors."

As a matter of fact, the government doesn't contribute one cent for the payment of pensions under this act. In addition to that, we, the people, are taxed to support the city of half a million people whom it will eventually take to keep the accounts of this vast piece of bureaucracy, when it is in full bloom.

The act at present affects approximately 34,000,000 people, although it is proposed in the future to include teachers, farmers and some others, bringing it up to above 50,000,000 people. Without the victims' consent 1 per cent of the earnings of this great number of people is withheld from the payroll and sent to the United States government at Washington, and the employers must also pay in to the government an amount equal to the amount withheld from the employees.

In that way about $900,000,000 has already been taken away from employees and their employers, without their consent and sent to Washington since Jan. 1, 1937, when the act went into effect. By the end of the present year, we shall have paid in over $1,600,000,000, and for this vast sum we get no acknowledgement, no interest and no accounting.

One half of this great sum comes out of the wages of hard-working people who work in shops, stores, offices, mills and factories, and the other half comes out of their employers who, in many cases, are facing an annual deficit.

It will be five years before the government will pay out anything for pensions and during that time over $8,000,000,000 will have been paid in. During those five years, several thousands of those contributors will die and there will be no refund to their estates of the money they paid in.

There are, of course, the usual penalties of fine or imprisonmnt for those who do not properly conform to the government requirements. There seems to be an air of mystery about what will be done with these vast sums that are being paid in to the government.

This method of paying pensions to the general public may look to some people like a great piece of government philanthropy, but inasmuch as all the money comes out of the people and not out of the government, it looks more like a colossal robbery, and the use of the money for any other purpose than pensions would appear to be a mis-application of trust funds.

FOR THE POOR OF BOSTON

To the Editor of the Star:

I have just come up from the annual meeting of the friends of the Volunteers' of America, who occupy in Boston the old Hanover street quarters of Marston's restaurant, so familiar to old residents of Boston and the vicinity.

Some 250 representative citizens of Boston and vicinity gathered there to hear about the work that this organization does for the poor of Boston, and enjoy one of their simple meals.

Of all the charitable work which I am interested in, I think this gives me, perhaps, the greatest satisfaction. Here a man or women out of work and without friends and funds can go and get a simple meal for from five to ten or twelve cents, and if they haven't that much, for nothing.

They sell little booklets containing 20 five cent coupons for $1.00. I have found this, for some years, a very convenient answer to the man who meets me on the street and says he is hungry, by giving him a couple of these coupons. I know that he can get a fairly good meal from them because I have tried it myself.

At the meeting today, the principal speaker was Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, whom I had never had the pleasure of meeting, nor listening to before. I was very much impressed with his vigorous straightforward way of addressing that gathering. What he said was sensible, and his manner was most attractive. We are certainly fortunate in having such a man representing us in the United States Senate. The hope of the country is honest, young men of ability and willingness to serve for the ake of serving.

Sincerely yours,
Lewis Parkhurst

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The regular meeting of Fortnightly, held on Monday afternoon, Nov. 8 brought out a large and most appreciative group of members and guests to hear Alton Hall Blackington present his newest lecture, "The Romance of Newsgathering." From the sea gulls off the stormy coast of Maine, to the battle scenes in China, is a long trip—but every step of the trip was interesting, worth while, and never-to-be-forgotten, as presented in Mr. Blackington's charming manner. Two widely different "musts" were stimulated in the minds of his listeners, as a result of his splendid pictures—one as regards peace, the other for colored films.

Before the meeting was adjourned the President, Mrs. Robert A. Reynolds, announced that the next meeting, at which the musical progrenm will be presented by The Beacon Hill Trio, will be an open meeting, to which guests may be admitted upon the usual door fee requirements.

Art Committee Open House

On Thursday afternoon the Art Committee was hostess to other members of Fortnightly, at the first of six open house afternoons. A splendid exhibit of Mexican Art decorated the entire hall, which included a very fine collection of oil paintings and Mexican landscapes by Margaret Fitzhugh Browne. Miss Neva Hecker gave a talk on Wagner, his life and music, interspersed with appropriate selections from his famous operas. The four artists who will conduct classes spoke briefly on the requirements necessary for work in their groups. Miss Lillian Day will hold classes in Oils, Tray Painting, Furniture Painting and Decorating. Miss Winnifred Williams will instruct in clay modeling, and Mrs. Reginald H. Robinson, in Black Printing.

During the afternoon a colorful and utterly delightful Mexican tea was served by the Social and Hospitality Committees, Mrs. Stanley Barnes and Mrs. H. T. Partridge presiding at the tea tables.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS ENTHUSIASTIC

Discovering that there was considerable interest among high school pupils in being admitted to Winchester Group Theatre membership, Dr. Eugene Pollard, president of the Group, and his board are pleased to announce the institution of a new Junior membership.

Subscription to this membership will be 50 cents a year and will allow students to view both Group plays, each of which will be unusually attractive this season to persons of high school age; since the first, to be given next week, will be a mystery melodrama, "The Cat and the Canary," and the second, announced for April, will be "Pride and Prejudice," a play adapted from Jane Austen's famous novel, a book which appears on the high school reading list.

Junior membership admits students to the dress rehearsals of both plays and next week's offering will be either Thursday or Friday night. Pupils may receive further information and may enroll with Miss Shirley Somerby, chairman of the new Junior membership.

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in the Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, November 14.

The Golden Text is: "Because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father. Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ" (Galatians 4:6, 7).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God" (Psalms 90: 1, 2).

The Lesson -Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man is not a pendulum, swinging between evil and good, joy and sorrow, sickness and health, life and death. Life and its faculties are not measured by calendars. The perfect and immortal are the eternal likeness of their Maker. . . . Except for the error of measuring and limiting all that is good and beautiful, man would enjoy more than three-score years and ten and still maintain his vigor, freshness, and promise" (p. 246).

TYPICAL BOSTON TRAFFIC TIE-UP

IS THERE anyone who hasn't been caught in one of these traffic messes? Who hasn't crept along painfully? Who hasn't lost his temper or his fenders? Or being a lady, wished she wasn't — just while she told that tough driver a few things.

The answer you'll say is "No! We're all fellow sufferers."

You're wrong! There's a happy money saving group to whom a picture like this is just a photograph and not a nightmare. They don't pay parking costs — they don't worry about parking tickets. They snap their fingers at traffic. Yes, they're Boston and Maine commuters. YOU ought to be one of them.

WINCHESTER S. P. C. A. AUXILIARY NOTES

The meeting of the Winchester S. P. C. A. Auxiliary which occurred on Thursday of last week, at the home of Mrs. John H. Clarke, 154 Mt. Vernon street, was one of the largest and most enthusiastic gatherings which it has held thus far. It was a pleasure to greet a number of guests and three new members—Mrs. Stanley B. Pattison, Mrs. John C. Gilbert and Mrs. Harry W. Moulton. Another encouraging feature of the day was the treasurer's statement regarding the constant growth of the Shelter Fund, two special gifts for it having been received during the past month.

The president appointed committees to assume charge of the tables at the December sale which will be held in her home; detailed announcement regarding the sale will be found in a later issue of the Winchester Star.

Mrs. Edith Washburn Clarke, president of the Boston S. P. C. A. Auxiliary, addressed the meeting. Being closely associated with the work of the Mass. S. P. C. A., the Humane Education Society and the Angell Memorial Hospital, Mrs. Clarke is thoroughly informed on all matters pertaining to the treatment and protection of animals. Many ways in which animals are exploited for the amusement and financial profit of so-called human beings were brought up by the members during the question period and Mrs. Clarke was able to furnish much up-to-the-minute information. In the rodeo, horse and dog racing, certain animal zoos, vivisection and in other ways, practices prevail which are cruel and call for constant vigilance on the part of those who would defend the helpless victims.

During the tea which followed the more serious part of the meeting, the hostess was ably assisted by her little son and daughter, Peter and Dorothy and by Mrs. Richard Taylor.

The work committee of the Auxiliary has been very active this fall, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ernest R. Eustis. They reported having folded over 65 dozen dressings for the hospital recently.

At the Angell Memorial Hospital annual fair which was held on Wednesday at the Copley Plaza, the Winchester Auxiliary had a table for demonstration of the surgical dressings work. In preparation for this table Mrs. Eustis made ready hundreds of dressings for folding. The group of Winchester Auxiliary members who went into the bazaar to serve at this table included Mrs. Richard S. Taylor, Mrs. Stanley B. Pattison, Mrs. John C. Gilbert, Mrs. John H. Clarke and others.

W. C. T. U.

One of the pamphlets recently issued by Bertha Rachel Palmer, director of the Department of Scientific Instruction in Alcohol Education, gives the following clear statement of the purpose of the W. C. T. U.

"The ultimate aim of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union is that alcohol education shall have a permanent place in the teaching program of the public schools, taught by the regular classroom teachers, as is required by the law in 47 of the 48 states. This sort of teaching will take the place of the "temperance talks" now and then, essay and poster contests for prizes, the showing of slides or a special lecture once a year —which are aids only, but cannot be considered teaching the subject."

PARISH PLAYERS PRESENT "GHOST TRAIN"

The play was well staged, set and properties being excellent; lighting, effective and the sound effects, which were the original ones used at the Copley Theatre, most convincing. As usual, the Players provided atmosphere for the show with real railroad travel placards, a conductor in uniform to announce the start of Act 1 and an Armstrong employee, in white coat and trainman's cap, to sell food between the acts. Capable direction by Mr. Francis R. Hart, Jr. was evinced at many points throughout the performance.

The cast was in the main well chosen and such slight trouble as there was with lines did not detract appreciably from the general smoothness of the production.

Two players carried the show, Mrs. Graves and Dr. Pollard, though in no sense should the excellent work of Mrs. Wills and Mr. Russell be overlooked. As the playboy Englishman, Dr. Pollard had a role "right up his alley," if one may use the vernacular, and except for an occasional failure to make himself heard, he gave a performance par excellence, clowning and wise-cracking in a vapid way to keep the audience convulsed. His makeup at his entrance in Act I deserved the laugh it got!

Mrs. Graves' Julia Price, the smugglers' moll, was the best thing we have seen her do on the Little Theatre stage, an outstanding bit of emotional acting that was convincingly intense without exaggeration and appealingly pathetic in its bewilderment and despair. Upon Julia Price the show depends, and the success of the Players' production is a tribute to Mrs. Graves' performance of this most exacting role.

Mrs. Wills made a very real contribution to the audience's pleasure with her portrayal of the alternately disturbed and outraged spinster, being very funny in the brandy-drinking scene. Mr. Russell's interpretation of the pseudo doctor was finely drawn, there being a sinister undercurrent in his characterization that made his final expose as a master criminal the more convincing.

Neither Mr. Graves as the domineering Richard Winthrop nor Dr. Blanchard as the hard-boiled Herbert Price, member of the smuggling ring, had roles as congenial as some they have played, yet both have the ability and experience to assume such roles successfully. Mr. Crowers, another veteran, was not as successful with his dialect as on some occasions, but his makeup was a triumph and his recital of the Ghost Train legend very impressive.

Miss Chidley was thoroughly consistent and eminently satisfactory as the self-sufficient wife, Elsie Winthrop, who would not be bossed; and Miss Perry and Mr. Higgins were a pair of engaging juveniles, the former's scream in Act I grading high among those we have heard. Mr. Bartlett as Jackson, the police inspector, looked and acted the part, and it was a relief to see a role of this sort assumed by one who appeared capable of the two-fisted work required.

Dr. Blanchard served as production chairman for the play with Sherman Russell as stage manager. Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Ashenden, Jr., and Evelyn Russell were in charge of scenery, Lenore Thrift Gamage, in charge of properties; and Isabel Parker Rogde, of costumes. Joseph W. Butler was head usher and Mrs. A. Kirby Snell was in charge of the sale of candy.

As usual, coffee was served between the acts with Mrs. Walter Winship and Mrs. Roland Carter as hostesses.

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The Department of Government and Economic Welfare of the Winchester League of Women Voters held its first meeting on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Theodore W. Monroe, 37 Cabot street. "Collective Bargaining" has been chosen as the subject to be studied by the members of this department for the following five Tuesdays.

A backward glance at the trade union movement with its beginnings way back in the 14th and 15th centuries has afforded convincing proof at the very outset of this study that the problem of collective bargaining —which is very much to the fore in present day consciousness due to the enactment by the Federal Government of the Wagner Labor Relations Act—is no new idea brought forth by the present administration in Washington, but rather has been an important issue from early times.

The Wagner Labor Relations Act, which affirms the right of labor to organize for collective bargaining, recognizes the need of the working man, who owns nothing but his job, to band together into a group in order to magnify his own importance to the point where he can negotiate upon something like an equal footing with his employer—who in many instances is likewise banded together into a group called "the Corporation" —and who, in addition, controls the means of production.

A detailed analysis of the Wagner Labor Relations Act will be presented by Mrs. Ralph M. Sparks at the next meeting on Nov. 16.

For this study group, Mrs. Monroe has planned a series of talks to be given by speakers with a commanding knowledge of their branch of the labor movement. Mr. Michael Widman, Jr., Regional Director of the C. I. O. will speak Nov. 23 on the subject "C. I. O." On Dec. 14, Mr. Kenneth Taylor, Regional Director of the State Labor Relations Commission, will speak on the subject "A. F. of L." A prominent business man, whose name will be announced later, is expected to speak on the subject of collective bargaining from the point of view of the employer.

On WEEI every Wednesday afternoon, from 4:30 to 4:45 o'clock can be heard on "The Voters' Hour" under the auspices of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters an outstanding speaker analyze some vital topic of the day. Next Wednesday, Nov. 17 will be heard Dr. Neil A. Dayton, head of the State Department of Mental Diseases, who will speak on the subject "What Does Massachusetts Do For Its Mentally Defective Children?"

WINCHESTER TO SEE NEW BROADCASTING STATION

Many great improvements and advancements in this town have helped to put Winchester on the map as a modern and progressive community, but never before has it been able to boast of a public broadcasting station.

On Thursday, Nov. 18 of this year, Winchester will, however, have a chance to see for itself and to take part in this, its latest development. At 8 p. m. on the above date, the curtains will rise to unveil a studio that has never before been equaled in all New England for its unique and totally different atmosphere.

The program to be given at this time will be one made up entirely of home-town talent and promises to be quite original in its theme. Technicians, mechanics, and carpenters are busy putting on the finishing touches in order to insure ample room and comfort for those who wish to witness this broadcast. In order to defray a small expense, there will be a slight admission charge. Through the courtesy of one of its many sponsors, Schraffts & Co., free candy will be given away to the studio audience after the program. Several motion picture films have also been secured to entertain the audience during the evenings festivities.

Since no one will want to miss this show, you may expect to see your neighbor in the social hall of the First Baptist Church on Nov. 18 at 8 o'clock when the Young People's Society of the First Baptist Church presents "Unconscious Ether" a mock broadcast with the purpose of ending all broadcasts. Come with expectancy and leave with aching sides (from laughing) a supply of free delectable candy and above all, satisfaction.

CONGREGATIONAL MEN'S CLUB

"What industry is doing to aid progress in living conditions by means of scientific research is shown in—Previews of Progress—a stage and screen demonstration of exhibits planned for the New York World's Fair of 1939. This extremely interesting program is to be presented by Frederick W. Bliss, New England Manager of Sales Development for General Electric Co., who has recently amazed many audiences with his feats of electrical magic. Among the demonstrations will be the apparatus that was used to light up the Chicago World's Fair using the light from the star Arcturus which light started at the time of the Columbian World's Fair some 40 or more years ago. Mr. Bliss will also show te hfamous Bliss-Moore Color Box with which it is possible to illustrate most interestingly the possibilities of modern control of light and color in the theatre.

This demonstration is to be given at the First Congregational Church of Winchester under the sponsorship of the Men's Club on Tuesday evening, Nov. 23 at 8 o'clock. It is to be an open meeting and all members of the club are urged to bring friends and family with them for a most interesting and instructive meeting. More in detail concerning this meeting will be in next week's Star but save the date now.

QUOTA NOT REALIZED

Although the Salvation Army annual maintenance appeal is over, so far as the organized drive is concerned in Winchester, there still remains $157.74 to be raised to complete the quota of $2000.

The drive officially closed Saturday, Nov. 6, with a tag day, but with a few residents of the town still to be seen and a deficit to be raised, Salvation Army officials have decided to continue their efforts to have Winchester go over the top.

The last report filed at headquarters in Boston showed a total of $1,842.26 reported toward the needed $2000.

Winchester residents who have not yet sent in their contributions still have the opportunity of doing so, and checks or cash contributions will be accepted by G. Dwight Cabot, treasurer of the Winchester Trust Company and treasurer of the committee.

THIS WEEK'S GARDENING

By Alfred A. Fraser

This open weather still permits planting of spring flowering bulbs. Be sure the shells are cracked and the bulbs well watered.

Give weathervanes and markers a good coat of metal paint for protection. Lubricate moving parts well.

Clean the lawn mower blades—have them sharpened so they'll be in good shape for next spring.

Water, water, water all newly set out trees and shrubs. Rainfall deficiency makes it imperative to supply moisture to the roots.

When the ground freezes mulch plants with salt marsh hay, branches or peat moss.

Bonemeal around rose bushes before they are covered for the winter will mean better plants next spring.

Sweet pea seeds can be sown this month. Dig the soil deeply—add some good fertilizer before planting.

HEART TO HEART TALKS

"The poise of the mind, like that of the body,' as has been said, "is safest when it stands upright." Such a posture demands a perfect self-control but unfortunately too few of us have even average self-control. We give way to every desire, and we get "all burned up" in our day by day contact with our fellows. This should not be as self-control is a virtue we should cultivate at all times.

We never get ahead in anything on this mundane sphere unless we honestly desire to get ahead. It is the ambition of the painter to make a canvass; it is only so long as he keeps alive the first radiant ideal, and the first burning impulse, that he can attain his ambition on canvass, or make real progress toward it. And what will men and women be without this same burning desire to make our lives count?

Human passions must be controlled. The four great hindrances to spiritual getaheadedness is because we are beset with impurity, prejudice, disobedience and lack of love. Not a fine education, but simple goodness is our best teacher. Argument and reasoning are all very fine, but there are things that are much better. When we are able to control our passions, enlarge our spiritual vision, we will witness a remarkable transformation in our lives. Old things will pass away. "Behold, all things become new."

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Ann Page

Turkey prices have dropped several cents in the past week which promises well for Thanksgiving. Other meat prices, with the exception of lamb, are either unchanged or a little lower.

Fresh eggs continue to be scarce but an abundant supply of fine quality storage eggs are available at low cost. Butter prices promise to be higher before they can be lower. Cheese is an excellent and inexpensive food.

The Florida orange season is progressing in quality as well as quantity. Grapefruit, apples, bananas, grapes, pears, chestnuts and pecans make fruit markets appealing to the shopper. Outstanding vegetables are broccoli, cauliflower, cabbage, Brussels sprouts, celery, lettuce, potatoes, spinach and yellow turnips.

Seasonable foods make up the following menues:

Low Cost Dinner
Pot Roast of Beef Potatoes
Sweet-sour Red Cabbage
Bread and Butter
Tapioca Cream with Bananas
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner
Roast Duck with Apple Raisin Stuffing
Browned Potatoes Broccoli
Bread and Butter
Orange Spanish Cream
Tea or Coffee Milk

BENSON—FALLON

In St. Mary's Church on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 14, Miss Agnes I. Fallon, daughter of former Selectman and Mrs. Thomas F. Fallon of Highland avenue, became the bride of Robert H. Benson, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Benson of Wright street, Stoneham.

Rev. Fr. Joseph E. McGoldrick officiated at the marriage ceremony which was performed at 4 o'clock and preceded by a recital of organ music played by Miss Florence Fisher. At the conclusion of the ceremony Mrs. Ruth McHale of Stoneham, aunt of the bridegroom, sang "Ave Maria."

Miss Fallon was given in marriage by her father and attended by her aunt, Miss Margaret L. Fallon of this town. Walter Benson of Stoneham was his brother's best man and the ushers were William J. Fallon of this town brother of the bride; and Walter Logan of Stoneham, cousin of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a princess style gown of white satin, made with a train and trimmed with rare lace. Her conventional veil of tulle was arranged with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her attendant wore a gown of American Beauty velvet with matching hat and slippers and carried talisman roses.

After the marriage a reception for more than 100 guests was held at the Calumet Club where the parents of the bride assisted in receiving. A turkey supper was served by the steward of the club, Fred H. Scholl, and was followed by an elaborate entertainment program provided by Mrs. Ruth McHale, Edgar McHale, Alice Logan, Eileen Riordan, Mildred Kerrigan, Margaret L. Fallon, Mary Fallon, Frances Mosley, Frederick Mosley, Agnes I. Fallon, Thomas F. Fallon and Dorothy Goodhue.

Upon their return from a wedding journey to New York City and Washington, Mr. Benson and his bride will make their home in Stoneham at 23 Summer street. The bride is a graduate of the Winchester schools and before her marriage was employed as a private secretary by the Massachusetts Dairies. She is a member of the Winchester Emblem Club, which she served as organist, and a member of the Stoneham Grange. Mr. Benson, who is in business as a baker, is a graduate of the Stoneham schools.

WINCHESTER YOUNG MAN SCORES SUCCESS

By the middle of this week all settings for the Winchester Group Theatre play "The Cat and the Canary" had been completed, and the Group directors and players were heaping lavish congratulations upon the clever designer, Mr. George Hayden, Jr.

Winchester residents are pleased to think of this modest and talented young man as a home product, and indeed he is a graduate of our High School (1929), where he distinguished himself often with his work with the Dramatic Club. Following his graduation from High School, he attended Vesper George in Boston, has since designed many of the more attractive business signs in our center, and has helped with countless stage settings.

He has been assisted in his work for "The Cat and the Canary" by a score of willing helpers drafted from the Group ranks. The cast, who will appear tomorrow evening before the fascinating sets of Mr. Hayden, need no introduction to Winchester playgoers. All have distinguished themselves many times in theatre work, and those who have followed the rehearsals are amazed at the ease and speed of the production.

Following is a list of the performers in order of their appearance:

Mammy Pleasant	Winifred H. Nicholas
Roger Crosby	William S. Spaulding
Harry Blythe	Lyndon B. Burnham
Cicely Young	Martha Hill
Susan Sillsby	Edith M. Chamberlin
Charles Wilder	Theodore R. Godwin
Paul Jones	W. H. Dermot Townley-Tilson
Annabelle West	Anne L. Burnham

WINCHESTER AT READING

Winchester plays its last football game before the Woburn classic on Thanksgiving tomorrow afternoon at Reading, meeting Reading High in a contest that was postponed from its original date on Oct. 23 because of heavy rain.

As things have worked out the game on Saturday should prove beneficial to the Winchester players who had things very easy at both Lexington and Wellesley, and might have lost their edge for Woburn had they loafed this Saturday.

Reading has had a disastrous season and was beaten 6—2 by Lexington so that Winchester ought to win tomorrow without using its first string players more than enough to keep them in top form for Thanksgiving.

ALBERT O. WILSON, JR. ELECTED

Albert O. Wilson, Jr. of 23 Yale street, a member of the senior class at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has been elected to Tau Beta Pi, the national honorary engineering fraternity it was announced today.

Among the qualifications for this honor are exceptional professional promise and high scholastic standing. Mr. Wilson is studying business and engineering administration.

WINCHESTER AND WOBURN IN FOOTBALL CLASSIC

Winchester High and Woburn High Schools, intense rivals for many years, will square away in their annual Thanksgiving Day football game next Thursday morning at 10:15 on the new Shore road athletic Field. Needless to state there will be the usual huge crowd on hand for this classic, and seats will be at a premium. Season ticket holders will find no seats reserved after 10:05.

The Park Department is going to place canvas at vantage points at the east end of the gridiron so that those who plan to see the game from outside the fence won't get much of a view of proceedings. Admission will be 50¢, and we have yet to see a Winchester-Woburn game that wasn't worth the money.

This year's contest has aroused plenty of argument. The average fan can see nothing but Winchester, and on paper he should be right. The local eleven has by far the better record.

Others, however, and among them are those who have followed Winchester-Woburn games closley through the years, are not so sure. Anything can happen in these tense, tightly fought struggles, and one thing is very likely to happen. Woburn will play its best ball of the year against Winchester while the locals are likely to be definitely sub-par against the tanners. If the game runs true to past form, Woburn will get the breaks.

On the basis of comparative scores Winchester has a wide edge. Both teams have played Stoneham and Lexington, Woburn beating these teams respectively 18—0 and 13—7. Winchester's winning scores against these teams were 25—6 and 33—0. Both could easily have been higher.

The locals have lost this year to Arlington and Marblehead, both by close scores and have decisively defeated Stoneham, Concord, Belmont, Maynard, Lexington and Wellesley. Woburn has defeated Stoneham and Lexington, tied Watertown and lost to Winthrop, Wakefield, Saugus, Peabody and Melrose. Its worst defeat was a 20—0 shellacking from Peabody, a strong club, and in extenuation of the tanners it should be said that they have played a far tougher schedule than the locals. In fact since its disasterous game with Marblehead, Winchester has been extended only by Belmont, and this lack of real competition may work to a disadvantage against Woburn.

A rumor went the rounds this week that Co-Captain "Gerry" Ficociello and Paul Lentine were down in their studies for the Woburn game, which would just about have written "finis" to the locals chances. That's how good those boys are!

It was definitely learned last night however that both are in good standing and that the only player about whom there is any doubt is rugged "Pete" Galuffo, reserve back, who is nursing a sore ankle and is definitely out of the Reading game tomorrow. "Pete's" loss against Woburn will be badly felt for with the exception of Ficociello he is the hardest running back on the local club. He may be ready.

A glance at the following scores will show how closely contested Winchester-Woburn games have been fought through the years. Winchester should win this year, but we won't believe it until we see it. Remember last year!!

1925	Winchester	13	Woburn	0

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

The new section of Fells road is to have three street lights installed. On account of the number of trees in this locality the roadway is too dark for safety.

The junction of Washington and Swanton streets and Park avenue is to have greatly improved lighting as a means of lessening the traffic hazard at this point. Park avenue facing Washington street is to have a stop sign which will be installed when approved by the state department of public works.

PRINCIPAL DICKMAN TO SERVE

The School Department is pleased to learn that Mr. Raymond Dickman, principal of the Junior High School, has been asked to serve on a committee of the International Council for Exceptional Children which will deal with teacher training for the mentally handicapped children. The Committee plans during the next year or two to conduct a survey of teacher training, methods of teaching, and textbook material for the several types of typical children.

ENGLISH BOY CHORISTERS TO SING AT EPIPHANY

Winchester music lovers have a treat in store for them on Monday evening, Nov. 29, when the Church of the Epiphany will present the English Boy Choristers in a concert in the church commencing at 8 o'clock.

The choristers are a group of ten choir boys chosen from the prominent churches of England, brought together and especially trained in the London Choir School. They were selected from 125 boys, range in ages from 11 to 13 years and include choristers who took part in the coronation of King George VI, as well as three outstanding boy soloists who lead their own parish choirs. They are in this country on a so-called "Goodwill Tour," the objects of which are to promote amity between America and Great Britain and to present in the churches of America the traditional choral even-song service as sung each Sunday in the cathedrals and churches of England.

The English Boy Choristers first came to this country in 1933, and the following year, 1934-35, were honored by invitations to Government House in Canada and the White House. It was on Jan. 1, 1935 that they last appeared in Winchester, singing then at the Church of the Epiphany and charming those fortunate enough to hear their outstanding performance.

They return this year with a repertoire of airs, duets and anthems in three and four-part harmony by composers of ancient and modern periods. Their secular programs includes famous Elizabethan madrigals and part songs. Dr. Francis W. Snow of Trinity Church will be the organ accompanist.

This outstanding group of boy choristers singing in the beautiful setting provided by the Church of the Epiphany is an event no music lover should miss. There will be no admission but an offering will be taken.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

The Winchester Council is happy to report that over $1000 has already been received in the recent drive for funds for the Girl Scouts. Again we wish to thank each and every citizen for their generous support of this organization. The Scouts are not in any way self supporting. Their only funds come from public subscription. Inasmuch as Scouting fills such a great need to the community by giving occupations to the young people for their leisure hours, the necessity for the growth and maintenance of Scouting is obvious.

Thanksgiving week, beginning Wednesday and ending Saturday, the Boston Council of Girl Scouts is co-operating in the "Leisure Time Show" in the Mechanics Building. The public is most cordially invited to go in and see these interesting displays. The Girl Scout booth will portray many of the objects of Scouting through showing routine work well done, initiative and co-operation. The girls themselves will be there working and giving appropriate plays.

The Winchester Council held a meeting last week at the home of Mrs. William Davis. Mrs. James McCormick reported on some fine sewing which the girls are able to do. The En Ka Society has given the troops the money to buy materials for sewing for the Needlework Guild. This has enabled the Scouts to purchase yarns and other materials, out of which they fashion jackets, bonnets, and all kinds of garments, which the Needlework Guild will distribute. The Red Cross also furnishes material for baby clothes, which the girls makeup and return to the Red Cross.

After the business meeting there was a social hour while Mrs. Davis served refreshments. The Council then met the leaders of the troops and Mrs. aBllard of the Newton Council gave a comprehensive talk on the new program for Girl Scouts.

HOSPITAL REVEALS CAMPAIGN TOTALS

Mr. Maurice Bird, Chairman of the Winchester Hospital Drive which ended on October 25, has just released the final figures of the successful campaign to make funds available for covering the normal annual deficit and maintenance requirements of the hospital.

1682 donors subscribed a total of $10,027.23. The expense in connection with the drive remained below 4 per cent.

In addition to the Finance Committee of the hospital, headed by Mr. Bird, over 200 public spirited citizens in Winchester helped to put the drive over the top.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Two members were absent from the meeting of Nov. 18, one of whom has already made up for his absence. Club officers are feeling very happy because of our improved attendance marks and wish to express to their fellow members their deep appreciation of the individual efforts which have brought this about.

Members of this club have paid in advance for their luncheon scheduled to be served next week. Yet they will get no lunch in return for this payment. And this because no lunch will be provided next week since next week's meeting will be omitted as it falls on Thanksgiving Day. But Winchester Rotarians will receive something vastly better than a lunch for his money which they have paid. They are to have the intense satisfaction of knowing that their contribution will be used by the Winchester Community Relief Committee to provide Thanksgiving cheer for some of our less privileged residents. And with this we of Rotary extend to each and every one of our fellow citizens our sincerest wishes for a holiday replete with blessings.

And if we may be pardoned for still another reference to the loyalty of Winchester Rotarians to their club we will mention the fact that half of them have already satisfied the semi-annual statement of dues payable which has been in their hands for 18 days only.

Rotary International has released a condensed Auditor's Report for the year ending June 30, 1937. The club secretary's copy of this report is available for the inspection of any member interested in consulting it.

Rotarians note with satisfaction the recognition accorded their magazine, "The Rotarian" by the publishers of the "Readers Digest." In several of its recent issues this latter magazine has produced reviews of articles originally appearing in full in the columns of "The Rotarian." Which reminds us that the Nov. issue of "The Rotarian" contains many outstanding contributions. Don't lay your copy aside until you have verified this statement.

Through the courtesy of Irving Symmes, club members at the current meeting had the pleasure of listening to former Chief Henry A. Fox of the Boston Fire Department. Mr. Fox, recently retired after having reached the age limit of eligibility, was celebrating his 71st birthday on this occasion and Winchester Rotarians took much pleasure in adding their congratulations to those being received by Mr. Fox from his numerous friends. The former Boston Chief outlined for us the marked progress achieved by the Boston Department during the 50 years which he passed in its service and recited many thrilling details of some of the greatest conflagrations which occurred in Boston in that period. Thanks, Irving for your good offices in enabling us to listen to former Chief Fox, and to you, Mr. Fox, for affording us a thoroughly enjoyable address.

Winchester Rotarians should note that our next meeting is scheduled for Thursday, Dec. 2 at the regular time and place. There will be no meeting of this club on Thanksgiving Day.

Percentage of attendance, Nov. 4, 100 per cent.

TO ADDRESS EPIPHANY YOUNG PEOPLE

Mr. John M. Kingman of this town, head worker at Hale House and director of Boys Work at the Lincoln House Association of Boston, is to be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Young People's Fireside Group to be held Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the library of the Parish House at the Epiphany Church.

Lincoln House is a settlement house which was established in the south end of Boston 50 years ago. Mr. Kingman's work there has given him a background which enables him to bring an especial message to young people and his ability as a speaker makes him particularly interesting to listen to. A large attendance is expected to hear him on Sunday.

WINCHESTER GIRLS AT WELLESLEY

This week at Wellesley College three girls from Winchester are taking a part in the musical activities of that college. They are Miss Margaret Kenerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Kenerson, Miss Katherine Snow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman E. Snow of Glen road and Miss Mary Worthen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Worthen of Wedgemere avenue.

Miss Worthen sang first alto, while Miss Snow and Miss Kenerson sang second alto in the all college musical vesper service, at which the choir gave its first performance since it was reduced by the quartette try outs a few weeks ago.

WINCHESTER GIRL HONORED AT CONNECTICUT

Miss Katherine H. Boutwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland H. Boutwell of Foxcroft road, senior at Connecticut College, has been elected president of Mary Harkness House at the college. She is also a member of the house of representatives, a branch of the student government at the college.

WILL GIVE THANKSGIVING DINNERS

Thanksgiving dinners will be given free to all needy persons by the Splendid Lunch. The only requirement is that recipients shall have a card signed by Secretary Nellie Sullivan of the Welfare Department, tel. Win. 0143-W.

MRS. DONALD HEATH
Community Crusade Leader

Among those attending the luncheon of the Community Crusade, Tuesday, Nov. 23, at the Copley Plaza, Boston, will be Mrs. Leon D. Hughes, community chairman for Winchester, and Mrs. Donald Heath, also of Winchester, who is general vice-chairman for Winchester, Woburn, Everett, Revere, Chelsea and Winthrop and others of the local committee. The luncheon will conclude the intensive three-week educational drive of the Community Crusade, to emphasize the value of Greater Boston's Community Fund health and social agencies to the well-being of the metropolitan community.

Leverett Saltonstall, former speaker of the House and chairman of the 1938 Community Fund Campaign, will voice the congratulations of campaign executives on the effective program carried on by the Community Crusade under Mrs. Randolph K. Byers, chairman. Mrs. Beyers, presiding, will outline further plans in the year-round Crusade program.

As guest speaker, Raymond DeWitt Mallory, chairman of the Springfield Community Chest in 1935 and 1936, has been invited to tell of Springfield's recent campaign victory.

Negro spirituals by a group from the Robert Gould Shaw House will be included in an informal entertainment. Mrs. Alexander H. Ladd, Jr., vice chairman of the Community Crusade, is in charge of the luncheon.

LET'S NOT FORGET WINCHESTER

The local committee in charge of filling and distributing Thanksgiving baskets to the needy families in town is badly in need of money. Donations are of course made by many people, but money is needed for the purchase of meat—and some other articles for a balanced basket. Owing to the many charitable drives this fall, the usual cash donations have been seriously curtailed. With over 150 familles wholly dependent upon the gift baskets for their dinner, one may readily imagine that donations are never too large. While money is needed, any and all donations will be gratefully received.

Mrs. Harry C. Sanborn, tel. Win. 0420 is treasurer of the committee, Mr. George T. Davidson tel. Win. 1511-W is chairman and Miss Nellie M. Sullivan, tel. 0143-W, is secretary. Funds must be received at once and prior to Thanksgiving to be of use.

DANCE TO HONOR MISS MILLER

Miss Harriet Miller, daughter of Mrs. Clarence C. Miller and the late Mr. Miller of Lagrange street is to make her debut at a tea dance to be held on Frday, Nov. 26 at the Algonquin Club in Boston.

Miss Miller is a member of the freshman class at Vassar, will come on to Winchester for Thanksgiving and the affair, which will be followed by a dinner, to be given at the club for the debutante, her pourers and ushers being Miss Miller's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Miller of Boston.

Both Mr. Miller and another brother, Mr. Philip Miller, will serve as ushers at the debut, as will Miss Miller's cousin, Mr. Richard Miller. Miss Rosamond Emerson, post debutante daughter of Mrs. Warren K. Emerson, is heading the pourers who include a group of well known Boston society.

WINCHESTER GIRL IN WHEATON PLAY

Miss Marjorie Rush, daughter of Lieut.-Comdr. and Mrs. Richard Rush of Woodside road, had the distinction of being one of two first year students cast in "Moor Born." presented by the Wheaton College Dramatic Society last Friday evening.

"Moor Born," is a dramatization of the life of the Bronte sisters, and Miss Rush played the role of Charlotte Bronte, giving a most creditable performance. She is a graduate of Winchester High School and in her senior year was an editorial writer on the student paper, "The Highlights." At graduation in June she was awarded the Washington & Franklin History Medal and the Winchester Teachers' Club Scholarship.

MRS. ARTHUR W. HALE

Mrs. Arthur W. Hale passed away at her home in this town early Wednesday morning at the age of 71.

Mrs. Hale, formerly Edith Kinsman, daughter of William H. and Rebecca (Varney) Kinsman was born in Boston, Oct. 12, 1866. Her father was an owner of clipper ships and engaged in foreign trade. Captain Kinsman, as he was widely known, moved, when his daughter was a small child, to Winchester where he occupied the estate on Bacon street which was afterwards acquired by the late Edwin Ginn. After moving here Captain Kinsman represented this district in the state legislature.

In 1890 Edith Kinsman married Arthur W. Hale, also of this town and shortly afterward moved to Black Horse terrace where she and Mr. Hale and their children lived for many years. One of her daughters, Katharine, who became Mrs. Henry W. Dun, Jr., died in 1929.

Mrs. Hale is survived by her husband, by her two sons, Edward Kinsman and Robert Heard Hale, of New York City; by her daughter, Eleanor, now Mrs. Paul B. Elliott of 11 Warren street and by seven grandchildren, Henry Walke, Eleanor Hale and James Kinsman Dun; Katharine Hale, Peter Stone and Alfred Haskell Elliott; and Rosalind Wickham Kinsman Hale.

Funeral services are being held this afternoon in the chapel of the First Congregational Church and burial will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

MRS. CARRIE B. PURDY

Mrs. Carrie B. Purdy, 79, who died Tuesday morning in the Winchester Hospital was the mother of Mrs. Arthur Black of 26 Everett avenue. The Fire Department was called at 9:34 Friday evening by an alarm from Box 61 to put out a fire in a Plymouth sedan, owned by Tax Collector Nathaniel M. At 6 o'clock Saturday evening, during the heavy rain storm Box 46 came in for a chimney fire at the home of Mr. Henry Horne at 31 Loring avenue. Sunday morning at 11:30 the men were called again to Mr. Horne's home, smoke from the chimney, damaged by the fire, having backed up into the house.

CONGREGATIONAL MEN'S CLUB

There is hardly a person who has not either actually had an electric train or has played with one. Everyone of us have that inate quality of mind that desires to know the "why" of things and to see them stripped of mystery before our eyes is a treat worth having. Since Edison's first discovery of the principles of light in a bulb, electricity has advanced beyond our comprehension. From that simple beginning science has gone on to aid and make easier living conditions in the home and elsewhere.

One of the General Electric Company's modern magicians of electrical science is appearing before the Men's Club of the First Congregational Church on Tuesday evening, Nov. 23 at 8 o'clock. He will not only demonstrate from the House of Magic but will present a talk with historical background illustrated in color showing what America has accomplished in the last hundred years in "Progress with Electricity."

The lecturer and demonstrator will be Frederick W. Bliss, New England Manager of Sales Development for G-E who has recently amazed other local clubs in Greater Boston with his feats of electrical magic. His historical screen talk dating from Edison's first lamp will be followed by graphic demonstrations, with aparatus of other incandescent lamps which developed from the first one and of the modern photoelectric control. Passing from this an automobile traffic tunnel is represented by a glass tube and smoke passing through it operates a ventilating system. Music and speech may be transmitted across the hall on a beam of light. The use of light impulses, theatrical color lighting and many other interesting uses of electricity in the home and industry will be shown.

Members of the Men's Club are urged to come and bring their family and friends with them. Here is a show that will interest people of all ages for it is the same show that will be taken to the New York World's Fair in 1939. An interesting and exciting evening for everyone.

MRS. MARCIA GIGLIOTTI

Mrs. Marcia Gigliotti, wife of Vincenzo Gigliotti, died Sunday, Nov. 14, at her home, 2 Tremont street, after a brief illness. She was 70 years old.

Mrs. Gigliotti was a native of Italy. She came to Winchester 36 years ago and had since made her home here, being widely known and held in high esteem among Italian residents of the town.

Besides her husband she is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Eleanor Chiofolo, Mrs. Elizabeth Lambiase and Mrs. Bettina Cucolo, all of Winchester; a son, Thomas Gigliotti of Somerville, well known radio violinist and singer; a brother, Thomas Derro of Winchester and three grandchildren.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the late residence with solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church, Rev. Fr. Joseph E. McGoldrick was celebrant, Rev. Fr. Conrad J. Quirbach, deacon; and Rev. Fr. John W. Dowd, subdeacon. Bearers were Nicholas and Joseph Perritano, Samuel and Dominick Casalinnovo and Umberto and James Derro, all of this town. The funeral cortege was one of the longest seen in Winchester for some time. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Father Dowd.

A BISHOPS' VISIT TO EPIPHANY

Members of the Service League and their guests had an unusual privilege, on Tuesday, Nov. 15, when the Right Rev. Edward Makin Cross joined them at luncheon, and then gave a remarkable talk, which will linger long in the minds of his listeners.

His presentation of the great Northwest, along the Columbia River with all its possibilities for the people as well as the country was given in picturesque style.

He brought very closely home the responsibility of the East to the West and the land of "Pine-cones and Apple-Blossoms," of "Sage-brush and Tumble-weed," of "Stained-glass-windows and Soap-Boxes" suddenly became a living reality.

He made his hearers very proud of their representatives in the far-flung mission-fields, and very humble in regard to their own small share in the work.

ACCIDENT ON FOREST STREET

A Pontiac coupe headed east on Forest street during last Saturday evening's storm, at 6 o'clock, got out of control in front of the residence of Mrs. Mary C. Hinds, crashing into a stone post at the northerly entrance of the Hinds driveway.

The operator of the machine, Eugene P. MacDonald of 55 Atlantic street, Atlantic, told the police he applied his brakes in front of the Hinds residence and the rear wheels locked, causing him to lose control of the car. The coupe ran over the sidewalk on the north side of the street and knocked down the stone post at the Hinds driveway, also ploughing up the shrubbery at the entrance to the drive. The car was so badly wrecked that it had to be towed to the Central garage. No injuries were reported.

JOIN RED CROSS

The 1937 Annual Red Cross Roll Call is well underway. Red Cross workers have called on many homes with a fine response. To meet the needs of the Winchester Chapter, every home must be contacted and the large majority of homes respond to the appeal for support for 1938.

A number of larger gifts have been received by the Red Cross Treasurer, Mr. William E. Priest, at the Winchester Savings Bank, but many more will have to contribute if Red Cross is to continue its varied and useful endeavors next year.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Locatelli, the Winchester Red Cross is maintaining a headquarters in the Square which is open each afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock. Contributions may be left there or memberships secured. If your home was missed in the Roll Call, do not transfer your dollar to another source, but bring or send it to headquarters in the Locatelli Building. Let every family be represented in the membership of the American Red Cross.

LEGION NOTES

Preceding the regular monthly Post meeting at the Legion house last evening, Dr. Charles H. Tozier of Bruce road, globe trotter and photographer extraordinary, showed his newest pictures, "Wild Life in the Northwest," a really remarkable collection of films showing the ruggedness and grandeur of that country with rare views of animal and bird life.

The pictures had their first showing last evening and were much enjoyed by the Legionnaires and their guests. Dr. Tozier was introduced by Commander Stafford Rogers who presided at the post meeting which followed the pictures.

The Legion's blood transfusion squad has been called upon twice and Whitelaw Wright and Richard McAdams have submitted to transfusions.

The Post is reminded the Fire Department is again repairing and renewing toys to be distributed at the Legion Christmas Party, and all those who can do so are urged to bring discarded toys to the Post Headquarters where they will be delivered to Fire Headquarters. The firemen do a great job on these old toys and many an unfortunate youngster has Christmas gladdened by their efforts.

The Legion troop of Boy Scouts were guests of the Post at at the Tozier pictures last evening.

Several improvements have been effected in the house layout by the House Committee under Conrad Larson. The ping pong room has been enlarged and facilities for serving of refreshments improved. The floor in the ping pong room has been leveled.

WINCHESTER MIDDLESEX LEAGUE CHAMPS

Winchester High School's perennially championship football team added another Middlesex League title to its collection this fall, the win being its fifth straight since the inception of the League in 1931.

The first year in the new circuit "Joe" 'Flaherty's eleven, coached by Ronald Linderman, could finish no better than tied for third, and the following year, with Coach Wendell Mansfield back after a sabbatical year, the locals, captained by Hal Knowlton, again tied for third.

In 1933 Andy Lentine's club won the championship, and in '34 the eleven led by "Jack" Hanlon and "Gerry" Gaffney tied for first place with Concord. The following year Captain Frank Provinzano's club was undisputed champ of the circuit, and last year "Jim" Harris' team tied for the title with Belmont, a club the locals beat 19—0. This year's eleven, led by "Gerry" Ficociello and "Pete" Sibley, is the first Winchester club to win the title without the loss of a game or a tie. Frank Provinzano's team was undefeated, but was held to a tie by Stoneham after the late-lamented goal-post ipedient had gotten the minds of several of the team on other things than football.

Whether this year's championship club is superior to some of its championship predecessors is a question which can be argued ad infinitum, but certainly no Winchester team has outclassed its league opposition as this year's club. True, the opposition has not been at all representative of the league as it has previously functioned, and there have been no injuries to local players whose absence would have materially injured the club.

However, the team as a team has played fine football with no letdowns in league competition, and to the boys and their coaching staff, Coaches George Lauer and Edward Bartlett, go the plaudits of the fans for Winchester's most successful league season.

For those who like statistics a glance at the accompanying table will show how conclusively has been the locals' win this year, and by what a wide margin Winchester has outclassed the other league teams. Of all the league teams only Belmont played the locals on anything like even terms.

Winchester has rolled up 116 points to 12 for its opponents, has rushed for 80 first downs and 1355 yards to 30 first downs and 368 yards for the remaining five teams. The locals have lost 70 yards from scrimmage to 79 for the opposition, but beyond that the locals have the edge.

Through the air Winchester's opponents have garnered 289 yards to 167 for the locals, and have been penalized only 40 yards as opposed to 120 yards for Winchester. In the matter of fumbles Winchester's opponents have the advantage, 8 to 15.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The Winchester Chapter, through their president, Mrs. James F. Gaffney, wishes to thank all who in any way assisted in making the Middlesex County table at the County Fair held at the Copley Plaza on Tuesday such a tremendous success. The table with its autumn, decorations, and the ladies in their historical costumes made a very attractive picture and received many compliments from guests. Many articles on chances are yet to be awarded and it is urged that all books be returned as soon as possible so that accounts may be closed.

The next meeting of the Guild will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 23 at Lyceum Hall. A plum pudding for Thanksgiving will be sold on chances. This is an afternoon of sewing and all are urged to attend.

Social Security? We pay $500 for social security and do 500 jobs. Some way and somehow, it means a dollar a job for (what). Probably for the privilege of doing the job.

There's one thing about our new traffic lights—they seem to furnish plenty of work for the police officers judging from the number now kept in the square. Perhaps when we get right into the "spirit of protection" of the outfit we can use the whole force. Anyway—you can drive through in three shifts.

We have received each day thus far this week social security blanks to fill out and return. Thus far five. Together with the two previously received and returned this week, the total amounts to seven! In our case these blanks take from one-half to one hour each—and then we are not sure at all whether they are filled out correctly or not, they are so confusing. It may be possible—all things are they say—that we stand alone in our condemnation of this imposition, but it hardly seems so. Social security may be the wonderful thing we read it is, but if we, with our little plant of eight persons, have this added work and financial burden to contend with, we are readily willing to listen to those who are obliged to hire help to do nothing else but attend to the unwanted imposition. We may be in the midst of the greatest social security for the masses the world has ever known, but not for the small business man—just so long as we are allowed to express an opinion.

SUNDAY SPORTS

To the Editor of the Star:

I found the following on the back page of the Star for Nov. 12, 1937.

"The Police had to stop workmen on Rock avenue, Eaton street, Pond street, Dartmouth street and Everett avenue Armistice Day forenoon. Sunday laws are in force until 1 o'clock and any work not allowed on Sunday cannot be done until after that hour Nov. 11."

I haven't seen anything in the Star in the last few weeks about stopping football practice on Manchester Field Sunday mornings. Have you?

Very truly yours,
Harris M. Richmond

I HAVE W! HAVE YOU?

To the Editor of the Star:

It has been many years since I have had the opportunity of the past few days to stroll around the streets of beautiful Winchester. I am fearfully upset, however, by the apparent serious epidemic that has visited your delightful suburb. I refer to this "W" business. Everywhere it seems the plague has visited your homes, schools and among the shopkeepers. On all sides I see that fearful sign "I have W! have you?"

Could it be traceable to the beautiful but slightly tainted Aberjona? I am sure we do not have "W" in Fitchburg!

Sincerely,
H. O. Spital

(Can this correspondent possibly refer to Worms?—Ed)

"WE PLANNED IT THAT WAY"

To the Editor of the Star:

October 23, 1935, President Roosevelt at Charleston, S. C. said:

"Yes, we are on our way back, not by mere chance, not by a turn of the cycle, we are coming back more soundly than ever before because we planned it that way, and don't let anybody tell you differently."

Even then our recovery was slower than the recovery in other countries.

Now it may fairly be asked what about the Roosevelt Recession—the frightful market slump that has wiped out over 25 billions in values—more than one-third of the national income for 1937, which is estimated by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics to be "about 69 billion dollars?"

Does President Roosevelt still say: "We Planned It That Way?"

BY DIRECT INVITATION

To the Editor of the Star:

Would you be good enough to print the following letter in your next issue of the Star?

To the Winchester Public:

The Board of Directors of the Winchester Group Theatre would like to encourage constructive criticism among the members of its audience of Nov. 20, at the Group Production —"The Cat and the Canary."

Whereas formerly the members of this Group have invited criticism only by inference, in exposing themselves to the views of their various audiences, they would now like to do this by direct invitation.

Candid opinions are earnestly solicited as regards any portion of the handling of this production such as lighting, scenery, direction, stage management, and so forth, as well as acting.

Such letters, of which the Board hopes there will be many, should be addressed to Eugene Pollard, Chairman Board Directors, 31 Winthrop street, Winchester, as soon as possible after the performance, in order that proper reference to them may be made in next week's Star.

Very truly yours,
Eugene Pollard, Chairman
Winchester Group Theatre

BOGGED

To the Editor of the Star:

Distrust of the President of the United States is rapidly developing in London and other Europeon centers, even as it has long existed among business men in this country. Especially in London investors and financiers doubt his sincerity and consider him a much over-rated man. They are looking at our national debt and rubbing their eyes. There must be something wrong somewhere. Who is to blame? He must balance the budget or lose the confidence of all foreigners; he has already lost it among wise Americans. Only the American business man and the "economic royalists", bulwarks of the republic whom Mr. Roosevelt has abused condemned and ridiculed for the last four years, can save the United States from bankruptcy. And tney cannot do it unless he changes his tactics and shows by deeds rather than by fireside talks and vain promises that he means to do something about it, do what the "economic royalists" or anybody else with common sense would have done four years ago. All his stupid policies having failed, all have been tried over and over again in the past and have always failed, he finds himself thoroughly discredited. Now there is a frantic effort to "pass the buck," he and his henchmen blaming the business man. If he would only co-operate The government has never stood behind business, it has exploited it. Mr. Roosevelt thought he could get along without the help of the "economic royalists." He knows better now.

Despite the warnings of the wise that they were taking the wrong road, the President, with Tammany Farley, on one hand, the Ku Klux Klan on the other and he in the middle, followed by his confused and wabbling cabinet, have taken the trail into the swamp of failure and stagnation. They are bogged. Now listen to their cry for help of the "economic royalists" whom Mr. Roosevelt has ridiculed with so much pleasure. It is to be hoped that he and his crowd of henchmen, most of them as impracticable as he himself some of them equanimous nonenities, may realize before they are hopelessly bogged that they have taken the wrong trail. They have been unable to see through the smoke of their pipe dreams, bumping into each other in their confusion as they stumbled over the broken fragments of policies elsewhere discarded long ago because of their uselessness and the failures resulting from the application of them. If the present Washington administration had a monopoly of the business they would go bankrupt selling ice water in Hell. Is it not wrong to experiment with other people's money when the same experiment has already been tried over and over again and failed.

Addressing the Academy of Political Science in a speech that should have been made two years ago, Secretary Morgenthau gave weak assurance that excessive government spending would be slowly resisted! The address did not have the ring of good coin. It smelled of the New Deal as though it had lain for a while on a desk in the White House. It was part milk and part water, part Roosevelt and part common sense but it was entirely lacking in a clear clarion call for a fight to the finish for economy and a balanced budget. It did not amount to much because it was too Rooseveltan to be wholly reassuring.

Well, speaking of constructive criticism, what is there to offer? Let us remember that destructive criticism of a bad policy is constructive. The multitudinous, extravagant, unwieldly Washington bureaus shouto be made into one department administered by an "economic royalist" who, by his successful management of big business, has demonstrated his ability to handle large affairs. Fire the equanimous nonenities. Turn the management of relief back to the states. Stop the construction of the Grand Coulee dam, the Administration's imbecile child, brother of the Passamaquoddy Dam idiot. Economize and balance the budget.

"Curtail your crops, plant less acreage." said the President and then he started spending millions of dollars on the Grand Coulee dam to get water to irrigate thousands of acres of arid land on which to plant more crops when the orders were for less! The dam will not be needed for 100 years.

"There are millions of poor, undernourished, hungry people in the country," said the President. Then turning to the farmers he said, "Plant less, destroy your corn and wheat and pigs and I will pay you for doing it." Is it not stupid almost to incredibility? If your neighbor had no food and was hungry and underfed and you had more than you could sell or use would you destroy it and let him go hungry?

High taxes are dangerous and any President who makes them is a bad President. Business has been penalized and progress stopped by the National Retardinge Act, erroneously called the National Recovery Act, and now the people are being flimflamed by the Social Insecurity Act, deceptively called the Security Act. The government confiscates the people's good money and deposits it in its strong box where it is supposed to remain. However, being hard up the hoard is too tempting. It goes to the box, takes what it wants for spending purposes and deposits a paper I O U in its place. If the present government policies are continued the I O U's will be simply other scraps of paper, the people will have been robbed just as they were robbed of their gold and social security vanished into thin air.

Business is "rarin' to go" but it is afraid, retarded by fear of some foolish act of a stupid, insincere administration that has destroyed confidence. If the President would attend to affairs of state, economize, let business alone, guarantee no meddling and support industry the factory wheels would begin to turn inaugurating a new era of golden prosperity.

MARK SULLIVAN'S LETTER

Calls Social Security "Racket" That Would Jail An Individual

By Mark Sullivan

Wash.—I don't wish to tell the world about my small financial affairs, but its the best way to clarify a matter having public importance. Every Friday afternoon I deduct 35 cents from my secretary's pay—her check is made out for 35 cents less than I promised to give her. I don't do it because I want to, I do it because the government says I must. If I don't do it the government can fine me or put me in jail.

I take this 35 cents and I send it to Secretary Morgenthau for the United States Treasury. (I am allowed to let it accumulate for four weeks and send a chesk for $1.40). The Administration says that it is going to save this money for my secretary and pay it back to her as a pension after she is 65 years old.

I don't like the system. I would rather pay my secretary what I promised to pay her and let her do her own saving; she is a competent person who owns her own home and carries an endowment insurance policy. For that matter, whether she is a saver or a spender, makes no difference to me. I think she ought to get all her pay, and then save it or spend it as she likes. I don't think its my business, or the government's business what she does with her pay. It didn't used to be the government's business when America was a free country.

Money Treated as Cash in The Till

Very well, every four weeks I make out a check for $1.40 and send it to Mr. Morgenthau. I have to sign a lot of blanks, too, dozens of blanks. blanks with such fine print—I sign everything my secretary pokes under my pen. Some day, I suppose, I'll make some mistake that will bring the government down on me.

Mr. Morgenthau gets my check for $1.40. He or the Administration, or the law, says they are going to save this money for my secretary. But do they? They do not. They deposit my check in the bank along with their other receipts of every kind from every source. They treat my check as cash in the till. They use it for any purpose they choose.

As money, the $1.40 has gone. It has ceased to exist. But Mr. Morgenthau does this: After he has received and used up this $1.40 and enough other similar payments from other persons to make a total of $1000, he, or some of his subordinates, takes a piece of greenish paper and prints on it the words: "$1000 bond." This bond he or one of his clerks sticks in a pigeon hole somewhere and marks it "social security fund." All this—printing the $1000 bond and marking it "social security fund"—is just a bookkeeping transaction. That $1000 bond is just a piece of paper, an I. O. U.

How Will Uncle Sam Get The Money?

Some day—may the time be long postponed—my secretary is going to reach 65. At that time the government is going to pay her a pension, or ought to. Where is the money to come from?

Will the government get the money out of future taxation in that future year? Will the government take the future tax payments made by some future secretary, and use them to pay the pension of my present secretary?

But at this point the thing gets too deep for me. Vaguely, I feel there's something cock-eyed about it, but I can't understand it.

But admitting mathematical and financial dumbness, it looks to me as if, to the present Administration, this social security system has been a grand racket. They have taken in the money. Thirty-five cents here and 35 cents there, they have taken in, during this one year, a total of more than half a billion dollars. And they've spent it all. For those to whom it belongs there isn't anything to show except some I. O. U's. As for paying it back, to my secretary and other secretaries, ten, 20 or 30 years from now—well, some future Administration can have that headache.

Can't Send A Government To Jail

What the government is doing is like a father telling his children he will save part of their wages for them. So the children give the father some of their wages every Saturday night. But the father does not save the money; he spends it for himself, and in place of it substitutes I. O. U's with his signature.

I repeat, I don't know much about such matters. But one thing seems to me fairly clear. If any private citizen or insurance company did what the government is doing the private citizen would go to jail, quickly and for a long time. If you give a man money under an agreement that the man is to keep the money and pay it back to you when you're 65, and if the man spends that money, pays it out for some personal expenditure of his own—if that happens, the man goes to jail. It's called breach of trust, and it's a crime. It isn't possible to send a government to jail. Sometimes it seems a pity.

MT. HOLYOKE BOOK TALK

In the fourth of the book talks sponsored by the Winchester Mt. Holyoke Scholarship group Mrs. Bond considered two more of the outstanding successes among the fall novels.

Perhaps to many of us Mrs. Bond's interpretation of "The Citadel" by A. J. Cronin came as a surprise. This book instead of being an expose of the evils infesting the medical profession is rather an urgent plea to put this worthy calling on a sound economic basis. The medical profession should be ethical to the 20th degree pleads Cronin, but to attain this ideal all economic temptation must be banished.

In proof of Cronin's understanding of the heroism inherent in the ordinary doctor's life, Mrs. Bond read two passages. It is not an exaggeration to say that these selections will long remain in her audience's memory, for Mrs. Bond's skill in dialogue is by no means slight. This skill is further enhanced by her sympathy with and understanding of the humor and pathos underlying the lives of the most ordinary characters.

Following the discussion of "The Citadel" Mrs. Bond traced the rise to prominence of Louis Bromfield. She outlined his antecedents, education and personality in a few concise paragraphs and then went on to discuss his characteristics as a writer. His abounding and intense vitality is reflected in the vivid atmosphere of his novels. One cannot only see India—its dustiness, heat, beauty and filth but can hear and smell it in his recent novel, "The Rains Came."

At the next meeting on Nov. 30, 10 o'clock at the Winchester Public Library Mrs. Bond will give her annual talk on books for Christmas. This is your chance to check off some names on that Christmas list. Mrs. Bond has ideas for just the best book or books for every type and every age from the books to four year old to the frivilous grandmother. Mary Spaulding's attractive book display will help Christmas shoppers make appropriate choices. Be forehanded and get skilled advice on your Christmas problems.

W. C. T. U.

Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan, in an address before the National Conference of State Liquor Administrators, said, "Too much emphasis altogether has been placed on the fact that liquor produces a billion dollars in Federal and state taxes. That's not impressive to me. It's important, of course, but the American conception of decency, morality and respect of government in public life is more important. Administration of liquor that imperils the American youth, that makes liquor available in the shadows of our schools and churches, that permits carousing at untimely hours, to me is abhorrent. Its only justification can be selfish private interest. That should always yield in the public interest."

Pictures of many outstanding Winchester teams are displayed with clever cartoons of members of this year's squad. The window is well worth seeing and is attracting much attention.

LIONS CLUB

Prof. Fred Miller was the guest of the club last meeting. He gave a very excellent address on "Social Security" that brought forth many interesting facts on this much mooted subject. The members asked many questions that were graciously answered to clear up the fog that no doubt obscures the mind of the layman on this late move of the government.

President Bob Emery introduced two new members just admitted to membership in the club. They are Joe Moffett of the Moffett and McMullen undertaking establishment and Stafford Rogers of the Rogers Advertising service who is also Commander of the Winchester Post, American Legion. We are glad to have them with us as they are good workers and much interested in organization.

A commitee reported on a proposed party for Dec. 10 at Calumet which we expect to eclipse the recent Hallowe'en party that was such a success. All those who attended the last party should hold the date open. We had 140 guests at the last party and expect 200 at this one.

Next meeting will be held at Calumet Monday.

ACCIDENT ON HIGH STREET

Police Headquarters was notified shortly after 6:30 Tuesday evening of an accident on High street not far from the residence of Mr. Thomas M. Vinson.

Sergt. Charles J. Harrold and Patrolman James F. Noonan went in the Police cruiser to investigate and found that a Plymouth sedan, driven by Eric Swenson of 36 Dunster lane, while headed south was in collision with a Ford sedan, driven by Mrs. Maude B. Hitchcock of 121 Church street, who was driving north.

Both cars were wrecked. Mrs. Hitchcock was accompanied by her sons, Robert, 10, and Edward, 9. All three were taken home in the Police car and treated for contusions and abrasions by Dr. R. L. Emery. Swenson was taken by the Police to the office of Dr. Milton J. Quinn who treated him for abrasions to his right kneecap and possible broken bone in his right hand.

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, November 21.

The Golden Text is: "My soul, wait thou only upon God; for my expectation is from him" (Psalms 62:5).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And he said unto his disciples, Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat; neither for the body, what ye shall put on. . . .For all these things do the nations of the world seek after: and your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things. But rather seek ye the kingdom of God; and all these things shall be added unto you" (Luke 12:22, 30, 31).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If we follow the command of our master, 'Take no thought for your life,' we shall never depend on bodily conditions, structure, or economy, but we shall be master of the body, dictate its terms, and form and control it with Truth" (p. 228).

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

Last Wednesday evening at the Vesper Country Club, ten members of the Winchester Ski Club were guests of the Black and Blue Trail Smashers of Lowell, at their annual get-together. After dinner, moving pictures showing skiing in the Rockies and in Austria, as well as the latest in ski technique were run off. These were topped off by movies taken of the Downhill Championship race on Mt. Washington in 1936.

The directors' meeting of the Winchester Ski Club was held on Thursday, Nov. 11. At this meeting reports from the delegate Theodore Pissel and the alternate, Bradford Davis to the annual convention of the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association were given. Ted Elliott also reported that in spite of the strong bid by the Norsemen Ski Club of New York for the jumping championship for 1938, this event will be held as in the past under the auspices of the United States Eastern and the place no doubt will be Gilford, N. H. as in 1937. The championship down hill race will be on the Thunderbolt Trail, Mt. Greylock, near Pittsfield, Mass., where it was scheduled last year but due to lack of snow, was transferred to the Nose Dive Trail, Mt. Mansfield, Stow, Vt.

It was also reported that there is a great need for and scarcity of competent ski instructors throughout New England and those who were even remotely considering going into this field were urged to enter the ski schools for instructors which will be conducted throughout the winter.

A committee, headed by Frederick Fish was appointed to stage a show for the Winchester Ski Club at which the public will be welcome, on Friday, Nov. 26 at a place to be announced in next week's Star. Knowing Frederick Fish's unusual ability as an amateur movie photographer, whose ski pictures of the past have proven so outstanding, an instructive as well as entertaining evening is assured.

GOBLIN GOLD

Have you ever "hit the trail" in your imagination with the forty-niners to seek your fortune digging for gold, the elusive yellow metal?

Have you faced privation, hardship and danger risking life itself for the thrill of the uncertain?

If you have, then you know the lure of gold and the dreams and fancies built thereon.

Too often the sole reward of the quest has been in the seeking. Too often the treasure found has proven to be but "Goblin Gold," catching the eye with its glitter, but proving itself false under test.

"Gobling Gold" a comedy by Isabel E. Mackay, and winner of the first prize in the drama section of the Canadian Governor-Generals Competition in 1929, brings us a lively and laughable story of a family's carefully laid plans which go awry.

The ensuing confusion and sifting out true values from the false, surprises no one more than the family itself.

The Kenwin Club of the Second Congregational Church is sponsoring the play which will be given on the evening of Dec. 11 in Metcalf Hall, Unitarian Church.

TROOP THREE SCOUT NOTES

Through the courtesy of Lieut.-Comdr. Rush, U.S.N., Committeeman of Troop 3, two Navy Signalmen, Teasley, 1st class and Shultz, 3rd class, gave an exhibition of semaphore signaling before three of the Scout Troops on Monday evening. It was a practical demonstration and should be an incentive for all scouts to excell in signalling.

Troop 3 has the following recruits, Harold Maiullari, Richard Young, Andrew Dalton, Edward McDevitt, and Frank Horn. All are working hard and expect to pass the Tenderfoot tests very soon. Raymond Williams has transferred from the Holbrook Troop to Troop 3.

At the last Board of Review, Troop 3 scouts received the following awards: George O'Brien, 2nd Class scout, William Doubleday, 2nd Class scout, Leo Nihan, 1st Class scout, Martin Katcoff, Merit Badges in Civics Firemanship and Reading and James Weaver, Merit Badges in Cycling, Firemanship and Stamp Collecting together with a Scout Life Guard Badge and the Bronze Palm for his Eagle Badge.

Scout Commissioners Douglas and Alden officiated at the inspection of troop 3 last Monday evening.

A regular meeting of Troop 5 was held Monday evening, Nov. 15, at the Lincoln School assembly hall. All members were present. Anthony Lungo was initiated into the troop by his patrol leader, Charles Ferro, assisted by Joseph Marchesi. The usual ceremony took place.

Members are divided into two patrols, Panther patrol and Silver Fox patrol. On December 31, the team receiving the greatest number of points will enjoy a trip to the Y. M. C. A. At present the Panther patrol is leading with 672 points to 520 points of the Silver Fox patrol.

Directly after the meeting, the troop marched to the home of their chairman, Mr. Vincent Gigliotti, to pay their respects to his wife, the late Mrs. Mary Derro Gigliotti who passed away suddenly at her home on Tremont street. The troop also sent flowers to the funeral and was represented at the services.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murphy of Allen road have returned from a trip to Chicago.

GRANDMOTHER'S BAND BOX

A pretty, blue bandbox—purchased for a song, merely because it was such a delightful blue, and attracting so much attention in his shop that he decided to find out why, was the starting point of the now famous collection of Mr. Fred B. Tuck, of Kennebunk, Me. Exhibiting many of his finest boxes, Mr. Tuck told the story of his collection and the interesting experiences accompanying the acquisition of each one, to a most enthusiastic group of Fortnightly members and their guests on "Grandmother's Day," Nov. 12, in Fortnightly Hall.

Apparently these dainty boxes, gay and colorful, albeit a bit cumbersome to handle, formed an important part of milady's costume as she stepped aboard a stage coach in the early 19th century. They were bound about with a wide ribbon or "sash" carrying out the general color scheme, and through this the traveler slipped her arm. Not alone hats, but much of the feminine finery found its way into these large bandboxes, everything, in fact, that could not be tightly packed into sturdy leather trunks that would be strapped on top of the coach.

Those club members who are grandmothers were guests of honor for the afternoon, and two grandmothers, Mary Fenno and Mary Ross, poured at the delightful tea which followed the meeting. Grandparent orchids went to Mary Winn, who is the proud grandmother of nine and great grandmother to three, and to Emma Marston who is grandmother to four and great grandmother to two. Other proud grandmothers to be honored were Ida Ripley, Ruth Priest, Alice Drew, Edith Maddocks, Sarah Merriam, Lillian Choate, Mabel Nichols, Elizabeth Speedie, Mary Symmes and Louise Tindall.

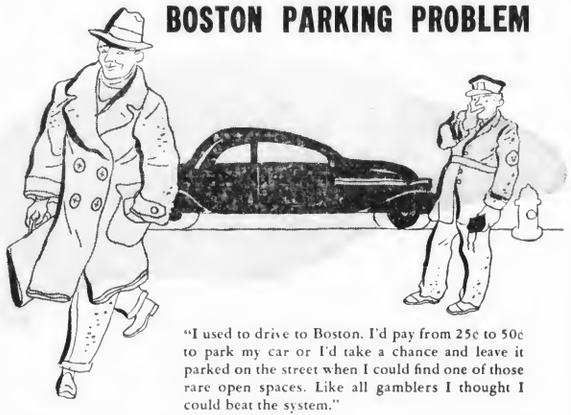
The Man Who Solved The

BOSTON PARKING PROBLEM



"I used to drive to Boston. I'd pay from 25¢ to 50¢ to park my car or I'd take a chance and leave it parked on the street when I could find one of those rare open spaces. Like all gamblers I thought I could beat the system."

"Well, I didn't! One way or another parking tags and fines cost me plenty."

"I thought it over. Driving to Boston was a task, not a pleasure. Frequently I was late getting in town or home to dinner."

"Met a friend who commutes by B and M trains. 'Get smart'—he said—'Meet me on the train tomorrow.' I did. I have been doing it ever since. I'm saving a lot of money and it's twice as much fun."

HEAVY FINES FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

Upon complaint of Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy of the Police Department, Lucido Bortone of 147 Albion street, Somerville and Robert H. Kroepsch of 939½ Main street Woburn, were on Tuesday morning in the Woburn District Court found guilty by Justice William H. Henchey of driving so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public. Each was fined $50 and appealed.

The complaint, which was prosecuted by Police Chief William H. Rogers, grew out of an accident that took place Oct. 25 shortly after 3 o'clock at the junction of Mt. Vernon street and Highland avenue. Bortone was driving a Pontiac sedan south on Highland avenue and Kroepsch was driving a Plymouth sedan east on Mt. Vernon street. In the resulting collision one of the cars was overturned and Bortone claimed injuries. Sergeant Cassidy investigated the accident and had two Winchester residents in court as witnesses.

SPOKE BEFORE LIONS

Social Security Discussed at Monday Meeting

The guest speaker at the Lions Club of Winchester on the occasion of its regular meeting was Fred Miller, B. S., M. B. A., B. Litt. (Oxon), Dean of the Oxford School of Business Administration, Cambridge. Before a full meeting of members he delivered an illuminating lecture upon "The Struggle Between Liberty and Security," a subject now occupying the minds of every business man and employee.

Extracts from Prof. Miller's talk are interesting. The American people are accepting many of these evidences of security on faith. Few have read these acts of Congress and fewer still have examined into the implications. In part, Prof. Miller said:

Naturally we cannot discuss within a short period all the various types of individual security, but we may examine the old age pension. Now I cannot make up my mind whether or not we should have an old age pension. If we do not have one, there are a lot of people we are going to keep. Upon second thought, will we not keep them anyway? Are they not largely the same old crew who did odd jobs while their wives took in washing to keep them?

If this be true, why do you have this atrocious old age pension you have now? It is the most vicious act ever put on the statute books of any country in the history of man.

There are arguments in favor of this old age pension. In the first place, many who would not save are forced to save. Prohibition was forced non-drinking. They drank, didn't they?

In the second place it will make the people tax conscious. The employer is the collector of the tax. He is either conscious or unconscious now. It is true that the man who has been having it taken from his pay since Jan 1 is conscious of the tax. How about the youth in short pants? Their memories are short. When they go to work, will they not think of their pay as net of the tax? If it be true that the wage earner really becomes conscious of the old age pension, there will be a lot of homes, particularly in Washington, that will have a change of tenants in the not too distant future.

In the third place, when you old codgers get off on your pensions, a great vista will open to youth. Does not the volume of goods and services consumed depend upon buying power? If there be an equal flow from earners to non-earners, no change will take place in buying power. Apparently this vista does not open until about 1980 to 1981. It is ridiculous to assume a static society. For at least a dozen years, the old age pension is inflationary, so it may be possible that the boon to youth may be a boomerang.

On the other hand, there are certain definite disadvantages to this old age pension. It is class legislation. It insures less than 50 per cent of the employed people. All or none should be insured, because no man now living knows whether or not he will have a pair if trousers at 65.

It discriminates among those insured in two ways. If a man earns $100 a month for 25 years, he receives a pension of $37.50 per month; if another man earns $200 a month for 25 years, he receives a pension of $56.25 per month. Twice the earnings and twice the contributions gain an increase of 50 per cent in pension. This is based on the theory that you strong men should contribute to the welfare of your weaker brethren. Do you not build up a standard of living in your life-time, so that the strong and weak alike feel a 25 per cent cut? Is it not true also that the strong makes a larger contribution to the welfare of his country? Is he not, therefore, entitled to a fair return on his investment?

By the grace of God, you men, between the ages of 53 and 65, come in for a special deal. Did you miss the last draft in the last war or have you suffered some particular hardship at the hands of your countrymen? You come in for exactly the same pension as men under 53, but you never contribute three per cent of your wage income. Do you realize that your contributions will not meet your benefits? We will find it necessary to dig down into our pockets to meet our obligations to you between 1942 and 1917, and perhaps longer.

We have already provided an inheritance tax, particularly aimed at the rich. The old age pension gives you an inheritance tax on the poor, not immediately, but in the years to come. Take the impossible person, the man who might attain the maximum pension of $85 per month. He would have to earn $3000 a year for 45 years He would have paid in $8,100 during his life time, which, invested at three per cent would give a worth of $17,168 at the age of 65. Suppose this man dropped dead at 65, the government could settle with his estate for $4,725, or an inheritance tax of $12,400. How do we treat his weaker brother? Suppose we take the man who earns $100 a month for 45 years. He would pay in $3,240, which would have a net worth of $6,676 at 65. If he dies at 65, the government could settle for $1,890 or a tax of $4,800. The story about the weaker brother does not work here—the tax is a flat rate. Have you men come to the point where you will treat women and children in such an unchivalrous manner? Where is your sense of justice?

You may retort this injustice to women and children will be used to pay those who pass the normal span of life. Hear ye from Section 206 of the Act: "Upon his death there shall be repaid to the United States by his estate the amount, if any, by which such total amount paid to him during his life exceeds" 3½ per cent of his life's income.

Gentlemen, how do you intend to use the funds from this new inheritance tax?

May we examine the destination of your social security dollar? It decreases your deposit at the bank and increases the government's deposits. The Security of the Treasury is to invest in three per cent United States Government securities, the proceeds in excess of the requirements to meet current pension payments, but the funds are still available for government use.

This scheme eventually builds up a government debt of nearly 47 billion dollars. Add to this other investments required in government bonds of 20 billions. You have set your debt at 67 billions whether or not you need to borrow. Forty-seven, at least, are not redeemable.

Gentlemen, how do you intend to invest these 31 billions? If you add the new inheritance tax, you will be ready to do things on a big scale. Do you plan to engage in large investments in public projects, which will not increase the welfare of mankind? Do you plan to go into competition with private enterprise? Do you plan to provide commerce and industry with working capital? Do you plan to invest in equities of commercial and industrial enterprises? Do you plan to make a gigantic trading corporation of your government? At present labor can sit down and strike. Will it have the same liberty under the new economic order? Now labor has many possible employers. Will it have but one in the new order Do you now understand why this is the most vicious act ever placed on the statute books of any country in the history of man?

In conclusion, this old age pension should be ditched and ditched now. It threatens our liberty, which we might well give up if the pension would give us security. Obliviously, it is insecurity, hence we lose two fundamental instincts of man at one stroke.

Just now all our fire is aimed at capitalism. It makes not one whit of difference whether you live under absolute monarchy, communism, democracy, dictatorship, or socialism, you still have capitalism. To strike at capitalism, is to strike at the fundamental basis upon which modern civilization lives. The form of government is merely a mechanical structure, built by man, to which other men pay homage. You may take your choice, but democracy alone gives all men an opportunity to compete in the struggle for recognition. All other types of government throttle either the liberty or the security, or both, of men.

FREE FRENCH LESSONS

A class in elementary conversational French offered to men and women of Winchester and neighboring cities and towns under the auspices of the Division of University Extension was organized last Friday at the Winchester High School, according to an announcement by Commissioner of Education James G. Reardon. Considerable interest was shown at the prospect of an opportunity to "brush up" in French by practice in conversation with other like-minded persons, and much enthusiasm was expressed over the spirited and able guidance of the instructor, Miss Emily H. Chamberlain, A. M. (Columbia University) who comes from Boston to conduct the course.

The class will continue for seven more weeks, and as there is still room for more in the course, enrollments will be accepted at the next meeting to be held on Friday of this week, Nov. 19, at 3 p. m. at the high school.

Anyone interested in hearing or using the French language is cordially invited to attend.

The remaining bridesmaids are Miss Loretta Carleton of Winchester, Miss Olive Werme of Worcester, Miss Helen Barry of Winchester and Mrs. Donald Ritchie of Marblehead.

The head usher at the church, and at the reception at the Winchester Country Club, will be Miss Abbott's brother, T. Grafton Abbott, Jr., of Cambridge. Two other brothers, William Abbott of Cambridge and Walter D. Abbott of East Orange, N. J., will be in the usher corps which will also include their cousin, Alexander W. WINCHESTER OUTCLASSED WOBURN

Defeated Old Rival 46—0 Before Huge Holiday Crowd

Before a huge holiday crowd on a perfect football morning Winchester High defeated Woburn High School 46—0, Thanksgiving forenoon, handing the Tanners the worst trimming either school has experienced at the hands of the other over the past 25 years.

Woburn was completely outclassed, its offense failing to get anywhere at all against the hard charging local forwards while its defense could at no time consistently cope with Winchester's varied offense, an offense that showed several spandy new plays developed for the Tanners, including a long pass from a reverse that was a "pip."

The Orange kept trying and battled gamely in the face of overwhelming odds, but its fight was that of a bunch of scrappy kids striving as individuals against a powerful and smoothly coordinated machine, a veteran team that for once was in high gear for Woburn.

Winchester rolled up 17 first downs and 297 yards by rushing against 3 first downs and 34 yards for Woburn. Through the air the locals completed five of eight passes for 131 yards while Woburn made one of nine aerials good for 19 yards, having two of its passes intercepted. Winchester lost 14 yards from scrimmage and was set back the unbelievable total of 80 yards in penalties. Woburn's rushing loss eclipsed its gain, being 52 yards, but the Tanners did not draw a penalty. Both teams fumbled once and recovered. Winchester blocked two Woburn kicks, but had one recovery nullified by an offside penalty.

The game was about five minutes along when Hoff kicked to Winchester's 30, and a fumble by "Art" Johnson after a backfield mixup lost seven yards. Ficociello dropped back to kick, but instead of booting the ball scooted for the sidelines and drove along to midfield where he cut sharply into the center of the field behind nice interference, and straightening out, outran the field 75 yards for a touchdown. Vital blocks by "Lad" Millican and "Clem" Bairstow removed the only Orange players who might have hauled the flying "Ficy" down. Murray failed to buck for the extra point.

Gorman ran Ficociello's kickoff back to his 41, but the Tanners' offense bogged badly and on fourth down "Pete" Sibley squarely blocked Hoff's punt, the ball being recovered by "Jack" Finger on Woburns 29. Before the stands had stopped yelling Ficociello faded and arched a perfect pass to "Art" Johnson, who pulled down the ball at the 10 and legged it over at the far corner of the field. Ficociello converted at placement and Winchester had made in a single quarter more points than it had scored in any game against Woburn since "Hennie" Knowlton's team won 19—0 in 1927.

The second quarter was not long underway when Woburn was forced to kick and Hoff's boot was downed on his own 49. Ficociello hit tackle for five and a nifty double lateral from a short forward went to first down at the 34. Ficociello knifed through for two and "Pete" Galuffo ripped away from three tacklers on a reverse for a first down at the 20. Ficociello bucked for five, and "Doug" Graham turned Woburn's left end for a jaunt to the three. On the next play Graham circled his own right end for the touchdown. Ficociello kicked in the extra point.

Winchester lost another fine chance to score toward the end of the half when Johnson and "Fran" Murray did some nice carrying to advance to the Woburn three. A 15 yard penalty for holding gummed things up and Ficociello missed a field goal that "Charlie" Brickley would hardly have attempted.

The kick was blocked and recovered by the Orange on its 31. Another 15 yarder against Winchester for unsportmanlike conduct put the ball on the 46, and here Woburn made its only scoring threat. A long forward was nicely completed by a watch-charm Orange gamester at Winchester's 40 and the scurrying tanner was actually out in front when he was pulled down by "Art" Johnson at Winchesters 35.

The half ended on the next play and the Orange never again threatened. The crowd had hardly settled itself for the third quarter when Ficociello intercepted a Woburn pass and reached the tanner's 34. On third down from the 29 yard line, after a neat reverse, Johnson tossed off a fork-handed pass down the field to Sibley who was dropped by a last-ditch tackle on the Woburn 5.

Winchester lost 5 for offside, but Murray got back six and on the next play scampered over through a nice hole at Gardner's tackle. Ficociello again converted.

Right after the kickoff Woburn had to punt and the locals started at the Tanner's 45. In two rushes Ficociello made first down at the 35 and then faded back to fling a long pass out to the left where "Clem" Bairstow made a beautiful running over-the-shoulder catch to reach the Woburn eight. Few figured the rangy end to get the ball at all, but get it he did, and "Art" Johnson quickly hit off tackle for the touchdown. Ficociello's kick for the extra point was blocked.

About midway through the final quarter "Elmer" Ficociello intercepted a Woburn pass and returned to Woburn's 29. Two nice runs by Murray reached the 19, but here Woburn braced and took the ball on downs at its 22. Two passes were grounded, a reverse was spilled by

LEAVES DAUGHTER HERE

Charles H. Hood Father of Mrs. Roland H. Boutwell, 2nd

Mr. Charles Harvey Hood, retired president of the firm of H. P. Hood & Sons, often characterized as the man who made the milk business in this part of the country, who died at his home, Cherry Hill Farm, North Beverly, Monday, was the father of Mrs. Roland H. Boutwell, 2nd, of Foxcroft road, this town.

For 35 years from 1900 to 1935, he was president of the great New England milk concern, one of the largest milk distributors in the world. He was reputed to have been the first to pasteurize milk perfectly in this section of the country, the first to maintain laboratories for milk analysis here, and the first to undertake the distribution of milk in glass jars.

One of his greatest philanthropic interests was to help poor boys receive a college education and many boys in New England have been sent to the various land grant colleges in the section through his efforts. He had also founded a number of scholarships in the University of Vermont for boys with an interest in agriculture.

Since his retirement he had not been in the best of health and spent most of his time at home.

With the death of his father in 1900 he became president of the firm, and soon built up the concern to be one of the four largest of its kind in the world. In 1893, as the result of his studies of the research of Louis Pasteur and his following of the Nathan Strauss experiments in New York, he was the first to introduce the pasteurization of milk in New England.

He was credited with having won more gold medals for high quality milk than any other dealer in the country, and his company was one of the first to ship milk across the ocean and cross the continent for the exclusive use of feeding infants.

He was president of the International Association of Milk Dealers in 1915-16, and was president of the Rotary Club of Boston in 1922-23. He was trustee of New Hampshire University up to the time of his death.

In 1886 he married Katherine Wyman Eastman of Derry, N. H. She died two years ago.

He leaves four children, Harvey P. Hood 2nd of Cambridge, Mrs. Roland H. Boutwell 2nd of Winchester, Mrs. Russell M. Sanders, Wellesley Hills, and Mrs. Robert R. Diefendorf of Summit, N. J.; a brother, Edward J. Hood of Newton; two sisters, Mrs. J. W. Johnston of Manchester, N. H, and Mrs. M. M. Smith of Boston, and 13 grandchildren.

Members of the En Ka Society who filled the baskets and assisted with the distribution included Mrs. Thomas Righter, Jr., Mrs. Lawrence Martin, Mrs. James Dwinell, Jr., Mrs. E. George Pierce, Jr., Mrs. Stephen Neiley, Mrs. William Beal, Mrs. William Cusack, Mrs. Charles Werley and Mrs. Charles H. Woolley.

Park Commissioner George T. Davidson served as president of the Community Relief Committee with Mrs. Harry C. Sanborn, treasurer and Miss Sullivan, secretary.

ENGLISH BOY CHORISTERS

A large gathering is expected on Monday evening to hear the English Boy Choristers who are to sing at 8 o'clock at the Church of the Epiphany with Dr. Francis W. Snow of Trinity Church, Boston, as organist.

The choristers are selected singers from the prominent churches of England, trained in the famous London Choir School and at present on a Good Will Tour of America. Several of the boys had the distinction of singing at the coronation of King George VI.

Highly praised by music critics wherever they have appeared, the English choir boys are sure to present a program which no music lover should miss. There will be no admission charge at the Epiphany on Monday evening, but a collection will be taken.

CHRISTMAS T. B. SEALS

The Christmas Tuberculosis Seals bring the last appeal for help in 1937, but it is by no means the least in importance. The sale of these seals is not only for the good of the community at large, it is for the protection of every one of us. Just as long as there are cases of tuberculosis in our midst—no one is safe from infection.

We have perhaps been too satisfied with the work that has been done in past years and have felt we could withdraw our support as tuberculosis deaths steadily declined. Up to 1936 one might have been justified in that point of view but the increase of deaths last year—nearly 1500 over the preceeding year—has shown us we have much further to go before we can relax our efforts in stamping out tuberculosis.

That the disease can in time be eliminated is proved by the death and case records of some years past. To decrease one's efforts in any way at this time would be to undo all the wonderful work that has been accomplished up to date. Sixty per cent of the money we raise by the sale of Christmas Seals in Winchester, can be and is spent for our own townspeople. Beside this per cent we benefit largely from the account that goes to the County. So when you buy Christmas Seals in Winchester, you make your own town a safer and healthier place in which to live.

DREDGING UPPER MYSTIC LAKE

In a recent article which appeared in the Star and the Boston Globe it told how our representative and senator met with our Board of Selectmen to discuss possible legislation in 1938 for the dredging of upper Mystic Lake. It stated that both gentlemen offered their services whenever necessary and that our Board of Selectmen will co-operate with them at any time.

The residents of the Everett avenue and Lakeview road may be interested in just what they propose to do. It is reported that they intend to drain all the water out by taking the flash boards out at Medford and leave the upper Mystic an expanse of flats while they remove the mud with a steam shovel. The upper lake has never been cleaned out since it was flooded by the old Charlestown Water Works about 80 years ago and plenty of mud has collected in those years.

MORTON—BURGESS

Miss Agnes Burgess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Burgess of Fletcher street and Jack Alton Morton, also of Winchester and son of Mr. and Mrs. William Morton of New Germany, N. S., were quietly married on Thanksgiving Eve at the parsonage of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Epsicopal Church by the pastor, Rev. George A. Butters. There were no attendants.

After the ceremony a small reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Stanley Brazel, on Middlesex street in Woburn. Mr. Morton and his bride are to make their home on Fletcher street.

POPE—JANSEN

A marriage of Winchester interest took place at New Prospect Church near Pine Bush, N. Y., last Saturday, when Miss Caroline Baury Jansen, daughter of Lieut.-Col. Thomas E. Jansen, U. S. A., retired, and Mrs. Jansen of Pine Bush and Washington, D. C., became the bride of William Adams Pope, son of Mrs. Walter F. Pope of Sandwich and the late Mr. Pope. The bride's parents formerly made their home in Winchester on Wolcott road, and the family is well known here.

The ceremony was performed at noon by Rev. Harold L. Andress, rector of Grace Episcopal Church at Middlestown, N. Y., and was followed by a reception held at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of heavy ivory satin trimmed with duchess lace from her mother's wedding dress. She was attended by her sister, Miss Elsie B. Jansen, as maid of honor and by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Thomas E. Jansen, Jr., of Cambridge, the former Miss Hope Slade of Fall River, as matron of honor. They wore blue velvet gowns and hats and both carried red roses.

Charles Knowles Pope of Boston, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and Thomas E. Jansen, Jr., brother of the bride, ushered.

The bride attended Miss Madeira's School in Washington and is a graduate of the National Park Seminary. For the past two years she has been living in New York. She is the granddaughter of the late Captain Robert Forbes Bradford, U. S. N., and the late Mrs. Bradford. The bridegroom was graduated from Milton Academy and is now associated with F. S. Mosely & Co., investment bankers in Boston.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Miss Louise Wild of Everett avenue and Miss Jean Roberts of Sheffield road were house party guests last week-end at Tabor Academy in Marion.

The following students at the Moses Brown School are at home for the Thanksgiving holiday. They will return to Providence Sunday: J. Addison Garner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Garner of 3 Summit avenue and Richard C. Peirce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Peirce of 10 Marshall road.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dexter are entertaining a small group before the Florence Crittenton dance.

Two cars were stolen in Winchester over the holiday and two motorists arrested for driving under the influence of liquor. Both cars were recovered, one a short distance from where it was stolen, and the other in Woburn.

The local Police had a busy time of it Wednesday evening, keeping a crowd of some 200 Woburn rooters moving out of town. The visitors found two officers on duty at the athletic field and there was a guard maintained there all night.

SKI MOVIES!

Sun Valley, Ketchum, Idaho, and Mt. Mansfield, Stow, Vt., are the setting for a series of movies showing Charlie Proctor, former member of the Olympic Ski team, step by step going through the ski paces from the simplest turns right through the most difficult high speed skiing.

These three exceptional films are so booked up throughout New England Ski Clubs that the only chance for Winchester to see them is tonight at Lyceum Hall, over the Edison Light at 7.45 p. m. Also, there will be shown by Frederick Fish, several reels of the championship down hill race over Tuckerman's Head Wall and Wild Cat Trail.

Whereas some of these pictures are instructional, the rest are particularly thrilling and attractive to skiers, showing high speed skiing, slalom and championship races.

The public is cordially invited and to those beginners or newly interested skiers, as well as old timers who wish to keep up to date, these pictures are of tremendous value.

See the Winchester Ski Club advertisement on page 7.

WINCHESTER BOY COACHED NORWICH FRESHMEN

Vincent Tranfaglia, son of Mr. Giovanni Tranfaglia of Swanton street, has been coaching the Norwich freshman eleven this fall.

"Charlie Muggs," as he is known to local football followers, captained last year's Norwich varsity and was one of the best lineman to wear the Maroon and Gold in recent years. He prepared for college at Winchster High where he was an all-Middlesex League tackle, being the smallest boy to win recognition at this he-man post since the inception of the league. Despite his lack of weight and stature, Tranfaglia played some great ball for Norwich, winning universal commendation from the teams against which he played.

UNEMPLOYMENT CENSUS

The President sent me a card and as a token of regard I printed all the details black, as I was asked, and sent it back. By now, he knows I'm unemployed; I don't think he'll be overjoyed, especially as a million more will soon be waiting at his door. The count may prove a sorry blow—I'll bet he wished he didn't know!

Troop 5

The Boy Scouts of Troop 5 held a meeting at the Lincoln School, Monday, Nov. 22. Thomas Derro has been transferred from Troop 1 to Troop 5. The two patrols staged a stunt night, the winning patrol, the Silver Fox, received 150 points, the losing patrol received 75 points. The score stands now—Panther 844, Silver Fox 762. The competition closes Nov. 29.

Tenderfoot—Wilbert Callanan, Donald Johnson.

Merit badges were awarded to Carleton Boliver and Walter Bradley for rowing and swimming, Tasker Hatch for swimming and Ray Harris for life saving.

At a regular meeting of the troop held in the recreation room of the First Baptist Church a Thanksgiving basket was packed with turkey and all the fixings and will be delivered to a worthy family by Committeeman John C. Casler and Scoutmaster Ray Bohannon in plenty of time for Thanksgiving dinner.

CARS RIFLED MONDAY EVENING

While attending a Boy Scout meeting at the First Congregational Church on Monday evening the automobiles of three Winchester men were rifled, some flashlights, gloves, tools and a leather case being taken.

Police Headquarters was notified and Patrolman James E. Farrell rounded up four Winchester boys alleged to be responsible. They will be summonsed into court. Police say they secured their loot by prying open the dash compartments of the machines, all of which were locked.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

With the announcement that there has been a slight increase this year in the tuberculosis death rate in the United States, tuberculosis associations all over the country are redoubling their efforts to combat this disease. Funds for this fight come from the annual sale of Christmas Seals which takes place between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Citizens of Winchester will have the opportunity to do their bit by purchasing these penny seals which are used to decorate letters and packages at the holiday season. All of the money raised goes for tuberculosis prevention; over half of it is used in this community.

Mrs. Mary Carpenter, chairman of the Winchester Tuberculosis Committee says the seals are ready for mailing so that they will be delivered the day after Thanksgiving Day. She looks for a generous response to this appeal which means health protection for every home.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON DANCE

The Florence Crittenton dance to be held at the Winchester Country Club Dec. 4 is creating great interest. Judging from the number of dinner parties arranged before the dance this will be one of the social events of the season.

When you buy Christmas Tuberculosis Seals you are helping to stamp out that disease. n26-4t

BETHANY NOTES

The annual fall sale which was held last Friday, was exceedingly well attended, both afternoon and evening.

Some late comers, intending to patronize Mrs. Fred Saunders, who had a well stocked table of delicious looking cakes, pies, preserves and all the good things it takes to make a food table complete, were chagrined to find—like old Mother Hubbard—the cupboard was bare.

Mrs. Edward Webber's wonderful assortment of "grabs" provided the kiddies with much amusement—and we notied some others that were not exactly in that class, could not resist that certain yen to try their luck, so that by evening her stock was completely depleted—"do you grab me?"

There was only one fault to be found with Miss Dorothy's candy—it sold too quickly, and when we arrived, had to content ourselves with a box of molasses candies, the only box left on the table, which had been so well filled with all sorts of delectable sweets.

The fancy work booth was in charge of Miss Abbie Potter, who had as usual, a fine assortment of everything that goes to makea table complete, and her articles, both useful and ornamental, were quickly reduced to a minimum.

Mrs. Fogg and Mrs. Twombly disposed of a large number of aprons of every description.

The vegetable booth, which was a bit of a novelty this year, was presided at by Mrs. Charles Bonnell and Mrs. Peter MacDonald. Mrs. Bonnell's presentment that a booth of this sort would be profitable, proved to be correct.

The booths were all elaborately and attractively decorated by Mr. Warren Fogg.

The Harvest Supper proved to be a red letter event, approximately 150 guests being served. The committee in charge of the sumptuous supper follows: Mrs. L. J. Higgins, Mrs. Susan Foster, Mrs. Gunnar Abrahamson, Mrs. Ralph Perkins, Mrs. Charles Kendrick, Mrs. Gladys Thompson and Mrs. Rony Snyder.

Be sure and save the date of the next luncheon, Dec. 7.

We understand Dec. 11 is the date the Kenwin Club has set for their play, "Goblin Gold," so watch for further announcements, and reserve that date.

GOBLIN GOLD

What is "Goblin Gold?" Is it true gold or just glitter?

Would a shivering, quivering, near-sighted old man, coming out of the great west in shabby clothes have true gold? What does his timid apologetic manner cover?

Will this old prospector's poor city relatives, living in the crowded basement of their apartment house welcome him? Or, will it be the rich domineering relative from the other side of town who takes him in?

Romance, comedy and the answers to these questions, all will be shown on Dec. 11 at 8:30 p. m., when Winchester can see and hear for itself this novel and interesting play.

The play "Goblin Gold" is being produced by the Kenwin Club of the Second Congregational Church, and is being coached and directed by Mrs. Harry C. Goodwin.

The Kenwin Club has been very fortunate in that the Unitarian Church is very kindly permitting them to use their well equipped hall and stage in Metcalf Hall for their presentation.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The Winchester Chapter, Guild of the Infant Saviour, held its regular meeting Tuesday in Lyceum Hall. Two prizes, consisting of a beautiful doll, won by Mr. William Drummy of Jamaica Plain, and a plum pudding won by Miss Josephine Brine, were awarded. There was a large attendance present and tea was served following the sewing meeting. Hostesses for the afternoon were: Mrs. Edwin Booth, chairman; Mrs. James Collins, Mrs. James W. Blackham and Mrs. John Piccolo. Grandma Dolan wishes to be remembered to all the members and would like to have them call on her at any time.

All books out on the beautiful set of dishes donated by Miss Mary A. Lyons and the doll donated by Mrs. A. S. Osterburg should be returned to the residence or at the next meeting.

KAPPA SORORITY CHARITY BALL AT MELROSE

Kappa Delta Psi sorority this year gives its 25th charity ball. The members are justly proud of this and are planning something big for a silver anniversary ball. It will be a musical show followed by general dancing at Memorial Hall on Jan. 28, 1938. The John B. Rogers Producing Co. will stage this show as well as that of Boston's Vincent Club and Winchester's Winton Club. The proceeds will go to the Well Baby Clinic of Melrose which this society has so ably supported for many years. Dr. McKenzie of Winchester is the clinic doctor.

The members of Kappa hope their Winchester friends will keep this date in mind so that charity ball dates in these adjoining communities will not conflict.

TYPICAL BOSTON TRAFFIC TIE-UP

IS THERE anyone who hasn't been caught in one of these traffic messes? Who hasn't crept along painfully? Who hasn't lost his temper or his fenders? Or being a lady, wished she wasn't — just while she told that tough driver a few things.

The answer you'll say is "No! We're all fellow sufferers."

You're wrong! There's a happy money saving group to whom a picture like this is just a photograph and not a nightmare. They don't pay parking costs — they don't worry about parking tickets. They snap their fingers at traffic. Yes, they're Boston and Maine commuters. YOU ought to be one of them.

COMMUNITY CRUSADE

This week marks the close of the Community Crusade which has been conducted in Winchester and 43 other cities and towns of Greater Boston as a preliminary educational event leading up to Greater Boston's 1938 Community Fund Campaign.

Meanwhile the campaign organization is getting rapidly under way. Raymond S. Wilkins of Winchester, chairman of the Metropolitan Division, who is building up local units in the 44 communities, will soon announce his local chairmen.

Leverett Saltonstall, 1938 campaign chairman, speaking at the luncheon which marked the end of the intensive crusade, Tuesday, Nov. 23, at the Copley Plaza, Boston, expressed his appreciation of the valuable groundwork laid by the Community Crusade, in anticipation of the coming campaign, and urged the members of the Crusade to continue their good work as members of the various campaign committees.

Mrs. Randolph K. Byers, Crusade chairman, bespoke the co-operation of Crusaders with the campaign, as well as their continued interest in the year-round educational program of the Community Crusade.

LINCOLN MOTHERS ORGANIZE

A large and enthusiastic group of mothers met in the assembly hall of the Lincoln School Friday afternoon, Nov. 19 to organize a Lincoln Chapter of the Winchester Mothers' Association.

Mrs. Greene, the president of the Winchester Association presided and conducted the business meeting.

She introduced Mrs. Joy, the past president who gave many helpful suggestions in regard to organization and conducting the meetings.

The mothers are also indebted to Miss Caldwell, president of the Washington Chapter and Mrs. McGowan, president of the Noonan Association for many helpful suggestions.

The mothers wish to take this opportunity to thank these ladies, also Mrs. James Allen, Miss Lewis and the Lincoln teachers for helping to make this first meeting so successful.

After the business meeting, musical selections were very delightfully rendered by Mr. Frank Samone and Master Angelo A. Amico, a pupil of Mr. Samone.

After the musical entertainment, tea was served by the following ladies: Mrs. Talone, chairman; Mrs. Ferrina, Mrs. Capone, Mrs. Bruzeau, Mrs. Gagliormella, Mrs. Murphy, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Riga, Mrs. Roberto, Mrs. Raymond Carroll.

The chrysanthemums that brightened the tables were the gifts of Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Roberta.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. Emilio Capone, president; Mrs. Maxine Brazeau, secretary; Mrs. Joseph Gagliormella, treasurer. Gertrude C. Iseman will represent the teachers.

STAR SELECTS ALL MIDDLESEX TEAMS

With the closing of the Middlesex League season on Turkey Day, the Star offers for the consideration of local football fans its honorary all-league teams for 1937. We have made our choice on what we have actually seen the boys do against Winchester, plus the opinions of the coaches we have been able to contact. There probably are some good boys we have missed.

William Dwyer of Belmont and Captain "Buddy" Rodgers of Concord, both experienced wingmen seem the pick of the circuit's unexceptional ends; Dwyer being a good all around performer and the rangy Rodgers, a good pass receiver. Neither is any better defensively than our second team ends, "Pete" Sibley of Winchester and "Robert" Bruce of Stoneham. As a matter of fact, "Sib" at his best, is the best defensive wing in the league, but unfortunately injuries have prevented the slight Winchester co-captain from being at his best much of this year. Bruce was an outstanding end on a mighty weak team.

Winchester's "Danno" Delorey and Belmont's Peter Flynn are easily tops as tackles, both doing everything well and being very consistent as well as sturdy enough to "take it" indefinitely. Both are a short stride ahead of the circuit's potentially leading tackle, big "Bob" Gardner of Winchester who lacks only aggressiveness, and rank further ahead of Maynard's Maskiewicz who pairs with Gardner on the second eleven.

O'Brien of Belmont is a steady guard and was one of the standouts in the good line sported by his club. McCarthy of Lexington played a bang-up good game against Winchester in a losing cause, being in the local backfiend more than any lineman we have seen this season. Neither of these boys ranks Nyholm, Maynard's effective guard, by much, and this lad draws the nod for utility lineman with the first group. For that matter, "Lad" Millican of Winchester and the bulky Toivinen of Maynard are also capable guards, the watch-charm Millican being a good offensive blocker and the stout Toivinen, a bulwark on defense. "Jack" Finger, Winchester's veteran guard, physically below par this season, was unable to show to his best advantage, and Grant of Concord, reputedly another good guard, played too little against the locals to permit his being chosen.

At center "Tony" DeTeso, Winchester's sophomore light-weight, gets the nod over the veteran "Woof" Parks of Concord, the former being a great little all-around workman who is really outstanding on defense. As a whole the league centers were mediocre this season.

Our first string backfield comprises "Ted" Arico, Belmont flash, at quarterback, Paul "Dead-pan" Lentine in the blocking position, Co-Captain "Gerry" Ficociello at the bucking post and the speedy George Downey of Maynard in the running position. Arico and Ficociello are league tops. Both were 50 per-cent of their teams' strength and no one can question their selection. Ficociello is as good an all-around back as the league has ever boasted. Arico surely can run and dodge with the best, despite his small stature, and they surely come no gamer.

Maynard's George Downey is a very fast, shifty runner, dangerous in a broken field and much stronger on defense than this type of back is usually. There is no back even close to Winchester's Lentine as a blocker, and his value to his championship club can not be over-estimated. He's made Winchester's plays go this fall and has been a tower on defense. The average fan doesn't see this type of player but your close follower of the game revels in his performance. We just couldn't leave him out of there!

Rizzo, Belmont's veteran back and super-passer, fills the utility backfield role on the first team. He didn't play against Winchester this year, but is highly regarded around the circuit and is doubtless the league's best passer.

For a second backfield we have G. Mara, Concord's effective passer, at quarterback, with "Pete" Galuffo and "Artie" Johnson of Winchester at the halfback posts and Maynard's workhorse, Charlie D'Agata at full. Nothing much wrong with this combination! Galuffo against Maynard and Lexington looked like the number three back in the league. Johnson can run, receive, pass and kick but is not too strong defensively and lacks the consistency of the first team backs. D'Agata blocks pretty well and is also a pretty fair bucker. Kenneth Nutt, veteran Lexington back and capable kicker gets the nod for the utility backfield berth with Truesdale, a good guard on a weak Stoneham team, getting the utility position on the line ahead of Winchester's "Don" Wilson, who came fast toward the season's close.

"Frannie" Murray, Winchester's speedy tailback, was away below par this season because of injuries, missing the Belmont game entirely and seeing little real service against Maynard and Lexington. If right, he would have given Mr. Downey quite an argument for that first team running job.

On the whole the competition in the league this season has been poor, the teams with the exception of Winchester and Belmont being definitely below the standard set in previous seasons. Winchester outclassed the circuit much more than any club has been able to do since the inception of the league in '31.

There has reached our desk, sandwiched in between oceans of Government propaganda, a pamphlet entitled "Appeal to Reason," headed "Chinese Militarism," and issued by the Japanese Chamber of Commerce. No wonder the Japs think we are fertile ground for discussion—after all that Americans are taking—and liking.

We have paid our October business fine! We have sent in our checks for Social Security. Our penalty for running a little one-horse business and our audacity in furnishing the livlihood for eight people during the month was just $52.61. A neat little sum multiplied by 12 and added to by the army of clerks who have a different opinion than we on what we should be assessed! And yet our Ruler in Washington demands that business shall come out of its hole and do its part in ending the present intolerable conditions of idleness! If business doesn't, according to the latest word we read, we're headed straight for a dictatorship! Headed? Well, one excuse is as good as another. If we have not reached it yet, the final announcement will make little difference.

HAVE NO FEAR!

To the Editor of the Star:

The day Congress assembled, the Stock Market moved up strongly until the President's Message came, when there was an immediate and precipitous reversal. The day closed with a net loss in the industrial average of nearly $4 a share.

Some time ago President Roosevelt said:

"The only thing we have to fear is Fear."

Today, with the possibility of the Roosevelt Recession becoming a Roosevelt Panic, it may be said with equal truth:

"The only thing we have to fear is President Roosevelt."

ADVOCATES COMMUNITY CHEST

To the Editor of the Star:

I noticed, upon getting home from the last football game of the season, that the recent drive for the hospital has been successful, and that the whole amount now has been raised. That gives me real satisfaction. So far as I know, that is probably the last drive of 1937.

Before we start in 1938, would it not be well to see if these various organizations which we are called upon to assist during the year could get together and see if we couldn't make one drive to cover everything—that is, have a Community Chest here, the same as they do in Boston, Cambridge, Brookline, and no doubt other places in the state?

I can think of the following organizations which I am always glad to help: Old People's Home, Winchester Hospital, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, and Red Cross, although I have been informed that the Red Cross cannot join in an organization of this kind. I should be glad to have the Volunteers' of America added to this list if it seems wise to the local organizations, as I think they are doing most excellent work.

May I suggest that representatives of these various organizations have a meeting at some convenient time and talk it over to see if they cannot agree upon a plan to make one job of this whole business? If all could agree before hand, as to how much they really needed, I believe we could make one appeal and each would come out as well as they do now, and the work of those who have to collect for these drives would be very much lessened. The people who contribute, I feel sure, would prefer to make one large contribution, rather than several small ones—at least that is the way I feel about it. Every one of these organizations is worthy of our support, and I wouldn't want to suggest anything that would deprive any one of them of their usual contributions. So far as I know, the cities that have tried this plan have never given it up.

Sincerely yours,
Lewis Parkhurst

SOCRATES SAYS-

CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM?

Special to the Star

We are beginning now to hear that criticism of New Deal "orders" should be constructive.

Is it possible that many American citizens no longer consider it constructive criticism to defend, protect, and uphold Constitutional Government? Are there many who really believe that demanding the maintenance of our Democracy is not sufficiently constructive, or even that it is not practical politics?

Surely few citizens (other than politicians seeking office, or those desiring "social security" through dependence on Government) can seriously believe that it would be constructive criticism to also suggest "crossing the tracks" of sound, proven economics, simply as political expediency, in order to sell "abundant life" by different methods?

Practical politics even would seem to indicate that citizens will not bring about a change until they do thoroughly realze the issue, and when they do, they will rally only to the support of those who have defended their sound Constitutional Government, otherwise why change?

The real issue is so clear that it is about time for the criticisms that will lead to a new "Declaration." The citizens of 1940 will as quickly understand and adopt one as did the citizens of 1776. The great "middle of the road" average type class of citizen is the backbone of the nation. They predominate by millions, and in the final analysis unless they become too passive, bewildered, or sophisticated, they alone will determine "where they are going" and "will order it that way."

The superstitions that generally follow depressions are giving way to logic, and "the only thing we have to fear—fear itself"—will disappear with the revival and restoration of "a free government, free enterprise, free men"; for confidence, the greatest force necessary for all progress, will thereby be released.

It would indeed be near the end if both political parties should try to "dress up" the Tax Collector to look like Santa Claus. This tendency may well be why so many millions fail to register and to vote—they say "Whats the use?"

UNEMPLOYMENT ENUMERATION

Results of the recent voluntary census of unemployment and partial unemployment in this community are to be tested for accuracy by an actual house-to-house enumerative census covering several local mail delivery routes between November 29 and December 4, Postmaster V. C. Ambrose announced today. Returns from the Nov. 16 distribution of cards will then be compared with those of the test census over these same mail routes in this town.

The routes over which the test census of unemployment will be made here were designated on Nov. 19, when Vice President Garner, at Washington, drew a numbered card from one of his big Texas hats. The number on the card indicated which routes in various cities would be covered by the house-to-house canvass.

Here, and in all other towns, the location of the routes is known only to the postmaster and those who will make the rounds. This is to prevent any possible artificial result. Postal mail carriers will start out on these routes without previous notice to the residents in these neighborhoods. The carriers have been specially instructed, and will carry a somewhat different type of card than the Unemployment Report Card distributed on Nov. 16.

The test census card is slightly larger than the Unemployment Report Card of Nov. 16 and while the questions are substantially the same they are arranged differently and are much more comprehensive. For the purposes of the test census the postal worker will list at each household on the test route, the name and age of each person over 14 years of age, and ask specifically if the person was working during the week of Nov. 14 to 20. If the person was not working full time during this period, then further questions are designed to find out if this person usually works and wants work; what persons are employed on WPA, NYA, CCC, or similar emergency projects, and other facts.

They will make a careful check-up at each house on these routes. In other cities, towns and rural areas throughout the country this same procedure will be followed. Figures from both the voluntary registration of unemployment between Nov. 16-20, and those from the enumerative census over the test routes, will then be available for comparison before Administrator John D. Biggers, makes his preliminary report about Jan. 4.

Over the country as a whole, this test census will reach about 2,000,000 persons on the more than 1,800 post office mail routes selected. Everyone living on these routes will be enumerated whether they are employed or unemployed. Thus there will be a national yardstick by which to measure the figures obtained in what was the fastest registration of persons in the United States since war days, and in which the whole community participated.

C. I. O. REPRESENTATIVE SPOKE

At the home of Mrs. Theodore W. Monroe, 37 Cabot street, Mr. Liam Donlon, field representative for the C. I. O. spoke on Nov. 23 before the members of the Department of Government and Economic Welfare of the Winchester League of Women Voters. This department is making a study of "Collective Bargaining."

Mr. Donlon prefaced his talks by a few remarks in reference to the examples of violence set for labor in this country—the early violence necessary to successfully push our frontier westward; the violence on the part of the employer around the 1890's.

Labor has had no example of peace in the past by which to guide its actions now.

To show the spontaneity of the workers in their demands for a union, Mr. Donlon told how a few months ago he was directed by the Boston office to go to New Haven where some workers wished to organize. When he arrived, he found that instead of a matter of organization, he had a strike on his hands, called by the workers themselves. The strike lasted for five or six weeks and was finally settled when an election was held with the vote 320 to 199 in favor of the C. I. O.

In speaking of the sit-down strike by a small group of workers in the Pontiac automobile factory, just terminated, Mr. Donlon explained what he believed to be the reason for these outlaw strikes on the part of small groups. He pictured the background of espionage to which the worker has been constantly subjected in the mass industries; how a workman does not dare to talk to another in an undertone because he will be suspected of talking about unions, and so be fired.

Mr. Donlon told his listeners that the employer must abandon his old concept of the men he hires as just an incidental part of the machinery to be thrown out onto the relief roles when they can no longer be profitably engaged. Instead, the employer must realize that the basic needs of these men—food, shelter, clothing, a need for educating their children decently—are like his own, and be willing to negotiate so that all may live. Until he recognizes this basic need, he cannot expect docility from the men he hires; nor will he get industrial peace. Unionization of workers is but an articulation of this basic need.

During the question period, one of the members asked Mr. Donlon why it was that everyone's back stiffened so when the C. I. O. was mentioned. Mr. Donlon said he felt that if the A. F. of L. had started the formation of industrial unions instead of the C. I. O., it would be the A. F. of L. who would now be disliked and accused of being communistic.

So much interest was aroused by the speaker, that the meeting lasted half an hour longer than usual so that all the questions might be answered.

The League of Women Voters through the efforts of the Government and Education Group sponsored a story hour at the Winchester Public Libray on Saturday, Nov. 20 at 10 o'clock. In spite of the inclement weather there were 61 children present.

Miss Priscilla Sawyer, the story teller at the Woburn Libray very kindly gave her services for the occasion. She held the children spellbound with her dramatization of several Thanksgiving and Christmas stories. The Government and Education Group of the League of Women Voters, through the co-operation of Mr. Quinn, the school superintendent were able to have as their guest speaker last Wednesday, Miss Edith Storer, the remedial reading supervisor in the grade schools in Winchester.

The final meeting of the Government and Education Group on Public Libraries will be held at Mrs. Browne's home on Monday Nov. 29 at 3 o'clock when there will be held a general discussion as to what best can be done by the Winchester League of Women Voters to help in this most important branch of public education.

MRS. JOTHAM WOODS

Word has been received in Winchester of the recent death in Los Angeles, Calif., of Mrs. Jotham Woods, a former well known resident of this town.

Mrs. Woods left Winchester about 25 years ago, later living in Bridgewater, where her husband died, and spending some time abroad before taking up residence in Los Angeles five years ago. She had recently been in good health, her death coming after only a brief illness.

While in Winchester Mrs. Woods was actively identified with the First Congregational Church and was a member of the Woman's Fortnightly Club. She was the aunt of the late Carrol J. Swan, widely known in military circles, and leaves two brothers and two nephews.

REVIEW OF WINCHESTER GROUP THEATRE PRODUCTION OF "THE CAT AND THE CANARY"

The Winchester Group Theatre gave a refreshing responsive audience occasion to do a bit of whistling in the dark last Saturday evening on their way home from the Group's able production of that still goose-pimply piece, "The Cat and the Canary."

Those cynical critics or jaded theatre goers who may have answered the urge to leave at the end of the first act were losers by a fair score of two to one. Five minutes after the second curtain, this writer was reminded of certain football teams, who after a locker-room pep talk, come back to bring the stands to their feet with an inspired perfomance. Whether Director Arthur Holman indulged in such gridiron tactics is of little consequence. It is, however, unfortunate that despite the "a few minutes" interval alloted the action of the play by the program, Mr. Holman would have had fully the half hour given to a football coach for his mid-game pep talk. Which bit of criticism should perhaps be tempered with the remark that any criticism of the Group Theatre's production could easily be applied generally to most modern amateur productions. When, if ever, amateurs overcome the desire to equal or outdo professionals, then this general criticism will disappear.

Mr. George Hayden and his hard working staff should certainly be commended and congratulated for their excellent settings. Anyone who has ever undertaken such a task knows full well they spent long arduous hours with hammer, saw, paintbrush and a great mass of heterogeneous paraphernalia. It is unfortunate that they did not realize the imperative need of balance in matters of setting. The balance that would have shown them that the excellence of their work and the action of the performance lost greatly in the much too long interval required to make the changes. Perhaps in future productions the Group would do well to look into the use of curtains and the "focussed interest" type of setting. Faces must be seen! On the stage the mouth and jaw area are even more important than the eyes, and certainly more important than the top of the head and the tip of the nose. Overhead spots need back lighting!

Generally, the actors' performances were well above the average amateurs although perhaps the less said about the first act the better. This writer got the impression that if the canaries didn't soon stop flitting from perch to perch and settle down to the serious business of spooking they'd all need an extra ration of birdseed and to have their cages covered for the night. One wonders if ever a first act was "acted quite so much," or was jammed so full of such juicy, meaningless, weaving, dodging, sitting, standing, crossing and recrossing. Somehow the actors must have been conscious of this. In the second act, as soon as they discovered that more than two words can be spoken from one position, things in general brightened up.

William Spaulding's performance of Roger Crosby made one wish he hadn't been killed off so soon. That fall, Mr. Spaulding, was altogether magnificent!

Winifred Nicholas gave one characterization of Mammy pleasant, and gave it exceedingly well. It was gratifying that as a West Indian negro she did not use the American negro dialect. One wonders, however, if Mr. Willard didn't mean something a little different for that part.

It is quite easy to understand why Lyndon B. Burnham as Harry Blythe and Theodore Godwin as Charles Wilder began to hit their stride so early. Perhaps nothing simplifies the business of being on the stage more than to have a good stage hate to hang on to. Both of these performances reflected the interest each must have felt for his part.

Mr. John Willard, the author, should be given much credit for his drawing of the character, Susan Sillsby. Edith M. Chamberlin, with the exception of a few very obscure occasions, did noble justice to Mr. Willard's drawing. Those occasions were the few times she failed to realize that teamwork is a necessary attribute to good theatre. Cicely Young in the person of Martha Hill trailed Susan in admirable fashion. Trailing was quite obviously the only reason for that part in the play. Those parts are no cameos. Martha Hill made her part one.

Contrary to life, being spooky all alone on the stage is a tough business, Perhaps because it is tough, the challenge made Anne Burnham do it so well for her Annabelle West. If she had only lighted a little more on finding those "gorgeous" jewels, that passage would have been a real highlight. (A sprig of laurel to the stage crew for the rat trap deliverance of said jewels.) Mrs. Burnham made a charming heroine. It is hard to receive several fortunes in as many forms, be frightened to death, and fall in love, all at the same time. Such circumstances should give a great chance for a voice shading, and variety of tempo.

Dr. Patterson stalked in, moved and spoke with a rhythm and perfection that was deliciously spine-tingling. His voice-shading, his gestures, his whole being, seemed tuned to give the audience a sleepless night. A perfectly grand piece of horror acting. Dr. Patterson sidled out; a kindly old country physician, by some strange metamorphosis completely the sort of pillbox to call in for Junior's mumps. Blame is a nasty word, and should never be used in a review of an amateur play. But in this case it insists on coming to mind. That unfortunate change was such a shame. Mr. Edwin A. Merriam, Jr., who played Dr. Patterson, did such a fine job, as did Director Holman, who directed the play. It is to wonder.

The fact, that next to a stage hate, a stage peculiarity makes being on the stage easier, should by no means detract from Mr. W. H. Dermot Townley-Tilson's excellent performance of Paul Jones. Obviously Mr. Townley-Tilson was having a genuinely good time. The result: the same kind of a good time for the audience. Such praise can be called anything but slight.

One property slip is away above amateur standard. Congratulations to the prop department. For some strange reason, modern dress on the modern stage falls under the heading of costume. Perhaps it is better thus. At any rate, the costumes were quite satisfactory. Those who have lived through the thankless job of prompting all will have a word of praise for Janet Dalrymple's performance of her job. Fortunately she had little obvious prompting to do, and that was done very well indeed.

If by now the reader thinks your reviewer should be under the care of Hendricks, the asylum keeper, said reviewer wishes to say that, that being the case, he believes Mr. Kenneth Hall's portrayal of that part would make him feel quite at home.

The Golden Text is: "Do they not err that devised evil? but mercy and truth shall be to them that devise good" (Proverbs 14: 22).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Talk no more so exceeding proudly; let not arrogancy come out of your mouth; for the Lord is a God of knowlege, and by him actions are weighed . . . He will keep the feet of his saints, and the wicked shall be silent in darkness; for by strength shall no man prevail" (I Samuel 2:3, 9).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science goes to the bottom of mental action, and reveals the theology which indicates the rightness of all divine action, as the emanation of divine Mind, and the consequent wrongness of the opposite so-called action,—evil, occultism, necromancy, mesmerism, animal magnetism, hypnotism" (p. 104).

TRUCK CRASHED BRIDGE IN HIGHLANDS

Last Friday afternoon Police Headquarters was notified that a truck had run into the Boston & Maine Railroad bridge at the Highland Station on Cross street. Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Patrolman William E. Cassidy went to investigate.

They found a Ford truck with the body wedged against the upright in the middle of the bridge and so badly damaged it had to be towed to Goodhue's Garage. The river was nowhere to ge seen, but the officers learned that he had been picked up by the driver of a Mack truck which was headed toward Forest street.

The Police drove north toward Stoneham and in that town on Main street near Gorham street they came up with the truck, and ordered the driver, John J. Herbert of 3 Pine street, Malden, to stop. In the truck with Herbert was Jeremiah D. Creamer of 5 Marion street, East Boston, who the Police say was driving the Ford truck that figured in the crash at the Cross street bridge.

Creamer was placed under arrest on the charges of drunkenness and driving while under the influence of liquor. He appeared in court Saturday morning and was sentenced to two months in the House of Correction with sentence suspended. The truck he was driving was registered to George McQuestion Co. of 422 Border street, East Boston.

WINCHESTER OUTCLASSED WOBURN

Bairstow for a nine yard loss, and on an attempted kick a bad pass gave Winchester the ball at Woburn's five.

On first down Paul Lentine, demon blocker hit behind Ficociello for the touchdown, his first of the year, old "Deadpan" getting a great hand. Ficociello kicked the goal.

Coach Brennan had what looked like a junior high aggregation on the field at this point and several second and third stringers were in the local lineup. Ficociello's kick went outside and the ball went in play at Woburn's 35. The Tanners had to kick and the ball was grounded at the Orange 49.

On first down, after some sweet faking Ficociello faded back and threw a pass far down the field to Sibley who gathered in the ball about the 20 and ran unmolested across the goal line for the 46th point. Ficociello's try to convert was blocked but the big fullback scooped up the ball and ran for the extra point, only to have his alertness go for nothing when Winchester lost 15 yards for clipping. Another try to convert with a pass was no good, and following the next kickoff the game ended.

It's hard to single out any member of the Winchester team for the spotlight. Ficociello was outstanding as usual, and both Bairstow and Sibley contributed spectacular plays. DeTeso played a great defensive game and Johnson tossed in his best all around performance of the year. But everyone was in the ball game yesterday and everyone shared in the victory. For Woburn it can be said that the Orange fought to the end and deserved a better fate.

"Lad" Millican, smooth working guard and "Pete" Galuffo, rugged back, had to be carried off the field with leg injuries, the latter appearing to be in quite a bit of pain.

Orange Peels

What a day, and what a crowd. We hope the town fathers who believe the seating facilities at the new field are ample tried to get a place to sit down along about 10.15. There surely were between five and ten thousand excited fans at the game. And, brother, most of 'em paid!

The Police did a nice job with the crowd the first half, but at intermission the gang got out of hand, and toward the end of the game was surging out along the sidelines. The favorite place for standees was as usual in front of the newspaper men.

Woburn brought down a nice band and had another one of those attractive drum-majors that make us wish Winchester had a band. We bet we'd have a good looking drum-major too!

The Orange supporters had a goat in front of their stand decked out in Orange and Black. They had their "goat" before the game, but we are not so sure about afterward!

The cheering section gave "Frankie" Provinzano a special cheer. "The Reds" great play in former years hasn't been forgotten.

'Smatter of fact, we understand we got a cheer ourselves. It was either so faint we didn't hear it or we were so busy keeping track of the black bruisers we didn't notice. Thank you, my frans!

Winchester's former coach, Wendell Mansfield, now at Springfield, sent a telegram to the team that arrived just as the boys were returning for the third quarter. The looks on their faces bespoke their appreciation and the place their former mentor holds in their affections. The cheering section's cheer for Mansfield was one of the loudest of the day.

Quite a few notables on the bench, among them Principal Emeritus Lovering, Winchester High's "grand old man," and T. Price Wilson, editor of the Star. "The Gent" and "T. P.", sat together and Woburn really never had a chance with that pair calling them.

Pretty tough pickings for the boys who tried to see the game from outside, and when the barbed wire and regular canvas is added to the field equipment it will be just too bad for the chiselers.

Faculty manager "Ray" Hayward put in a busy morning looking after a million or so details and appeared much happier than he did about noontime Wednesday when a storm seemed definitely on the way.

Coach Brennan of Woburn thought Winchester had quite a ball team and other Woburn fans rated the locals the best club they'd seen this year. The boys surely were hot the holiday!

The local cheer-leaders did a good job under difficulties and have all year. They include Harry McGrath, John Nash, Loretta Gaffney, Peggy Shinnick and Mildred Ghirardini.

A crowd of mildly demented fans carried Ficociello off the field after the game. His last game for Winchester was one of his best. "Pete" Sibley, co-captain with "Ficcy" also played a stellar game and it was good to see him score a touchdown. This lad has given a lot of himself to the team over the past two years, playing most of the time under the handicap of injuries.

Woburn High beat Winchester 41 to 0 in 1921 with Tony Colucci, Bert McDonough, Bob Walsh and Dan Linscott in the lineup. "Rufe" Bond coached the locals that year, his championship club coming the following year.

Well, see you next year! And if we'd only been playing Marblehead!

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

The paddling season is over but indoor sports are on. Medford Boat Club ran their fall smoker last Friday night and Winchester crew men were invited to cider and doughnuts, also cigars. Comdr. Arthur Mather brought along a fellow employee of the Herald-Traveler (a news cameraman) as part of the entertainment. The latter showed views which emphasized the difficulties photographers are up against in securing pictures for the early editions. Motion pictures of the international star boat races were run off and our own Freddie Fish had some of his wonderfully colored reels which were taken on various sailing cruises. Capt. "Ned Bean of Winchester, "Bill" Croughwell, Phil Cabot, Bowler Brothers, (Hap and Downy), Jim Fitch and Reg. Bishop, Dick Evans and Seret Bros. of Medford were to have received prizes of athletic jerseys for the water sports meet held at the end of the season. Awarding of these had to be postponed however as our old pal "Nick" mislayed the list.

MR. HEIMLICH ON LEDGE GARDENING

The large group of members and guests of the Better Homes Garden Club who heard Mr. Alexander Irving Heimlich speak on "Ledge Gardening" on Wednesday evening, Nov. 17, at the Puhlic Library were treated to a memorable lecture. Mr. Heimlich, who is known as a landscape gardener throughout this section of the country, has won the Massachusetts Horticultural Society's gold medal for ledge gardens in two successive years. His lecture was intelligently planned, simply delivered, accompanied by well-chosen moving pictures in color, and crammed with practical suggestions.

Mr. Heimlich explained the difference between rock gardens and ledge gardens. Rock gardens do not generally represent natural outcroppings of rock, and technically should contain only alpine plants; ledge gardens, developed as a reaction against some of the formlessness and the horticultural limitations of rock gardens, do have natural design, sometimes artificially induced, and may include other plants besides alpines. He showed, by illustration of wild ledge gardens and of construction or planting of various man made ones, the principles of choosing and placing rocks, the proper soil, the technique of planting. Then, taking several gardens through the seasons and by single illustrations he suggested plants for effective color and foliage through the whole garden year. Bulbs, perennial plants, annuals which could be used to fill in background material—all were clearly named and many were surprisingly familiar plants used to better advantage than they generally are. Wall gardens as an outgrowth of ledge planting came in for a brief careful demonstration.

Plans were announced for the Christmas greens workshop to be held on Wednesday, Dec. 15 in the Baptist Church recreation room. Seven members of the board attended the Christmas greens conference at the Massachusetts State College at Amherst last week and will act as instructors and guides at the workshop. Material will be provided for those who notify the committee, or your own greens may be brought in. The workshop will be open from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., with coffee served for those who bring box lunches. There are all sorts of attractive ideas ready, for easy or hard work, and the committee hopes that those who cannot come for the day will come for a while, and particularly to see the exhibited results at the end of the afternoon.

The policy of the theatre will be a selection of the seasons outstanding pictures, two on each program and the latest news events and selected short subjects with three weekly changes of programs on Sundays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

The Repertory will seat about 1000 people and its scale of prices will be 15 cents up to 6 o'clock and 25 cents thereafter with all seats 25 cents Saturdays after 1 o'clock and 25 cents all day on Sundays and Holidays.

Complete redecoration of the Theatre has been carried out with many improvements and rearrangements.

F. E. Lieberman is Mgr. Director

F. E. Lieberman, originator of Proven Pictures, who opened the Tremont Theatre under its present and sucessful policy nearly four years ago is taking active charge of the opening and will assume the leadership of this new theatre as managing director.

Usherettes Will Attend

A group of girls selected from the Back Bay and surrounding sections will be the usherettes and will be specially trained to give the courteous and unobstrusive service for these group of theatres are well known.

In redecorating, huff colored walls have added to the quiet and attractiveness. The theatre front has been rebuilt with structural glass, latest innovation in attractive fronts and a new specially designed neon marquee which is one of the largest ever built.

New spacious lounges and smoking rooms have been added and lighting installations particularly attractive especially those in the lobby and effects inside the theatre have been changed to amber for comfort and restfulness.

The projection is all newly equipped and has the latest Mirrorphonic sound which is reputed to be nearest to the natural voice and tone yet perfected. A new high intensity light has been installed giving an even distribution of light to the screen and doing away with any possible eyestrain.

Best Pictures Promised

As election of the seasons outstanding pictures carefully matched two on each program to provide an equal amount of comedy, romance, drama and music with latest news events and short subjects, completing a well balanced program are promised regularly. There will be here as at the Tremont, a request department where requests for pictures, whether they be the latest or those played two or three years ago, may be sent. When sufficient interest is shown in any picture it will be played no matter whether it is old or new.

The management expresses confidence that the thousands of dollars which they have expended in preparation for the opening of the Repertory Theatre, Thanksgiving Day, have been well invested and that the Back Bay and its surrounding communities will receive a type of entertainment which they have desired and which here-to-fore has been provided for them only at the Tremont, and the New Square in Medford, and is now being made available to them in their own community.

OBSERVATIONS

(By The Observer)

Certainly no community in New England ever had the high qualities as fair Winchester has.

One Winchester woman already has started her Christmas shopping. Wise woman!

Yet is it not true that Winchester has quite a number of hard headed business men?

Winchester fellow who sojourns in Florida each winter remarks that Florida soil was quite barren until they fertilized it with Yankee gumption.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The November meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held with Mrs. A. W. Friend of Wildwood street. The devotional service was conducted by the County Vice-President, Mrs. May L. Burnes of Woburn, who took as her theme one appropriate for the season, Thanksgiving. The speaker of the day was Mrs. Raymond Culpin of Everett. She spoke earnestly and impressively on the evils of intemperance, especially among the young people and of the wide prevalence of gambling in various forms. She strongly urged a change in the state law which now allows pari-mutuel betting.

Mrs. Maude Simmons, the County President, with her usual enthusiasm and vivacity, gave a stirring talk on the necessity of being alert to the dangers about us and of being active in doing what we can to thwart the propaganda which is being disseminate in newspapers and magazines and over the radio.

Mrs. Francis Henderson presided in the dining room during the social hour, serving tea. Mrs. Charles Adams, Mrs. Henry Connell, Mrs. Rony Snyder and Mrs. Edward Winn, assisted. The table decorations consisted of a suspension bridge, which is the symbol of the membership plan for this year, surrounded by figures representing divers, riggers, bridgemen, a master-builder, a dean of master-builders, a consulting engineer, and a chief engineer. Three other figures, dressed in black, represented war, degrading movies and the liquor traffic forces which would tend to destroy the bridge of "Education in the Effects of Alcohol" which the W. C. T. U. is building."

MYSTIC SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The third grade tea, in the series given by the Mystic School Mothers' Association took place at the home of Mrs. Guy Howe on Nov. 9. Mrs. Sanford Moses was in charge of the refreshments. The fourth grade tea was on Nov. 16 for which Mrs. Frank Gunby opened her home, with Mrs. Lester Armstrong as chairman of the refreshment committee.

The fifth grade meeting will be held as planned at the home of Mrs. Alexander Samorloff on Dec. 7, but the date of the sixth grade meeting has been changed and will be held on Monday, Dec. 6 at the home of Mrs. Edward French. These teas have afforded much pleasure to both parents and teachers and given opportunity for profitable and informal discussion of school affairs. It is to be hoped that there will be the same enthusiastic response to the scholarship bridge which the Association will give on Nov. 30 at 1:30.

Mr. Denison graduated from Harvard with the class of 1933 and has worked four years at Columbia for his Ph.D. degree in Paleontology. That Winchesterite who has good health, good humor and good prospects is far from being poor even though his wallet may not bulge with ducats.

WINCHESTER YOUTH

Youth, walking fair Winchester from the first gray streaks.
That light up the eastern sky,
Till the noon comes on and the noon is gone
And the sunset light is by;
Then up again at the dawn of day
And walking the earth, clear-eyed
And unafraid of the years ahead,
And glorying in its stride.

Motto on the desk of a Winchester clubwoman reads: "Be Sure You're Right, Then Go Ahead."

Yes, this is a splendid rule but if one is motoring it is wise to add, "If the traffic cop will let you."

Out of my life the song,
And then do I cry, Oh, grace
To pattern that life mid the throng
For a worthier place!

MISS AVERY SPOKE ON SPAIN AND JAPAN

The two dilemmas of Spain and Japan were the subject of Miss Eunice H. Avery's lecture in the Smith College series on Wednesday, Nov. 10, at the Wyman School Hall. There are, Miss Avery feels, certain similarities in their situations and a connection between them which had its roots in the world war.

Both Hitler and Mussolini have long argued that Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany should form a four power alliance for regulating the affairs of the European and Oriental world. Mussolini, with the approach of a realist, discarded conventional and inherited ideas of government which hampered him, remade his country, and has been ondoing things to force the issue. Partly as a direct result of his manoeuvers it has now come about that those four powers, but in the changed order of Italy, Germany, Britain and France, actually do participate as a flexible alliance in resolving any of the disputes and problems abroad. They may be split but they are always all included in any real action. Hitler's recent suggestion of a four power alliance to consist of Germany, Italy, Japan and China is a startling indication of the flux of international relations and the increasing unity of Europe and Asia.

The interrelation of these powers in China and Spain is complex. At the end of the world war Japan held most of the former German possessions in China, resented being obliged to disgorge them. At the end of the war Italy had hopes in the Orient and definite expectations as to the Mediterranean balance of power, which were unfulfilled, to her resentment. Germany had most to resent, losing besides her good name and her colonies, her extra-territorial privileges in China, her economic independence and her trade. As a result of these handicaps Germany is now in the strongest European position in China. No extra-territoriality has forced her to meet China on Chinese ground and has made her the only European nation the Chinese don't resent. Reparations and closed markets forced her to work up a tremendous oriental trade, both buying and selling. She has a political alliance with Japan and military advisors in China. Incidentally, China has been resenting extra-territoriality and the "foreign devils" for a long time.

Spain is a piece of the same puzzle these powers are struggling to fit together in a picture that will please them all. The Mediterranean, with 10 nations around it and eleven dependent upon it, has been the arena for every major conflict up to the 20th century. Control of the Mediterranean or preventing some power from getting control of it has been and is a live issue. Italy and Germany are in Spain mainly in an indirect way of forcing the balance of the power in the Mediterranean.

There has always been fighting in Spain, and only once did outsiders get anything out of it—Gibraltar. Spain is used to hot, localized fighting. She went through the world war as a neutral. She worships personal bravery that leads to insensitiveness Therefore the prospect of war didn't frighten or arouse the Spaniards. No experiene of the problems of war today, and no reason to fight, since the peasant always came out on the bottom no matter who won. And it is not the horrors of bombing which have startled the Spanish but the having to cope, absolutely green in social service work, with thousands of refugees. It is not patriotism which has finally brought the Spaniards who are not in the direct path into the fight, but a chance to really win something they need.

Spain, is a country which has too much land with too few people on it at one end and too many people on too little land at the other, land under-supplied with water, badly cultivated and mercilessly deforested under absent ownership. There has been very little public education and few public works. This struggle which is painfully and expensively bringing Spain to a whole knowledge of herself, finds both sides with identical programs. Afforestation, irrigation, redistribution of land, increased education, more roads, better farming. Spain has also immense deposits of metals and salts, raw materials of which the less well-endowed powers are in desperate need. Spain has been made a shambles in order to reform her internal system, to change the balance of power in the Mediterranean and to get claims on her raw materials.

The same definition of land versus people on the land applies to Japan's situation. Japan's island's are crowded; but North China is sparsely populated, deforested, badly farmed, illiterate.

Japan has the funds, the skill and the will to rehabilitate it, to save it from ruin and communism and outside white influence. Incidentally she would solve her over-population problem. Under the banner of Asia for the Asiatics she has gone at her self appointed task. She has been roundly condemned and it has made her mad.

It is difficult to understand why both these changes have had to be effected as brutally as they have been done, or just that way. The European and Japanese realists claim that we are to hazy to see the real points.

In her next lecture, on Wednesday Nov. 24, Miss Avery will speak on "Washington Horizons," giving the general program of world events as Washington has to face it.

An interesting sidelight on competition between occidental and oriental industries. The orient always had an industrial system, but they specialized to manufacture by hand. The first importations from the orient were goods not obtainable in the west. Then expansion increased the field to include articles cheaper than the same things made at home, with resultant labor troubles and regulatory import laws. That was handicraft Asia competing with handcraft Europe. In the 19th century machinery reversed the competition and western goods flooded the orient. Now Japan, the first oriental nation to go western, has an import list for her industry of largely raw materials, and actually sells looms to England.

In the 19th century machines and industry made over the world, and in the 20th century it may well be that agriculture and science together will remake it again.

OBSERVATIONS

By the Observer

Extending the glad hand is a 1000 times better than pointing the finger of scorn.

May this make a Winchesterite's feet dance,
The thought in this little verse—
That life is full of romance,
And hatred is a curse.

According to one Winchester housewife, if eggs could talk maybe they would be compelled to tell the truth about their age.

JUNIOR FLORENCE CRITTENTON NOTES

A special meeting of the Winchester Junior Florence Crittenton Circle was held on Tuesday evening, Nov. 30, at the home of Mrs. Everett Stone 4 Ardley place. The main topic of discussion was the White Elephant Sale to be held on Dec. 10.

Mrs. Paul Dunn, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, assisted by Mrs. Everett Stone and Mrs. Richard Harlow are in charge of the sale to be held in the Locatelli Building, at the corner of Main and Thompson streets on Friday morning, Dec. 10 from 10 a. m. "until sold out." Judging from the many and varied contributions already received those who attend will find some very lovely as well as useful Christmas gifts. The committee feels that these unusual values will not last throughout the day so those who come at opening time will be well rewarded. The sale does not include clothing, but does include everything else, presents for children as well as grownups.

Following the business meeting Miss Caroline Smith of the Bishop Lee School gave some very amusing and entertaining dramatic monologues, which were followed by a delightful social hour.

MISS MILLER PRESENTED

She received with her mother in front of the fireplace in the ball room against a background of palms and ferns.

Mrs. Miller's gown was of raisin colored crepe and she wore a corsage of white orchids. Autumn flowers and cedar trees decorated the other room where the dancing was held.

On the candlelighted tea tables were bouquets of white chrysanthemums, blue larkspur and pink chrysanthemums and each pourer had a corsage of white sweet peas and bouvardia.

SELECTMEN IMPROVE TRAFFIC LIGHTS

A decided improvement is noticed in the now much-discussed traffic lights in Winchester Centre with the installation of a left green arrow facing Common street which allows the traffic coming out of this street to turn left up Church street during the long period when Main street traffic is moving. This directional arrow in addition to the green light which naturally occurs in the sequence of the lights as they face this street should obviate much of the objections which have been heard and should go far to relieve the congestion at this point.

A further improvement also has been made by installing a right green arrow facing the traffic coming out of Shore road, and although the traffic on Shore road is much lighter than that on Common street, this arrow should have a desirable effect.

The Selectmen are conducting an exhaustive study of these lights in the hope of making further improvements in the timing of the signals to avoid unnecessary stopping of traffic.

EDWIN A. BAKER

Edwin A. Baker of 55 Fletcher street, one of the best known breeders of Holstein cattle in America and vice president of the Chamberlin Metal Weatherstrip Company, died suddenly Saturday, Nov. 27, in Detroit, Mich., while on a business trip.

Mr. Baker, a native of Vermont, was 67 years old. In his association with the Chamberlin Company he had as territory the States of Pennsylvania and New York and also New England, being called upon to travel extensively. He formerly acted as representative for the Burroughs Rustless Screen Company.

Mr. Baker was intensely interested in the breeding of cattle and horses, and at Baker Farm in Stratham, N. H., had one of the finest herds of Holstein cattle in this country. During the past few years he had also bred Percheron horses with considerable success. In Exeter, N. H., he maintained another farm where he conducted a successful milk business, supplying among others Phillips Exeter Academy.

He first owned a farm in Greensboro, Vt. and as he became more interested in agricultural matters he determined to demonstrate that a successful business man could at the same time maintain a farm as a hobby and make the farm pay. In this he was highly successful.

Mr. Baker was a man of tremendous energy and indefatigable. He had a most pleasing personality and his sterling worth won him the esteem of all with whom he came in contact. He was a director of the New England Holstein Breeders' Association, a member of the Northeastern States Percheron Horse Breeders' Association, a member of William Parkman Lodge, A. F. & A. M., and also of Aleppo Temple of the Mystic Shrine.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Lulu A. Baker; a daughter, Mrs. Leo Brown of Stratham, N. H.; and two sons, Clark Baker of this town and Willis Baker of Schnectady, N. Y.

Masonic funeral services were held on Tuesday at the Waterman Chapel on Commonwealth avenue in Boston, Kingman P. Cass, master of William Parkman Lodge, directed the lodge officers in the ritual with the lodge chaplain, Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church, officiating. Interment was in Greensboro, Vt.

Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Epiphany, read the service at the church, and Ben Redden, tenor, sang Gounod's "Ave Maria," accompanied by the church organist, Enos Held, and by Miss Artis DeVolt, harpist. Miss DeVolt also played the favorite "Largo" by Handel.

Among those who attended were many business associates from Greater Boston and from Lawrence where Mr. Bennett was established as an undertaker for many years before coming to Winchester. J. Rodney Ball and Alexander H. Rogers of Lawrence were ushers.

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

"The fact that Massachusetts stands at the head of all other states in the matter of voting frauds, is at best no great tribute to our state when one delves into the unsavory situation as regards illegal voting" said Senator Sybil Holmes, in addressing the Women's Republican Club on Wednesday afternoon. "Nor does the fact that so little of it occurs in a small community such as ours, permit us to turn our back upon the situation, for sufficient illegal ballots in the more congested towns can neutralize our votes, and thus defeat the whole scheme of equal right by ballot."

Senator Harris Richardson paid fine tribute to our guest speaker in his splendid introduction. As the first woman Senator in Massachusetts, Miss Holmes has played a leading part in its worth-while activities, and by her capable grasp of her Senatorial duties has endeared herself to all Masachusetts, and most of America.

Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers had hoped to be present, to speak on the activities of this emergency Congress, but at the last moment found that her presence in Washington would be far greater value to New England than even her long anticipated trip to Winchester, so sent a wire to Mrs. Clarke, President of the Club, to explain her last minute change of plans. The sincerity of her wire aroused a unanimous vote that a letter be sent Mrs. Rogers expressing our sorrow at not having her present, but our great love and appreciation of the fine manner in which she represents us in Washington.

Both Senators, Miss Holmes and Mr. Richardson, accepted the invitation of the club to remain for a cup of tea, and thus gave us an opportunity to meet Miss Holmes and to greet Harris Richardson.

O'MELIA UNDERWENT OPERATION

Edward O'Melia of Sheridan circle, star end on the Holy Cross varsity eleven this fall, underwent an emergency operation for acute appendicitis at midnight Wednesday in St. Vincent's Hospital, Worcester. He was reported last night to be in "fair condition."

"Eddie," as he is known locally, is a former Keith Academy all around athletic star. He is well known in and around Winchester as a baseball player, and has played both baseball and football at Holy Cross where he is a member of the senior class.

This fall his defensive end play has won him the praise of many experts who rate him with Holy Cross' famous "grand opera twins" of former years, Cavaleiri and Woburn's "Tony" Colucci. His many friends will pull for a speedy recovery and complete recovery.

MRS. JENNIE G. EVERETT

Mrs. Jennie G. Everett, wife of Edward S. Everett and well known among older residents of the Highlands district, died Wednesday morning, Dec. 1 at her home, 227 Cross street, after a short illness. She was in her 75th year.

Funeral services were held this morning at 11 o'clock in the Kelley & Hawes Chapel with Rev. Carlton N. Jones, pastor of the Second Congregational Church officiating. Miss Jean MacLellan sang favorite hymns. Interment was in the Union Street Cemetery in Franklin.

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The Department of Government and Economic Welfare of the Winchester League of Women Voters at the next meeting scheduled for December 7 at the home of Mrs. Theodore W. Monroe, 37 Cabot street, will hear Mr. Malcolm B. Lees, of the investment banking business, speak on the subject: "Business Man Looks at Labor." Mr. Lees' talk will be the second of a series planned by this department in its study of "Collective Bargaining." Mr. Kenneth Taylor, Regional Director of the State Labor Relations Commission will speak December 14 on the subject: "A. F. of L."

At the home of Mrs. Theodore C. Browne, 433 Main street, on Nov. 10, was held a meeting on "Public Libraries" arranged by the committee of Government and Education.

Miss Virginia R. Owen, librarian of the Winchester High School, gave a most interesting survey of the work being done in the school library of the high school. This school library is modeled after the larger public library with its reference books, fiction, magazines and newspapers, and its index system is patterned after the one in use in most of the larger libraries.

A course in the use of libraries is given to all students, and, by having this school library in which to gain practical experience in the application of this instruction, makes it possible for these students to understand the real value of a public library. With this training, they will be able to ferret out the really valuable knowledge containd in most public libraries, but which unfortunately is lost to most people because of this lack of training.

By having worthwhile periodicals and newspapers available in the high school for students of this age, not only is the valuable use of leisure time being taught, but also an interest in current affairs is being fostered, a thing which cannot be over emphasized in times of world upheaval such as at the present time.

Miss Owen, who is new to the Winchester High School staff this year, stressed the fact that she is receiving wonderful co-operation in her work from Superintendent Quinn, from the Librarian at the Public Library, Miss Quimby, from the High School Principal Wade L. Grindle and all the high school teachers. In work such as hers, a thorough understanding of the interrelationship of library work to school curricula must be had if the maximum benefits are to be gained by the students.

Of course Miss Owen finds herself limited in the number of books and periodicals at her disposal, for, though the high school library has a wonderful start with 2000 volumes or so, a really adequate library would number at least twice that number. When the parents come to understand the very worth-while training their children are receiving in the use of public libraries, which will make it possible for them to continue their education long after the formal educational period of high school and college is past, they will doubtless wish to see a geat deal more done to futher this work.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Troop 3 Notes

Scoutmaster Paul Dunn and Committeeman Harry Moore took 12 of the Troop 3 boys for a week-end trip recently. They left on Saturday morning, going up to Scoutmaster Dunn's camp in North Ashburnham and returned late Sunday afternoon. The boys did some semaphore signalling across the lake and considering that they could not shout across, the results were surprisingly good. There was also an opportunity to do some real path-finding with the compass. With six inches of snow on the ground the boys enjoyed some unexpected winter sports.

Troop 5

The Boy Scouts of Troop 5 met Monday, Nov. 29, at the Lincoln School, where a new patrol was formed to be known as the Flying Eagle Patrol. Cossom Siminiatta is the new patrol leader, assisted by Joseph Marchesi.

Scoutmaster Ferro announced the opening of anotoher contest. The Panther Patrol, with a lead of 31 points, won the last contest.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The Art Committee will have the co-operation of the Dramatics Group in presenting a Persian afternoon, on Friday, Dec. 10, at 2:30. An afternoon of unusual interest is promised, since there is to be an exhibit of Persian Art, and a Dramatic interlude, consisting of a talk on, "Sidelights on Persian Life," followed by native music, singing and dancing. Persian coffee will be in order too—and those travelers who have sampled that strange blend, have much to say for it.

This will be an open meeting—club members may bring guests for a very small door fee.

The "Union Signal" in its issue of November 20 has the following article on its editorial page:

"Sobriety Is Smart!"

And its no "old fogey" who says so either! The columnists on the "home pages" of the newspapers are taking up the theme that the young folk of high school age—or younger—and older—who are lining up at the bars to sip their cocktails "aren't so smart as they think they are. Among fashionable people, sobriety is the smart thing. Sobriety means refusing the first drink."

This statement is made by Glenda Lane, who directs the Chicago Herald and Examiner readers in the "smart" things to do. She makes no bones about telling how a single cocktail will affect a person, particularly the young girl; how, after drinking, she "lacks poise and judgement" and "looks wilted." She says that "a pretty girl with uncertain steps is an unedifying sight," and ends with the unequivocal statements that "sobriety is smart. Health is fashionable. Poise is necessary to good looks, and alcohol doesn't help one to reach any beauty goals."

That drinking is not considered smart by the "smart" person, is noted also by no less an arbiter of the mode than Emily Post. Recently asked if it were correct for patrons to go into a cocktail lounge and order nothing stronger than lemonade or tomato juice, her reply was characteristic: "Certainly they can, and the younger and more fashionable they are, the more likely they are to order plain tomato or fruit juice, or some other variety of soft drink."

LECTURE BY REV. ALICE BIGLEY SNOW

The second of her talks at the First Baptist Church, Dec. 6 at 3 p. m. Her subject, "Enough For Everybody." (Impressions of the Co-operative Movement in Great Britain and Denmark). This should be of special interest to the people of Winchester, as Mrs. Snow is a graduate of our own schools, Smith College and Andover-Newton Seminary.

OUR MODERN AGE

INCOME TROUBLE

The rich would like a holiday from half the taxes they must pay. With earnings at a brand new low, they badly need their hard-earned dough. It's getting hard for them to live, if they are forced to give and give. In fact, if I were asked today, "Would I be rich" —Here's what I'd say, and say without the slightest doubt:—Just try me out—Just try me out!

FORD offers two new cars for 1938—the Standard Ford V-8 and the De Luxe Ford V-8. They are different in appearance—but built to the same high standard of mechanical excellence—on the same chassis.

Because people liked our 1937 car so well, they bought more than of any other make. They liked its looks, its smooth performance, and the way it handled. We have improved on that car in the newly styled Standard Ford V-8.

But some folks wanted still more size and style, with the same Ford advantages. For them, we designed a new De Luxe line.

The De Luxe Ford V-8 Sedans are longer with more room, larger luggage space, and finer appointments all around. De Luxe cars are equipped with the 85-horsepower engine only.

The Standard is even lower priced than the De Luxe. It has graceful new lines and well-tailored interiors—with a choice of engine sizes—85 or 60 horsepower.

Before Ford made V-type 8-cylinder engines available to every one, they were used only in expensive cars. Since then, four million Ford owners have learned the genuine enjoyment of driving an eight-cylinder car with all-around economy. The thrifty "60" engine, especially, makes possible in Standard models a very low first cost and equally low operating cost. With two distinct designs, two engine sizes and two price ranges, you'll find a 1938 Ford car to fit your needs exactly.

PRICES FOR CARS DELIVERED IN DETROIT—TAXES EXTRA

Standard Ford V-8 (60 hp.)—Coupe, $599; Tudor, $644; Fordor, $689. Standard Ford V-8 (85 hp.)—Coupe, $629; Tudor, $669; Fordor, $714. De Luxe Ford V-8 (85 hp. only)—Coupe, $689; Tudor, $729; Fordor, $774; Convertible Coupe, $774; Club Coupe, $749; Convertible Club Coupe, $804; Phaeton, $824; Convertible Sedan, $904.

Standard and De Luxe cars equipped with bumpers, bumper guards, spare wheel, tire, tube, tire lock and band, cigar lighter, twin horns, and headlight beam indicator on instrument panel, at no extra charge.

In addition, De Luxe cars are equipped with extra tail light, windshield wiper, sun visor; also de luxe steering wheel, glove compartment lock, clock, and chrome wheel bands, at no extra charge.

FOOTBALL POST-MORTEMS

Winchester was represented on both sides of the Holy Cross-Boston College classic last Saturday with "Eddie" O'Melia (the radio boys call it O'Maylia) at one of the flanks for the Cross and "Andy" Lentine finally getting in at guard for B. C. O'Melia has been a defensive standout at Holy Cross all season, playing a bang-up end despite his lack of weight. "Ol' Tentine" has had little chance to show his worth in the B. C. scheme of things. What a lot of coaches would like to have that demon lineman playing regularly!

Adam Walsh, coach at Bowdoin, still thinks Winchester's "Dave" Fitts could make any college team as an end. Adam has been around quite a bit, too, in a football way since he was one of the seven mules that cleared the way for Rockne's famous four horsemen of Notre Dame.

Boston sports writers who have seen "Gerry" Ficociello play this fall are unanimous in the belief he could make any college team. "Jerry" Nason, Globe sports writer, who saw the Winchester boy against Woburn on Thanksgiving was high in his praise of his all around performance.

Winchester is still mildly ga-ga over the high school's crushing defeat of Woburn on Thanksgiving, and many a post-season game has been arranged on the street corners and wherever fans gather. Not much likelihood for an extra game we believe, and perhaps on the whole its just as well. The locals have had a fine season, and might win a post-season game from some worth-while foe. On the other hand, a defeat, now would kick over the whole apple cart and give the knockers a chance to contend that Winchester has been lucky all year.

Most of the unofficial schedule makers have picked Melrose as Winchester's post season opponent. Not a chance we wouldn't think. Melrose would have nothing to gain by beating Winchester and would suffer badly if the locals did happen to sneak in a win. It is our opinion that Winchester would be sticking out its head in taking on Melrose, a team that has triumphed over much faster competition than the locals have faced.

It's just a bit funny to hear the Woburn followers taking on at the size of Winchester's holiday score. The tanners surely didn't show much sympathy when they handed out that 41 to 0 shellacking in 1921, and in 1928 Woburn's great eleven, captained by the present Coach Brennan, ran roughshod over Winchester 26 to 6. The only reason the score wasn't 40 that day was a big boy in the Winchester lineup named "Nutsy" Amico. There was no Amico in the tanners' lineup on Thanksgiving.

Speaking of playing first team men, in the 41 to 0 massacre of Winchester by Woburn in 1921 the tanners, according to the lineup in the Star file of that year, used only two substitutes throughout the game, changing both guards. In 1928 the wrecking crew stayed in there fully as long as Coach Lauer kept his varsity going Thanksgiving. There were ten seniors on this year's Winchester team, and they naturally wanted to play as much as possible in their final game.

Our friend "Mack" anounced his Middlesex League team on Tuesday. Bairstow (Win.) and Rodgers (Con.) ends; Gardner and Delorey (Win.) tackles; Millican (Win.) and Toivinen (May) guards; DeTeso (Win), center; Arico (Bel), Lentine and G. Ficociello (Win) and Downey (May.), backs. Utility back, Murray, (Win.). Utility lineman, Truesdale (Stone.). "Mack" evidently thought Winchester had quite a ball team!

In connection with the selection of the Star's All Middlesex League teams it should be understood that only the performance by players in league games counts in the choice for positions on the honorary eleven. Winchester boys, for instance, were not selected this year on the basis of their showing in the Arlington, Marblehead, Wellesley and Woburn games.

It is interesting to check the fans', and often the newspapermen's rating of players with the individual coaches who have worked with the boys through the year. Often the men who really know disagree with the estimates of player values arrived at by those whose observation, and in many instances knowledge of the game, is superficial. Occasionally a coach, who after all is human, may have liking or prejudice influence his opinion of a boy, but such instances are the exception. Generally speaking your coach knows his players better than your sidewalk quarterback.

Coaches' opinions of their own players are helpful in choosing an "all" team, but rarely can the coaches tell you much about the boys outside their individual clubs. They are too busy watching their own players to see the opposition except in terms of their own boys, and seldom do they know the names of outside youngsters who have impressed them.

Which brings us to one of our own pet peeves. Why can't the players be properly numbered, and why should coaches object to giving out their boys' numbers, or switch the numbers so the halfback you think is Smith is in reality McTodd? Seems as though the league officials might bring a bit of order out of the present identity chaos. Winchester, for instance, goes to the trouble and expense of getting out a program for its home games, but seldom can its management get more than a mere starting lineup of numbered players, and then the numbers given are likely to be wrong. We haven't seen any "system" in the league as yet sufficiently involved to make it necessary to hide the players' identity.

Hard as it is for the layman, or even the newspaperman, to understand the working of the judicial mind, One judge rules that if a motorist is only drunk enough, he isn't responsible for taking two lives with his machine and running away afterward. Another finds that children need not salute the Flag of the United States if the religious scruples of their parents interefere. Still a third decides that a young woman who tells a police officer to "go to hell" is not guilty of disturbance, but is merely giving the officer a simple direction. All very legal, no doubt, and clear enough to the judicially trained mind! We, in our ignorance, cannot help wondering what the decisions would have been, had the drunk's machine run down two member's of the first judge's immediate family, if religious scruples required for instance that adherents keep on their hats in the courtroom of the second, and if it had been the third judge that the young woman told to "go to hell" instead of just a cop! We are just wondering of course. We are not saying. That might be contempt of court!

SOCRATES SAYS-

SPELLS

President Roosevelt said, May 27, 1933—"If this Country is to flourish, capital must be invested in enterprise." Now in November 1937, during the "New Deal Depression," this same fact is again stressed.

Capital represents the accumulated savings of the people, and it is not usually invested without full confidence as to its safety and an assured return warranting any risk involved.

During these four long years constant promises and deals have been made to redistribute and liquidate the capital of the "haves"—the savings of all the people, managed by the "vested interests" who are scornfully branded as "tories" and "royalists."

Even though much of the attempt to discourage capital and thrift may have been propaganda for political purposes, the result of thus deliberately scaring and starving capital to death has been naturally, of course, to induce hoarding, thus keeping it idle.

It is time now for New Dealers, if they sincerely believe in a democracy of private initiative and enterprise through productive effort, to in some final and definite way overcome the natual and logical belief that "breathing spells" simply mean a temporary halt in "must" reforms. The "wolf" story might come true sometime.

Witchcraft was overcome, so far as the particular witches were concerned, by burning them; but the confidence that "the spell of witchcraft" would not continue was finally created by the definite knowledge that orderly government and due process could and would fully and permanently protect everyone.

A "breathing spell?" Think of it—free enterprise told in America that it can temporarily breathe! Are we walking in our sleep, first under one "spell" and then another? Congress, wake up!—assure the Nation that "spells" are over forever—that sound progress will really be by "evolution," one firm step at a time.

If the capitalistic system is to prevail, confidence—when investing savings—will always be necessary; if it believed that the system is to be changed, then such confidence is not so necessary, as people would then be influenced by emotions.

It was said in 1932—"What we needed was a plan—we grew like "Topsey." What this Country needs today is the confidence that we can continue to grow right side up as "Topsey" did, and not through monkeying with "evolution," to be left out or, a limb "topsy turvy."

MRS. LUCIUS SMITH APPOINTED

Dec. 2, 1937

To the Editor of the Star:

The E. M. Loew Theatres, Inc. has secured the services of Mrs. Lucius Smith, of Winchester, to act as their Community and Public Relations Representative for the new Winchester Theatre.

Mrs. Smith, a resident of Winchester for many years is well qualified to do this work. Her activities in civic affairs and organizations, her wide acquaintance in these groups, and her ability to promote and organize, as presented to us, assures us that we have been indeed fortunate in our choice of a citizen for this important work.

It is our desire to have the Winchester Theatre, in all ways, come up to the standards that Winchester sets for its institutions and its civic and private affairs. We wish to learn from the Townspeople, their wants and choice of entertainment, their expectations of the Theatre policies and we are also desirous to co-operate with the organizations in the encouragement of the use of the Theatre for Benefit Nights and extra Educational Programs. We wish to further the work of Town betterment in any way we are able and equipped to do so.

To secure this information and to place before the citizens our expectations and plans for the Theatre, we will immediately start our Public Relations work, which we feel will be ably handled by Mrs. Smith.

Assuring you of our interest in the continued prosperity of the Town of Winchester, I am

Yours truly,
E. M. Loew

WINCHESTER GIRLS HOCKEY SUMMARY

Lost Only To Arlington In Six Games

Though its schedule showed only three out of six games in the win column this fall, the Winchester High School girls' field hockey team was defeated only by Arlington, playing ties with both Melrose and Lexington.

Arlington edged the local girls 3—2 in a well played game, the Melrose game was scoreless and Lexington held Winchester to a 1—1 stalemate. Watertown, Brookline and Belmont were blanked by Coach Young's charges.

This year's eleven was not too badly off for veteran material with Captain Loretta Gaffney leading a squad that included Judy Hersom, Jean McKenzie, Peggy Shinnick, Peggy Shaunessy, Shirley Smith, Esther Colucci, Myrtle Goodhue, Marjorie Menzie and Carolyn Blanchard. Of these the Misses Gaffney, Hersom, McKenzie, Glidden, Shinnick, Shaughnessy and Smith are seniors; Misses Colucci, Goodhue and Manzie, juniors; and Miss Blanchard, a sophomore. The eam was managed by Elizabeth Phelan, a senior, and coached again by Rosamond Young of the Department of Physical Education. Frances Glidden, with seven goals, was high scorer.

With eight of the present varsity graduating in June, there will be quite a bit of rebuilding for next year, and coming along to fill the gaps are nine members of this year's second team that lost only a 1—0 verdict to Arlington. Second team letter players this year were Marion Ambrose, '38; Ruth Olmstead, Betty Dickson, Christine Flaherty, Ruth Morrow, Jean Clement, captain; and Margaret McNally, '39; Mildred Rogers and Rita Collins, '40; and Marion Samuels, manager, '39. Mildred Rogers was high scorer with seven goals.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Four members were absent from the meeting of Dec. 2. We were delighted to entertain an unusually large delegation from Stoneham and Woburn at this time and Fred was called upon for an extra table. By all means let it happen often.

We offer our apologies for lack of speed in announcing that Harry Winton is now a resident of Winchester. His address is 3 Ainsworth road, his welcome to this good town is hearty and his loyalty to Winchester will increase as the years roll on.

The 1937 revision of the club roster is in the hands of members. Those in doubt as to their committee assignments should consult this roster and do all in their power to promote the activities of their respective groups. Also for the convenience of absentees a list of the meetings of near-by clubs will be found appended to the roster.

This year we have been favored as never before by the receipt of their weekly letters from neighboring clubs. We derive both pleasure and profit in reading these letters and believe that all Rotary Clubs should avail themselves of this service to the greatest possible extent. Thank you, neighbors!

The following item appears in the Rotary International News Letter of Nov. 24. "The Tientsin (China) Rotary Club recently acknowledged and thanked the (Tokyo) Japan Rotary Club for a gift of $100.00 to be used by the Tientsin club in its relief work. The gift was made by the Tokyo club in appreciation of the good turn the Tientsin club had done for the Japanese sufferers on the occasion of the earthquake in Japan some years ago." To our mind this sort of thing reads much better than the chronicles of death and destruction which have dominated recent dispatches from that war-ridden quarter. Surely we may be pardoned for believing that the influence of service clubs is being exerted in the right direction and that it may be relied upon to be of teal assistance in counteracting that lust for strife and power which has always retarded the march of civilization.

Our guest speaker at the current meeting was Capt. Cavanagh of Station 1, Boston Police Department. Captain Cavanagh devoted his address to a consideration of the prominent part taken by the youth of this nation in the prevailing flood crime with which we are afflicted. He asserted that present-day crimes are much more serious in nature as well as more numerous than was the case some 20 years ago. While police departments are doing their utmost to correct this condition the fact remains that our citizenry at large must give full assistance to officers of the law if present unhealthy trends are to be checked. There should be a more intelligent oversight of adolescents and prompt reports to the authorities by all who have knowledge of lawless deeds.

Club directors will please take notice that there is to be an important meeting of the board at the home of President Warren Hersey, 32 Pierrepont road at 8 p. m. on Tuesday, Dec. 7. Kindly make your plans accordingly.

Percentage of attendance, Nov. 18, 100 per cent.

Average attendance for November, 1937, 100 per cent.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Morning Musicale

An outstanding musicale was presented by the Music Group of the Fortnightly, on Wednesday morning, at the home of Mrs. W. A. Everett. Dr. Z. Eileen Taylor, chairman of the program, gave a most remarkable paper on "The Spirit of Scandinavian Music," which told the history of the Scandinavian people and the effect of their life on the music of the country. This was followed by a program of representative Scandinavian music. Three charming folk songs, in costume, were given by Alice White Bennett, accompanied by Mr. Byron Bennett. Violin solos by Eunice Wheeler, accompanied by Helen Wright Cairns, and piano selections by Helen Wright Cairns, were unusually well done. Ruth Perkins, soprano, accompanied by Agnes Olson, delighted her audience with two of Grieg's best loved songs. The Fortnightly Glee Club, directed by Mary Ranton Witham and accompanied by Lucy Wilcox, supplied the final treat, with two of Jan Sibelius' best loved works, "Valse Trieste" and the Chorale from "Finlandia," the words of which were written by a former Fortnightlian, Miss Amy S. Bridgman.

Morning coffee was served immediately preceding the program, and was equally enjoyed by a capacity audience.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SCHOOL NOTES

The first in a series of luncheons conducted by the Mothers' Club was given on Wednesday, Nov. 10, for the teachers of the George Washington-Highland Schools. The table was prettily decorated with a beautiful basket of pink chrysanthemums, presenting an autumnal atmosphere. Each teacher received a dainty corsage of bronze chrysanthemums. The hostesses were: Mrs. Pitirin Sorokin, Mrs. William Cusack, Mrs. Joseph S. Donnell and Mrs. Lincoln Howe.

On Friday, Nov. 12, the pupils of grade six presented an original history play entitled "Adventures of Marco Polo." The assembly was opened by saluting the flag and singing "The Star Spangled Banner." The play was as follows:

Scene I (In Venice)

Marco Polo begs to go to China with his father. He makes the necessary preparations. Sails off in a boat.

Scene II (In the King's Palace)

Marco arrives at the Palace. The king sends Marco Polo on a mission. Marco tells the King all he has seen. He agrees to carry out the king's plans.

Scene III (Back in Venice)

Marco Polo returns home but is not recognized. A banquet is given in honor of his home coming.

Scene IV (In Prison)

He writes a book about China. Visitors arrive inquiring about his journey. Others want to go to China.

The program was concluded by singing "America."

As an outgrowth on the study of Egypt the pupils of Miss Hatch's sixth grade presented an excellent illustrated talk on the ancient Egyptians. This program was given Monday, Nov. 15 at 2:30 o'clock in the school hall. While the class was studying about the early Egyptians, they made attractive lantern slides depicting the life of these people. The entire sixth grade was given an opportunity to visit the Children's Museum in Jamaica Plain and the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston. These visits proved to be worth while and educational. The pupils saw many interesting exhibits which were made thousands of years ago by the ancient Egyptians. The children of grades three to six were extended an invitation to visit the sixth grade room for the purpose of viewing the Egyptian desert scene, and also to see the notebook on "Egypt." To conclude the program a play called "An Egyptian School," was given. The characters were:

Teacher .... Ralph Muehlig
Mother .... Catherine Simoneta
Boys .... boys of Grade VI

The Lord shall reign for ever, even thy God, O Zion, unto all generations. Praise ye the Lord" (Psalms 146:5, 6, 10).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy: "The scientific divine creation declares immortal Mind and the universe created by God. Infinite Mind creates and governs all, from the mental molecule to infinity. This divine Principle of all expresses Science and art throughout His creation, and the immortality of man and the universe" (p. 507).

MISS AVERY TALKS ABOUT UNITED STATES

"Washington Horizons" was the subject of Miss Eunice H. Avery's third lecture in the Smith College Club series, given on Wednesday Nov. 24, at the Wyman School Hall. Sketching in a brief analysis of our government and the particular civilization that is ours, Miss Avery brought to a huge and hazy field a clarifying spotlight for some significant points.

The best point for analysis of our civilization is the fact that we have 29 million cars as against 13 million for the entire rest of the world. The explanation of this cannot be bigness, for Russia and Brazil are big; it cannot be command of raw materials, for Great Britain can match us in that; it cannot be machine mindedness, for Great Britain can match us in that too.

"Utopia is a nowhere projected into the future; it may prove to be a sometime and somewhere." This state was founded with political theory placed above economics, what ought to be done instead of what can be done. The political problem is how it can be done. With the present debacle of morals economics alone can provide politics with firm footing to go forward. Our government is a democratic capitalism. Communism is the other method being used to try to catch up with Utopia. Communism is based on the theory that human nature cannot be trusted to be generous and fair enough of its own accord; that in order to remove the temptation to greed and ill-use of power the means of production and distribution must be in the hands of the people's government. Capitalism is the opposite to this. We believe in the right to private profit; in money as a tool of workable price, in private management of production and distribution. There are two kinds of capitalism. In monopoly capitalism a small group, be it banking, labor, industrial management, has a stranglehold on the levers that control a country's economic life; democratic capitalism believes in the rights of all groups.

Danish people think we are vicious and petty in our politics. Italians, who regard democracy as one of the three silliest things in the world (the other two being the League of Nations and Communism), are astonished at the freedom with which we disagree. The proper attitude is probably somewhere in between. At any rate, our civilization has as a basic ingredient the ability to disagree amiably or at least without lasting grudge.

The administrative, political and economic situations are three angles from which to judge a government. The man at the head of the administration is a most interesting personality, although many people are so immersed in their economic and personal troubles that they don't notice that fact, or do they notice that the rhythm of exuberant prosperity which is normal after a general war and is normally followed by depression and that by a peiod of reform and reorganization, would have produced a New Deal anyway, no matter who the president. Roosevelt's inheritance is Dutch non-conformist, stock apt to produce hard-headed good businessmen who may espouse minority causes; his personal temperament is dramatic, of quick emotional response, always in a hurry to produce results. His philosophy as a democratic capitalist he owes to inheritance, his methods of translating that philosophy into actuality he owes to his temperament. The goal of democracy, to distribute its benefits among all its people, has virtue, but so also has the process of achieving that goal. Patience and waiting breeds thoughtful capable members of a nation as it does of a large family. Roosevelt forgets the value of the process of democracy while pursuing its goals. These New Deal objectives are probably approved as objectives by nine and one half out of ten citizens: to raise the buying power of the lower income groups; to raise Hoover's "submerged third" of the people to a decent status; to give the other two-thirds a more even steadier spread of the goods we have or want to have.

Roosevelt has many good friends, some intimate friends and practically no cronies. His constant companions are always endowed with both the excellent qualities as entertainers and with special knowledge of the subjects in which Roosevelt is interested at the moment. Thomas Corcoran, for example, who is credited with writing the frames of many inporant bills, also sings beautifully, plays a mean accordian and is a witty raconteur. Roosevelt's first love is the navy, and it is interesting that our first navy-minded president holds office when the Far East situation makes the navy seem important to the whole nation. His second love is arithmetic and the Treasury. He is never happier than when figuring complicatd problems on his customary penny pad.

From the political angle we see the party system. A democracy cannot function without at least two parties and preferably with not many more than two. Campaign manoeuvers dedicated solely to vote-catching will inevitably be fatal to democracy. Herbert Hoover has sounded the alarm in the statement that the thing most dangerous to our system of government is the tendency not to think out the principles behind our politics. The function of the conservative party in a democracy is not to ossify in a state of satisfaction with what has been done but to conserve what is good both from the past and from the changing present. As long as it is primarily concerned with votes instead of principles democracy's days are numbered.

The economic angle points us to the stock market. If capital depends on use of money as a tool there must be a place where it can be obtained or exchanged. In buying or issuing stocks a man lends or borrows money receiving or giving its price by interest. This function is legitimate in a capitalistic set-up. The fact that 25 billion dollars in paper value has been lost in the stock market since last March has jolted many people into a better knowledge of economics' relation to politics.

Great Britan, which is also run as a democratic capitalistic state, has impoved its economic position since 1929, and so have we. But taking 1926 as index of 100, whereas Great Britain has improved steadily to 45, we have gone by a series of overshooting jumps and declines to 54, at much greater expenditure of climbing energy. We have had an "up" mixed with six "downs," which is the normal rhythm of recovery from depression. Can we do anything to steady our rhythm? Sentiment aroused in 1914 by the Pujo scandal reached fruition in 1933 in the law regulating the issuing of stocks and bonds. The 1934 law regulating the practice of manipulation and monoply control forms a connection, the only one, between the Federal Reserve Board and the Securities and Exchange Commission; The Federal Reserve Board decides how much money shall be in use and its price. The Public Utilities Act completes the legislation enacted to control the economic fluctuations of the country. The Securities and Exchange Commission has thus made four contributions to the economic stability of the country. It has saved the plain investor from being swindled; it has helped company managements by forcing closer scrutiny of their position for financial statements; in acting as financial correspondent it has brought many people into personal contact with this branch of the government; and it has made accounting a moral means for progress.

In her next lecture, on December 8, Miss Avery will discuss "Italy and China, a study in contrasts and similarities." Pursuing her main thesis of the increasing unity of Europe and Asia, Miss Avery feels that crises must be paired, Asiatic with European, to get a balanced world's eye view. This lecture will be a companion to the one of November 10 in which she compared Spain and Japan, instead of China and Japan as mistakenly announced in these columns. The first lecture after the holiday recess, on January 5, will bring her yearly appraisal of moves and countermoves for 1938, the main trends and their influences.

SALVATION ARMY QUOTA STILL SHORT

Winchester's quota of $2000 for the recently concluded Salvation Army drive is still short $44, according to Mr. Harry T. Winn, the local chairman.

Tht Winchester committee believes there may be some who for one reason or another did not contribute during the drive who would be happy to do so now, enabling the committee to realize its quota. Forty-four people at $1 each will do the trick. How about it?

NEW FORDS ARE OUT

Ford V-type 8-cylinder cars for 1938 are now on display at Bonnell Motors on Main street. They are offered this year in two distinct lines, differing in appearance and price. Both are in the lowest price field.

One is a newly-styled standard Ford line in coupe, Tudor and Fordor body types, powered either with the 85 or the 60 horsepower V-8 engine.

The other is a newly-designed deluxe line for owners who desire additional style and appointments. Powered only with 85 horsepower V-8 engine, the line includes eight body types, the coupe, Tudor and Fordor sedans, as well as the club coupe, convertible cabriolet, club convertible cabriolet, convertible sedan and phaeton.

The two lines of cars have the same improved V-8 chassis, but their styling is distinctly different.

The deluxe cars are larger in appearance. The hood has been lengthened. Its nearly vertical front is carried in a "V" well down into the radiator grille, with the familiar V-8 emblem at the tip of the "V".

The new standard line cars also present a larger appearance, with a newly-designed front end, grille, hood and fenders.

Fenders in both cars are massive, formed lower to provide more complete coverage of the running gear and extending farther back. Headlamps are again recessed in front fender aprons, new type tail lamps in the tips of the rear fenders.

Interiors of the two cars are roomy and attractive, styled in keeping with the exteriors. The deluxe sedan interiors are larger.

A new instrument panel adds measurably to the beauty of the front compartment. The panel of the deluxe line cars is in walnut grain finish, that of the standard line cars in mahogany finish.

Instruments are arranged in two groups directly in front of the driver. In the middle of the panel is a grille, for radio speaker installation when specified. At the right is a glove compartment. In deluxe cars a lock is provided for the compartment and a clock is recessed in the compartment door.

Instruments in both cars are lighted by improved fringe illumination, designed to provide safer lighting for night driving.

Steering wheels of the deluxe cars are of flexible multiple steel spoke type, with hubs of rich brown bakelized material and rims of lighter contrasting color.

Night driving safety is also increased by addition of a headlamp beam control on the toe-board of both lines. The control is operated by the foot. A tell-tale light on the instrument panel indicates the position of the beams, whether high or depressed.

Both front and rear seats are wide enough for three persons. The driver seats of all cars except the phaeton are adjustable and the amount of adjustment has been increased. Clear vision ventilation is continued in all closed bodies.

Bodies of both car lines are all-steel. There is no metal-to-metal contact between body and frame.

The V-8 112-inch wheelbase chassis has been improved. Its features include "centerpoise" construction, rubber-cushioned engine, easy steering, softer springs, improved cable-controlled brakes, semi-centrifugal clutch, full torque tube drive and straddle-mounted rear axle driving pinion.

MOTHER GOOSE XMAS BAZAAR

Plans are complete for the big Mother Goose Xmas Bazaar that the Ladies Aid Society of the Crawford Memorial M. E. Church is holding in Fortnightly Hall on Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 8 and 9, from 10 in the forenoon until 10 in the evening.

Several features have been announced, including a Style Show Wednesday afternoon at 3, to which admission is free; a mystifying Magician Wednesday evening at 7:45 and a delicious supper Thursday evening at 6:30.

Tea will be served on both afternoons of the bazaar and there will of course be plenty of fancy articles, aprons and home-cooked food displayed in the intriguing booths arranged about the hall. Fore-handed shoppers can pick up some excellent suggestions for Christmas gifts at the bazaar and incidently purchase the gifts without leaving the hall!

The Man Who Solved The

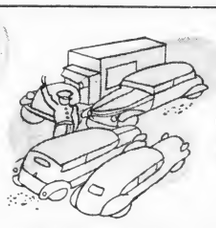
"I used to drive to Boston. I'd pay from 25c to 50c to park my car or I'd take a chance and leave it parked on the street when I could find one of those rare open spaces. Like all gamblers I thought I could beat the system."

"Well, I didn't! One way or another parking tags and fines cost me plenty."



"I thought it over. Driving to Boston was a task, not a pleasure. Frequently I was late getting in town or home to dinner."

"Met a friend who commutes by B and M trains. 'Get smart'— he said — 'Meet me on the train tomorrow.' I did. I have been doing it ever since. I'm saving a lot of money and it's twice as much fun."

ARLINGTON GAS LIGHT COMPANY FINAL COOKING DEMONSTRATION

The final of the series of four All-Gas cooking schools was held in the Fortnightly Club, Winchester, on November 16, 1937.

From the large attendance of Winchester housewives, together with their marked interest in modern gas cookery, the cooking classes were without a doubt a marked success. Modern methods of gas cookery including waterless cooking, grilled dinners, a whole meal—oven cooking, a whole meal—top burner cooking were the major features of these classes.

The appliances used for these cooking demonstrations were completely automatic gas ranges, and the silent Electrolux gas refrigerator.

The prize winners of the food cooked were:

Mrs. H. Ramsdell, 6 Summit avenue.
Mrs. E. J. Twombley, 17 Stevens street.
Mrs. B. T. Morgan, 420 Main street.
Mrs. E. B. Ganong, 4 Lebanon street.
Mrs. L. White, Keene street.
Mrs. J. P. Davey, 69 Woodside road.
Mrs. H. T. Mitchell, 26 Lakeview road.
Mrs. C. P. Fenno, 75 Church street.
G. Parker, 62 Vine street.
J. C. Smith, 10 Oak street.
M. L. Bergersen, 3 Lewis road.

THIS WEEKS GARDENING

By Alfred A. Fraser

Less hardy evergreens, like boxwood, will sunscald unless protected by boughs or straw. Warm sunlight starts the sap flowing, a hard frost harms it.

Rhubarb can be forced in boxes in the cellar if it has been subjected to one hard frost. Keep moist and give all the light possible.

The bulbs you started for forcing can be brought into the warmth if the pots are root bound.

Fireplace ashes contain a lot of potash. Save them for spring garden use.

Sprinkle gladioli bulbs with Naphthalene flakes to destroy any thrip.

Palms and heavy foliage plants should have the foliage wiped off at least monthly.

House plants need regular watering. A light fertilizing helps keep them thriving.

Poison ivy is practically harmless in cold weather. Burn it now but be very careful not to inhale any of the smoke.

WELLESLEY GIRLS HOME ON 16TH

Seven students from Winchester who are now studying at Wellesley College will be returning to their homes on December 16, when the college officially closes for the Christmas holidays which last until 10:30 p. m. on Jan. 6, 1938.

Miss Marjorie H. Dutch, a senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Dutch of Herrick street, has distinguished herself in the academic life of the college. She was on the sophomore honor roll, was announced a Junior Wellesley Scholar and in her senior year is President of the Zeta Alpha Society at the college. Miss Margaret Kennerson, also a senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Kennerson of Brooks street will be among those returning. Miss Ruth L. Wadleigh, daughter of Mrs. Herbert A. Wadleigh, who is a junior transfer student will return.

There are two sophomores in the group, Miss Gene MacDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander S. MacDonald of Ravenscroft road and Miss Mary Worthen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Worthen of Wedgemere avenue. The other two are freshmen, Miss Ruth LeRoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harris G. LeRoy of Church street, and Miss Katherine Snow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman E. Snow of Glen road. Doan attended the Winchester High School.

The Winchesterite who blames things as they are for all that he is not and has not, certainly has his reasoning badly out of adjustment.

MY FOE

John Alcohol, my foe, John,
When we were first acquaint,
I'd aiblier in my pockets, John,
Which noo, ye ken, I want;
I spent it all in treating, John,
Because I loved you so;
But mark ye, how you've treated me,
John Alcohol, my foe.

John Alcohol, my foe, John,
We've been ower lang together,
See ye maun tak' ae road, John,
And I will take anither;
For we maun tumble down, John,
If hand in hand we go;
And I shall hae the hill to pay,
John Alcohol, my foe.

John Alcohol, my foe, John,
Ye've blear'd out a' my een,
And lighted up my nose, John,
A fiery sign alween,
My hands wi' palsy shake, John,
My locks are like the snow;
Ye'll surely be the death of me,
John Alcohol, my foe.

John Alcohol, my foe, John,
Ye've wrought me muckle skaith;
And yet to part wi' you, John,
I own I'm unko' laith;
But I'll join the temperance ranks, John,
Ye needna say me no;
It's better late than ne'er do weel,
John Alcohol, my foe.

HEART TO HEART TALKS

The Need of Trust in God

"Come what will I shall keep my trust in God," said a fine old lady within my hearing recently. Here we have one who is fully prepared beforehand for the vicissitudes of life and they are many. We live in a complex civilization and because this is a fact we lose friends, lose support, face even death itself and last but not least the approach of grim old age which finds so many unprepared to meet it with financial success.

It is the easiest thing in the world to "go all to pieces." Many do so upon the slightest provocation. But if we possess the religious life there is little chance of becoming discouraged.

There isn't a family in or out of Winchester where almost every day some disconcerting event causes folk to lose that composure, that sense of poise, equanimity and calmness which are never lost by those rare souls who have what we call the "trustful disposition." The difficulties of life, especially death and personal losses, are hard to meet; it is only human to feel them keenly, but we should not "go plumb to pieces" if we know God and have faith in the life to come.

Trust in the Almighty is an attainment. It is one of the grandest ideals in all the world. Trust in God does not mean lifelessness nor stagnation. It means "Live and let live." It means strength and power. We need not fear "though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea; though the waters thereof roar and be troubled, though the mountains shake with the swelling thereof."

OBSERVATIONS

(By The Observer)

Winchester fellow tells us that about the only thing he grew in his garden last summer was a great big tired feeling. This seems to be the experience of some other gardeners of our acquaintance.

A well known Winchester man who travels about the country a lot tells the Observer that magicians don't always perform on the stage. Some run restaurants where veal passes through the phenomenon of becoming chicken salad.

Statistics show that the number of married women who work has doubled in the last 50 years and, no doubt, it wouldn't be hard to dig up statistics to show that the number of happy husbands has doubled in the same period.

RICHARDSON AND RAMSDELL FILE BILL

Seek to Improve Aberjona River and Mystic Lake

Winchester's representatives in the General Court, Senator Harris S. Richardson and Representative William E. Ramsdell, have filed with the Legislature a bill authorizing the Metropolitan District Commission to improve a portion of the Aberjona River and a portion of the Upper Mystic Lake in the Town of Winchester.

The bill was filed jointly by Senator Richardson and Representative Ramsdell to save the cost of filing duplicate bills.

Briefly it provides for the improving by dredging or otherwise of the Aberjona River from the bridge at the Postoffice to Mystic Lake and the dredging of a channel across Upper Mystic Lake from the iron bridge to the Aquaduct. The bill carries an appropriation of $150,000 and is filed for next year's session of the General Court which convenes on Jan. 4. It will first be considered by the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs with every probability for an early consideration by the Court.

In addition to the above bill Representative Ramsdell is filing for the Water & Sewer Board a bill which will permit local police to make arrests in any territory where the Water Board has jurisdiction of the reservoirs. Under the present set-up local officers are unable to make arrests in either Stoneham or Medford despite the fact that water works in those communities are under local control.

EN KA'S FALL ACTIVITIES

Townspeople know En Ka best for the bustle and hilarious fun of its annual Street Fair. The societies activities, however, continue unceasingly throughout the year. During the last few weeks the Finance committee has provided the Home for the Aged with stair carpeting for three stair cases and furnished the Home with the most modern vacum cleaner obtainable, this in addition to the club's regular program of hostess work, providing rides in the country and teas for their friends, the residents of the Home. On Donation Day, En Ka gave a tea and acted as hostesses.

En Ka's contribution to the Hospital Drive, in addition to the subscriptions of its members as individuals, consisted of furnishing members of the staff in daily attendance at the Hospital Drive Headquarters.

En Ka's appreciation of the splendid work of the Girl Scout movement was evidenced by its contribution to its recent drive.

A large group of En Ka members took charge of packing Thanksgiving baskets for the town welfare department, and a generous contribution has already been made to the welfare Christmas Basket Fund.

Not the least of En Ka's helpful services is the daily provision at the Hospital of two members who assist the nurses on duty by folding and packing linen, preparing of refreshing drinks, arranging flowers and otherwise making themselves generally useful.

GUEST SPEAKER AT CONGREGATIONAL MEN'S CLUB

Leland C. Bickford, Editor-in-Chief of the Yankee and Colonial Network News Services, whose militant crusades against vice and gangdom have earned him nation-wide acclaim, will be the guest speaker at the Men's Club Meeting, Dec. 15, at 8 o'clock in the Parish Hall of the First Congregational Church.

For the past five years, the crusading radio editor has been speaking extensively throughout the East in his campaign against crime and the inroads it has made in politics.

Since May of the current year, Mr. Bickford has made 85 public appearances in this state alone to erase the blot of vice and allied nefarious practices which have crept into the state of Massachusetts.

In his unceasing fight to banish the dog-racing racket from the Bay State, the radio editor has uncovered countless iniquitous schemes of gangdom, which are draining excessively on the public treasury.

For many long months, the Editor-in-Chief of the Colonial and Yankee Network News Services has been driving incessantly against the operations of gangland in Massachusetts.

The City of Revere termed "racket ridden" by him, and pointed out as the spawning-ground in Massachusetts in gangdom. Following the gang slaying in Revere of Louis Gaeta, Governor Charles F. Hurley in a move which made history in Massachusetts, appointed Captain James T. Sheehan of the Boston Police Department to clean up Revere.

The first person called into conference following Captain Sheehan's appointment was Editor-in-Chief Bickford. Mr. Bickford has the inside facts on Revere.

All men of the church are invited to attend this most interesting meeting.

Mr. Guild, a member of the Harvard football coaching staff in the Haughton regime made his home for many years on Cabot street. He served as chairman of the school committee and was also Winchester agent for the Middlesex County Extension Service. As "Bob" Guild he is known to sports followers as a former Harvard fullback and coach, and later as an official. He is a former assistant secretary of the Old Colony Trust Company. He was recently associated with the investment firm of Bond & Goodwin, Inc.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

The Winchester Garden Club observed guest night, Wednesday evening with Mrs. Lewis Wadsworth (Elizabeth Downs) as hostess. Mrs. Philip Spalding, president of the Garden Club Federation and Mr. Spalding were guests of honor. Mrs. Spalding was introduced by the president, Mrs. Theodore von Rosenvinge and gave an interesting talk.

Mrs. Wayne Davis, presented Dr. William H. Sawyer, Jr. of Bates College whose illustrated lecture was, "From Peat to Pan with the Cranberry." This subject was ably presented by Dr. Sawyer who gave a vivid picture of the preparation, growth and harvesting of Cape Cod's principal industry. Motion pictures in colors of Florida gardens and flowers and Massachusetts flowers and surf were shown by Mr. J. Robie Cove. These were joined films owned by Mr. Cove and Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini.

Exquisite and rare coloring was depicted in these unusual pictures; the exotic beauty of flowers contrasting strongly with the rugged scenery of North Shore surf.

The incidental music by Mr. Don Tiffany and Mr. Melvin von Rosenvinge gave a happy note of harmony to an instructive and interesting evening.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Arthur Pitman, Mrs. John Wills, Mrs. Arthur Kelley, Mrs. Robert Whitten, Mrs. Waldo Lyon and Mrs. J. Robie Cove.

The pourers were Mrs. Theodore von Rosenvinge, Mrs. Reginald Robinson and Mrs. John Maddocks.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Three members were absent from the meeting of December 9.

Some have been inclined to belittle the 100 per cent attendance record of this club for the month of November, inasmuch as the club held but two meetings in that month due to the fact that two of our regularly scheduled meetings fell on legal holidays and were, therefore omitted. Wherefore we take pleasure in announcing that our members have done much to weaken the force of this charge by registering 100 per cent attendance records for four consecutive meetings from Oct. 28 to Dec. 2, inclusive, this being the equivalent of an ordinary month of 100 per cent attendance.

The club record in this particular is five consecutive 100 per cent meetings held from Oct. 23 to Nov. 20, 1930, inclusive, with the Thanksgiving meeting of Nov. 27, 1930 omitted. We can equal this record by achieving a 100 per cent figure for the current meeting, Dec. 9. Is it not worth while?

We are advised by District Governor John MacGregor that Paul Harris, founder of Rotary, is now visiting New England. He will address the Rotary Club of Providence at the Hotel Biltmore, Providence, at 12:15 P. M. on Tuesday, Dec. 14. We hope that some of our members will be able to take advantage of this opportunity to hear the most distinguished of Rotarians.

Nat. Nichols, who visited in Woburn on the 7th inst., came home with a glowing report. District Governor John MacGregor, who was making his official visit in Woburn on this occasion, was particularly impressive as he addressed the assembled Rotarians. And so we have most pleasant anticipations of the day when Governor John will visit our own club.

The after-dinner period at the current meeting was in charge of Past President George Davidson, Chairman of the Community Service committee of this club. George is also chairman of the Winchester Community Relief Committee. In this latter capacity he undertook to inform his audience of the progress made in promoting the Recreation Center, which was instituted some years ago for the purpose of making available to the youth of our town a headquarters station for their leisure time could be healthfully employed to better enable them to become loyal and patriotic citizens. Most of us were indeed surprised to learn of the substantial, orderly and withal unostentatious work being done under the guidance of the Community Relief Committee and the supervision of Mr. Robert P. Moody as director of activities. This enterprise has proved to be of such benefit to this locality that it will undoubtedly receive the wholehearted support of our club; it should effectively forestall the development of those elements of lawlessness which are the especial bane of adolescent life. We believe that our citizens at large will heartily concur with local Rotarians in the support of the Winchester Recreation Center.

Percentage of attendance, Dec. 2, 1937—100 per cent.

MRS. ELIZABETH TWISDEN CHAMBERLAIN

Mrs. Elizabeth Twisden Chamberlain, widow of George Edward Chamberlain, died Tuesday morning, Dec. 7, at the home of her son, Edward H. Chamberlain, 16 Pine street, after a long illness.

Mrs. Chamberlain was a native of Lynn, the daughter of Charles F., and Catherine (Twisden) Hutcherson. She was formerly for many years a resident of Lynn, but for the past two years had been making her home with her son in Winchester. Besides Mr. Chamberlain, she leaves a grandson, David L. Chamberlain of this town, and three sisters, Mrs. Leila P. Wood. Miss Emma G. Hutcherson and Miss Catherine S. Hutcherson, all of Lynn.

Funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon at the late residence with Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church, officiating. Interment was in the Hutcherson family lot in Pine Grove Cemetery, Lynn.

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

On Tuesday morning, Dec. 7, Mr. Malcolm B. Lees, investment banker, and a resident of Winchester, gave a most interesting talk before the department of Government and Economic Welfare of the Winchester League of Women Voters at the home of Mrs. Theodore W. Monroe, 37 Cabot street.

At the outset, Mr. Lees assured his audience he had not had the opportunity of studying the labor question, as no doubt the class on "Collective Bargaining" had, but he did feel qualified to speak on the broader trends of labor in relation to business in this country.

Mr. Lees declared that organized labor's old ideal of "pride in accomplishment" of the craft union had been perverted to the new ideal of "getting all that was possible from the employer." If the unions had seen to it that its members did better work, the story would be quite different today.

In the battles between labor and the employer today—and it is a very real battle, Mr. Lees assured his listeners—one is liable to overlook the fact that there is a limit to what a job is worth in dollars and cents. There is a direct relationship to the productivity of that job and what can be paid for it. Only by increased productivity can the employer pay more in wages. A good illustration of this is the auto industry where, by means of increased productivity due to machinery and large resources of capital, the management has been able to pay high wages.

Mr. Lees gave it as his opinion that the employer is always ready to bargain collectively with labor when it is reasonable in its demands, but he will not stand for coercion.

A threatening picture was painted by Mr. Lees of the disaster which might overtake this country if the masses were successfully organized into labor unions, and to support this thesis, he cited the San Francisco general strike of 1934.

In the past few years Mr. Lees feels that labor has had great influence in Washington. The N. R. A., though set up to help both labor and the employer, has indicated the huge bureaucrasy needed to carry on regulations by the government. To Mr. Lees' way of thinking, this bureaucracy is the most dangerous trend we face today, and one we shall see as long as labor is in the saddle.

To Mr. Lees, the National Labor Relations Board is an abomination. One of his friends has told him he believed it was the worst monstrosity in Congress. This law, instead of being fair, Mr. Lees asserted, is so one sided, that it allows a small group in a factory to dominate and upset things. The worst fears of business have been justified, according to Mr. Lees, and industrial peace will be unknown until this law is repealed.

In Mr. Lees' opinion, the C. I. O. is dominated by radical leadership. The sit-down, he is sure, is illegal and a vicious usurpation of property rights. Public opinion has definitely shown hostility to this movement.

Business is greatly handicapped by coping with rigidity in taxes and in labor costs, since in a depression, they must have some place to pare costs. In speaking of the present depression. Mr. Lees feels that only when commodity prices get low enough will industry be willing to buy, and the downward spiral of business be ended. When business slows down, Mr. Lees feels confident that labor is the last to be asked to take a reduction.

A very excellent paper on the subject of "The Sit-down Strike" was read by Mrs. John L. Turner of 1 Cottage avenue. To summarize Mrs. Turner's report:

This method of carrying on a strike is pictured in the press as a brand new manoeuver by labor, but actually this is not the case. As far back as 1665, sit-down strikes were successfully carried out. The sit-down strike has proved to be the only method devised by the workers whereby violence can be avoided. It is peaceful, for it makes unnecessary the picket line where most of the clashes occur. Though the sit-down was carried to a successful conclusion in the automobile industry in March of this year, forcing a favorable trade agreement from the employers, nevertheless, public opinion has definitely shown an unfriendliness to this practice.

As to the lagality of the sit-down strike, many feel that it is a violation of private property rights and should be condemned. On the other hand, there is a very influential body of opinion that feels that the job of the laborer is his private property and so can be protected in this manner.

In the past few years, the United States Supreme Court has passed down decisions which have gradually changed the concept of private property to include intangible as well as tangible property; and so in addition to physical plant, machinery, etc., it has come to include good will, and profits that would have accrued to the employer if the strike had not occurred. If intangible property of this kind can be defined for the employer, logic would seem to dictate that this same definition can be applied to the job of the laborer.

Admittedly this sit-down method of strike is very effective, but it is a weapon which the employer will fight with all the huge financial resources, political power and propaganda agencies at their command.

On Dec. 14, Mr. Kenneth Taylor, Regional Director of the State Labor Relations Commission will speak on the subject of the A. F. of L.

FOUND IN DAZED CONDITION ON MAIN STREET

Sunday morning about 1.30 Patrolman Clarence P. Dunbury was informed by a passing motorist that two men in an automobile had picked up a man on upper Main street and had driven off in the direction of Woburn. The man picked up had seemed to be badly cut about the head and face.

An immediate investigation was begun by the Police and it was learned that a Medford man had been taken to the Choate Hospital in Woburn, suffering with cuts and bruises about the head. The hospital authorities were unable to identify the men who brought him to the institution. The injured man was interviewed by the Police, but was in a dazed condition and unable to tell what had happened to him. He was held at the hospital for observation and later the men who had picked him up, two Woburn motorists, reported to the local authorities of finding him unconscious on Main street.

There is a scarcity of boats, since any ancient scow that floats with rusty scrap is loaded high, for 'friends' abroad who want to buy. ANNOUNCING THE 1938

LINCOLN-ZEPHYR V-12

The modern "twelve" at medium price

IN THE ANNUAL, fashionable parade of model after model, improvements, changes, refinements are to be observed on every hand. But how seldom the whole car departs from traditional ways.

The LINCOLN-ZEPHYR V-12 during 1936 and 1937 did — and still does. The new LINCOLN-ZEPHYR for 1938 does even more. Truly it can be said: It breaks with tradition again!

Graceful streamlines that gave the LINCOLN-ZEPHYR a distinction of its own in two years previous are even more pronounced this year. Principles of functional design, rather than mere style, dictate the car's modern form. Thus the low and horizontal radiator grille, aside from its beauty, increases cooling efficiency.

This new car breaks with the usual, too, in its modern power-plant. The V-type 12-cylinder engine, used and approved by more than 45,000 enthusiastic LINCOLN-ZEPHYR owners during 1936 and 1937, has been refined to give an even smoother performance. And new-type valve lifters, with oil cushions, bring even quieter operation. . . . Developing 110 horsepower, the engine gives 14 to 18 miles to the gallon—twelve thrifty cylinders!

The basic construction of this car is a definite break with tradition. In closed types, body and frame are not two separate units, but one unit, a steel framework, all members welded together. To this rigid framework, steel top, sides and flooring are welded. You ride surrounded by steel.

The new LINCOLN-ZEPHYR is bigger inside, bigger outside. The wheelbase is lengthened to 125 inches. Great comfort results from the placing of car weight and passenger weight toward the middle. Prove this on your favorite back road!

This year, a new Convertible Sedan and a new Convertible Coupe bring to six the number of available LINCOLN-ZEPHYR body types. Drive this modern "twelve" today. This modern "twelve" is still the only car of its kind at any price! Lincoln Motor Company, builders of Lincoln and Lincoln-Zephyr V-12 motor cars.

Prices begin at $1295 delivered at Detroit factory. State and Federal taxes extra. The Sedan illustrated is $1395 delivered at Detroit factory, white side-wall tires included.

MISS SWANSON IN CAST

Martha Swanson, 26 Prince avenue, is a member of the cast of the play, "Bury the Dead," which will be staged this week-end in Delaware, Ohio, by the Wesleyan Players of Ohio Wesleyan University. The play is a satire on the folly of war. The plot centers about six dead soldiers who refuse to be buried for they feel they have not died for a worthy cause. Miss Swanson is a sophomore at Ohio Wesleyan. She is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

CABARET DATES ANNOUNCED

Perennial favorite event of the winter social season in Winchester is the Winton Club Cabaret, and even as early as November, some hostesses early as November, some hostesses had started planning for their reservations and the dinner parties preceeding.

This year's performance will be in the hands of a new production company, the Jerome H. Cargill Company of New York City, but witnesses of the last two Cabaret successes will be delighted to find that the show will again be coached by Mr. Emerson Stiles who is now with the Cargill Company.

Friday and Saturday evenings, Jan. 28, and 29, are the dates selected for the 1938 Cabaret, with the customary pre-view, a glorified public dress rehearsal, falling on Thursday the 27th. As formerly, applications for tables may be made through any Winton Club member.

AT B. U. FOOTBALL DINNER

Co-captain Gerald Ficociello and Robert Gardner of the Winchester High School football team were guests with assistant coach Edward Bartlett at the Boston University Football Banquet this week. Rizzo and Flynn of the Belmont team were among the other schoolboy football stars present.

THREE BREAKS OVER WEEK-END

Three breaks were reported to the Police last week-end, all taking place during Saturday night on the west side of town.

Shortly before 8.30 an attempt was made to enter a rear window at the home of Mr. E. C. Sanderson on Dix street, but the maurauder was frightened away. At 9.30 as Miss Barbara Pratt and her brother, Mr. Kenneth Pratt, were returning to their home on Wildwood street a man leaped from a first floor window of the house and made good his escape.

Later the Police were informed that the A. P. Weeks house on Dix street had been entered, but so far as could be learned nothing was taken. The house had been closed and much of the furniture removed so that the thief or thieves got little for their pains in this instance.

AN INVITATION

Try outs for "The Taming of the Shrew" second performance of the Parish Players 1937-38 season will be held in the ladies' parior of the First Congregational Church, Tuesday, Dec. 14 at 7.30 p. m. Anyone interested in acting or producing is cordially invited to come.

CAR TURNED OVER ON CAMBRIDGE STREET

Saturday afternoon Police Headquarters was notified of an automobile accident on Cambridge street near the residence of Mr. Gerald E. Munroe.

Patrolmen John J. Dolan and Winthrop Palmer went to investigate and found that a Chevrolet coach, being driven north on Cambridge street by James T. Moynihan of 42 Bartlett street, Lowell, had skidded, struck a pole and turned over twice.

The car was bady damaged and was towed to the Central Garage. Moynihan and a man riding with him, thought to be Walter S. Martin of 79 Midland street, Lowell, were bruised and badly shaken up. Both were given first aid treatment by Patrolman James P. Donaghey at Police Headquarters and were taken home.

WORE ELLIOTT'S SKI EQUIPMENT

The Eastern Professional Ski-Jumping Association team that showed last week at the Winter Sports Show in the Boston Garden was equipped with Spearhead Ski Bindings, designed and made by Ted Elliott in Winchester. This week the team has been at Madison Square Garden in New York.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

Miss Mary Brennan, president of the Cenacle Guild, Brighton, will be the speaker at the first December meeting of the Winchester Chapter, Guild of the Infant Saviour, on Tuesday, Dec. 14 at Lyceum Hall. Miss Brennen has traveled extensively throughout Europe and will speak on, "Lourdes," illustrating her talk with slides made at the shrine. It is urged that a large attendance greet our great speaker.

Two articles held over from the bazaar, a dinner set donated by Miss Mary A. Lyons, and a doll donated by Mrs. H. G. Osterberg will be awarded. Any books on either of these articles should be returned at this meeting.

Tea will be served.

WASHOUT ON WORTHEN ROAD

A water main on Worthen road near Westland avenue chose rather a poor time to burst when it let go during the drenching rain storm shortly after 4 o'clock Tuesday morning. An automobile, owned by Kenneth Castine of 157 Green street, Reading, got badly mired, and later in attempting to tow the machine clear, a tow car from a local garage also succumbed to the mud and water. The Police were notified and discovered the broken main, notifying Superintendent Harry Dotten of the Water Department.

In the new salon (91 Newbury street) the original Vincent of Boston presents varied interpretations. COMMUNITY CENTER

Winchester, so it is advocated, sadly needs a suitable community center. We hear that efforts are now underway towards securing an appropriation and making such necessary purchase as will insure a satisfactory plant. In this connection the Town should turn its attention to the Calumet Club building on Dix street. Handy to the center, containing abundant bowling alleys, billiard and pool tables, a fine hall, rooms for pingpong and cards, to say nothing of two fine tennis courts previously used, this place seems ideal. The present building at the corner of Mt. Vernon street and Converse place occupies some of the most desirable store and office property in town. It should not be used for its present purpose. Those interested in providing a suitable community center should certainly give their first consideration to the Dix street clubhouse. No better plant could be suggested.

AS TO THIS AND THAT

Perhaps the one factor that has characterized the Ango-Saxon civilization, that has enabled it to develop through the centuries and that gives a reasonable assurance that it will endure is the emphasis that has been placed on truthfulness. More and more men and women have come to realize that honesty is fundamental to the general and individual well being and that its lack affects all the relations of life.

It may readily be admitted that it is difficult invariably to know what is the truth and how to tell it without misunderstanding or error but it is the ideal toward which we have slowly but surely advanced in public and private affairs.

This being the case thoughtful men and women may well be concerned over the disrespect so commonly expressed when statements are made by the present administration. It seems to be assumed that they may be true and equally that they may be false, that they are made without serious consideration as to their exactness, that they do not imply action calculated to make them honestly effective, that they are in short a justification for the cynics grin or the patriot's grief.

We hear and read many words about "objectives." It is reasonable to raise the question whether any man can hold and pursue righteous ends unless he is fundamentally truthful. If he is not, how can he be sound in his thinking, wise in his conclusions, safe in his conduct? It may be that his weakness is innate, that however, charming he may be he simply cannot be other than he is. Whatever the excuse or the explanation the fact remains that he is a dangerous man to have responsibility.

BETHANY NOTES

The Bethany luncheons seem to be rapidly gaining in popularity—each month a few more chairs have to be added. Approximately 60 members and guests enjoyed the sumptuous dinner provided and served by the following ladies: Mrs. Fred Saunders, Mrs. George Morrow, Mrs. Clarence Eddy, Mrs. Edward Weber, Mrs. Rony Snyder and Mrs. Frederick Barthomew.

A business meeting followed and a busy afternoon was spent making up a schedule for the winter activities. We were glad to have our president with us again—Mrs. Higgins, having been confined to her home several weeks with a broken ankle, is now able to walk again. We missed Mrs. Webber, who unable to be present, was substituted by Mrs. Rony Snyder as secretary.

Mrs. Snyder and Mrs. Wm. Cutter were appointed to purchase the kitchen utensils needed and replace broken dishes.

Mrs. Farnham was instructed to present the organ fund committee with $25 from the Bethany Society and it was unanimously voted to follow this up with another gift at a later date.

Five new names were proposed and unanimously voted in as new members. These ladies will be gladly welcomed at the next meeting.

The Missionary Society will sponsor a "White Elephant" sale (in charge of the Finance Committee) in the assembly hall, Thursday, Dec. 16.

The Finance Committee is to take charge of the Christmas party for Dec. 28, each member is requested to bring a 25 cent gift.

Mrs. Eddy disposed of quite a few of the beautiful ties for Mrs. Snyder who is selling them for the Sunday School.

All members should not fail to attend the play "Goblin Gold," given by the Kenwin Club in Metcalf Hall tomorrow night, Dec. 11.

We were sorry to miss the very interesting lecture on Switzerland given by Mrs. Edward Weber at her home, but understand there was a good audience, and the subject was especially interesting as Mrs. Weber has made an extensive tour of Switzerland the past summer.

WILL SPEAK IN WINCHESTER

A quiet person with a dislike for anything that savors of the sensational, Miss Laura D. Ward of Diongloh, China, has, nevertheless, figured in a number of colorful incidents as she has carried on her work as a Christian educator. She will speak Wednesday evening, Dec. 15, at 8 p. m. in the Winchester Congregational Church.

It is quite natural that Miss Ward, who has given over 20 years of constructive service to China, should object to being featured as a lady who has lived through civil war, bandit uprisings and Communist invasions—but she has! She was even on a coasting steamer when it was kidnapped by pirates. These, however, have been the exceptions and not the rule and have given her a rare fund of knowledge about Chinese life and aspirations.

WINTON CLUB

The December meeting of the Winton Club, held at the home of Mrs. William McGill was more festive than usual as 75 members gathered to greet the four new members: Mrs. Robert Abbott, Mrs. Lyndon Burnham, Mrs. Frederick Ritchie, Mrs. Frank Rounds.

The membership committee, headed by Mrs. John Kenerson, served dessert and coffee.

In spite of, perhaps because of, the half hour devoted to sociability more than the usual good measure of sewing was put through: 440 articles were prepared for the hospital.

CHRISTMAS GREENS WORKSHOP

Spruce and fir, boxwood, pine hemlock and juniper, well seasoned with pine cones and bright berries, will be the pieces de resistance at the Christmas Greens Workshop of the Better Homes Garden Club, to be held on Wednesday, December 15, from 10 a. m. to 4 p.m. in the Scout room at the Baptist Church. The seven members of the board who attended the Christmas Greens conference at the Massachusetts State College at Amherst this fall had a practice meeting on Tuesday at the home of the president, Mrs. Norman Mitchell, to make sample pieces and to consolidate their skill. They will be present at the workshop meeting to furnish help or instruction as desired. Ideas, and in many cases samples to copy, are ready for both indoor and outdoor wreaths, swags, table decorations, favors and Christmas corsages. There will be several tables shown set for Christmas, and some of the favors and small decorative plants will be sold.

Members may bring their own materials or may buy them at the workshop at very slight cost. These supplies will be on hand for those who notify the committee. Tea and coffee will be served for those who bring their lunches. There will be a short business meeting at 3 o'clock. The board hopes that many members will come to work with them and that those who do not wish to work will come in to get some new ideas and to view the results of the day. Guest tickets are also available. Please telephone Win. 0679-W, 0622, 0889-W.

WINCHESTER HARRIERS HAD SUCCESSFUL SEASON

This year's club was captained by Joseph F. Connolly, managed by Robert Parish and coached again by Thomas Maynard, former Dartmouth intercollegiate high jump champion and member of the high school faculty. First team runners include Capt. Connolly, Daniel Dineen, Dan Mahoney, John McPartlin, Donald Gray, Joseph Russo and Fred Donahue. CHEETAH RACING—LATEST SPORT THRILL

Cheetah racing—that's the newest thrill for sporting fans. There are dog races, pigeon races, even camel, frog and pig races; and now several cheetahs, which resemble long-legged leopards, are being imported from East Africa to England for racing.

Cheetahs rank among the world's swiftest animals, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. In long distance runs they become winded, but for short dashes of an eighth or a quarter of a mile, they can outdistance all other animals. Cheetahs can streak past a horse, outrun a greyhound bounding along at 45 miles an hour, and can travel two yards to one of the swift Indian antelope.

Cats Have Canine Characteristics

Fastest members of the cat family, cheetahs have legs longer and thinner than those of other feline creatures. Their narrow bodies are usually about four feet in length. Their long tails add to their grace in running and are believed to help them make sharp turns.

Related to leopards, and sometimes called "hunting leopards," cheetahs have tawny bodies spotted with black, but the spots are small and round unlike the more varied markings of leopards. They purr like pumas, and sometimes actually chirp like birds. Strangely, these "cats" have several doglike characteristics. They sit high on their haunches as dogs do, and their blunt claws are only partly retractible, instead of slipping back completely into their sheaths as do claws of cats or lions. They also become docile pets.

Cheetahs inhabit the open plains of Africa and southern Asia. Killing them is restricted in Tanganyika. The racing cheetahs en route to England came from Kenya. Ancient sculptures show that the Assyrians and Egyptians used the animals in hunting. For centuries, they have been trained in India and Persia to capture antelopes.

Rewarded After Chase

Since young cheetahs cannot be trained to pursue game, only mature specimens are captured. Fierce and hostile at first, they are made submissive by the strange procedure of depriving them of food, sleep and peace. After they have been scolded and teased for some time they become docile as house cats. Frequently they share the beds of their native trainers.

In India, it has been the custom to take a cheetah hooded and chained in a cart to within about 200 yards of a herd of antelopes. Then the hood is removed, the chain loosed, and the animal streaks across the plain in pursuit of his quarry. Overtaking it, he pulls it down, kills or holds it till the hunters arrive. The cheetah is then given a ladle of the antelope's blood as a reward, after which he is hooded again, and re-chained. If ever loose and disobedient, he will usually return immediately if the keeper merely holds out the wooden ladle.

When the 14th century crusaders returned to Europe, they brought hunting cheetahs back with them. Europeans used the animals for hunting for several centuries. In Florence, the Medici ruler, Lorenzo the Magnificent, possessed several. In the Chapel of the Medici palace is a mural painting by Benozzo Gazzoli in 1469, which depicts hunting leopards on leash, and riding on a horse's haunches.

Australian Love Birds

Budgerigars are Australian parakeets famed for brilliantly colored feathers and keen intelligence. Almost unknown in America, they are popular as pets in England and their native land. They are called Australian love birds because of their affection for their mates.

Dwarfed Since Coal Age

When coal was in the making in the earth insects were like giants flying in the air. A genus of dragonflies with a wingspread of about a foot, although their body diameter was not much greater than a lead-pencil, probably were the most striking.

HIGH SPEED TRAFFIC PLAN SEEN IN CITY OF TOMORROW

A street system which enables through traffic to leap over local areas by means of elevated express boulevards, with intersections eliminated and sidewalks raised one story above the street was revealed to Winchester Lions Club at the Calumet Club in the showing of "The City of Tomorrow" under the sponsorship of Chris A. Powers, Manager of the Winchester Shell Station.

Those who saw the talking film heard Dr. Miller McClintock, director of the Bureau for Street Traffic Research at Harvard University, describe today's serious problem of traffic congestion and safety. Then, as a solution, he showed a series of pictures of a model city designed for the Shell Oil Companies by Norman Bel Geddes in which an intelligent traffic plan had been substituted for what he termed today's haphazard and inefficient street system.

The pictures of the Geddes' city showed a gigantic grid of elevated express highways, laid over the network of local traffic areas, by which through traffic can literally leap from one part of the city to another. Where these express routes cross, one passes over the other, eliminating intersections, one of the major causes of today's congestion.

Pedestrian traffic is completely separated from the vehicular stream. Sidewalks are raised a story above the ground and at intersections bridge on across the streets. Thus, as Dr. McClintock said, man is able to use his oldest form of transportation—walking—with security and dignity.

Geddes, in making his design, planned a city that could accomodate three times as many people and traffic as one of similar area today. Skyscrapers are noticeably taller than modern ones, some of them reaching up as high as 1500 feet.

By concentrating these tall buildings at important traffic centers, much more space is devoted to parks and open areas than is usual today, said Dr. McClintock. Surrounding the tall buildings are low ones of two and three stories, housing theatres, shops and providing parking space.

The express boulevards are spaced at 12 block intervals and the intervening streets for local traffic are one-way thoroughfares. Dr. McClintock pointed out that the Bel Geddes model provides for loading and unloading of trucks in the basement of buildings. There is no street parking at all, he said, because cars are to be left in storage spaces provided in the basements and lower floors of the buildings.

Dr. McClintock predicted that American cities would be rebuilt in the next 25 to 50 years and said that traffic engineering would provide "an intelligent, safe and efficient plan for the flow of traffic." He said that the Nation has efficiently developed the automobile but has given "little or no intelligent consideration to the street system over which it must operate."

Describing the city of the future, Dr, McClintock said it would be an automotive city, built around and for the automobile. He cited the need for intelligent planning to keep the automobile from becoming a worse menace than congestion has made it today. After describing the city of tomorrow, he showed several scenes of new highways, bridges and other facilities being constructed today that point the way to the future.

"THE PERFECT SPECIMEN" AT THE UNIVERSITY

Errol Flynn, that handsome young Irish actor who leaped to fame overnight in "Captain Blood" and then carried on with "The Charge of the Light Brigade," "Green Light" and "The Prince and the Pauper," comes to the University Theatre Sunday in a modern American comedy-drama called "The Perfect Specimen." The story deals with an eccentric old lady possessed of many millions who has an ambition to see her grandson raised as an altogether perfect young man, and who for that reason supplies him with an abundance of tutors but keeps him confined to the limits of the family's vast estate. A young man succeeds in getting him outside of his bounds and he begins to understand and love the world without. Others in the cast include May Robson, Hugh Herbert, Edward Everett Horton, Allen Jenkins, Beverly Roberts, Dick Foran and Dennie Moore.

America's most widely publicized penitentiary, that "Big Rock" situated in the chill waters of San Francisco Bay, is brought to the motion picture screen for the first time in "Alratraz Island," the associate feature.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes "Libeled Lady" featuring William Powell, Myrna Loy, Joan Harlow and Spencer Tracy and "Wings of the Morning" co-starring Annabella and Henry Fonda.

Ronald Colman comes Thursday in David O. Selznick's production of "The Prisoner of Zenda." Madeleine Carroll and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. head the imposing supporting cast, which includes Mary Astor, C. Aubrey Smith, Raymond Massey, David Niven and others.

"My Dear Miss Aldrich," the companion picture, features Edna May Oliver, Maureen O'Sullivan and Walter Pidgeon.

WINCHESTER THEATRE OPENING TUESDAY EVENING DEC. 21

After years of controversy over the pros and cons of whether Winchester should have its own moving picture theatre, it seems that the problem was but one of waiting for the right time for the theatre idea to become a reality. The interest and anticipation that the opening of the new E. M. Loew's Winchester Theatre is creating, seems to justify the choice of the time for the erection of a local picture house.

Located on Main street, just north of Winchester square, it is on a site identified with early Winchester history. Here at one time, where the theatre building stands, was Sol Cutter's garden lot, remembered by many for the Mexican corn he grew. The Cutters were many and lived near by in "Cutter Village." Cutter Hill on Main street, just north of Lake street, is still so called. The theatre parking space and drive is the location of old Stanton Pond. This was a clay bed and swampy pond that spread all along the river. Main street, in those days, 50 years ago, was nearer the railway tracks at this point, and crossed the river on Blind Bridge. The abuttments of the old bridge are still to be seen near the trestle at the Blanchard coal yard. In 1913 the land was bought by Arthur Eastman Whitney and the Whitney Machine Shop was built. Enlarged in 1918 business continued until 1929 when they sold to the Tanner Machinery Co. of Peabody. Mr. Robert Whitney, a son, continuing with the new firm. Wrecking the building, when taken over by Mr. Loew, to begin construction for the theatre, it was found necessary to sink concrete piles down as far as 35 feet to reach the bed of firm earth below old Stanton Pond.

The theatre building has been erected from the plans of Charles R. Greco, Inc., architects of Boston. Mr. Greco is a Winchester resident. The Winchester Theatre represents the last word in suburban theatre design, construction and equipment.

The residential character of Winchester has been emphasized by treatment of the building as a free-standing unit, presenting a dignified Colonial facade of red brick and with ornamental stone pilasters across the front. This gives opportunity for a wider and a more imposing entrance than would be possible otherwise.

The outer lobbby, where the ticket office will be located has a door, on the right, opening on the parking drive. This Lobby is 25 feet wide and its walls continue the Colonial feeling of the exterior, although treated with color in a free modern manner with a cove ceiling and indirect illumination.

Passing through the Lobby, the Foyer or Lounge is reached. This is a spacious room, treated in modern coloring and sets the key-note of the decoration of the Auditorium. This Foyer is 48 feet long by 20 feet wide, with ornamental alcove corners containing decorative figures, while at each end are large wall mirrors giving an appearance of even greater length to the Foyer.

Reached from the ends of the Foyer are good sized retiring rooms. The Ladies' Room being especially noteworthy for the style of its decoration and its up-to-the-minute appointments for convenience.

The main Auditorium's decoration is an outstanding example of modern technique in harmonious use of light and coloring. The Proscenium Arch is treated in gold and black, and this same color scheme is repeated in wide decorative pilasters, which divide the walls into three large panels. These panel space and the rear wall of the Auditorium are entirely covered with red brocaded fabric in two color tones, resulting in a richness and warmth of effect which could not be obtained with plaster walls.

The main Auditorium seats approximately 900 people. The seats installed are of the latest improved make roomy, air-cushioned and upholstered in plush, placed to insure ample knee room for the comfort of the patrons. Additional service is given by the installation of plugs for ear phones in a great many seats throughout the house, which the hard of hearing may use to more fully enjoy the program.

The ceiling is done in wide bands of color, grading from deep maroon at the walls through the warm side of the spectrum, to yellow in the center panel, with an ornamental stencil pattern in silver. The central panel is plain, but will appear to be ornamented by means of colored patterns projected on the surface from concealed lighting fixtures. These striking interior color effects have been worked out and installed by the interior decorators, Rambusch Inc., of New York City, in collaboration with the architects.

The Projection Room over the Auditorium doors will be interesting to those who like to know how the "wheels go round." Western Electric's most modern invention in sound equipment is installed, known as the Mirrophonic Sound. The two projection machines are the latest models of an improved type.

The most efficient methods of ventilation and air-conditioning are used. The stage is so arranged that it is possible to use for future presentation of amateur theatricals, as well as for moving pictures. The free parking space and drive at the right of the building, will accomodate 400 cars. A reliable man is to be put in charge.

Mr. Loew announces the appointment of Mr. George Roland Carter of New York City as resident manager. Mr. Carter has been identified with the E. F. Loew Theatres Inc., in like positions for a number of years. He comes to Winchester from E. M. Loew's Embassy Theatre, Rochester, N. Y., and presents an unusual background of theatre management experience. Assisting Mr. Carter as Personal Relations representative will be Mrs. Lucius Smith of this town. Mrs. Smith is active in organization an civic affairs of the Town, and will be a valuable contact between the theatre management and the people of Winchester.

The pictures to be shown are to be selected from the better showings of the major production companies. News, shorts and comics will be included in the programs. Wednesday afternoon will be "Children's Matinee" when a program suitable for them, yet entertaining to adults will be shown.

The admission prices will be the same as in other theatres of the same class. Evenings, the charge will be 40c. All seats are to be reserved. Advance dates sales and telephone reservations will be gladly accepted. Afternoons, the adult price will be 25c, and the children's ticket will be 15c for the regular afternoon shows as well as their own Matinee. Programs will begin at 1:45 o'clock in the afternoon and 7:45 o'clock in the evenings. Sunday the hour is 7:30 p. m.

The Winchester Theatre is the 40th theater in the great chain of theatres in New England owned by E. M. Loew. It is the most up-to-date equipped theatre North of Boston.

Its policies are to be in keeping with Winchester's high standards. Its doors are cordially open to the people in surrounding communities, as well as the townspeople, who enjoy good pictures in a modern theatre.

COLLEGE CLUB ART GROUP

The exhibition of paintings by John P. Benson which are on display at the Winchester Library during the month of December should be of special interest to the members of the College Club Art Study Group, not only because of their great charm, but also because Mr. Benson is an outstanding representative of modern art, of the school that may still be judged by the standards of sanity and beauty of composition, design and color.

The library has recently acquired "Sanity in Art," the book by Mrs. Josephine Hancock Logan, patroness of the Art Institute of Chicago, who has lately formed an organization among the artists and art lovers in an attempt to rescue American Art from surrealism and degrading ultra-modern tendencies.

Lorado Taft's "History of American Sculpture" has also been added to the Art Study shelf at the library; this book has been revised and brought up to date and gives an excellent survey of sculpture in this country up to the present time. Also, for the benefit of those interested in sculpture, notice is given of an unusual exhibition of sculpture by Arnold Geissbuhler at the Farnsworth Museum, Wellesley College.

Current exhibitions in Boston showing American Art are:

Number Ten Gallery, 10 Newbury street. Oil paintings by Anthony Threme—to Dec. 11.

Robert C. Vose Galleries, 559 Boylston street. Paintings of Spain by Edith Hoyt of Washington; still life in oils by Mme. Elizabeth Puiiti-Barth.

Doll and Richards, 138 Newbury street. Paintings by Ogden M. Pleissner.

Rand Galleries, 236 Clarendon street. Paintings by Anthony Threme—to Dec. 14.

All exhibitions are free of charge and the public is cordially welcomed.

WINCHESTER DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

The December meeting of the board of directors of the Winchester District Nursing Association took place Dec. 3, at the home of the president Mrs. Ben Schneider. The following members were present: Mesdames Pond, Lees, Nichols, Horner, Young, Shoemaker, Parkhurst, Spencer, Cusack, Elliot, Schneider, Greiner, McDavitt, Kugler, Hills and Miss Homer.

Mrs. Clarence McDavitt read Dr. Parran's article "Public Health Marches On" which was given as an address to the annual meeting of the National Organization of Public Health Nurses in New York. In his address Dr. Parran said that the number of public health nurses in the country now is 17,613 an increase of 10 per cent since 1931. The emphasis in public health work has changed somewhat during the last few years and at present the six fronts on which the battle is staged are prevention and cure of syphilis, cancer, pneumonia, tuberculosis and the decrease of infant and maternal mortality. In carrying forward this program the public health nurse plays an important part.

After some study the Nursing Committee reported that they had decided again to offer nursing service for home confinement cases. This service would be arranged through attending physicians.

The committe on Education reported that on the invitation of the board of directors of the Medford Visiting Nurse Association arrangements are being made for an institute for board members to be held early in February. The boards of the organizations in Winchester, Stoneham, Somerville and Medford are going to cooperate in this plan. Others who are especially interested may secure information about the meetings from Mrs. Ben Schneider, 10 Winthrop street.

Mrs. Alice Gormly presented the following report for the month of November:

349 calls made on 72 patients.
316 full pay calls on 51 patients.
98 part pay calls on 13 patients.
35 free calls on 8 patients.
OBS. 1.
Metropoltan calls, 70.
Emergencies, 9.

WYMAN SCHOOL NEWS

The first issue of the Wyman Messenger was issued before the Thanksgiving holidays. The cover, designed by Sherwood Stockwell of grade six, pictured a pilgrim maiden offering a pie as a token of friendship to an Indian. Many stories, items of news, and reports of various types of room activities made the magazine of great interest to the children.

The boys and girls are very busy constructing gifts for the various children's hospitals in preparation for the coming season.

The Christmas play, "Help Wanted—Mrs. Santa Claus," will be given at 11 o'clock, Dec. 23 for the school children and will be repeated at 2:30 in the afternoon for the parents.

WASHINGTON-HIGHLAND CHAPTER, MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

Tuesday evening, Nov. 30, in the George Washington School assembly hall, Mrs. Kenneth Toye gave an informal and a most interesting talk. Her subject being, "Whither Japan." Mrs. Toye graciously offered to enlarge her study group so that their friends might enjoy such a talk and also to help towards the Scholarship Fund. Before the meeting began, Mrs. Terry had arranged a group of three Japanese Folk Songs, most ably sung by Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Horne, with Mrs. Terry accompanying. Punch was served by members of the Social Committee. It was a very worthwhile evening and well attended.

Tuesday, Dec. 7, the second business meeting of the year was held in the George Washington School assembly hall, Mrs. Clifton Campbell, president, in the chair. The business meeting was followed by a game party, conducted by Mrs. Lyman Smith and Mrs. Harkness. Mrs. Augusta won first prize; Mrs. Toye and Mrs. Wills second prize; and Mrs. Saltmarsh third prize. Mrs. McCall and her committee provided home made candy and punch and cookies.

When your children bring home the slips of paper announcing these meetings, do please save them and if you can come do so, for they are of interest. The next meeting will be Tuesday, Jan. 18. But more about this later.

Ford

The 1938 Ford has many improvements and we expect it will be the leading car of the year.

Because people liked our 1937 car so well, they bought MORE than of any other make. They liked its looks, its smooth performance, and the way it handled. We have improved on that car in the newly styled Standard Ford V-8.

But some folks wanted still more size and style, with the same fundamental Ford advantages. For them, we have designed a new DeLuxe line.

The DeLuxe Ford V-8 Sedans are longer with more room, larger luggage space, and finer appointments. DeLuxe cars are equipped with the 85-horse-power engine. They provide an added measure of motoring satisfaction at low Ford prices.

We have on display your choice of bodies, styles and colors.

A demonstration is yours for the asking.

Lincoln Zephyr

IS GIVING AMERICA NEW IDEAS ABOUT TRAVEL.

Before you buy any car in this price class you owe it to yourself to drive this new car.

We have an increasing list of Lincoln Zephyrs in Winchester, giving their owners a new riding experience. Ask your friend who owns one.

We thank our friends for our fine business during the past year. Knowing this to be the result of the fine Ford product we handle, we also trust that our service has been equally as acceptable.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL PLAYERS DINED

Senior members of Winchester High School's football team, with their coach, George Lauer, were given a dinner party last Sunday evening at 37 Conn street, Woburn, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Ficociello, brother and sister-in-law of "Gerry" Ficociello, co-captain of this year's championship eleven.

The players and their coach met in the center and made the trip to Woburn in automobiles. A warm welcome awaited them at the Ficociello home and a bountiful dinner was served, so bountiful in fact that stout trenchermen though the guests were, it looked for a time as if they would give out before the final course was served.

Starting with soup the courses ran the gamut through spaghetti and ravioli, salad, potato with meat balls and veal cutlet to fancy iced cream puffs, roast chestnuts, cakes and assorted nuts. Unofficial reports credit "Fiecy" with highest gastronomic honors though Coach Lauer ran a good second, and with a bit more experience in planning his consumption, should do better next time.

After dinner the party adjourned to the living room where games were enjoyed and light refreshments served. Winners of the various contests were not announced.

Among those who enjoyed the Ficociello hospitality were co-captains "Pete" Sibley and "Gerry" Ficociello, "Don" Wilson, "Art" Johnson, "Dan" DeLorey, "Bob" Gardner, John Welburn, "Clem" Bairstow, "Lad" Millican, "Jack" Finger and Coach Lauer.

VESPERS AT SECOND CHURCH

Beginning this Sunday afternoon at 4:30 and continuing through the Christmas season, the Second Congregational Church will add a vesper service to their calendar of worship services.

The first of these services will be observed this Sunday with Capt. Thaddeus Thompson, U. S. N. Chaplain, as our guest preacher. Sunday, Dec. 19, Mr. Earl Chamberlain and a group from his Union Choir will conduct a Christmas service. December 26, the children of the Church School will participate in a Christmas program. Other services to be announced will include "The Life of Christ in Music' a service to be given by Mr. D. Ralph Maclean, Organist and Director of Music at First Church, Newton. These services are of a nature that will make them appealing to the whole community.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

"A Merry Christmas To All"

That blessed spirit of Christmas time will be formally inaugurated on Monday next, when Miss Edith Winifred Fisher will tell the story of Christmas Eve on Beacon Hill, augmented by a display of Creches gathered from all parts of the world.

To further stimulate the holiday spirit, our own Glee Club will present a program of Christmas carols beloved by all, and a Christmas Tea will be served.

A program so beautiful, so fanciful and so utterly Christmacy, cannot help but fill the hearts of each and every member of the audience with the happier side of the blessed season — whether the bugbear of Christmas shopping is still annoying one, or whether every package is safely and beautifully tied up and lodged securely upon the closet shelf.

The Persian Afternoon, to be presented by the Art and Dramatics committee at 2:30 this afternoon, is one well worth putting off the holiday shopping to attend. There will be a program of Persian Music and dances by Mr. Mahmud Shah, who will present authentic picture of life in Persia. An exhibit of Persian Art will be shown by the Art committee, and Persian coffee will be served to complete the magic carpet atmosphere.

A Taxi Driver's Advice on How to GET THROUGH BOSTON TRAFFIC

"Take a tip from me. I know all the tricks. Even for a professional, Boston traffic is tough — but for an amateur there's just one smart thing to do."

"Figure it out. You pay 5c a mile to drive a small car — 7½c for a medium and 11c for a large car."

"You pay 25c to 50c to park. Or you pay fines if you don't — It's expensive."

"Me? You have to pay me to get into that mess. When I'm off the job and want to go to Boston I take the train. It's the only way to beat Boston traffic."

BOMBING OF AMOY RECALLS BOSTON TEA PARTY

Amoy, China, bombed by Japanese airplanes and naval vessels (Sept. 9), has one of the finest and best protected harbors along the central Chinese coast, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. It occupies an island by the same name three miles off the Chinese coast between China and Formosa.

Supplied Tea for Boston Tea Party

The city has played an important part in American history, for from Amoy came some of the tea that figured in the famous Boston Tea Party in 1773. It was chiefly upon tea that Amoy rose from an unimportant coast town to a great port, after China awoke in the middle of the 19th century to discover that foreign trade was the answer to the profitable distribution of its surplus products.

Nature gave Amoy its excellent harbor. Fingers or land project from the island into the sea and with small islets form a protected bay. For some 40 years after its opening, Amoy's name was synonymous with tea in the ports of the world; then Japan took possession of the island of Formosa. Since Formosa was the source of most of the Amoy tea shipments, the loss of the island to China meant disaster to Amoy's foreign trade. Tea from Fukien Province, of which Amoy is the chief port, continued to flow through the port to the tea cups of the world, but the traffic was only a trickle compared with the huge cargoes of the dried leaves in the port's palmiest days.

CAMERON GETS LETTER

Fred Cameron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Cameron of 135 Washington street, received his varsity letter at the recent football banquet held at Holderness School. Cameron played fullback on the Holderness team which had a very successful season, winning four out of five games.

Peiping Once Cambulac

Ages ago Peiping was known as Cambulac. Later it became the "Purple Imperial City," or Peking, which means "northern capital." The latter name hung on longest. But in 1928, Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist hordes swept up from the south, not only captured Peking, but took the seat of the government back to Nanking, says the Washington Post. So, as Peking was no longer the "northern capital," the city's name was changed, this time to Peiping. The meaning of that is ironic. For Peiping means "city of northern peace!"

Haiti, Means "High Land"

The island of Haiti was so called by the natives because the word means "high land."

MIDDLESEX COACHES NAME ALL TEAM

Football coaches in the Middlesex League announced their honorary eleven in the Boston Transcript of Thursday, Dec. 2. All of the 12 boys named were placed by the Star on either its first or second elevens, previously announced.

Rodgers, Concord end; Flynn, Belmont tackle; Delorey, Winchester tackle; Arico, Belmont guard; Osterback; Downey, Maynard halfback; Rizzo, Belmont halfback and Ficociello, Winchester fullback, were chosen by the coaches as well as by the Star for first team berths. The coaches, however, thought Truesdale of Stoneham and Millican of Winchester were better guards than our first string pair, Nyholm of Maynard and O'Brien of Belmont, and also thought Parks of Concord a better pivot man than DeTeso of Winchester. Mebbe so, mebbe so! Behind the line, the coaches picked Art Johnson of Winchester ahead of Lentine also of Winchester. Again, mebbe so; but if those same coaches were wondering why so many of their plays were being smeared so badly and why the Winchester backs went tearing by so easily, we'll let 'em in on a secret, Lentine, absolutely! A blocking back, and how! And not a single coach saw him! Well, well!

Following is the coaches team and the individual selections:

HEART TO HEART TALKS

Human Society is Sick

This old world is sick, sicker than it ever has been before. What is the reason for the present world unrest? Why all this lawlessness in our own country The answer is that we have gotten away from God. Has not the Bible assured us that "Are not these evils come upon us because our God is not among us?" There is a bankruptcy of human leadership in all fields. The situation is critical and quite beyond the control of man.

However, is it not possible that a great spiritual awakening like the revival under the Wesleys in the 18th century and which saved England from the horrors of the French Revolution, may stem the present tide in America? It must seem to every thinking man and woman that the Church has it within its power to do much in the present crisis. Many claim that the Church already has failed. It has to a certain extent but there is hope if Christians of every creed will get together and determine that the present wave of sin in the universe shall be dissipated by real fighting in the spiritual front line trenches.

We seem to be advancing faster educationally than we are spiritually. But we must bear in mind that religion is necessary to give right direction to the cultivated intellect. Mental power alone is no guaranty of innocent and virtuous superiority although too many seem to think so. A life of study gave the philosophic Bacon power and renown; but the absence of religious principle left him to disgraceful deeds which naturally dims the lustre of his fame. Men will honor his intellect, but despise his heart. So of Lord Byron, Rousseau, Voltaire and others.

Life may be compared to a garden. Winchester folk who in season work in their gardens know that very often there is a great deal of toil with very little to show for it. Weeds spring up almost as fast as they can be destroyed. Gardeners who do not give constant attention to these weeds soon find that great difficulties abound. The careful gardener who gives patient, persevering, and intelligent toil, no matter how prolific the weeds, finds that under cultivation the proneness to weeds grows weaker.

So it is with our spiritual struggle in this sin torn world. We have got to get religion working. To religion we look as the great stimulator, the mighty developing agent of a better order. If we are going to do away with the weeds of cussedness so prolific today we must gird on our spiritual armor. If we are going to cure this sick old world of ours we need to get right out on the spiritual front line where our thoughts and endeavors for better things will stir our attentive minds, just as high winds cause the thick leaves of the tree to rustle.

It has been written: "If my people which are called by My name will humble themselves, and pray and seek My face, and turn from their wicked way; then will I hear from Heaven, and will forgive their sin and heal their land." (Chron. 7.14).

Eugene Bertram Willard

OBSERVATIONS

By the Observer

Winchester bard muses that:
It is mercy to keep on fighting
When the battle is to be won,
An the wrong we are trying to righten
Is getting ready to run.
For no man stops in his battle
Till he's swung home on the jaw
With a blow that shall starrer and rattle
The vandal that breaks the law.

A fellow who lives not afar from Winchester recently bought a car at a very small price. Yet he makes more noise with the horn of his car than others who paid many times the same amount for their cars.

Winchester, happily, is always free of "labor trouble." Which reminds The Observer that "labor trouble" seems a waste of words. Is not labor alone trouble enough?

And while we think of it again, don't forget that a fine Xmas present for a friend far from Winchester is a subscription to the Winchester Star. It is a gift that will be appreciated 52 weeks in the year.

An eminent philosopher says that "in this life nothing is permanent but change." Let us remember one and all of us that our change is fleeting. You know the sort of change referred to don't you?

Believe it or not Winchester fellow who has a day off once a week delights in doing odd jobs for his wife about the house.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Spencer Tracy and Luise Rainer in "Big City," plus Joan Blondell and Errol Flynn in "The Perfect Specimen" is the double feature program opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. "Big City" is a dramatic story of a taxicab war in New York with Spencer Tracy cast as a taxi draiven and Luise Rainer as his Roumanian wife. The supporting company includes Charles Grapewin, Victor Varconi, Janet Beecher, Eddie Quillian, William Demarest, John Arlege, Guiann Williams, Regis Toomey and Paul Harvey.

"The Perfect Specimen," is a comedy with a great cast that includes Errroll Flynn, Joan Blondell, Edward Everett Horton, Hugh Herbert, Dick Foran, Beverly Roberts, May Robson and Allan Jenkins. An amusing idea is behind the story of "The Perfect Specimen;" a millionaire grandmother with ideas of her own about eugenics and environment.

READING THEATRE

Loretta Young, Warner Baxter and Virginia Bruce are starred in the wise and witty 20th Century-Fox picture, "Wife, Doctor and Nurse," playing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Reading Theatre.

For every wife whose husband works with other women, for every girl whose boss is handsome—and married, "Wife, Doctor and Nurse," is a gay, penetrating drama with a catch in its heart and a twinkle in its eye.

On the same bill will be Jane Withers in "Wild and Woolly."

According to a Winchester parent the hardest part of being a parent consists in teaching children standards parents no longer use themselves.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

Most housewives plan to serve inexpensive and easy-to-prepare meals after the Thanksgiving feast. Eggs make a welcome main dish after too much holiday fare. They may be used freely for cookng and baking, because storage eggs are plentiful and very reasonable for this time of the year. The supply of fresh eggs is gradually increasing, and prices, naturally, are decreasing.

Forequarter cuts of veal, legs and chucks of lamb, smoked pork are good choices in the line of meats. Some families who spent Thanksgiving Day away from home, may want a turkey of their own for the weekend. Turkeys are still available at reasonable prices.

There is a wide choice of cheap fruits and vegetables. Grapefruit, small oranges for juice, apples, Brussels sprouts, cauliflower, carrots, rutabagas are all cheap.

The following menus are easy to prepare and are foods which are reasonably priced.

Low Cost Dinner
Ham Loaf with Egg Sauce
Glazed Carrots Baked Potatoes
Bread and Butter
Half Grapefruit
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner
Roast Shoulder of Veal
Baked Sweet Potatoes
Broccoli
Bread and Butter
Baked Apples Stuffed with Pecans
Tea or Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner
Oyster Cocktail
Roast Leg of Lamb
Browned Potatoes
Brussels Sprouts with Chestnuts
Stuffed Celery Salad
Rolls and Butter
Custard Ice Cream Cakes
Tea or Coffee Milk

ANIMALS AND THE GAMBLING RACKET

Many of our readers will doubless be glad to learn that an organization known as the New England Anti-Gambling Association is seeking a repeal of the legislation which has legalized gambling in Massachusetts in connection with the racing of horses and dogs. The amount of money annually spent in this state at these race tracks is almost beyond belief. For example, during the year 1936 the horse racing interests in the Commonthwealth received at the windows where the betting was done $26,340,-197. At the dog racing tracks the amount was $22,232,622. One is perfectly justified in saying that by far the greater part of this money was from people who could ill afford to lose a dollar in gambling.

That the managers of these tracks are careful to see that none of our anti cruelty laws are violated we know from the constant visits of our officers to these places. Especially do the officials of the dog racing tracks guard against any evidence of cruel treatment of the dogs, because dog racing has aroused a much more hostile opinion against it than horse racing. And this in no small measure because the former are held at night and therefore attract thousands of people, the majority of whom, working by the day, can only visit these places at night and whose money used in gambling often means a family somewhere suffering from lack of the necessities of life. Merchants, wholesale and retail, large business houses and small dealers, milk companies and coal dealers, the butcher and the baker and the gas and electric companies all are feeling the evils of the gambling habit in unpaid bills and the loss of trade.

As to the animals, we believe the dog racing involves much more actual suffering of animals, because in the training of the dogs live rabbits are so often used to be chased by the dogs and whose fate is to be torn to pieces when caught.

The Governor of New York has vetoed a bill that would make dog racing legal in that state and has also given orders that the present laws against betting should be strictly enforced. This action, it is said, spells the death knell of the so-called "sport" of dog racing in the Empire State.

The California Legislature has passed a bill legalizing dog racing, though it has been carried on there in defiance of the law. The San Francisco Societv two years ago succeeded, as is stated in another column of this magazine, in convicting several persons for cruelty in connection with dog racing. An interesting article on dog racing appears on page 128 of this issue of our magazine.—[From M. S. P. C. A. Magazine.

TANGKU AND TAKU, KEY PORTS OF NORTH CHINA

Of considerable strategic importance in the North China conflict are the two small cities of Tangku and Taku, which nearly face each other across the mouth of the Hai Ho where it empties into the Gulf of Chihli. Japanese warships early in the present campaign shelled the Chinese garrison of Taku, and moved large numbers of troops into the railroad station at Tangku.

These similarly named towns possess a military and economic value far out of proportion to their size because they stand at the sea portal to the big inland cities of Peiping and Tientsin, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Large Steamers Must Anchor Off Bar

Large ocean steamers are unable to enter the Hai Ho due to the Taku bar where it flows into the Gulf of Chihli (Yellow Sea). Such vessels must anchor off the bar and transfer passengers and cargo to lighters, which ply between the anchorage and Tangku, a few miles up the respentine stream.

The Chinese port town also is important as a railroad center. Ribbons of steel link Tangku with Tientsien, which, in turn, has a railway line to Peiping, and another to Nanking. Still another line out of Tangku runs northeast to Shanhaikwan, where the Great Wall reaches the sea, and to Mukden in Manchutikuo.

While Tangku has seldom reached the headlines of the international press, it was important enough during the Boxer Rebellion to be one of those population centers which were leveled by fire. It rapidly recovered, however, and in 1902 was designated a garrison for foreign troops in the region.

Orioles Called "Hangnests"

Orioles are called "hangnests" because they place their nests on limbs in such a manner that they hang down. As the nests sway in the wind, we may imagine that the baby birds are being rocked to sleep.

"Policeman of the Forest"

"Policeman of the Forest" is the title given the alert, noisy and quarrelsome jaybird. His wild cry sounds like "Thief! Thief!" James Whitcomb Riley, Hoosier poet, termed the jay "full o' sass—in them baseball clothes of his." And, despite his glorious colors, the jay is a member of the crow family.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON THE MASSACHUSETTS UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION LAW

Question 1. I work in a printing plant with 12 other people. A man came into our shop the other day and told us that we should be contributing each week to the Massachusetts Unemployment Compensation Fund. Is that correct?

Answer. Yes. If your employer employs eight or more individuals on some day in each of 20 weeks in a year, both you and your employer should contribute to the Massachusetts Unemployment Compensation Fund.

Question 2. Are there any types of employment which are not covered by the Massachusetts Unemployment Compensation Law?

Answer. Yes. If you work in the following types of employment you can not be protected by unemployment compensation: agricultural labor; domestic service in a private home; service on the crew of a vessel in navigable waters of the United States; service in the employ of a son, daughter or spouse, or by a child under 21 in the employ of his father or mother, or both; service in the employ of the U. S. Government or of instrumentalities of the U. S. Government; service in the employ of a State or political subdivision of a State; service in the employ of a charitable or non-profit organization.

Question 3. I work in a large woolen mill and earn $22.00 a week. Should my boss hold $.22 each week from my pay envelope?

Answer. Yes. The Law, which has recently been changed, states that you must contribute 1 per cent on the first $1250 which you earn between July 1 and December 31 of this year. Next year and thereafter you will contribute 1 per cent on the first $2500 which you earn.

Question 4. My boss told me that he will pay almost three times as much as I pay to the Massachusetts Unemployment Compensation Fund. Is he telling the truth?

Answer. Yes. For the year 1937, your employer will contribute 1.8 per cent of his total pay roll. For the year 1938 and thereafter your employer will contribute 2.7 per cent of his total pay roll. You, as a worker, will continue to pay 1 per cent on the first $2500 which you earn a year.

Question 5. I work as a maid for a family who pay me $6.00 a week and room and board. Where will I go to receive unemployment compensation?

Answer. Domestic service in a private home is not covered by the Massachusetts Unemployment Compensation Law and you would be unable to obtain benefits.

If you have any questions on Unemployment Compensation, write them to the Question and Answer Editor of this paper or to the Unemployment Compensation Commission, 1 State street, Boston.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Ann Page

A good breakfast is important at this season for almost everyone, but particularly for children and active workers. Eggs, both fresh and storage, are cheap and plentiful for the season, bacon and other smoked meats are lower, making a possibility on limited budgets.

Other meat prices are little changed from last week, though turkeys are lower and ducks reasonable. Fresh pork is probably the best available meat value.

Fruits and vegetables in variety are plentiful and reasonable in price. Oranges, grapefruit and apples, the cabbage family, green beans and spinach, are outstanding values.

Seasonable foods make up the following menus.

Low Cost Dinner

Pork Chops Sweet Potatoes
Creamed Spinach Bread and Butter
Apple Pie
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner

Baked Ham Mashed Potatoes
Green Beans and Peas
Bread and Butter
Orange Spanish Cream
Tea or Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner

THIS WEEKS GARDENING

By Alfred A. Fraser

Branches overhanging flower beds can be cut off now when their falling will do no harm. Means a lot to sun-seeking plants.

Tent caterpillar eggs can be readily detected on apple and cherry trees as dark amber clusters.

Coal ashes mounded over lily bulbs make fine protection from too much moisture for the bulbs.

Jerusalem Cherry plants like a moist atmosphere, are helped by frequently sprinkling the foliage. The leaves will turn yellow with the slightest trace of gas.

Poinsettia plants thrive best in a 60-70 degree temperature and should not be allowed to get dry.

Cyclamen turn yellow with too much water—and the leaves become limp with too little water. Keep on the dry side and water by setting in a low container for an hour or so.

You can still plant Japanese lily bulbs.

December gardening work is covering the garden, clearing up rubbish, putting tools in order, spraying for scale and pruning bush fruits.

HEART TO HEART TALKS

The Godward Reach of Religion

Let us remember first and last that it is possible to minister to the Almighty b first ministering to our fellows. Inward religion in its growth depends on our social conduct. How we stand before God is to be gauged by how well we stand with our fellows, how great is our interest and activity in promoting the physical, moral and spiritual welfare of humanity. The imprint of the Lord upon our hearts is fixed by the imprint we leave of it upon the world.

Even in a community of Winchester's civic progressiveness and great conservative character there is plenty of opportunity for religious men and women to lay a firm hold of social problems and work them out to a divine solution. This ought not to be a new attitude for religious activists in Winchester, or elsewhere, since from the beginning it has been the very bedrock principle. Yet by too many people its full import may not be appreciated. On more than one occasion some church congregation has blamed its pastor for engaging in public reforms, but on the authority of religion itself the minister was right and his people very wrong. Ministers who have spent much time discussing social problems may have incurred the enmity of unthinking folk, but in fighting for social justice these pastors have at least saved their souls. Is it not the solemn duty of every clergyman in the land to throw such light as he is able upon the social workings of the Ten Commandments and divine laws in general, so that the ministry of the Lord to men may be carried out on an efficient basis?

Of course before we preach we must practise. Our first act of ministry to our fellows is the restraint of our own personal and individual infractions of the Decalogue. But we must not permit it to stop there. If we expect to pass through the pearly gates we must do everything humanly possible to get others to pass through. It is not enough to occupy a church pew every Sunday, to have our own private faith in the Almighty—we must do everything humanly possible to bring others to a similar acknowledgement.

H. C. Small has stated our duty in this connection in the following abstract from one of his inspiring sermonettes published in The New Church Messenger:

"It is not enough to refrain from killing; we have to save society from murderers. It is not enough to be decent, when we can do something to remove the indecency of others. One can hardly be honest, if he will do nothing to protect his fellows from thieves. It is not enough to be just, if we condone injustice in high places. It is the normal function of every religious person to make his external life remedial of every vice and protective of every virtue. And this attitude is demanded, not because outward morality and order are more important than inward piety, but because no vital piety can be sown or grown without being seeded and rooted in public service. Monastic religion, whether in principle or in practise, is a fetish, and in all living souls and institutions is now taboo."

TRENDS IN TRAVEL

Trends in travel show some very interesting changes in this year's winter cruise season, according to Ernest Ruegg, President of the Metropolitan Travel Service of Boston. Mr. Ruegg, who has just completed an extended trip through the more interesting cruise and resort points says that he has never seen such feverish activity in preparation for the annual influx of winter visitors to Southern ports. Formerly travelers were desirous of not only getting away from the sleet and cold, but also from any possible news of existing conditions back home. This has been changed completely.

In view of the heavy travel which is anticipated for the approaching season, it is Mr. Ruegg's personal recommendation that those contemplating winter travel should make their reservations with the travel agencies as early as possible.

OBSERVATIONS

Winchester fellow says the one great obsession of the architects who design breakfast nooks seems to be that all women wake up in the morning with slim school girl figures.

We know a fellow here in Winchester who feels better at night than in the morning, despite a tiresome day of killing time.

How many old timers remember when we went to a store for a pair of rubbers we asked for a pair of gums.

Experience is the one perpetual best seller—a lot of people are continually buying it.

COMMISSIONER LYMAN PLEADS FOR ADDITIONAL PRISON ACCOMMODATIONS IN MASSACHUSETTS

(From the News-Tribune of Waltham, Mass.)

Commissioner Lyman, speaking to the Rotary Club in his home town of Waltham, on October 27th, presented a comprehensive picture of the correction system in the state, speaking first of the alarming growth of prison population in Massachusetts (150 prisoners have been added in state institutions during the past eight weeks, he said), and then proceeded to show how the state is lacking in accommodations for proper handling of the present groups and steady influx.

He described the state prison as antiquated, with no modern plumbing, and inadequate cooking facilities, as well as floors which he said actually "sway." He stated that there are 878 men in the prison, and but 812 cells. In speaking of the recent break at the prison, where a truck was driven through a wooden gate, shattering it, the Commissioner to further illustrate the antiquated state of the building, said that hand-forged nails were found in the gate wreckage.

Mr. Lyman reported that every Commissioner for the past half century has advocated a new location for the state prison, to no avail. He spoke of the measure of relief afforded by transfers to the Norfolk Prison Colony which, he said, has an ideal dormitory system.

Mr. Lyman referred to the West Concord Reformatory as the strongest prison in the state. Built in 1880, it was used for six years as a state prison, he pointed out, continuing that, although some attempt has been made to improve the situation, the Concord establishment has no means of proper segregation, and therefore is not the proper place for the incarceration of such young boys as are "in" for first errors. Many of the West Concord inmates are, Mr. Lyman said, such as should be in the state prison if accommodations there would permit the transfers.

The big problem in the correction program, Mr. Lyman stressed, is the lack of public interest in the criminal after he has been locked up. It was pointed out that 95 per cent of persons jailed are returned to society, and therefore must be trained in the prisons to return to their communities equipped to live successful lives without further criminal activity. The influences of joblessness and liquor usage in putting men into the prisons were described as large. Mr. Lyman said that there were 80,600 arrests for drunkenness in Massachusetts last year, and pointed out that at least half and probably more of all inmates in state institutions had one parent or the other who was an excessive user of liquor.

The speaker boosted the work of Boy Scouts and Boys' Clubs, stressing the need for giving youth profitable spare time activity.

Mr. Lyman described religion as a valuable factor in preparing prisoners for better living when they shall be returned to society, and stated that religion has been neglected in our prisons. He said that he has made contacts with the clergy and is now considering better religious programs for the prisoners.

In conclusion, Mr. Lyman urged that the citizenry as a whole develop a better sense of cooperation and of responsibility to the law, keeping away from the business of "fixing," which starts, he said, as a simple matter, perhaps with a traffic ticket, and grows, like a disease, to something of deadly proportions.

The business men and women of this state should take an interest in this problem and influence the Governor and members of the Legislature to build at once the necessary equipment so that a much larger proportion of this 95 per cent referred to by Mr. Lyman might be kept from returning, again and again, to prison, at an expense of about $400 each per year. To this should be added the additional cost of welfare to carry his family along during his incarceration, the loss of his earning power of probably $1000 a year, as well as the cost of the crime itself. An investment of this kind would pay in dollars and cents, leaving out entirely all idealism and humanitarianism.

MODERN NOAH'S ARK BOUND FOR AMERICA

Blue sheep, black panthers, white squirrels, and rainbow-hued tropical birds are a few of the collection making up one of the most colorful shiploads of wild animals assembled "since Noah sailed the Ark," says messages reaching Washington from the National Geographic Society-Smithsonian East Indies Expedition, now homeward bound on the steamship Silverash in the Red Sea.

With headquarters on the island of Sumatra, the expedition, under the leadership of Dr. William M. Mann, director of the National Zoological Park, in Washington, has spent the past five months collecting wild creatures from the Netherlands Indies, the Straits Settlements, and Siam.

After sailing for America early in August, the Silverash picked up additions to its already crowded menagerie in Ceylon and India, and will put in for other specimens on the shores of the Red Sea. On their arrival in America late in September, the animals will be placed in Uncle Sam's only comprehensive zoo, the National Zoological Park in Washington.

Although a complete roster of the expedition's collection will not be available until the Silverash approaches the Atlantic coast, advices already received at National Geographic Society headquarters indicate that many of the creatures are extremely rare in American zoos and that some are wholly unrepresented in the New World. In the latter category is a crocodile from North China which was taken aboard at Singapore and installed in a huge tank.

NEWSPRINT: FROM FOREST TO FRONT PAGE

Canada has stepped up newsprint production. Advance reports show a 20 per cent increase over 1936.

Canada already leads the world in this field. Her nearest competitor, Great Britain, produces less than a third as much, and imports wood pulp to do that.

Newsprint, always behind the news, is rarely in it, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. The name is contradictory, for newsprint is innocent of either news or print; it is the mammoth ribbon of blank, uncut paper which is threaded into thunderng presses. When it emerges, it has become newspaper.

Owed to Chinese Invention; No longer Made in China

The paper behind the print is a modern version of the sliver of clean wood or bark on which the savage scratched his runic message. It fits the printing press and the overcoat pocket better than a sliver of wood, but the principal ingredient is still the same.

Canada's greatest asset for world newsprint leadership is a million and a quarter square miles of spruce and balsam forest. In China where paper making was developed, newsprint is not made; not the secret, but the forest, has been lost. A mill erected last year in Canton, but no production has yet been reported.

The distribution of forest lands freckling the face of the globe gives several countries a chance to make newsprint though they rarely make much news. Estonia, for instance, last year exported more newsprint than did the U. S. S. R. Canada of course leads the world in exporting paper to feed into the maw of the international press, shipping eight times as much as her nearest rival, Finland.

Finland Supplies Newsprint for Fourteen Countries

In 1936 Finland was the source of newsprint for 14 countries, chiefly in Europe and South America. Newfoundland came next, shipping her pathless forests in paper form to Great Britain and the United States. Norway and Sweden, with lumbering as a major occupation, and Germany, with a tradition of careful forestry, are also among the leading exporters.

The United States, home of headline-hunters in greatest numbers is the world's greatest consumer of newsprint. Almost half the world's output in 1936 rolled through United States presses to distribute accounts of highway accidents, battles, explosions, afternoon teas, and local elections. For the past ten years this country has declined steadily in newsprint manufacture, importing now about three-quarters of its needs. Last year two-thirds came from Canada. Back in 1914, 85 per cent of the newsprint used in the United States was rooted, raised, felled and processed under the Stars and Stripes.

Most of this country's home-grown newsprint sprouted and spread its leaves in the neighborhood of the Canadian border, particularly in New England and the Pacific Northwest. It figures largely, however, in the industries of most paper-producing States, of which New York and Michigan, are first and second. Maine Ohio, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and New Jersey come next, with Washington, Illinois and Massachusetts following with just about a half-million short tons of paper each annually. Louisiana is foremost among Gulf States which convert their fast-growing pine into paper, and experiments are now being made on using the pine pulp for newsprint.

In the widespread paper industry of the United States, newsprint ranks third, being surpassed by wrapping and book papers.

The vast American production of newsprint has developed within the past 60 years, since wood pulp was pressed into service for printing paper as well as wrapping paper about 1867. Previously straw, principally rye, made the pulp for newspapers, and on its brittle, shiny surface blossomed Civil War calls to arms and black-bordered stories of Lincoln's assassination. Earlier news sheets, small and expensive, had been printed on the durable linen rag paper.

Many Fell for the Camorra

The Camorra, a criminal secret society which was organized in an Italian prison in 1820 and existed until 1911, once camouflaged its thieving, smuggling and blackmailing so completely by its good deeds in social and political circles that many princes, statesmen and even dignitaries of the church became members, according to Collier's Weekly.

GRAHAM NEW FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

Douglas Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Graham of Bacon street, was on last Saturday elected captain of the 1938 football team at Winchester High School by the letter men of this year's varsity squad. Paul Lentine and Francis Murray were the other candidates who figured in the ballotting.

The new captain, "Doug," as he is known to his mates, is a half-back, a rangy youngster weighing about 165 pounds. He started as a lineman, emulating his elder brother "Bob," who was a dependable guard three years ago and is now at Dartmouth. Last season a scarcity of backs prompted his conversion to the backfield and he has since remained behind the line.

In the Concord game a year ago "Doug" sustained a severe ankle injury that kept him out of the going for the remainder of the season, and he did not break into the starting lineup this fall until injuries shelved the regular number four back, "Fran" Murray.

Graham is not the flashy type of player though, at times, notably against Maynard, he contributed some long runs. He is a good pass defense man, and a three sport athlete, playing both basketball and tennis as well as football. He is a member of the junior class.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

The next meeting of the Selectmen will be held Tuesday, Dec. 21, instead of Monday the 20th.

The Board has authorized installation of new street lights on Ledyard road and Harrington road.

The Board held a public hearing on the proposed street layouts of Summer street extension, Ainsworth road, Glenwood avenue extension and Middlesex street extension. Action was postponed for further investigation.

The Board is asking the Boston & Maine Railroad for a conference regarding the overhead bridge at Cross street with a view to remedying the traffic hazard of the upright in the middle of the street and the damage done to large trucks which do not clear the bridge.

Coasting is to be allowed on the following streets:

FORTNIGHTLY GLEE CLUB IN CAROLS BROADCAST

The Fortnightly Glee Club, under the direction of Mary Ranton Witham and with Lucy L. Wilcox as accompanist, will present a program of Christmas carols Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 22, at 2:45 o'clock on a radio broadcast over the Colonial Network from Station WAAB. The broadcast will be heard in New York and Philadelphia and other large cities covered by the Colonial chain.

The Glee Club's performance this year is much improved and those who heard its annual carol service for club members on Monday will hardly fail to tune in its coming broadcast.

The members will sing numbers by Palestrina and Bach, with several beautiful Russian carols and arrangements of French and German carols made by their director, Mrs. Witham. As an unaccompanied number the club will sing the familiar "Deck the Halls," and in conclusion the beautiful "Through the Dark the Dreamer Came."

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

The Police were called shortly after 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to interupt the activities of boys who were taking Christmas trees from the rear of the First Congregational Church and rolling them down the hill onto the ice of Wedge Pond. Patrolman William E. Cassidy recovered the trees.

The Malden man arrested during the fall for molesting two Winchester girls on Grove street and recently confined at Danvers for observation was released on Dec. 8. He was arraigned in Roxbury court yesterday morning for the same offense and was sentenced to two and one-half years in the House of Correction with the privilege of appealing before Saturday.

There has been this past week a good sized enrollment of applicants for work on local WPA projects whenever they may start. Miss Hennessey, who has done considerable investigating of applicants in the past, is back again at the Welfare Office in the Town Hall in the same capacity.

LOCAL HORSEWOMAN VISITING IRELAND

Miss Ruth Good, daughter of Harry Good whose Medford stable is well known to Winchester horse lovers, sailed last Saturday on the S.S. Scythia from East Boston to Ireland. She plans to visit the principal stables of the Emerald Isle to look over hunters and jumpers with a view to purchasing several for her father's stable.

GREAT INTEREST IN THE THEATRE OPENING

"Winchester Theatre" Opens Dec. 21 at 8 O'clock

Winchester's first moving picture house will be opened Tuesday evening Dec. 21 at 8 o'clock. Interest and anticipation is running high as the "Winchester Theatre" has more than fulfilled the expectations of the community. Located on Main street, north? it is a red brick, free standing building of Colonial type and design, with decoration and detail of interior treated a truly modern manner.

A beautiful auditorium with roomy air cushioned seats that are spaced for ample knee room. It is air-conditioned and has a ventilation system of the very latest type. The projection screen is the finest obtainable, and is placed far enough back to make the front seats desirable.

Of particular interest is the sound system. This is Western Electric's Mirrophonic. So improved over other sound systems, that the full range of balanced sound is a true reproduction of every sound from stark silence to stirring climaxes. It is so real that it is referred to as the "living sound."

Responding to a great demand the Theatre management has been glad to establish a system wherein the patrons will be able to make advanced reservations for seats at any evening showing. By telephone or mail to the theatre box office your requests for reservations will be taken and tickets will be held at the box office until called for. It will be open from 10 a. m. to 9.30 p. m. Telephone number is Win. 2500.

Theatre doors will be open one half hour before each show, at 1:30 p. m. in the afternoon and 7.30 p. m. in the evening.

Afternoon seats will be 25c for adults and 15c for the children. Each Wednesday afternoon a "Children's Matinee" will be given. A program suitable for them, yet entertaining to all adults.

Monday evening a capacity house will attend Mr. Loew's invitation preview for his friends, town officials, organization representatives, merchants and a number of notable citizens. A short ceremony and program will precede the showing of the pictures, when Mr. James J. Fitzgerald, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, will accept the Theatre in the name of the town.

The Theatre management wishes to in every way fulfill the desires of the citizens and intends that the "Winchester Theatre" will be operated at all times with this objective in view.

ATTEMPTED BREAK AT LOCATELLI BUILDING THWARTED

At 2:20 this morning the attention of Patrolman Clarence P. Dunbury was attracted by the sound of broken glass at the rear of the Locatelli Building on Main street in the center. Going to investigate, he saw at the rear of the Tam O'Shanter Shop two youths who took to their heels, running in the direction of Purrington place.

A threat to shoot halted the fugitives and they were placed under arrest by Patrolman Dunbury. They were Winchester youths, one 17 and one 15 years old. The older had two key containers full of keys, some of which had been filed.

According to the Police the boys admitted breaking the glass in the rear door of the Tam O'Shanter Shop. The older said they had reached in and gotten the key out of the inside of the door to gain access. He said he wanted to get in to get some money for Christmas.

After being booked the younger of the pair was given into the custody of his parents. The older was locked up and arraigned in Woburn Court this morning, charged with attempted breaking and entering in the night time.

EPIPHANY RECTOR A CANDIDATE

Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, popular rector of the Church of the Epiphany, was one of the candidates in Wednesday for promotion to the post of suffragan bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Massachusetts, succeeding Suffragan Bishop Samuel G. Babcock, 86, retired. After eight ballots, in which the Winchester clergyman made a strong showing among six candidates, Rev. Raymond A. Heron, archdeacon of Boston, was finally elected. Several candidates withdrew after the first ballot, but Mr. Hadley's supporters held on until the final vote. The rector of the Epiphany is a classmate of Bishop Henry K. Sherrill and popular throughout the Boston diocese.

Mrs. Alonzo F. Woodside of Lebanon street has recently been appointed a member of the Advisory Council of Women at Massachusetts State College in Amherst. SOCRATES SAYS-

RESIGNATION?

One of the New Deal High Commissioners is quoted as saying on December 7, 1937—"It isn't going to do any good to bellyache—." (Can this possibly be so?)

Forceful feeding of any diet is apt to create the condition mentioned. An ache or pain is Nature's way of demonstrating that unhealthy conditions may exist.

It is mighty lucky that the attempted purge of the Supreme Court caused just such an ache, or Democracy could have become pretty sick.

There was an era when such pains would have been recognized as growing pains, for to maintain pure Democracy "bellyaching" has been permissible, desireable, and even necessary for all classes of citizens; in fact, this Nomenclator has aptly, although perhaps unwittingly, expressed a homely definition of free speech, the bulwark of Democracy.

METHODISTS HOLD MOTHER GOOSE CHRISTMAS FAIR

With decorations suggested by the stories from Mother Goose, the Methodist Ladies' Aid decorated Fortnightly Hall on Dec. 8 and 9 as a book from the land of fairy tales. The Christmas colors with wreaths, holly, laurel and evergreen trees gave a colorful setting for "Little Miss Muffet," "The Three Little Pigs," "The King of Hearts," and others.

The tables were arranged around the outer walls of the hall, leaving the stage and center free for a style show on Wednesday afternoon.

On Wednesday evening, a fine audience was entertained by "Ralston the Magician" and the boys and girls particularly wanted the show to continue long after he stopped performing his tricks.

Thursday evening, the hall was filled with 200 people who attended the annual supper. Mrs. Leigh Roberts, chairman and her splendid committee served a delicious supper, promptly and piping hot. Their service would do credit to professional caterers.

The various tables were directed by the following chairmen:

Flower Table—Mrs. Clifton R. Campbell.
Food Table—Mrs. James Whiting.
Necktie Table—Mrs. Anna M. Dunning.
Grab Table—Mrs. Alfred P. Welburn.
Special 25-30 cent Table—Mrs. Charles Clarke and Mrs. Harold E. Bergquist.
Fancy Work Table—Mrs. Albert B. Bent.
Household Table—Mrs. Thomas J. Bulmer.
Candy Table—Mrs. Clarence M. Hamilton, Mrs. Andrew Geddis and Mrs. William E. Ramsdell.
Handkerchief Table—Miss Bertha Hitchcock.
Tea Tables—Mrs. Norman Hitchcock and Mrs. William C. Seaton.
Supper—Mrs. Leigh Roberts.

The general chairmen of the Mother Goose Christmas Fair were Mrs. G. Raymond Bancroft and Mrs. Russell D. Cole, to whom much credit is due for a very successful church fair.

CHRISTMAS MAILING

During the holiday season the volumne of mail increases approximately 200 per cent and it is a physical impossibility to handle this great mass of mail matter efficiently and promptly within a few days. Therefore, to assure delivery of their Christmas presents, cards and letters by Christmas Day the public should Shop and Mail Early. Do your Christmas shopping so that you can mail your gifts, greetings and letters to your relatives and friends at least a week or ten days before Christmas, according to the distance.

To be assured of local delivery all mail matter should be in the Winchester Post Office not later than noon, Dec. 22. The post office will be closed all day, Christmas Day, and there will be no delivery excepting special delivery matter.

WILLIAM PARKMAN LODGE

William Parkman Lodge exemplified the Third Degree on Tuesday night at the Masonic Apartments, followed by a Christmas party. At 9 o'clock Kingman P. Cass, Master of the Lodge, introduced Prof. Albert E. Schaefer of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Past Master of Harvard University Lodge and head of the Grand Lodge Department of Education. Professor Schaefer talked informally of the history and growth of Yuletide customs, following which Albert O. Wilson of Winchester entertained with vocal solos. Norman Ray of Somerville and Dr. Everett Morrill of Lexington led in community singing. The program ended with distribution of Christmas favors from trees decorated for the occasion and a piping hot oyster stew prepared by Tyler Dana C Pickering.

I certainly am glad to hear that Andy Mellons name is clear. They merely thought that he was tax, in figuring his income tax, but after checking high and low, decided they might let it go. But one thing gives me cause for fear; —When March comes round again this year—if Andy couldn't calculate, then who am I to get it straight?

BENSON EXHIBIT AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Those who love the tang of the sea will especially enjoy the paintings by John P. Benson on exhibition during the remainder of December in the gallery of the public library under the auspices of the Winchester Art Association.

Mr. Benson's home is at Kittery, Me. and he "paints along the Maine coast, pictures of the sea and ships;" rather a modest way of saying he is one of our foremost marine artists.

His group at the library is done in oils and while exclusively marine, is sufficiently diversified to hold the interest. The painting is bold and masterful with a wealth of the color that breeds in the sea and sky, but there is also a leavening refinement and a fine sense of values.

Virile as his work is, Mr. Benson hasn't sacrificed the artistic for mere "punch" and one senses at once his love for, and understanding of the scenes he paints. His versatility is shown in his successful handling of such widely divergent subjects as, "Evening Breakers," a large canvas depicting breakers churning themselves to froth against a rocky ledge under a greenish sky, and the almost feminine "Cats Paws," a charming little study in silvery grays of a sailboat on sleek water against fleecy clouds with a suggestion of blue.

Several studies have caught the charm of land-locked water and small boats, sailing or at anchor, with the picturesque nondescript buildings one associates with the waterside. "July Fog" is interesting, showing the prow of a huge steamer looming down through the mist upon a small sailboat.

Most arresting is "The Storm," a large canvas showing a gull wheeling on spread wings above a green and white comber with a low hanging sky. Clever blending of colors merging from green to a blueish orchid suggest depth and a lonely grandeur that is very effective.

There is dusky warmth in "Summer Night," done in deep blues and black with its sailing vessel showing starbo'd and port lights under a half hidden moon with a ripple of moonlight in the foreground and the wraith of a three master in the distance.

"Mackrel Seining" and "Kittery Lobsterman" are full of the appeal to be found in the hazardous activities of hardy sailormen, and the lobsterman is a favorite of the writer who was intrigued with the red-shirted figure in the long dory riding heaving swells with a wind-swept sky and a single gull on the wing.

"Outer Ledges," is a rugged bit of work, full of action, with its schooner straining into a blackening sky over angry waves with a dash of spume in the right foreground. There is historic interest in "The Discoverers," showing tall galleons sailing westward through heavy seas, and a quiet charm in "Sunset" with its vessel homing against a sunlit skyline. "Harbor" is a fine study of a three-master with red tug and small boat along side mirrored in dead calm water and lovers of the old square riggers will thrill to Mr. Benson's study of one of these fine boats with sails set breasting greenish blue rollers with an intersting sky treatment and a second boat hull-down on the horizon.

The public is urged to see this outstanding exhibit, and to those not now members of the Winchester Art Association a cordial invitation to become members is extended. The association is about to commence an intensive membership drive, its officers believing that there are many in town who should be in its ranks. To a great extent the size of the Association's membership bears directly upon the quality of the exhibitions it can bring to Winchester and surely all who like the artistic will wish to assist the organization in bringing such exhibits as Mr. Benson's to town as often as possible.

THE NORMAN PRINCE MEMORIAL

To the Editor of the Star:

The daily papers have noted the placing of a memorial in the Chapel of St. John, at the Washington Cathedral, in memory of Norman Prince. There are probably few citizens of Winchester, who can recall Frederick O. Prince or his son, Frederick H.

Mr. Frederick O. Prince resided in this town for many years. Leaving here he went to Boston, and being interested in politics became Mayor of Boston. During these years away from Winchester neither the father nor the son lost their interest in the town. A grandson presented a wall clock to the Unitarian Society, which was ruined by fire when the church was burned.

Mr. Frederick Henry Prince left a sum of money, some years ago, to the School Committee of Winchester, the income of which was to be expended in appropriate memorial services for his son, Norman Prince, who made the supreme sacrifice in the World War.

George H. Eustis

For Norman Prince

Fifteen years ago a memorial tablet was unveiled in the State House for the founder of the Lafayette Escadrille. Monday with fitting ceremonies the chapel of St. John, in the Washington Cathedral, where the body of Norman Prince lies, was dedicated.

The story of what was done by that gallant son of Massachusetts and his comrades will be told many times in the years to come. As a young man of action and a lover of France, a country he knew almost as well as his own, he was one of the very first Americans to seek service under the tri color, long before the United States entered the world war. He conceived the idea of bringing a group of American aviators together as a flying unit. By sheer enthusiasm and persistence he accomplished the organization of what was first called the Escadrille Americaine and later the Lafayette Escadrille.

Those seven young men became famous for their daring and skill. The people back home eagerly followed them in the news. They seemed to incarnate anew the spirit of the French patriot whose name they happily adopted. Norman Prince is said to have been engaged in 122 aerial combats. He won the croix de guerre and the medaille militaire. Then one October night in 1916 he spiraled from the skies, tripped over a cable strung just above the treetops, and plunged to the earth. While he lay dying, officers pinned on his breast the insignia of the Legion d'Honneur. It is good to have such a life memoralized.

The parking of automobiles in the center, always a problem, is likely to be more so from now until after Christmas, and Police Chief William R. Rogers is asking all residents to co-operate with his department by observing the one hour parking in restricted areas. His officers have been ordered to enforce this traffic regulation so that there may be at least a reasonable amount of parking space available near the stores for prospective buyers. Merchants generally will applaud this stand, and for those who must leave their machines for more than one hour, the average shopping time by actual count is 20 minutes, there is three hour parking on Common street and unlimited parking in the rear of the Fire Station and Town Hall.

Japan, after creating many "incidents," including nearly killing a high British diplomat, finally achieved the crowning feat of sinking a U. S. gunboat and several American vessels, to say nothing of killing and wounding quite a number of American sailors and citizens. Our President has sent a very stern note to the Mikado. Japan, the most peaceful nation on earth, as amply illustrated by propaganda in the daily press and its untiring efforts to pacify the miltant and warlike heathen Chinamen, is profuse in its apologies. Its women and children give pennies to rebuild the gunboat and its school girls weep with sorrow. The nations of the World chuckle up their sleeves. So everything is hoitsy-totsy. Join the marines and see the world.

The suggestion has been made to the Star in connection with the town's system of traffic lights in the center that an arrow be added to the lights that control the flow out of Mt. Vernon street west so that in the event traffic going in that direction is held up for an hour or two motorists can make a right turn around Lyceum Building into Shore road and get back into circulation via Nelson street. The joker in this otherwise good scheme is the fact that right turns on arrows can seldom be made because of the boys and girls who just can not pull behind another car but have to be in the front rank if possible, regardless of the direction in which they are going. If the Police would hop firmly on these selfish "first line" individuals, it would help to expediate the traffic flow by permitting those who wish to make right and left turns on arrows to do so.

ALIMONY

Once again we have paid our business fine—our penalty under the free and equalized United States for engaging in business. For the month of November. The sum — $41.47. The alimony resulting from the divorce of Business and Prosperity! Having separated the couple, our Ruler now desires to reunite them. With every employer in the Country striving to eliminate all unnecessary employment, to cut the number of his employees to the smallest possible minimum and reduce every payroll, our Government states: stop bellyaching and do as we say— or else. Forty one dollars and forty-seven cents would buy Prosperity a neat little Christmas gift—as it has in the past, but who has any idea that she is receiving any of it now? Not us. Neither do we think many of the so-called workers have much thought that she will—now or then. All have seen too many promises broken in high places. They know gold is repudiated, all debts piling up, and a large part of the country working for the Government and municipalities alimony free. They and Business pay the alimony. And they see no prospect of father and mother becoming united again—no matter how much propaganda is distributed or how loud the orders are shouted. And with 1938 the alimony increases again! Poor Prosperity—poor Business! Divorced through no fault of their own, will they ever become united?

AS TO THIS AND THAT

Chairman Joseph E. Kennedy of the Commission for the U. S. Merchant Marine made an interesting speech the other day for what he said had its implications. He reiterated his belief in the "New Deal," reproached business men for so-called "bellyaching" and warned them that they must make the best of three years more with F D R at the helm.

He protests so emphatically that obviously his loyalty to the Democratic party label is under a strain. He knows perfectly well that the present administration has no legitimate claim to his allegiance as a Democrat, that it is—not to be too critical—a collection of theorists with little or no service in the Democratic party and headed by an astute opportunist. But he hopes, like Senator Walsh, that one of these days the directing control may be regained by genuine Democrats. Meanwhile he deems it wiser to go along and do his best.

To him loyalty is a fundamental thing in life. He holds it essential to stand by. This is a fine trait, something to commend and esteem and practise characteristic of all the men and women whom the world has in retrospect judged worthy. It is unfortunate that he feels compelled to appear to approve an official Democratic party that has no relation in fact to one into which he was born, that is for the moment led by a man who has no real understanding of loyalty to his promises, to his professed ideals, to his party platforms, or to his friends.

And this is something to think about, that a man can be so inconsistent. Not that is it possible for anyone invariably to be consistent, nor that anyone can avoid the charge of inconsistency at times, but that a continuous series of failure to follow courses that consistency requires indicates a disloyalty to truth an alarming weakness of moral fibre.

SOCRATES SAYS-

THE EXTRA SEANCE

It has been ordered that the Class of '37 must take a post graduate course, as they require more "schooling" in the second four-year plan. It may be that during these last few weeks Congressmen have had sufficient time for their home work, and if they have, the professors may learn a lesson themselves from the firesides of a singed people.

Perhaps Mr. Hoover was wrong when he said that "Grass will grow on the city streets," for unless sound government is returned mighty soon the going could be so rough that even the grass would not grow.

Budget balancing has been "just around the corner" every year for five years. The New Dealers not only said that it must be balanced, but every few months say that it will be balanced. There can be but four answers: either they were not serious; they have not tried; they were wrong; or they do not know how.

Probably the greatest constructive criticism that could be given at this time, would be that both the Senate and the Congess be equipped with radio broadcasting stations so that citizens may hear every word of their representatives every session. The cost of this, to a politically bored nation, could be partly paid for by cutting out the speeches not made that are printed in the Congressional Record.

The radio broadcasts might have such practical results that politics would be modified to the extent that the nation could consider the possibility of really alighting somewhere with a "breathing spell" long enough to restore confidence, and confidence is absolutely all that is needed.

This budget balancing, taxation problem means even more to the weekly wage earner than it does to the property owner. If there be any who try to laugh this off, let them ask any Congressman how much out of every dollar received in the pay envelope goes for the ruining of city, state and especially federal affairs. The Congressman himself may be amazed.

We had a misunderstanding once due to "taxation without representation," now we are having one due to taxation because of representation.

Congress, long may it not waiver! —but it probably will.

—Socrates

A TRIBUTE

To the Editor of the Star:

Last Sunday I accepted an invitation to attend the Baptist Church for the purpose of hearing the Reverend Byron Archibald, a visiting minister preach. His sermon was so inspiring it was amazing, never-to-be a forgotten one. It was nothing less than a masterpiece!

Mr. Archibald is only a young man in his fourth year at the Rochester Theological School. As an honor pupil he enjoyed the added experience of a year recently spent in Japan and China. His sermon had to do with Foreign Mission, a subject which holds for most people a remote interest. This young man, with his experience and first-hand knowledge of Japan and China explained in a briliant and convincing manner, the great need of missionary work to be done in foreign countries by Christians.

His historical outline of Japan and China gave his hearers more information about those countries than the average person attains in a lifetime. It was a liberal education to listen to him. His definition of what it takes to constitute a Christian was a classic. No real Christian after hearing him, could fail to be actively interested in foreign missions. If "blood will tell" he should go far, as Mr. Archibald comes of a family, who, for several generations have been in the Ministry.

He combines a fine presence, sincerity, earnestness of purpose, a rare gift of expression and an inspired zeal for his work. If, after graduation, the Reverend Archibald were to be appointed a Herald of Foreign Missions, to visit the churches and give them the benefit of what he gave us last Sunday, he would, in my humble opinion, eventually accomplish more for the cause of Foreign Missions than any one before him.

WINCHESTER HAD FINE FOOT. BALL SEASON

Winchester High School's crushing 46—0 defeat of Woburn on Thanksgiving climaxed one of the best football seasons the local boys have enjoyed for some years. The result of the Woburn game alone would have guaranteed a successful year, but added to that was the winning of the Middlesex League championship for the first time without the loss of a game or a tie and some of the largest scores rolled up by a Winchester team since the days of the Bond steamroller in 1922.

Some rabid rooters hail this year's eleven as the best since that great Mystic League championship club, but this is a pretty strong statement. "Spike" O'Donnell and "Hennie" Knowlton led two pretty good teams back in 1926 and 1927, and not so far back the elevens captained by "Andy" Lentine and Frank Provinzano were fair to middling. Nor was the team led by "Steamer" Hanlon and "Gerry" Gaffney, at full strength, a team to deprecate. Whether this year's eleven could defeat any or all of those teams is something to argue on the corners. Nobody knows.

Few teams in Winchester's history started their seasons with more experienced material than this year's club. For two years Winchester's former Coach Mansfield had been building for a consistently winning team and this season was the payoff. There really wasn't what you could call an inexperienced boy in the entire varsity squad and there were enough tried veterans to man most, if not all the key positions on the team. The shifting of Paul Lentine from center to number one back and the placing of quarterback Peter Sibley at end, both contemplated at the close of spring practice last year, lifted the club from a potentially good eleven to championship heights. A break in the matter of injuries to key players permitted the team to develop consistently through the season, and it would have taken a really good schoolboy outfit to beat the locals on Thanksgiving. The morale of this year's team, shaky after the Marblehead defeat came back strongly after the Concord and Stoneham victories and was exceptionally fine at the end of the season.

Many close followers of the game would have liked to see Winchester really tested during its late season development. After Belmont the locals were never under pressure, winning as they pleased by one-sided scores which might have been considerably higher had the first team remained in action longer. Unfortunately the two tough teams on the schedule, Arlington and Marblehead, were met at the very opening of the campaign, and both these games were lost. A couple of bad breaks in the second half cost the locals the Arlington game, and against Marblehead Winchester had its one bad day through the entire fall. It is not an extravagant statement to say that playing these teams on later dates, Winchester might have gone through its schedule undefeated.

Much of the credit for the success of the locals' great season must go to the truly exceptional playing of the team's Co-Captain "Gerry" Ficociello, who through the season gave as fine an all around performance as any high school player this writer can recall. No club consistently stopped this human battering ram and his inspiring performance both on offense and defense, was the sparkplug in the team's surge to victory.

Co-Captain "Pete" Sibley contributed a good all around game at end to his team's success, and the blocking of Paul Lentine cannot be overestimated. In quiet "Dan" Delorey Winchester had the best tackle in the Middlesex League and his running mate, the veteran "Bob" Gardner was only a stride behind. "Tony" DeTeso's defensive play at center was immense, while the blocking of "Lad" Millican on offense and the running of "Art" Johnson won them all-league honors.

These boys were perhaps standouts, but Winchester's game this year was a well rounded team game with every last member of the club doing his share toward its success. "Clem" Bairstow and John Welburn, ends; Hartlyn Horie, reserve end, "Don" Wilson, reserve tackle; Jack Finger and "Dick" McCormack, guards; and the veteran Francis Murray, Douglas Graham and Peter Galuffo, backs, all did their bit toward making the championship possible and share in the glory of the team.

George Lauer, new director of Physical Education at Winchester High, succeeded Wendell Mansfield as coach of the team, and wisely made few changes in the system with which his boys were familiar, whatever his own preferences might have been. He proved popular with his charges and we can recall no coach whose team has had a better first year record than his.

Assisting him was Edward Bartlett of the high school faculty, formerly assistant to Coach Mansfield and his value to the team, especially in the difficult transition period, cannot be exaggerated. William Croughwell managed the team with Richard Farnsworth as assistant manager. Following is the season's record:

Winchester	2—Arlington	6
Winchester	0—Marblehead	14
Winchester	20—Concord	0
Winchester	25—Stoneham	6

LIONS XMAS DANCE

Over 60 couples spent a most enjoyable evening at the Calumet Club last Friday, a party sponsored by the Winchester Lions Club. About the same people attended this party as who attended the successful Hallowe'en party, although a few new faces were observed. It was evident that everyone was enjoying himself and a good friendly spirit prevailed.

President Bob Emery and Mrs. Emery headed the grand march at 10 o'clock and as each couple passed the stage a fancy hat and souvenir was handed them. A rather fancy parade was concluded with a barrage of over 300 ballons from the balcony. A "Paul Jones" was called and with other "change" dances the result was that everyone knew everyone. Several nurses from our local hospital were guests as well as a few from other locations.

A light collation was served at 11 o'clock.

The committee in charge were: Frank Hurley, chairman; Dr. Philip McManus, Dr. Angelo Maietta, Fred Scholl, John Coakley, Jr. and Fred Clement.

Philip Drew attended the fall dance at Bennington College last week-end as a guest of Miss Barbara Kelley.

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist throughout the world on Sunday, December 19.
The Golden Text is: "Thou, O Lord, shalt endure for ever; and thy remembrance unto all generations. Of old hast thou laid the foundation of the earth: and the heavens are the work of thy hands" (Psalms 102:12, 25).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands. Serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing. Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture" (Psalms 100: 1-3).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man is the idea of Spirit; he reflects the beatific presence, illuming the universe with light. Man is deathless, spiritual. He is above sin or frailty. He does not cross the barriers of time into the vast forever of Life, but he coexists with God and the universe" (p. 266).

FLORENCE CRITTENTON LEAGUE

On Thursday afternoon, Dec. 16 the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League met at the home of Mrs. Samuel Cole on Woodside road.

The president, Mrs. William C. Cusack presided. After an interesting business meeting the Educational Secretary of the League, Mrs. Albert Bradley Carter spoke about the work saying that she felt perhaps the greatest thing accomplished at the Maternity Hospital and Welcome House also is that each girl comes to realize that she is of value to herself and to those about her. The young mother feels that she is bringing to her baby the love, protection and understanding that she herself did not receive.

Mrs. Walter W. Winship, chairman of the Music Committee introduced Mrs. Helen Wright Cairns who greatly pleased her audience with the following piano selections:

Chorale—"Jesus Christ, the Son of God" Bach-Rummel
C Major Intermezzo ..... Brahms
Eb Minor Intermezzo ..... Brahms
"Venice and Naples" ..... Liszt

Mrs. Cusack introduced the guest speaker of the afternoon, Dr. D. Brewer Eddy, an authority on world, economic and social problems who chose as his subject "America Faces Dangerous Trends." From his various experiences and impressions received during his travels in foreign lands. Dr. Eddy pointed out situations existing which affect, even remotely conditions in the United States and Democracies as a whole.

Following the business meeting refreshments were served by the Tea Committee: Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke and Mrs. Harold F. Meyer, poured.

GIVE THE CAR A MERRY CHRISTMAS

Why not play Santa Claus to the family automobile this Christmas and give it the help it needs to return to you big dividends of driving pleasure through the winter months to come.

Drive in to the Winchester Texaco Station at 627 Main street and see "Charlie" Murphy or Ernest Reardon. Ask them about their complete battery service or have them check your anti-freeze and spark plugs. It may save you money.

They'll change or repair your tires quickly and efficiently, sell you new tires with easy payments if you like, furnish chains that fit and hold, or install a heater that will give complete satisfaction. They also handle Texaco gasolines, oils and greases, but you know about them anyhow!

At 4.15 yesterday afternoon the Police cruiser, driven by Patrolman William E. Cassidy, while turning from Winchester place on Mt. Vernon street was sideswiped and damaged by a Ford truck, owned by the Tupper Candy Co. of 1218 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge and driven east on Mt. Vernon street by Fred L. Walker of 4 Midland street, Dorchester.

LITTLE RED-SHUTTERED HOUSE WELCOMED BY HOUSEWIVES HERE

Offers Delectable Jams, Preserves, Jellies and Conserves

Just in time to supply Winchester hostesses with toothsome touches for the Christmas dinner, the Cape Cod Farms, Inc., are opening one of their little-red-shuttered houses at Winchester where the housewife may purchase the most delectable jams, preserves, jellies and conserves, as well as cocktails and juices, spiced fruits and unusual delicacies that will give a new zest to any meal.

Anne Standish, a granddaughter, several times great, of Miles Standish, personally supervises the cooking of these good things, down on the Cape. The recipes were used by the Plymouth housewives in the days when Thanksgiving was first celebrated; and handed down from mothers to daughter. One recipe, for chutney, was brought by an old sea captain from India. The wild plums, berries and fruits used are picked right down on the Cape.

The Winchester Jelly house, as it will be known is similar to seven little houses on the Cape where Cape Cod Farm products are sold.

Among the unusual delicacies listed on the Cape Cod Farms' circular, are such items as olives stuffed with mushrooms—which incidentally have been ordered for the White House—cinamon jelly, and orange and raspberry marmalade.

The Winchester Jelly house is located at 43 Thompson street. Miss Charlotte Morey and Miss Helen Hodges, widely known Winchester young women are co-managers.

CHRISTMAS PARTIES START EARLY AT THE MORGAN MEMORIAL

The jingling of sleigh bells, the re-echoing of Christmas carols, the appearance of round, roly-poly Santa Claus with his sack of toys—these and other welcome characteristics of Christmas will make an early appearance at Boston's well-known Morgan Memorial. Dozens of different parties are scheduled for the various departments. The tiny tots in the Nursery and Kindergarten will be entertained royally the Wednesday before Christmas, and special services and pageants will start on Dec. 4 and continue until Dec. 28. Because of the polygot constituency of Morgan Memorial these parties are arranged for special groups. For example: the racial groups, Syrian, Colored, Italian, etc., each has its own Christmas tree and entertainment. Then there are the different clubs and classes, offices and departments, organizations and auxillaries which share in their own festivities. Schedules already established indicate that this year, as before, thousands will thrill to the joy of Christmas-tide at the Morgan Memorial.

Cause of John Bunyan's Death

In the summer of 1633 John Bunyan undertook to plead the cause of a son with an angry father, and at length prevailed on the old man not to disinherit the boy. This good work cost him his life. He had to ride through heavy rain and came drenched to his lodging when he was seized with a violent fever and died in a few days.

W. C. T. U.

In place of the meeting usually held on the third Friday in Winchester, a delegation from the Winchester W. C. T. U. went to a meeting of the Arlington W. C. T. U. held at the Arlington Baptist Church on Dec. 10. Mrs. Charles J. Stiff, the president, was in the chair. After the customary business, Mrs. Edwin Allen, well-known pianist of Arlington, much beloved because of her willingness to give her services to many a church, played two selections, "The Harp" and the most popular of the Hungarian dances. The speaker of the day was the Rev. Walter E. Bridge of the Baptist Church of Arlington Heights, a talented young man who not only can preach but lead the singing and at the same time play the accompaniments on the violin. His theme was "The Christian Spirit of Christmas;" he emphasized worship, giving (rather than getting), and sharing. He stressed the need of making the birth of Christ the predominant note in the celebration of Christmas, rather than the thought of Santa Claus. At the close of the program refreshments were served, and Christmas gifts were distributed to all those present.

HIGH SCHOOL FALL SPORTS BANQUET

Members of the Winchester High School football, cross country and field hockey teams, with their coaches and managers, were feted last Saturday evening at the annual fall sports banquet held under the auspices of the High School Athletic Association in the school gymnasium. Among the invited guests were Kenneth F. Caldwell of the School Committee, Superintendent of Schools, James J. Quinn, former faculty Director of Athletics Wendell D. Mansfield and Miss Helen Bronson, John Stevens and Vinal Good of the school faculty.

Prof. Clarence P. Houston of the Department of Physical Education at Tufts College, was guest speaker, choosing as his subject the value of athletics as an aid to overcoming the obstacles of life. Dana Cotton of the high school faculty acted as toastmaster and those who responded to toasts were Messrs. Caldwell, Quinn and Mansfield and the varsity coaches Miss Rosamond Young, field hockey; George Lauer, football and Thomas Maynard, track.

Former coach Mansfield, who directed Winchester's athletic destinies for 14 years, was given an ovation when he arose to speak, and his successor, Coach Lauer assured him that he would be a welcome visitor to the local Physical Education Department.

Principal Grindle awarded the Mansfield and Wheeler sportmanship cups to Peter Sibley, co-football captain; and Loretta Gaffney, field hockey captain. Co-captains Sibley and Gerald Ficociello announced next year's football captain as Douglas Graham, Captain Gaffney announced the 1938 hockey leader as Myrtle Goodhue and Captain Joseph Connolly of cross country announced next fall's harrier captain as John McPartlin.

Team gifts to the coaches were presented by William Croughwell, football; Elizabeth Phelan, hockey; and Robert Parish, cross country.

Miss E. Gladys Niven and the girls of the Foods Classes at high school prepared and served the banquet which comprised turkey and all the fixin's. After the banquet a program of games was enjoyed. Faculty Manager of athletics R. V. Hayward headed the committee of arrangements.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The story of Christmas Eve on Beacon Hill, as told by Miss Edith Winifred Fisher to the members of Fortnightly, on Monday afternoon, will long remain in the hearts of her audience, and will enhance forever the charm of that romantic old custom. Surrounded by a marvelous exhibit of Creches from all countries, Miss Fisher, in her sweet, charming manner, went from one to another as she described, and told the entire story of each Creche in the group. It was a beautiful program.

An interesting program of Christmas Carols from all lands gave an added impetus to the Christmas Spirit, as the Fortnightly Glee Club under the direction of Mary Ranton Witham, with Lucy Wilcox as accompanist and Sophia Gardner and Idabelle Winship as soloists, thrilled us anew with their splendid singing. Garbed in slim blue taffeta robs each bearing a lighted taper, the Glee Club were as delightful to look at as to hear.

At the conclusion of the program a Christmas tea was served with two past presidents, Mrs. Christine Hayden and Mrs. Anna Grosvenor pouring.

Persian Afternoon

Several signed pieces of old Persian copper, some dated as early as 1200, and an incense burner over 1000 years old, were included in the Persian Art exhibit in Fortnightly Hall on Friday, Dec. 10, when the Art and Dramatics Committees co-operated in the presentation of a Persian afternoon. A splendid group of rare old rugs and fine fabrics completed the exhibit and the heady scent of Persian incense brought the shades of Omar Khayyam into the picture to bid us "Come Fill the Cup—"

The 58th verse of the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam, telling of "The Mighty Mahmud, who scatters gefore him with his whirlwind sword, etc." was depicted by Mr. Mahmud Shah, a Persian born Mohammedan, who told us of the life in Persia before he sang the songs and danced the dances of that strange land.

REPORT OF SAFETY FIRST PROGRAM OF MYSTIC SCHOOL DEC. 10

The second grade at the Mystic School was in charge of a Safety First program on Friday, Dec. 10. They presented a play, "What the Traffic Lights See." The characters were as follows:

Red Light ..... Marshall Jones
Yellow Light ..... Joan Harris
Green Light ..... Richard Kugler
Reckless Driver ..... Alvin Litchfield
Careful Driver ..... John Holdsworth
Careful Children—Roy O'Neil, June Tracy, William Hunt.
Careless Child ..... Robert Hutchins
Smiling Sisters—Barbara Burbank, Ruth Ann Fevold, Sally Jackson and Marjorie Cassidy.

As the name of the play would suggest the traffic lights came to life and talked about what went on below them; they praised the children and drivers who are always careful and obey the safety rules while they scolded and told what they would like to do to the thoughtless children and reckless drivers who do not obey them.

Talks on winter safety were given by William Murray, Jean Monson, Richard Somerby and Philip Livingstone, William Ellis reproduced a story, "Thin Ice."

The second grade was assisted in their program by other grades in the building. The kindergarten gave a play, "The Lost Child" and sang a song. Grade 1 showed safety posters and gave safety rules. Grade 3 was represnted by six girls who gave an acrostic and told safety rules which had been formed in their grade. Grade 5 contributed a song and poem. Grade 6 closed the program with an article "Bicycle Riding" and a song.

The curtains were ably managed by David Howe of Grade 5.

Henry Harris of Grade 2 announced the entire program.

BACK FROM WAR ZONE

Mrs. Bonney Powell (Elizabeth Gould) daughter of Mrs. Charles W. Gould of Norwood street, returned to Winchester the first of the week after a long journey from Shanghai, China. Accompanying her were her son, Charles, 9; and daughter, Betty, 5. Her husband, a Fox Movietone News executive, remained in Shanghai taking extraordinary battle scenes.

Mrs. Powell branded as erroneous the report current last August that she had been jailed by Japanese forces. She stated that she was never locked up and as a matter of fact at the time the rumor to that effect was going the rounds she was safe in Japan. She landed in New York two weeks ago from the President Harding which also brought the Lindbergs to America.

Mrs. Powell explained that she left Shanghai before the war started, got to Japan and there learned that her husband had been detained in China for an hour or two by Japanese soldiers. Diplomatic cables grew warm and a misapprehension about Mr. Powell's work with a camera was soon cleared up.

She waited for two months in Japan for war clouds to clear. Then her husband decided that she and the children should return to America, for an indefinite stay, while he worked in the midst of danger.

Foreigners in Japan, said Mrs. Powell, were fearful when she left about the possibility of Russia entering the Sino-Japanese conflict. Many were moving their effects out of China and Japan and several American firms in Tokyo had closed.

"But the Japanese people don't seem to know what it's all about, and the swaggering fellows in uniform are sure of victory," she said.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

A large and enthusiastic crowd greeted Miss Mary Brennen, president of the Cenacle Guild, Brighton when she came as the guest speaker to the Guild on last Tuesday. Miss Brennen has made several pilgrimages to "Loudres" and spoke with authority regarding the magnificence of the shrine. In a brief talk preceding her pictures Miss Brennen took her audience back hundreds of years and traced the shrine to the present day. The world has many places made prominent by culture and art, but Loudres lays its claim upon the world by a strong band of faith. Thousands upon thousands visit the Grotto daily and through faith and prayer many miracles have been preformed. With an unusual lighting effect the audience was able to see sunrise and sunset over the Pyrenees which forms a setting for the church and the grotto and aded much to the beauty of the pictures.

Tea was served by Mrs. Richard Sheehy, Mrs. Lester Billings, Mrs. Herbert Cregg, Andover, Mrs. C. F. McCarthy and Mrs. Jos. Dowling.

A very gratifying report was read from the bazaar and the dishes given by Miss Mary A. Lyons were awarded to Mrs. C. F. McCarthy and the doll donated by Mrs. H. G. Osterberg was won by Mrs. Caren Hintlian, Belmont.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, Dec. 28 and will be a Xmas party for members with Mrs. Thos. W. Conlon as chairman.

WINCHESTER S. P. C. A. AUXILIARY NOTES

Mrs. Richard S. Taylor's home furnished an attractive setting for the Winchester S. P. C. A. Auxiliary annual Wayside Sale, held on the afternoon of Thursday, Dec. 9. The tables, laden with tempting home-cooked food, delicious candy, useful and novel gifts, were so generously patronized by the many friends of the auxiliary who came in during the afternoon, that practically every article was sold before closing time.

The tables were in charge of the following:

Food—Mrs. A. H. Hildreth, Mrs. Albert O. Wilson, Mrs. Harry W. Moulton, Mrs. Marshall W. Symmes, Mrs. R. S. Taylor.

Candy—Mrs. G. Russell Mann, Mrs. C. W. Nash, Mrs. L. J. Houlihan.

Catnip—Mrs. S. C. Wiswall, Miss L. E. Parker, Mrs. George Coleman.

Christmas—Mrs. John H. Clarke, Mrs. Stanly B. Pattison, Mrs. John C. Gilbert, Miss Ida Winn.

White Elephants—Mrs. A. P. Cornwall, Mrs. Francis O. P. Carlson.

To all who contributed or helped in any other way, the thanks of the Auxiliary are extended, especially to Mrs. Taylor and her sister, Miss Rice who as always, spared no effort in making the affair the great success which it proved to be.

The sum realized gives promise that success awaits the Auxiliary's newly launched project, the opening of the long anticipated shelter.

The next regular meeting of the Auxiliary will be held at the home of Mrs. G. Russell Mann, 17 Fenwick road on the second Thursday in January.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Ann Page

Meats other than poultry are cheaper and will probably be appreciated as pre-holiday fare. Smoked hams and bacon, forequarter beef, lamb and fresh pork are all reasonable in price. Eggs are plentiful and cheap for the season. Use them freely in your holiday baking.

Fish of many varieties is attractive in price for everyday and fast day needs.

Fruits, particularly the citrus fruits and apples, are abundant and inexpensive. Some vegetables, however, were affected by last week's severe cold weather and are less plentiful and more expensive.

Seasonable foods make up the following menus:

Low Cost Dinner
Braised Chuck Steak
Potatoes Onions Carrots
Bread and Butter
Tapioca Cream with Bananas
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner
Roast Lamb Pan-browned Potatoes
Glazed Carrots Spinach with Onions
Bread and Butter
Baked Caramel Custard
Tea or Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner
Split Pea Soup
Baked Ham
Sweet Potatoes Creamed New Cabbage
Orange Watercress Salad

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Announcement was just received from the Boy Scout office that plans are well underway for a big Camp and National Jamboree reunion, to be held at the Calumet Club in Winchester, on Thursday evening, Dec. 30. The committee of Walter Hannan, Jr., John Donlan, and Richard Wheeler, Jr., all members of this year's camp staff are working hand in hand with the camp committee to make this the feature affair of all Council activities for 1937.

Arrangements have already been made for the showing of 1600 feet of the Official National Jamboree pictures. There will also be a showing of the movies taken this summer at camp and also the Mt. Washington trip.

Other added features will include a most interesting talk by "Skipper" Holbrook. His talk will deal primarily with the International Jamboree in Holland, and the sightseeing trips through some eight other foreign countries.

A picture contest, open to all campers, will reach its final stage at this banquet, when a non-partisan committee will judge the many snapshots taken last summer at camp.

Alphonse (the Frenchman), the caretaker at Camp Fellsland, will be present with his famous trained dog, "Buddy." "Buddy" is the particular pet of every camper at either Camp Fellsland or Camp Ellis, and many of the boys will attend this banquet and reunion primarily to once again see "Buddy" go through his many almost human tricks.

The camp committee have already completed the plans for next summer and the plans will be unfolded to all those present.

Of course, one of the major highlights for the majority of the boys and some of the leaders, will be one of the typical camp meals, put on in a banquet style by a professional caterer. This banquet will start off the festivities at 6.30 p. m.

COLLEGE CLUB ART GROUP

On Friday, Dec. 10, the members of the College Club Art Group who are studying American Portraits, met at the home of Mrs. Harold Bates on Oxford street for a last conference before the meeting on Jan. 7. Papers were discussed and the program prepared for presentation before the whole group. These meetings have proved very enjoyable as well as instructive occasions, under the leadership of Mrs. Fred H. Abbott.

Recently a small group spent a delightful day viewing exhibits in Boston. At the Vose Galleries they were personally conducted by Mr. Horner who showed them his priceless treasurers, both ancient and modern, with many interesting anecdotes; they also had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Piutti-Barth who is exhibiting her still-life paintings and Miss Patricia Tate who is showing her pastel portraits of children. Luncheon at the Brittany Shop and a visit at the Fogg Museum in Cambridge in the afternoon rounded out a rare and interesting day.

Another small group had the pleasure of attending the luncheon at the Women's Educational and Industrial Union on Tuesday, at which Mr. Demetries, prominent Boston sculptor gave an interesting talk on Sculpture in America. All group members are urged to take advantage of the opportunity to visit the free exhibitions of American Art in Boston.

YOUTHS WITH JUNK APPREHENDED

Last Friday evening shortly before 9:15, Sergt. Charles J. Harrold of the Police Department picked up two Winchester boys who had been reported rolling a wheelbarrow along the railroad tracks north of the center.

The boys were stopped as they were heading for Blind Bridge street with a barrow load of scrap iron which the authorities say they took from railroad property and which they admitted, according to the Police, they were going to sell to junk dealers.

The youths were taken to Police Headquarters where they were booked by Lieut. Edward W. O'Connell and questioned by Frank W. Robinson, Southern Division agent of the Boston & Maine Railroad. They were later taken to their parents and the matter turned over to the Railroad Police for further action.

The Police had a couple of hurry calls Saturday to Mystic Lake and Winter Pond. At the lake Officer William Cassidy ordered several children off some dangerous thin ice, and at Winter an end was put to the activities of a group of boys, who were tearing down a privately owned stone wall for hockey goals.

THIS WEEK'S GARDENING

Dormant strength lime and sulphur should be sprayed on fruit trees but do not do it when it is freezing weather.

Keep house plants away from windows in heavy freezing weather.

Freesias grown inside should be staked with twigs to keep them upright.

Seeds of calendula, mignonette, browallia and nasturtium can be sown now for spring flowering in a south window.

Wood ashes from the fireplace are a fine fertilizer for the lawn.

Falling leaves that pile too high over garden plants are liable to smother them. Don't leave any on the lawn.

Standard rose plants should be bent down now and covered with soil. Or else they can be dug and stored in pits.

HIGH SCHOOL TO MEET ALUMNI

After being on again and off again like Finnegan's famous train the alumni basketball game has definitely been arranged for this Saturday night and the Winchester High School five will make its first start of the current season against the graduates in the local gymnasium at 7:30 on that evening.

Ordinarily this alumni game, long a fixture, has been played on the evening just before the Christmas vacation, and the earlier booking will hurt the alumni chances since few if any school and college boys will be home by next Saturday.

However, "Dex" Mobbs, who is handling the alumni expects to put a pretty fair club on the floor and is conceeding the schoolboys nothing. "Libby" Gaudioso, "Joe" McKee, Fred Noble, "Slick Coss, "Rusty" Donaghey, Mobbs, "Shellie" Hamilton, "Charlie" Dolan and others to be rounded up before Saturday should constitute sufficient strength to give the high school at least a very fair work-out. The graduates rather think they'll do better than that. First and second team games will be played.

STRUCK BY CAR ON CHURCH STREET

Miss Mary Cannalongo, 17, of 133 Arsenal street, Watertown, was knocked down and painfully injured by an automobile last Friday morning at 8:30 as she alighted from an Eastern Massachusetts bus on Church street at Wedgemere avenue. According to the Police Miss Cannalongo got off the bus which was headed east and ran diagonally across the street. The automobile, a Ford roadster, being driven east on Church street by Frank Robertson of Main street, Billerica, struck her on the left leg, knocking her down.

Robertson told the Police it was impossible to avoid striking Miss Cannalongo who ran directly into the path of his machine. He picked her up and took her to the Winchester Hospital where she was treated by Dr. Philip J. McManus. Her injuries were reported as not serious.

Ford
The 1938 Ford has many improvements and we expect it will be the leading car of the year.
Because people liked our 1937 car so well, they bought MORE than of any other make. They liked its looks, its smooth performance, and the way it handled. We have improved on that car in the newly styled Standard Ford V-8.
But some folks wanted still more size and style, with the same fundamental Ford advantages. For them, we have designed a new DeLuxe line.
The DeLuxe Ford V-8 Sedans are longer with more room, larger luggage space, and finer appointments. DeLuxe cars are equipped with the 85-horse-power engine. They provide an added measure of motoring satisfaction at low Ford prices.
We have on display your choice of bodies, styles and colors.
A demonstration is yours for the asking.

Lincoln Zephyr
IS GIVING AMERICA NEW IDEAS ABOUT TRAVEL.
Before you buy any car in this price class you owe it to yourself to drive this new car.
Call us for a demonstration.
We have an increasing list of Lincoln Zephyrs in Winchester, giving their owners a new riding experience. Ask your friend who owns one.

We thank our friends for our fine business during the past year. Knowing this to be the result of the fine Ford product we handle, we also trust that our service has been equally as acceptable.

CAN'T IT HAPPEN HERE?

To the Editor of the Star:

After several years of careful study of European and Asiatic conditions, may I call your readers' attention to the following facts which should be filed alongside the amazingly complacent American idea that "It Can't Happen Here." Things have happened here in the last decade which must have made our forefathers turn over in their graves.

In the evolution of a country from one economic stage to another, the determinig factor is the temperament of the people. The English have a deep distrust of theorist slogans and "isms" of all kinds, we are peculiarly ready to greet any new idea with unstudied enthusiasm — New England excepted—a fact well known abroad, hence the huge amount of propaganda continually flooding the country.

Kary Marx expected his teachings to develop first in Great Britain, second in the United States because of the large educated middle class in both countries, but he entirely failed to understand the psychology of these classes. It is Communism's misfortune, our good fortune, his teachings blossomed in illiterate Russia where it had a chance to become thoroughly discredited in the eyes of thinking people. Stalin realizes this and so has ordered the Comintern to "lay off" while the U. S. S. R. becomes respectable. But it should be remembered that in practically every country in the world the Comintern has organized groups, that when Stalin puts his house in order, when he has no Hitler and Japanese threat to wave in front of his people, these groups will no longer inactive, for only by threat of war, preparation for war, war or Pan-Asian, Pan-Germanism, World Revolution missions, can these dictators keep their seats. Therefore:

We should have no room in this country for drilling Nazis, Fascists or vendettas of any description. We have in the U. S. one legal army and all others should be suppressed by law. It is very bad psychology for the youth of the country that the soldier of today is being looked to as the highest ideal of human being and by permitting Nazi, Fascist or any other similar activities we encourage this very thing. In only one place under the flag of the United States has compulsory militarism ever been in force, Guam, and it is a dangerous seed to sow. It is no curtailment of liberty to suppress glaringly anti-American drilling groups. What Hitler and Mussolini do in their own countries is none of our business but we should show them very plainly their theories are not welcome here.

A clean-cut two party system is the only healthy one for this country. Study the history of the collapse of such parties in other countries: In Japan the two major parties became discredited which helped the armed force to take control and now elections mean nothing in Japan; in Italy a third party produced Mussolini and Fascism; in Germany a third party produced Hitler and Naziism and in these countries there can now be but one party.

An enormous part of the American population shares instinctively the debtor point of view and thinks of great moneylenders as his enemies, this produces fear and what did fear produce in France? The Popular Front. The Popular Front is a combination of Socialists, Radical Socialists and Communists, made possible by fear of Fascism and the "New Line" adopted by the second International, a government completely hostile to capitalism, and what happened? It was impossible to pass laws to suit the members of such a combination and financial conditions became so bad Blum was obliged to "sell out" to the financial oligarchy at their terms, then he shrewdly "fell" and left the Radical Socialists to hold the bag of increased debts etc.

Obviously a capitalistic country cannot be run by making war on Capitalists, and Big Business. We have the present picture of Big Business going on a Sit-Down strike and the country faced with another depression. Big Business itself recognizes reforms are necessary but does not intend to be compelled to make them. Does it not seem reasonable that if an armistice is declared between the government and Big Business, and cool heads on both sides sit down and go over the problems, which most certainly are not insurmountable, a solution can be found to end this Civil War for Civil War it is. It is not only foolish but dangerous to allow this condition to go on any longer. We want only two parties—but we do want two parties—in this country and again I call your attention to Japan, Italy, Germany, Russia and France to say nothing of the lesser countries.

Very truly yours,
Gladys H. Toye

NOONAN SCHOOL NEWS

The December meeting of the Junior Red Cross Society was held in the assembly hall Thursday, Dec. 9 at 11 o'clock. The meeting was conducted by the president, Shirley Hamilton. Reports were given by the secretary, treasurer and room representatives. A note of thanks from the Children's Hospital for favors received from the first grade children was also read. Plans are now being made for this year's international correspondence and as usual, a portfolio of interest to foreign children will soon be prepared.

The third grade children presented an assembly program based upon their recent unit of study—"Eskimo Life." The program was well presented and enjoyed by the audience which included the student body, many parents and friends, Mr. James J. Quinn, superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Ethel R. Savage, the school nurse.

James Costello directed the program and the following children explained about Eskimos and their native land and customs:

Virginia Horn	John O'Doherty
Anna Maiullari	Fred Swymer
Dorothy O'Connell	Thomas McNulty
Rose McGowan	Henry Heitz
Edward Ayer	Barbara Patterson
Edward Landry	Edward McGrath
Bernice Devine

A short dramatization followed with Betty O'Donnell, John Foley, and Douglas Rae as Eskimo characters.

The children then exhibited and explained the following articles: a walrus tusk, a little auk, a seal skin moccasin, a dog sled, a bone necklace, a rainproof hat made of the intestines of a seal, an Eskimo doll, a narwal's tooth, a sealskin purse, a dog harness of caribou sinew, a kayak, a sealskin boot and several interesting pictures. These articles were exhibited by:

William Gibbons	Douglas Rae
Daniel Sciascia	Lorraine Kelley
Mary Lou Veinot	Robert Costello
Evelyn McCue	Frances Roscilla
John Callahan	Carl DiFilippo
Robert McHugh	Anthony Lopes
Mary McElhiney	Phyllis Boyle

The program closed with the singing of two Eskimo songs by the entire class.

Our school is now equipped with a new and beautiful R. C. A. Victor radio for which we are very grateful, and which makes it possible for us to greatly improve our music appreciation work and participate in the several worthwhile radio programs now available and others which may follow.

CANDLE-LIGHT

By Caroline F. Austin

Paquin builds shoulder emphasis that balances skirt flare in the "X" silhouette.

Animal stories and Blackie's annuals are among many interesting books from England (for ages to 15) we find at the ORIGINAL THREAD AND NEEDLE SHOP, 671 Boylston street, Copley Square. We discover lively scientific, football or steeplechase games. Dolls . . why the dolls Miss Fisher selects range from that little French family set to a gorgeous big doll. The creches are simple or more elaborate; tree ornaments sparkling. We are fortunate here when we seize our opportunity to do such easy "around the world" shopping for children and for adults, too, the distinctive gift that's personal . . and just the imported gifts we've often wished to find!

CANDLE-LIGHT

By Caroline F. Austin

For the auto a new luxury, holder that releases an already lighted cigarette.

For Christmas that longed for puppy, kitten or bird . . . . equipment for those who are particularly fond of their pets . . treasured pastel picture of a loyal pet . . . these all appeal to us. From interesting experience personally and directing a New York kennel, Mrs. Edythe Bailey has established the delightful LANGLEY PET SHOP (40 Langley road, Newton Centre.) Associated with her is Archibald Ellis, Jr., doing portrait pastels of our pets. His specialized work has been painting favorite animals for prominent people also murals. Mrs. Bailey now has special Christmas pets for children as well as "show dog" puppies . . lively wire hairs and Scotties, especially recommended.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

All the beauty, color and swashbuckling adventure of the famous Anthony Hope romance comes to the screen of the Granada Theatre in Malden today when David Selznick's magnificent production of "The Prisoner of Zenda" begins a seven day engagement there with Ronald Colman, Madeleine Carroll and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., playing the leading roles. Ronald Colman plays the dual role of King Rudolf, and the adventurous Rassendyll in this tale of love and intrigue among the courts of Europe. Madeleine Carroll plays the beautiful Princess Flavia and Douglas Fairbanks Jr., is seen as the dashing Prince Rupert of Hentzau. The supporting cast of over 10,000 includes such well-known players as Mary Astor, David Niven, C. Aubrey Smith, Raymond Massey Montagu Love and Lawrence Grant.

"100 Men and a Girl," starring the sensational singing star, Deanna Durbin, with a supporting company that includes Leopold Stokowski, famous conductor of the Philadelphia Symphony, Adolph Menjou, Alice Brady, Mischa Auer, Eugene Pallette, Jed Prouty and Alma Kruger, is the second attraction on the bill starting today. During the course of the production, Deanna Durbin sings Mozart's "Alleluja," Verdi's "Drinking Song from La Traviata, and two popular numbers, "It's Raining Sunbeams" and "A Heart That's Free," all accompanied by Stokowski and his Symphony players.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Enough talent to cast a half dozen big Broadway productions, with the accompanying music, specialty numbers, dance offerings, settings, costumes, etc., is offered in the streamlined farce-musical comedy, "Merry Go Round of 1938" which begins its run at the University Theatre on Sunday. Mischa Auer, Alice Brady and Louise Fazenda, enough comedy talent for three pictures are in featured roles in the production. As if that were not enough, Billy House, Jimmie Savo and Bert Lahr were imported from Broadway—each of whom is a stellar name in any man's show. Dave Apollon's orchestra, long noted as the best musical act on the American stage, is in a featured spot in the picture.

The untold spy story of the great war and the most extraordinary exploit ever ventured in the history of military secret service is told in the co-feature "Lancer Spy." George Sanders plays the role of the daring British agent sitting in a Prussian uniform with the German high command, who could strike a deadlier blow than a million marching men, if he came through. Dolores Del Rio and Peter Lorre are featured with this romantic new screen discovery.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes "Maytime" co-starring Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy and "Women are Trouble," featuring Stuart Erwin and Florence Rice.

Shirley Temple as "Heidi." Millions the world over have been enthralled by the warmth, the tenderness and the charming beauty of Johanna Spyri's beloved story of Heidi and all the colorful fold who lived and laughed and loved high up in the Swiss Alps, just beneath the stars.

Arthur Treacher and Helen Westley play prominent roles in the story and Pauline Moore, Thomas Beck, Mary Nash, Sidney Blackmer, Mady Christians and Sig Rumann are also featured in the cast.

A gay comedy of the 18th century, "The Great Garrick," starring Brian Aherne and Olivia de Havilland, is the associate feature. While it is a costume play—the period being the 1750's and the locale the theatres of London and Paris—it is not drama, nor is it a serious biographical sketch.

PROVEN PICTURES AT REPERTORY AND SQUARE THEATRES

Proven Pictures; a selection of the seasons outstanding films presented two on each program to provide an equal and entertaining amount of comedy, drama, music and romance, making a well balanced program.

During the past four years the Tremont Theatre in downtown Boston, adhering to the above policy for selecting their programs has built an enviable reputation with New England movie goers. Now due to the demand for additional theatres with this policy the management of the Tremont has opened two new Proven Picture Theatres, The Square in Medford and the Repertory on Huntington avenue in Boston, completely renovated and designed with new ideas the Square and the Repertory will continue the progressive march of better entertainment originated at the Tremont.

Attractions at the Repertory and Square for the coming week are Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Barbara Stanwyck and Preston Foster in "Annie Oakley" cofeatured with Richard Dix in "Special Investigator."

Wednesday and Thursday, George Arliss in "The Last Gentleman," also "Once a Doctor" with Jean Muir and Donald Woods.

Friday and Saturday (next) Katherine Hepburn and Fred MacMurray in "Alice Adams" cofeatured with Nino Martini and Ida Lupino in "The Gay Desperado."

The latest news events and short subjects accompany each of these programs.

MISS AVERY COMPARES CHINA AND ITALY

"China and Italy, a study in contrasts and similarities," was the subject of Miss Eunice H. Avery's fourth lecture in the Smith College Club series, given on Wednesday Dec. 8 at the Wyman School Hall. Following the thesis of the increasing unity of Europe and Asia Miss Avery feels crises must be matched, occidental with oriental, to give a balanced view of the world scene.

There are three possible outcomes to the present struggle in China. Japan may win a and run China for a while; China may go on with guerills fighting and break Japan's hold on her; or, grave view held by some of our diplomats in the Far East presently Russia may come in, followed by Germany and The world war.

The situation is China's fault, because in 5000 years of existance she has not yet produced a government efficient, honest or strong enough to stop the Japanese from doing what they are doing. It is Japan's fault, because in her 2500 years of existence she has not been able to make an even enough balance between the military and the civil for the civil to have a chance. It is the fault of the United States, because we have known for years that steps should be taken but have done nothing. China has been protesting extra-territoriality, but we, with the other western nations, have continued to maintain the attitude that though China might sit as an equal power on the League of Nations her courts of law were not fit to judge any case involving our nationals. We have known China was going industrial, and, importing raw materials, would export goods manufactured under low standards of living, and we have met this with tariffs. We have met the largely imaginary menace of her overflow population by an exclusion act. And in all these unconstructive remedies we have done nothing to mitigate their arbitrary discourtesy. All three nations failed to move in time.

China has not yet the miles of tracks and roads that Sun Yat Sen set as a necessity before she could function as a nation. She has only recently standardized her currency, and regulated a tax system that previously had often collected taxes for 40 years ahead. But the civilization that has been produced alongside of or as an antidote to China's government has made the Chinese people very patient under misfortune, very resistent to despair. They have learned that many times bad luck does them a favor, or vice versa. Someone has said he expects to see a Chinese statue to the Japanese, in gratitude for making China grow up into a unified nation.

Chinese civilization has a problem getting organized into a modern government. Sun Yat Sen, leading the movement for centralization, looked to Russia for her methods, not to be Russianized, but in 1924 there was a Russian-Chinese treaty. When Sun Yat Sen died, an anti-communist movement arose headed by Chiang Kai Shek, took over middle China in 1927 and spent 10 years fighting the Chinese reds. Chiang's problem was to find the moment when he dared resist Japan; he kept temporizing, backing away, hoping meanwhile to weld China into a strong nation. In 1937 Russia and China signed another treaty, commercial, but Chiang still fought Chinese reds. In 1932 Japan moved into China, timing that move and the two later major moves at periods when the world's mind was too preoccupied to bother. Manchukuo during the depression, North China during the Ethiopian invasion, Shanghai and more North China during the Spanish trouble.

Chinese reds are not Russian reds, but they are red. Their school at Kwangsi is run on the line of group training and discipline, not military but severe. Its graduates are under two years pledge to teach use of the land, of soap, sanitation and so on. In some places the old strip system of farms has been replaced by communal use of land and co-operative farming. There are some credit unions, a boon to Chinese since the old system computed interest monthly and made three per cent actually 36 per cent. At Kiangsi, whence Chiang Kai Shek drove out the reds, there exist these same improvements. The people must have them, and Chiang is trying to prove that communism is not the only way to obtain them. The heroic march of the chinese red army across 12 provinces, incredible triumph of endurance against tragedy and hardship, was carried out with the practice of these same principles. They taught farming and sanitation as they had opportunity, and they lived off the land by sharing with the peasants. They arrived in Sian just in time to cast the deciding vote to release Chiang Kai Shek under mutual truce for a China unified against Japan.

Modern Italy, nine years old when the Suez Canal was opened in 1869, did not make much headway until after the World War. With a hard-headed realist at the helm she then set out to obtain for herself the benefits of the unfulfilled treaty of 1915 by which she had been bought into the war; Mediterranean balance of power, colonies, and domination of the Adriatic with a slice of the Dalmatian coast. Compromise, shrewd pursuit of a goal, characterize her actions, too. When Jugoslavia would not treat with her she made an Albanian treaty, which gave rise to the Balkan Alliance to prevent Italian domination of the Adriatic. Mussolini built motor roads to New Ostia, to make his people sea-minded, and organized cheap excursions everywhere to amalgamate the nation. When there were groans at the cost of this policy he changed to pursue collective security and the League of Nations. That did not work so he suggested a four power pact, but the small surrounding powers protested loudly. The next suggestion was a three power pact of Italy, France and Great Britain, to keep Germany small. France's part was to encircle Germany with a flock of little nations. Our own world naval program sank because Italy and France could agree on no part of it except their dislike to be classed as second line powers. This crippling of the naval program made it possible for Japan to withdraw more easily and thus affected the situation in China.

Italy and France made a trade of the independence of Austria for the untroubled invasion of Ethiopia. Sanctions made Italy bitter and created the Rome-Berlin axis when she found a partner equally bitter. Will Europe fall between the two axes, Rome-Berlin and Paris-London, or will she balance firmly? Every crises sends a flock of important people to the outlying capitals of the nine power council, Warsaw, Prague, Belgrade, Vienna and Budapest. Italy and Britain may reach a complementary relation financially, and neither can survive a big war.

Among the martial messages posted on all big buildings to encourage the Italian people to enjoy military disciple and training is the statement that "the heroic concept of Fascist life is not inevitably bound up with war." The new Italy is using every inch of land, is learning a new sportsmanship. But the Spanish venture is definitely unpopular. Mussolini on the whole has been good for Italy; is he good for Europe? Asking the Chinese question, "How do you know what is good?" you get an answer only by the way you fit the picture together.

PEOPLE LOSING TIME AND MONEY IN BOSTON

NOBODY loves a Boston traffic jam but that isn't the worst part about it. It's the cost of driving in and out of them that hits you where it hurts most — in the pocketbook. It costs 5c a mile to drive a small car — 7½c for a medium — 11c for a large one. That adds up.

Parking expense from 25c to 50c a day — That adds up.

Or parking fines. They add up.

In a year you can spend a large sum of money driving to Boston. Or you can save it — by taking B and M trains. You'll get in and out of Boston faster — more comfortably and more calmly. Try it and see.

STRAND THEATRE, MALDEN

"Danger—Love At Work" starring Ann Sothern, Jack Haley and Edward Everett Horton, will divide the headline honors with "Hold 'Em Navy" featuring Lew Ayres, Mary Carlisle and John Howard, on the bill opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden today. When Ann Sothern, Jack Haley, Edward Everett Horton and Mary Boland get together there is bound to be laughs.

"Hold 'Em Navy" has to do with the rivalry of Lew Ayres and John Howard who both want the same post on the football team, and the same girl, Mary Carlisle. In Ayers second year he is competing with Howard for the position of first string quarter back, which Howard wins.

"Dinner at the Ritz," starring Annabella, who will be remembered for her fine work in "Wings of the Morning," will be shown at the Strand on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Annabella's supporting company includes Paul Lukas, David Niven and Romney Brent. "The League of Frightened Men," a Nero Wolf story, with Walter Connolly, Lionel Stander, Eduardo Ciannelli and Irene Hervey is the second attraction on the bill starting Tuesday.

REV. FR. CONRAD J. QUIRBACH
Appointed Parish Priest at Greenwood

Among the appointments for the Boston Archdiocese announced last week-end by Cardinal O'Connell was that of Rev. Fr. Conrad J. Quirbach, assistant at St. Mary's Church, to be parish priest at the Most Blessed Sacrament Church in Greenwood.

Father Quirbach's promotion will be pleasing to his parishioners and his many friends about town. He came to Winchester nine years ago from the Parish of Our Lady Help of Christians in Newton. He is a Holy Cross graduate, class of 1910, and was ordained to the Roman Catholic priesthood on May 28, 1915, in the chapel at St. John's Seminary, Brighton, by Cardinal O'Connell.

At Greenwood he succeeds Rev. Patrick J. McCarthy who has been transferred to the Star of the Sea Church in East Boston. Father Quirbach's new parish was established six years ago and now numbers between 600 and 1000 persons.

FIREMEN ASSISTED SANTA

There is many a youngster around town who will owe a large measure of his Christmas joy to the efforts expended by the local firemen in renovating and reconditioning discarded toys for distribution by Winchester Post, A. L., among the less fortunate children of the community.

This service is nothing new for the firemen. For several years now they have busied themselves before Christmas in the basement of the Central Fire Station with about as heterogenous a collection of toys, games and children's furniture as can be imagined.

From this discouraging mass the men produce attractive, workable toys, all gaily painted with paint provided by former Selectman F. J. Lane. You would be surprised if you could see a before-and-after view of their handiwork.

The Star reporter visited the workshop on Monday and found Lieut. Ray Hamscom and Fireman Walter Carroll engrossed in the problem of repairing a toy typewriter. Neatly arranged in rows ready for delivery were sleds, toys, scooters, motor trucks, games and children's furniture. In the center of the room was a pile of contributions awaiting attention. Ray and "Cubby" seemed happy at their task and we'll wager the other firemen have enjoyed giving Santa a lift. We know the youngsters appreciate their efforts.

OBSERVED 25TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hitchcock gave a party for 75 relatives and friends Tuesday evening at their home on Church street in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary.

In a Christmas setting Mr. and Mrs. Hitchcock re-enacted the ceremony that united them in marriage at Arlington Heights on Dec. 21, 25 years ago, the clergyman who married them, Rev. Esriah Rermer, being present to make the picture complete.

Mr. and Mrs. Hitchcock, the former Maud Balser, are widely known in Winchester and actively identified with the Crawford Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church. They have a daughter, Miss Bertha Hitchcock, and two sons, Robert and Edward Hitchcock, all of whom were present at Tuesday evening's anniversary.

In addition to congratulations and best wishes, the Hitchcocks were remembered with many attractive gifts. An entertainment program was enjoyed during the evening and refreshments were served.

CHRISTMAS STORY HOUR

A Christmas Story Hour was held at the Winchester Public Library last Saturday under the sponsorship of the League of Women Voters. Miss Nancy Sawyer of Woburn told a group of charming Christmas stories taken from the list of books to be found below which are suitable for boys and girls from 8 to 12 years old.

There were over 40 children present and the glowing logs in the fireplace, the soft candle-light and the Christmas greens all contributed toward making it a real Christmas party for the children.

"A Little Shepherd's Trust" by Eva L. Hughes.
"A Star for Hansi" by Vance.
"David's Star of Bethlehem" by Christine Whiting Parmenter.
"A Christmas Nightingale" by Eric P. Kelly.

MRS. MARY JANE WATT

Mrs. Mary Jane Watt, widow of William Watt, died early Sunday morning, Dec. 19, at her home, 200 Forest street, after a brief illness in her 89th year.

Mrs. Watt was the daughter of William and Tryphena (Kennedy) Ashton. She was born in Shefford, Canada, but had made her home for the past 45 years in Winchester and was well known among older residents of the town. She was married in Boston on Jan. 23, 1878, and before coming to Winchester had lived for a time in St. Paul, Minn. She was for many years a member of the Woman's Fortnightly Club, was a member of the First Congregational Church and of its Western Missionary Society and of the Ladies' Bethany Society of the Second Congregational Church.

Mrs. Watt's husband died in May. She is survived by a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Arthur P. Watt of this town, and by two brothers, Alfred Francis Ashton and William Ashton, both living in Canada.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at Ripley Chapel of the First Congregational Church with Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the church, officiating. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

COMMUNITY SINGING

The Winchester Fortnightly Glee Club will lead the Community Singing of Christmas Carols, around the Christmas tree on the common, on Christmas Eve, from 7 to 7:30. It is a beautiful and impressive ceremony, for young and old, and it is to be hoped that all Winchesterites will avail themselves of Fortnightly's cordial invitation to come and help sing the old familiar carols. The time has been selected as one most convenient for mothers and children, so "Come All Ye Faithful" and sing yourself into the happy Christmas Spirit.

Please try to remember to bring song books of carols with you, so that if the limited supply we have on hand does not go far enough, there will still be words for you to sing.

MISS STEVENS ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Stevens of this town announce the engagement of their daughter, Natalie, to Mr. Edward Pickering Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Foster H. Parker of Salem.

Miss Stevens was graduated from the Winchester High School and attended Stoneleigh College at Rye Beach, N. H. Mr. Parker, who was graduated from Phillips Exeter Academy in 1930, and from Harvard College in 1934, is associated with Parker Brothers, Inc. His clubs include the Harvard Varsity Club and the Harvard Clubs of Boston and New York.

The wedding will take place in the spring.

MIDNIGHT SERVICE AT THE CHURCH OF THE EPIPHANY

At 11:30 on Christmas Eve members of the Parish of the Epiphany and their neighbors will gather for the midnight service of Holy Communion. Instituted in this parish only a few years ago, this service now brings together many worshipers. It says something that is in the hearts of men, and they come to hear and to add their individual voices to an earth-wide expression of need, expectation, answer and the thanksgiving.

When the first Christmas message told men to fear not, it came to a world like our own. It came to men unsatisfied with life as it stood, men who wanted a better world. It came among men who counted on utterly different ways of getting that better world. There were men who counted on violence and force; there were men who thought that the good world would be given to Caesar,—God's power suddenly striking down what was and bringing a new heaven and earth; there were some who saw that better world as built by men and God together, "men of good will" doing their utmost and God giving them not only the pattern of good living but the desire and the power to live well.

In that past age, to men unsatisfied and expectant came a faith in "God with us," an answer that has been often neglected, but not forgotten. At this Christmas communion men of our own time, unsatisfied, will bring their expectation, faint or sure, and their faith, whether it be as yet only of the smallness of the mustard seed or faith that will move the mountains of war and violence and prejudice and class hatred and personal distrust that wall us in. Together they will commit themselves to seeking surer faith and clearer wills.

Epiphany at the midnight service brings to "men of good will" whatever may be the place of their usual Sunday morning worship the invitation, "Ye who do truly and earnestly repent of your sins, and are in love and fellowship with your neighbor, draw near with faith."

KENNETH NASH CHASE

Kenneth Nash Chase of 72 Wildwood street, sales manager of the Father John's Medicine Company of Lowell, died Sunday afternoon, Dec. 19, at the Winchester Hospital of pneumonia, following an emergency operation for appendicitis.

Mr. Chase was born in Malden, the son of James T. and Alice (Root) Chase. He was educated in the Malden schools, and was formerly associated with the Vicks Chemical Company in New York City, making his home in Montclair, N. J.

Mr. Chase came to New England to accept his position with the Father John's Company. He came to Winchester, with his family on Oct. 15, and during his brief residence had won the esteem of all with whom he came in contact.

He is survived by his wife, the former Gladys M. Tuttle of Lexington; a daughter, Miss Virginia Chase, a student at Colby Junior College; by his father, living in St. Petersburg, Fla., a brother, Howard Chase of Providence, R. I.; and by two sisters, Mrs. Howard Boise of Plainfield, N. J., and Mrs. Cassel Foster of Jacksonville, Fla.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at the late residence with Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Church of the Epiphany officiating. Interment was in the Lexington Cemetery.

The boys and girls of the Junior High School Glee Club and orchestra gave a very fine concert in the Senior High School auditorium on Friday, Dec. 17 at 8 o'clock. This concert, sponsored by the Parent Teachers' Association, was under the direction of Miss Page, supervisor of music, and took the form of a Christmas operetta by members of the Glee Club and a fine selection of carols by members of the orchestra.

Miss Nancy and Miss Lorraine Nickerson were guest artists of the orchestra, playing the violin and harp. They were received very enthusiastically as were the entire cast by the many parents and friends of the pupils who attended.

Refreshments were served in the gymnasium by Mrs. Gustave Josephson and the following committee: Mrs. Dean Blanchard, Mrs. Parker Holbrook, Mrs. Charles Downer, Mrs. Lester Pratt, Mrs. Harold Partridge, Mrs. John McIsaac.

RECEIVED HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY AWARD

Mr. Alfred H. Marchant, advertising manager of the Boston Post whose grounds in Rangely are among the most attractive in Winchester, has been awarded the blue ribbon of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society for his garden of native wild flowers last summer. In addition to his well landscaped grounds Mr. Marchant maintains a bird sanctuary which attracts many birds throughout the year.

SO WE THINK

The recent appointment of Frank Goodwin for another term as registrar of motor vehicles should be highly satisfactory to the general community. Mr. Goodwin's devotion to the cause of public safety is so well known that it needs no further comment to class him as one of the outstanding officials in the country in this field and, unquestionably, his campaign against careless motorists has saved many lives. That is why the public is behind him.

MRS. JENNIE CHELLMAN WALKER

Mrs. Jennie Chellman Walker, wife of Avard L. Walker, memorial architect, of 12 Norwood street, died Saturday, Dec. 18, at the Massachusetts Osteopathic Hospital in Jamaica Plain, after a week's illness.

Mrs. Walker was the daughter of John and Betty (Erickson) Chellman. She was born in Boston, educated in the Boston schools and after completing her education at the Boston Normal School taught for several years in the schools of Tewksbury and East Boston. She came to Winchester from Wollaston 18 years ago and during her residence here had been active in the religious and civic life of the community.

She was especially active in the work of the First Baptist Church, having been a member of its Women's League and chairman of the Monday group in charge of the Thrift Shop maintained by that organization. She was a member of the Woman's Republican Club, of the Florence Crittenton League and was also a member of the Board of Managers of the New England Baptist Home.

On Oct. 15, 1901, she married Arvard L. Walker, who survives her, with three sons, Dr. Arnold C. Walker of Canton, Me., Arvard L., Jr., of this town, and G. Lorimer Walker, a junior at William and Mary College in Virginia. There are also surviving her stepmother, Mrs. John Chellman of Roslindale; a sister, Mrs. Edith Langille of West Roxbury; and five brothers, Lloyd Chellman of West Roxbury, J. Edwin Chellman of Roslindale, Emory Chellman of Wollaston, Chester E. Chellman of Whitman and Prof. Harry R. L. Chellman of Pittsburg, Penn.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 on Monday afternoon at the First Baptist Church with the pastor, Rev. R. Mitchell Rushton, officiating. The remains were cremated at Mt. Auburn Cemetery in Cambridge.

COLLEGE NIGHT

Young People's, First Congregational Church

All former members of Young People's, First Congregational Church, will be guests at a special College Night program Dec. 26. Beginning at 6 o'clock, there will be a brief worship service in the chapel. Following this service everyone will adjourn to the ladies' parlor where Dr. Vaughan Dabney, Dean of Andover Newton Theological School, Newton Centre, will be the speaker. After this meeting there will be a candle-light supper with Dr. Howard J. Chidley as toastmaster. Some of the college students taking part are: Emily Greene, Acadia; John Logingier, University of Virginia; James Harris, University of Maine; Kirby Thwing, Bowdoin; Fred Bates, Kimball Union; Bill Smith, Deerfield; Barbara Ekern, Smith; Jean Wilson, Jackson; Jack Downs, Yale; Marjorie Rush, Wheaton; Dorothy Kleebe, New England Conservatory of Music and Sally Parsons, Beaver College.

THE SNOW BALL

The annual New Year's Eve dance will be held as usual on Dec. 31 in the parish hall of the First Congregational Church. Frank McGinley and his orchestra will play from 9 until 1. Those who attended the dance last year will need no second invitation to "trip the light fantastic" to the strains of this wonderful orchestra. Upon entering the hall you will feel that you have been suddenly transported to the far north, to the land of ice and snow, where the northern lights cast strange and beautiful radiance on the icicles and the snow balls, and where the cherubic elves play among the crystal snowflakes.

All of Winchester is invited to participate in this jolly occasion to help greet the new year. For further information call the church (Win. 0786 or 1056).

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Zeller of Upper Montclair, N. J., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Betty Zeller to Mr. John Hunter Gage of Glen Ridge, N. J., the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Ramond Page of 7 Lewis road.

Miss Zeller attended the Newark School of Fine and Industrial Arts and the Grand Central School of Art in New York. Mr. Gage was graduated from Harvard in 1929 and from the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration in 1931. He is a member of the Harvard Club of New York.

A CORRECTION

The Star regrets an error that occurred in its announcement of the Christmas musical program at the Immaculate Conception Church. The director of music at that church is Mrs. Mollie Macdonald Maguire, one of Winchester's well known vocalists, and it is unfortunate that her name did not appear correctly in the notice of the program she had arranged. The error is one for which this office is wholly responsible, and we offer our apologies to Mrs. Maguire, her family and friends.

PRECINCT LINES REVISED

In the revision of the line dividing Precincts 1 and 2, recently completed by the Board of Selectmen, the line has been placed at Prince avenue instead of at Hancock street and along Highland avenue as formerly. The new division takes approximately 260 voters out of Precinct 1, placing them in Precinct 2.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Five members were absent from the meeting of Dec. 23, one of whom has already made up for his absence. Pressing business engagements accounted for most of these absences; we are confident that they will be canceled before our next meeting.

We acknowledge with extreme pleasure the receipt of Christmas greetings from the Rotary Club of Winchester and District, Hants, England. The cordial relations between these two clubs, so happily inaugurated at the time of the tercentenary celebration of the Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1930, have never been allowed to lapse; we propose to do our best to cherish and promote the mutual goodwill so happily existent.

Past President George Davidson submitted today a highly satisfactory report of the Christmas activities of his Community Service committee. George is surely the right man in the right place, as witness the fact that he also serves this town as chairman of the Winchester Community Relief Committee. All citizens are cordially invited to visit the Recreation Center during the afternoon of December 24, where they can obtain visual evidence of the celebration provided for the young people of this community.

The club service committee, Ralph Bonnell, chairman, is planning an "all-Winchester" meeting in January, the precise date to be announced shortly. On these occasions it will be recollected, our club entertains all Rotarians resident in Winchester who are not members of the Winchester club. It is needless to say that these gatherings are among the most satisfactory which we are privileged to sponsor. Few clubs are so well situated as is ours to extend Rotary fellowship throughout their communities. This service pays very large dividends to all concerned. Let us make the coming "all-Winchester" meeting the best ever.

Rotary International announces the first regional conference of Rotary in Middle Asia, to be held in April 1938 at Penang, Straits Settlements. This region embraces Burma, Ceylon, India, Malay Peninsula, Netherlands Indies, Sarawak and Siam. In the past three years it has experienced a rapid extension of Rotary and this first conference will operate to solidify the work already accomplished as well as to promote further extension. We also note that many clubs have recently been organized in South America. Rotary marches on!

Our regular meeting of Dec. 30 will be the fifth in this month and the last in 1937. Let all members of the club be present to speed the old year and welcome the new. And in the meantime we Rotarians of Winchester bespeak for all a Yuletide rich with blessings and a coming year of renewed hopes and true accomplishment.

Percentage of attendance, Dec. 16, 90.32 per cent.

UNIQUE CHRISTMAS DECORATION

One of the most unique bits of Christmas decorating the Star has seen is that at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger C. Hadley, 193 Forest street.

Against the modestly, but attractively lighted house is seen old Santa Claus, riding in his sleigh, drawn by two reindeer. In the sleigh with St. Nick are a huge pack and a sled. The continual jingling of sleigh bells adds to the atmosphere of realism and both sleigh and reindeer are brightly lighted with an inconspicuous flood light cleverly arranged at the front of the yard.

When the Star reporter visited the Hadley home Wednesday evening Mr. Hadley credited his wife with conceiving and working out the idea for the novel decorative scheme. The sleigh is a real old stager, dating back to 1775 and was secured from Mr. Henry Hutchins of Billerica. Originally it belonged on the old Preston estate if that town and was bought by Mr. Hutchins at an auction 25 years ago. The reindeer, which are excellent replicas of caribou in their winter coloring, were made to order in Boston from metal covered with plaster of paris and painted. The final touch is the ingenious little electrical gadget which rings the bells, a clever little condenser type of thing equipped with a rubber cable on which the bells are hung. Mr. Hadley found that four bells were too many and two, too few for best results, and the resulting three bells jingle away continuously in a most convincing manner.

BREAKFAST PARTY

Miss Dorothy Fitts gave a breakfast party yesterday morning at her home on Grassmere avenue for the group of Winchester girls who annually meet at each other's homes for breakfast and to exchange Christmas gifts.

Present this year were Barbara Hickey, Betsy Jones, Frances-Jane Hayden, Dorothy Bruno, Mary Alice Mason, Aleyone Rogers, Barbara Moulton, Jeanne Moran, Faith McVicar, Barbara Kelley, Elizabeth Sawyer, Martha Kimball and Ella Armstrong.

INVESTIGATING ADDITIONAL WATER SUPPLY

The Water & Sewer Board is making a study of an auxiliary water supply for use in dry periods.

The reservoir supply is ample in periods of normal rainfall, but during dry weather extending over a period of more than a year, under present conditions, the Board would be obliged to curtail the use of water by the town's citizens.

DISCOVERED BY FORMER WINCHESTER TEACHER

Fall River Cripple Had First Christmas Party

There is Winchester interest in a heart warming little story that comes out of Fall River where a little crippled girl of 11 enjoyed her very first Christmas party through the efforts of a former Winchester teacher, Miss Dorothy Higgins, who for two years taught "special help" classes in the Junior High School.

Miss Higgins is now a special teacher for crippled children in the Fall River School system and it was in this capacity that she visited the little crippled youngster who spends her life strapped to a plank in a shabby little tenement and who until Wednesday afternoon had never been outside her home or had a Christmas treat.

Miss Higgins reported the child's condition and limitations to the Fall River authorities and through the cooperation of the Catholic Woman's Club and the municipal authorities a party was staged which is probably unique in New England.

The Department of Health provided an ambulance as a taxi—the city electrical department lighted up all the Christmas decorations on the City Hall especially for the child at 1 o'clock—the Park Department similarly lighted up the huge 25-foot Christmas tree at South Park—and the School Department invited her to a party at the Osborn street school.

And, to cap the climax, Mayor Alexander C. Murray of Fall River helped Santa Claus give this Cinderella a gift from a real Christmas tree and then shook her hand.

And when it was all over and the clock had figuratively struck 12 and the ambulance had driven away, all the little cripple could say was:

"It was too wonderful! I never knew the city was so large! It's been the happiest day of my life and the happiest Christmas. I shall always remember it—always.

WYMAN SCHOOL NEWS

The boys and girls of the Wyman School have been very busy with Red Cross activities for the holiday season and many fine things have been made and sent to various hositals. One of the fifth grades constructed a doll house, papered the walls, furnished it and sent it complete to a children's hospital.

The Christmas play was very much enjoyed by all the Wyman School at 11 o'clock on Thursday morning.

During the Christmas season each class has sung carols for the school during the first few minutes in the morning session. The class which sings, stands on the front stairway and from that location the music can be enjoyed throughout the whole building.

The Wyman School sends best wishes to all for the holiday season.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

MEANEST THIEF

Last Saturday evening Police headquarters was notified that Christmas wreaths had been stolen from the doors of two houses on the west side.

Sergt. Charles J. Harrold went to investigate and finally rounded up three boys, aged 10, 14 and 17 years, from Billerica and West Roxbury, who were selling wreaths. They denied having stolen the wreaths they had, and the householder who had seen some boys near her home shortly before her wreath disappeared was unable to identify them. They were ordered out of town by the authorities.

CHRISTMAS PARTY FOR CHILDREN OF WHITING EMPLOYEES

The Whiting Milk Company inaugurated this year one of the most interesting and enjoyable of its many social activities. All children, 12 years and under, of employees were given gala Christmas parties. A jolly Santa Claus presented each child with a gift, and in addition, plenty of entertainment and refreshments were provided. Dr. Carl W. Larson, president of Whiting Milk Company, originated the idea of the parties, and other major executives of the company made the necessary plans and arrangements to assure their success.

THE CHRISTMAS MYSTERY PLAY AT THE CHURCH OF THE EPIPHANY

At 4 p. m., Friday, Christmas Eve, the children and young people of the Church of the Epiphany will begin the Christmas celebration of the parish by a service of worship and gift giving.

The summons to Christmas joy will come from the youngest members of the Church School, as the members of the primary department enter the church singing "O Come, All Ye Faithful." The double line of little figures in festival robes of red will circle the church singing this carol.

The upper school will then enter in procession, led by the girls choir of the Church School and the boys who are members of the Epiphany Choir. The color note struck by the Christmas robes of the little children will be repeated in the red and gold carol sheets which the choristers will carry. A carol will be used as the processional, "It Came Upon the Midnight." The music of the processional will in a way symbolize the spread of the good news which each Christmas celebrates: beginning with the light voices of the primary department, and growing with the ampler voices of the upper school, the carol will gather to itself the singing of the whole congregation.

Members of the girls choir of the Church School this year are:

Frances Angas	Jacqueline Geerts
Marie Barron	Marjorie Geerts
Charlotte Bergerson	Barberie Harmer
Barbara Booth	Barbara Joyce
Pauline Bourinot	June Moffette
Barbara Bowes	Alice Neeley
Jean Bradlee	Sally Osborne
Edythe Carlson	Charlotte Underwood
Jean Ebens	Barbara Walters
Marjorie Ebens	Barbara Wansker
Betty Gallagher	Jane Wansker

They will be in charge of Miss June Aitcheson and Miss Nancy Wyman.

The boys who are members of the Epiphany Choir are:

Ray Major, Jr.	Wallace Parkin
Harold Joyce	Allen Warrington
Dwight Savage	John Eaton
Graham Murphy	Leslie Curtis
James [illegible]ngston	Judson Curtis
Robert [illegible]ford	Charles Howe
Torr Harmer	Ellis Stearns
Richard Gallagher

The central part of the service will be a Mystery Play arranged by the Director of Religious Education, Miss Ethel B. Davis. The play will be directed by Mrs. Elton Moffette, assisted by Mrs. J. Warren Shoemaker.

The human roles will be taken by the following people:

Joseph ..... John Gleason
Mary ..... Mrs. Sidney Buckman
Shepherds—Bennett Wightman, Leonard Sherman, George McQueen.
Wise Men—David Riley, Lewis Stillman, Mrs. Stillman.

A chorus of angels surrounding the manger will complete the Nativity picture and will accompany appropriate parts of the action with the carols "Silent Night" and "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks." These girls will take the parts of angels:

Muriel Hann	Jean Angas
Joan Moffette	Jane Wansker
Constance Murphy	Frances Stratton
Jean Stillman	June Murphy
Louise Kelley	Roberta Fogg
Marie Barron	Carol Wallis

Two very tiny angels who sit beside the crib will be Ellen Shoemaker and Ann Dillingham. The archangel will be represented by Miss Gale Angas.

For some of the children present this will be the first religious service they have attended. The Director of Religious Education has planned a Mystery Play which shall not be a show, with a line dividing actors from passive spectators, but a reverent service in which the tiniest children may feel their parents and older friends heartily participating as the Church School and the whole congregation join in familiar carols.

In marshaling the primary department, the director, Mrs. Edward Boyd, will be assisted by young teachers of her staff: Misses Eleanor and Florence Barron and Miss Elizabeth Nichols.

All children of the parish will bring toys, either used or new, which will be brought to the foot of the tree and will later be sent to Boston for distribution to children who would otherwise lack.

Again, as now for several years, the parish of the Epiphany will share Christmas with another parish. When children of Sherburne, Vt., come on snowy ways to their Christmas festival, at the foot of their tree will be gifts from Winchester, and as the Winchester children sing of the wonderful tree that "comes from the forest to flourish here," they will be looking up at a spruce that grew in Sherburne forest and has been sent as a present to Epiphany from the Vermont parish.

WINCHESTER TENNIS PLAYERS LISTED

New England Tennis Rankings Announced

Dorothy Bruno, last year's captain of the Winchester High School girl's tennis team, was the only local player to be listed among the first 12 junior girls tennis players of New England in the listings announced last weekend by the New England Lawn Tennis Association. "Dottie" is listed number 6 with Cissy Madden of Jamaica Plain number one.

In the younger girls' listing, Winchester faired very well, Frances Keyes being placed at number three Priscilla Tapley, four; Natalie White, seven; Jean Drake, nine; and Peggy Greene, 12. The redoubtable Cissy Madden is also number one in this group.

Bennett Wightman and Dick Bugbee are the only boys to win singles ratings, the former being placed sixth, and Bugbee, eighth. In boys' doubles, Wightman and B. Collinson of Boston are rated number two. Bugbee and Harold Salzman, also of Winchester, are listed number five. Arthur Nelson of Boston is the number one boys' player, and doubles with George Wright of Boston for top honors in the younger boys' class.

No Winchester boy is listed among the juniors and the men's and women's lists are also devoid of local names.

The bride doll donated by Mrs. James Murray will be awarded and all having books are requested to return them on that day.

A very lovely tea will be held at the Somerset on Jan. 4, in recognition of the 31st anniversary of the Guild. Mrs. James Gaffney will be among the pourers and wishes to greet all the members on that afternoon. CAMP REUNION

With Christmas greens as a background, a gay camp reunion was held at the Winchester Country Club last Saturday afternoon.

Miss Elinor C. Barta of 6 Cabot street welcomed her campers and councillors at a lively tea-dance. Fathers and mothers too, came to watch the dancing and to enjoy the moving pictures portraying last summer's events.

Refreshments were served and soon afterward the group scattered thinking of the pleasures to come in the new season at the Barta Camp in Casco, Me.

MAGNIFICENT DISPLAY

Winchester people who delight in the Christmas flower should by all means visit the Winchester Conservatories on Cambridge street. These flowers have all been raised at the Conservatories and range from the small, perfect, single blossom to plants with 25 or more blossoms. The Conservatories this year have a beautiful display of flowers, but their poinsettas alone are well worth seeing.

Ford
The 1938 Ford has many improvements and we expect it will be the leading car of the year.
Because people liked our 1937 car so well, they bought MORE than of any other make. They liked its looks, its smooth performance, and the way it handled. We have improved on that car in the newly styled Standard Ford V-8.
But some folks wanted still more size and style, with the same fundamental Ford advantages. For them, we have designed a new DeLuxe line.
The DeLuxe Ford V-8 Sedans are longer with more room, larger luggage space, and finer appointments. DeLuxe cars are equipped with the 85-horse-power engine. They provide an added measure of motoring satisfaction at low Ford prices.
We have on display your choice of bodies, styles and colors.

WHAT DOES IMPERIALISM MEAN?

To the Editor of the Star:

We hear a great deal about the United States not being an imperialistic nation, what does "imperialism" mean? The dictionary says "the extension of a nation's rule over other races of mankind, as where commerce demands the protection of the flag." There you have the answer—"commerce demands the protection of the flag."

This brings us to the Standard Oil holdings in China. Now it is true that it costs us $10,000,000 a year to keep our soldiers in China that the China trade is worth far less and the War Department has been recommending for years that we get out of China and cease the expense of supporting one soldier for every two citizens, but there is another thing to remember. Oil is one of the essentials of modern civilization and is becoming more and more the lifeblood of our armed forces. No nation can remain adequately defensive or have adequate offensive powers without huge oil reserves. This is Japan's greatest problem. Obviously the United States has need of outside sources of oil and equa ly obvious is the fact that we intend to remain one of the great powers. The history of oil is not a savoury one and even since the World War we have been involved in one war—the Mosul Oil War when Greece fought under orders from Shell which sheltered behind the British government, and Turkey on orders from the Standard Oil group supported by the United States and France. It would seem, therefore, we must be ready to protect our foreign interests with armed force.

It is a well known fact that for an Occidental nation to lose "face" in the Orient is disastrous for future dealings and inasmuch as we are in China, rightfully from a commercial pointiof view only, to have scuttled out at the first sign of trouble would have meant considerable loss of prestige throughout Asia. True, we have provocation for war in the sinking of the "Panay" but there is one factor which our government should realize will eventually suppress Japan without any help from us and that is her financial condition. Anyone who has studied the aims of militarists in Japan realizes her ambitions include the subjugation of China, annexation of the Phillipines, support of the natives in the Dutch East Indies to facilitate an attack on Singapore, Hong-Kong and eventual annexation of Australia and New Zealand to the Japanese Empire. Now all this is great material for propaganda, but one should also bear in mind that if left alone Japan will hang herself. Her ambitions are those of an extremely wealthy nation which she is not. Her gold reserve is about $450,000,000 and she could not muster more than $1,500,000,000 with her gold reserve and liquid foreign exchange together. Compare this with the $25,000,000,000 we spent in 18 months of the World War. In only preparation for war Japan has been obliged to float large issues of bonus to be absorbed by the Japanese nation.

This is a time for the people of the United States to examine carefully the propaganda filling our ears and eyes. Every American sees red when our flag is fired on but it is sometimes well to examine who is flying the flag. The American flag is very often flown abroad illegally. 1940, the year set by most European leaders as another "Der Tag" is approaching rapidly and we must make up our minds whether we are going to protect the $15,000,000,000 invested in Europe since the War and the billions in Asia or whether we are going in for complete isolation. You have to pay for war and you have to pay to stay out of war. Propaganda in regard to boycott of Japanese goods carries a boomerang. The Japanese are particularly quick to react to boycott as was shown in their trade wars with Canada and Australia. We expect too, much more than we import from Japan.

Japan is afraid of the United States, especially of our air force, and while the waving of the big stick has been effective in producing apologies the abjectness of which only an Oriental can understand, we must remember there is a very distinct line below which Japan will not sink and thus lose "face" throughout Asia, that her army is out of control; that her planes are manned by the young element of the army in which there is considerable Fascism, and that the unique situation exists in Japanese aviation that once a plane takes off the army officers no longer have control over the aviator and it seems to be every man for himself. It is not the Japanese government we have to contend with but a berserk army, an army which believes it is a privilege to die for the Emperor.

CHRISTMAS TREE AT THE PUBLIC HEALTH ROOMS

The second annual Christmas tree party for small children who attend the public health clinic was held on Dec. 21 from 2 until 4 o'clock at the Public Health rooms.

About 175 children enjoyed seeing Santa Claus in the person of Mr. Frank E. Crawford, who in his genial way distributed a toy, an orange and a stocking of candy to each child.

The committee in charge of arrangements is indebted to the following for their generous support: Brownie Packs, Scout Troops, manager of branch store in Woburn, Winchester District Nursing Association, Winchester Hospital Alumnae, Mrs. Edwin Rooney, Mr. Frank E. Crawford, Mr. "Jim" Chisholm and the Winton Hardware Co., Mrs. Charles A. Burnham, Mr. Maurice Dinneen and many unknown friends who contributed money which was so kindly solicited by Mrs. Harold V. Farnsworth.

Thanks are also due Elizabeth Nichols, Betty Winship, Bunny Collins, Helen Butler, Shirley Wood, Barbara Goodwin, Mrs. Gormley, Miss Ross, Mrs. O'Connor, Miss Hilda Hope and Miss Constance Lane who assisted during the afternoon.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Troop 1

A Christmas party was held at the Scout Headquarters on Friday evening, Dec. 17. In the absence of Scoutmaster Curtis due to illness, Assistant Scoutmaster John Nowell took charge of the games and competitions. Each Scout and member of the Troop Committee brought a gift. Numbers were drawn from a hat and in the order of the numbers drawn the gifts were chosen from the pile. Some were wrapped in boxes and paper enough to keep the fire blazing half an hour.

The Scouts present were Leo and James Tracy, Iquatius Asaro, "Joe" Ciarcia, Nick Zamanakos, John Campbell, William Rogers, Norman Ruby, Richard Sheehy, Joe O'Leary, John Kenton, Nick Molea, Frank Migliaccio and Dante DeTeso. The committee representatives were Kenneth Hall, Frank Lane, Stafford Rogers, Ben Schneider and John Terry.

Ice cream and pop corn topped off the evening.

Cub Pack 3

A "wow" of a pack meeting was held on Tuesday, Dec. 20 with all four dens almost 100 per cent in attendance. Thirty Cubs, four Den chiefs, besides the Cubmaster John D. Stevens, Assistant Cubmaster Carter, Committee member Maling and Cub Commissioner R. H. B. Smith. A new member was voted into the Pack and Richard Wills received his badge promoting him from Wolf to Bear rating.

The Cubs of Pack 3 have been earning oranges for the past three weeks by doing odd jobs and voluntarily helping around their homes. As a consequence 287 oranges were gathered for the Pack meeting by the Cubs, the highest number for one boy being 42. The oranges were turned over to the Welfare Board for distribution among the needy.

At the next Pack meeting on Jan. 18, Pack 3 will display their handicraft achievements.

DECEMBER NEWS

The Lincoln School held its annual Christmas celebration in the assembly hall, Thursday afternoon. The play "Why The Chimes Rang," which was so effective and touching last year, was again presented, the new players taking part with equally fine results.

"Why The Chimes Rang," is a play well known in schools and colleges. It is a beautiful and inspiring story of the spirit of youthful faith and childhood open-heartedness. As presented by young children it has that strength of simplicity which is sufficient to move the emotions of any adult audience.

The many parents and friends who were afternoon guests of pupils and teachers were visibly appreciative of the message of the play, and generous in their praise of the efforts of the children and teachers of the Lincoln School.

Among those taking part were:

Holza	Paul Brareau
Steen, brother to Holza	Charles Campbell
Bertel, their uncle	Alan Ronzio
Angel	Catherine Dattilo
King	Frank Saraceo
Old Man	Salvatore DeTeso
Priest	Angelo Amico
Rich Man	Dominic Talone
Rich Woman	Josephine Agri
Courtier	Frank
Small Girl	Margaret La Bombard

The chorus and carol singers were members from each grade.

Teachers and pupils were pleased with and deeply grateful for the new radio which was installed in the assembly hall two weeks ago. The lower grades had an opportunity to hear Christmas carols, and the 4th, 5th and 6th grades received valuable musical instruction from the Walter Damrosch hour, one of a series of Friday afternoon broadcasts.

"ARMS AND THE MAN" BY SHAW

Annual Junior-Senior Class Play

On Saturday evening, Jan. 8, just two weeks away, the Winchester High School Dramatic Association will present George Bernard Shaw's delightful satirical comedy, "Arms and the Man," at the high school auditorium.

As far back as the oldest graduate of Winchester High School can remember, the Junior-Senior Class play has been the dramatic plum of the school year; and those who enjoy Mr. Shaw's trenchout humor and his blunt analyses of humor nature will appreciate the fact that this year's dramatic group is offering something several notches above the productions of recent years.

There need be no doubt in the minds of adult theater goers as to the ability of the high school cast to give an intelligent and entertaining performance of "Arms and the Man." Not only has the cast been carefully chosen but its direction has been placed in the capable hands of Mr. Thomas Maynard of the high school faculty.

Mr. Maynard has already won an enviable reputation with Winchester audiences by his excellent work in "As Husbands Go," given last season in the "Little Theatre Beneath a Spire." He has enjoyed several years practical experience in coaching and producing amateur theatricals. At Tilton Academy his dramatic students won distinction and at Stephens High School, Rumford, Me., his well coached troupe won the State High School play tournament with its performance of "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals" by James Barrie. This same cast and play took third place in the New England Tournament held at Arlington. Mr. Maynard has had a world of experience with other phases of the theatre than coaching, having been associated for a time with the Lakewood Summer Theatre at Lakewood, Me.

It is then, with confidence that the play committee predicts a finished production by the following carefully chosen cast:

Raina	Helen Rassat
Katherine	Eleanor Greene
Louka	Joanne Worthen
The Man	Peter Sibley
A Russian Officer	John Welburn
Nicola	Jack Finger
Major Petkoff	John Kishler
Sergius	Herbert Rutledge

The story of the play is identified in many minds with the light opera theme of the "Chocolate Soldier." The incidents are dramatic and swift. They take place during and after a Balkan War.

Further details of the preparations for production of "Arms and the Man" will appear in next week's Star.

A lady who does not come from Washington entered a center store yesterday and informed the clerk that she "wanted a Christmas present for a man which did not cost very much and she did not know him very well." Wonder who it could be?

Whatever the opinion in the past, Winchester is now provided with a movie house. Mr. Loew has given the town a theatre, which in appointment and fittings is second to none. The project has been properly launched in a setting which satisfies all and bars all criticism. The management and personnel is of the highest type. Winchester is to be provided with entertainment in a plant which meets universal approval. The Star, with the town at large, congratulates Mr. Loew and appreciatively recognizes the completion of his first step in providing Winchester with high grade, first class movie house.

AS TO THIS AND THAT

It may be regarded as doubtful whether any man changes his ideas of life and conduct much after he is 40 years old. At this season we may remember Dicken's Scrooge and think him typical but he is not. With rare exceptions one's philosophy is established by the time that one is 40, perhaps earlier.

We have in Franklin D. Roosevelt a man who may appear an example of such a change. He lived to be 45 or thereabouts as an aimiable and moderately successful politician. As a very young man he had shown some independence but later he simply followed along after his party leaders. A fairly effective speaker, he voiced adherence to his party's creed and favored state rights, economy in administration, reduction of federal control, fewer governmental commissions and so forth. So far as one can see from an examination of his activities and speeches, he had no deep concern for uplifting anything except the Democratic party.

He became a candidate for President and in his public utterances he inveighed against the extravagance under the administration of President Hoover, against the multiplicity of commissions, against the possibility of our going off the gold standard, against the failure to balance the budget. After his election he refused to say or do anything to reassure banks and the wholesale closure immediately after his inauguration came as the inevitable result. In April he authorized the issue of gold bonds to repudiate them in June, and then to initiate a steady expenditure and a line of humanitarian "objectives" every sound one of which had been initiated long before by Hoover and other presidents and everyone of which was pushed through a rubber stamp Congress, meant for the larger part simply spending money and building a machine contrary to the spirit of the civil service. Whether in this conversion to ideas of the "under dog" philosophy of life he was sincere or not is a problem. If he was and is, he is an exception to the rule that men's ideals of life are established at 40, or before.

Of late various newspapers have carried the information that the baking powder (we are told that it is good but we have not been paid for advertising it) is highly approved by Mr. Roosevelt's mother.

Casual review of the activities of the clan indicates that nearly all except "Sistie" and "Buzzie" have now taken advantage of the position of its present head to add to theid individual bank accounts or to help their contributions to charity.

It may be that this is as commendable as it is legal, but to old fashioned folks who have definitely established ideas as to what ought and ought not to be done by men and women elected to high office and their immediate relatives whom they should be able to control it is, to say the very least, astounding. If it had not happened, it would be called incredible.

Perhaps to the ordinary voter who may think only in terms of what he imagines that the government is doing for him it may appear immaterial that a President should himself autograph pages to be included in a volume to be sold at an exorbitant price to those who deem it expedient to purchase, and rather clever than otherwise that his family should capitalize his temporary prominence but it is in fact an example of an extraordinary lack of understanding of fitness and propriety.

It may be said that other Presidents have been paid for writing after their terms ended and that whatever one does for charity is all right. Perhaps but there is a difference between a man in office and out of office and after all it is doubtful whether "the end justifies the means." It is important that charities be supported and they always have been and will be by people who contributed above the maximum allowed and paid in their income taxes for the privilege without advertising the facts and without evading the law.

THE FEAR OF LIVING

Our leader in Washington has at last recognized one of the fundamental causes of the depression. He takes note of the fear of living. True, it is laid to outside causes originated and fostered by newspapers and minority business men, which is true to New Deal tenets as applied to any and all who oppose its doctrines but nevertheless the condition has at last been recognized. This fear, according to press dispatches, is due to a small minority of business men and a large percentage of newspapers. On the other hand, how is it that our leader now recognizes this fear? Surely after the period of years in which his experiments have been conducted the situation must have been as apparent to him as to the newspapers and business men! Apparently the feature simply could not be recognized—along with a host of other features tried, broken and stowed away in the attic. The newspapers may now be properly classified as further relics of the horse and buggy days. That they have hitherto been considered as representing the highest type of loyalty and true American sentiment throughout the country, is all wrong. As to the business men, we read that two successful business men with whom our leader talked lately, declared they had expressed themselves in favor of New Deal principles, but were afraid to espouse them in public because of fear that their business associates would not approve! This is the first time we have ever known our leader to give recognition to a minority such as we picture it. So little business and big business are both scared! One of the fear of living and the other for fear of those who have the fear of living. As clear and sensible as most New Deal thoughts. Newspapers and business, the two foundations of the country—both fearful! Evidently a last and final effort is being made to pass the buck. We quote: "the beginning of a tightly organized and militant Senate liberal battalion to fight any definite right wing movement of any non-partisan conservative coalition . . . was seen in a secret conference between the President and eight left-leaning Senators at the White House last night." Hullo Japan; "must" is still going strong.

LIKES THE MOVIES

To the Editor of the Star:

I desire to thank most heartily through the columns of the Star, Mr. Loew for the invitation that was extended to your humble servant to attend tht opening performance that was held at the new theatre last Monday night. I assure you Mr. Editor, it certainly was refreshing to associate with doctors, lawyers, educators, business men and laborers. I believe the master of ceremonies is entitled to a vote of thanks for the masterful manner thet was manifested by him last Monday night.

Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell

PENANG: WATCHDOG ON THE ROAD TO SINGAPORE

Great Britain plans added protection for the Straits Settlements, her important Crown Colony in the Far East. Fortifications are to be constructed, according to news reports, on Penang Island, off the west coast of the Malay Peninsula.

Situated near the northern entrance to the Strait of Malacca, these fortifications will further guard the European approach to Singapore, more than 400 miles distant at the southern end of the strait, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Singapore, one of the world's great ports, on an island off the tip of the Malay Peninsula, is the capital of the Straits Settlements.

Railroad Station but No Trains

To European vessels steaming to Singapore via the Suez Canal, Penang is the first land "raised" after leaving Ceylon. After crossing more than 1500 miles of open ocean, mariners welcome Penang's palm-lined white beaches and wooded hills studded with houses. Clusters of red and yellow dots pepper a green flat running out into the cobalt blue channel separating the island from the peninsula.

The colored dots swim nearer and are identified as the roofs and houses of George Town, Penang's capital.

George Town is an important supply station for vessels, many stopping there to take on coal and water before passing southeastward through the Straits of Malacca and of Singapore to that port, or on to China and Japan. Off the town's seafront anchor steamers of many nationalities, especially British, Dutch, and Japanese. Among them move clumsy Chinese junks, catamarans, two-masted baggalas, and other strange craft. Cargoes of tin are loaded, as well as rubber, rice, and other products of the East.

George Town is an interesting mixture of old and new. It has modern conveniences, including a flying field, and luxurious residences, many owned by wealthy Chinese. On the streets, automobiles pass jinrikishas, and humped cattle pulling two-wheeled carts heaped with rubber or bags of rice. There is a railroad station but no trains. One may buy a ticket there but to use it one must take a ferry across the channel to Prai on the Malay peninsula, where the railroad runs.

Dutch Influence Felt in Malacca

The British colony of the Straits Settlements is composed of crumbs left over from the British protectorates of the Federated and Unfederated Malay States. The colony includes, not only the islands of Singapore, Penang, and several smaller ones, but also the territories of Province Wellesley, Malacca, and the Dindings, on the peninsula.

Singapore is the most important part of the Straits Settlements. Second in importance is Penang, occupying its strategic position. Penang, officially Prince of Wales Island, has an area of 108 square miles. The Sultan of Kedah ceded it to the British in 1786. A penal colony founded there by Captain Francis Light was the first British settlement on the Malay Peninsula. It proved a thorn in the flesh of the Dutch trying to extend their influence over this area.

About 1800 the British obtained from the Sultan nearly 300 more square miles of his property: Province Wellesley, a long, narrow strip on the peninsula, separated from Penang only by a channel, two to ten miles wide. Across this channel swarmed pirates to harass Penang's trade. Province Wellesley was acquired to subdue them. Later the region was found to be a valuable source of rubber and rice. Its tin-smelting works, founded in 1903, handle much of the tin from adjacent sections of the peninsula.

On the west coast of the peninsula, between Province Wellesley on the north, and Singapore on the south, lie the Dindings and Malacca. The Dindings, a sparsely inhabited area of 200 square miles was gained from Perak by the British in 1826 as added protection against pirates.

The Dutch ceded the settlement Malacca to the British in 1824. The town of that name, in the Settlement, bears many mementos of former Dutch occupation. Its 16th century Stadhuis (city hall), Dutch church, and Jonker and Heeren Streets are all tangible reminders of its pre-British settlers.

Origin of Word "Bunk"

The member for the Buncombe district in the congressional discussion of the Missouri Compromise (1820) persisted in long speeches despite the boredom and impatience of his fellow members. The incident is reputed to be the origin of the name as well as the words bunkum and bunk.

THE HUMBOLDT CURRENT: ITS FOIBLES MAY HELP CREATE WEALTH OR CAUSE DISASTER

The Humbolt Current, one of the great "ocean rivers" of the world, has gone astray again, bringing disaster to vast numbers of fish and sea birds and the likelihood of unaccustomed rain to the deserts along the Peruvian Coast.

Flowing northward along the west coast of South America, from southern Chile to the middle of the continent's western "bulge," in Ecuador, the Humbolt Current causes a strange climatic paradox and also has made possible one of the richest deposits of natural fertilizer in the world on the Peruvian shore, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"River" of Cold Water in the Ocean

The Humbolt Current is a "river" of cold water flowing through the surrounding ocean. It originates as a branch of the Antarctic Drift, which is another ocean current flowing eastward across the southern Pacific. Branching north, the Humbolt Current carries a stream of cold Antarctic water along the South American coast for 2,000 miles or more.

A further chill is added to the current by cold deep-sea water which wells up from below the surface. The "set" of the current is westward, away from the coast. This pushes the warm surface waters away from the land, permitting the cold water below to rise.

The current, a mass of cold water, about 150 miles wide, and the cool, moist, south and southwesterly winds which flow northward with it, cause the strange phenomena of cool weather in the tropics along the Peruvian shore, and a rainless desert right next to the sea. But the cool winds that keep the rain from the desert are far from being entirely ill winds. By withholding rain, they have made possible the accumulation of one of the world's richest supplies of bird deposits or guano, (manure) extremely valuable as fertilizer. In a rainy season the guano would have washed away as fast as it was deposited. On the rainless islands and peninsulas along the Peruvian coast, however, the deposits have increased steadily over long periods of time.

Two Currents Meet Off Ecuador

Just at the apex of South America's western bulge, the Humbolt Current meets another current flowing southward from the Equator, sometimes known as El Nino, "The Baby," and six to eight degrees warmer than the Humbolt. Usually the two meet just off Ecuador and flow westward toward the Galapagos Islands.

But sometimes the currents go astray from their regular routes. Then the Humbolt temporarily moves farther westward, and "El Nino" increases in strength and flows much farther south than usual. The invasion of warm water kills off vast numbers of fish which are accustomed to the cooler Humbolt waters, and the birds that feed upon them either die of starvation or are poisoned by eating fish that are partially decomposed.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope" (Romans 15:4).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The footsteps of thought, rising above material standpoints, are slow, and portend a long night to the traveller; but the angels of His presence—the spiritual intuitions that tell us when 'the night is far spent, the day is at hand'—are our guardians in the gloom" (p. 174.).

ROUEN, OLD NORMAN CAPITAL ON SEINE, MODERN PORT WITH MEDIEVAL MEMORIES

Rouen, on the Seine, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society, has seen history-in-the-making for so many centuries that outlines of its early career are faded and smudged on the map of time. Nearly two thousand years ago, Roman conquerors found it already a settlement —"Ratuma." They twisted its Celtic name into the Roman "Rotomagus"; later, in medieval Latin, it became "Rodomum," and, finally "Rouen."

The Hand of the Past Still Clutches Parts of the City.

Though antiquarians complain that Rouen is going ultra-modern, that "monstrous music hall ads," electric lights and fashionable shopping districts are diluting its mellow atmosphere, echoes of the Rouen that was still persist in narrow, winding streets of the older sections of town. True, its ancient moats have been dried up into boulevards, its drawbridges razed, but overhanging eaves of tottering old houses, gabled roofs with dormer windows, and wood-carved decorations from an earlier day survive to bring nostalgic pains, to students or history, for the medieval and Renaissance city.

High above a modern skyline of residential homes, warehouses and office buildings, the lantern spire of Rouen's famous Cathedral jostles the clouds—a 13th century foundation-promise fulfilled 400 years ago. At the end of many a dark, alleylike street looms the shadowy mass of a delicately-designed Gothic church.

Keeping memory green of the time when Rouen became a seat of Episcopal power as far back as the third century, churches, towers and streets still carry names of Rouen's first archbishops—Saint Mellon, Avitian, Vistrix, Ouen, Romain.

A plain stone slab, sunk in the pavement of the Old Market Square covers the historic spot where Joan of Arc—imprisoned, tried and convicted of witchcraft in 1431—was chained to the stake and burned. From the Bridge of Rouen her ashes were tossed into the Seine.

"Blood" and "Business" Key Words in Rouen History

Sandwiched between the massacres, invasions, religious wars, fires and plagues that kept life from getting monotonous for early Rouenians, the town's infrequent calms were marked by conspicious prosperity.

It was its wealth, the commercial dividends resulting from a happy location between Le Havre and Paris on the looping Seine, that tempted the Viking pirates of the 9th and 10th centuries. Around the statue of one of them, Sollo the Norman, children now play in a little park near St. Ouen Church. Rollo sailed up the Seine with his men, burning and sacking. In 914 he took Rouen, making it his Norman capital. Beneath his statue, an imperious figure with hand outflung in a gesture of ownership, an inscription reads: "The Land Over Which I Rule—I Keep."

Hawthorn Tree Hard, Tough

The hawthorn tree, 10 to 30 feet high, has little commercial value, although the wood, which is hard and tough, is sometimes used for making wooden articles such as mallets and tool handles.

How Lightning Affects Trees

Although lightning frequently strikes trees, there is usually no damage to the trees or else the injury is limited to the path of the electrical discharge, occasionally stripping off a narrow piece of bark or splitting the trunk or limb. However, in rare cases the lightning may be accompanied by St. Elmo's fire which gives a flaming or brush discharge from every twig and leaf. In such cases the tree usually dies within a few days or, if the St. Elmo's fire should miss part of the tree, it may kill the greater part and several years may elapse before the remainder of the tree succumbs.

The Christmas holidays bring a new lot of exhibitions to our favorite Art Galleries in Boston and perhaps, after the rush is over, some people may find leisure to enjoy them. As there is a great deal of work involved in arranging trips for so large a group, it is hoped that everyone will co-operate with the committee by returning promptly the post card. The first field trip will be in connection with the study of American Portraits, of which Mrs. Fred H. Abbott is chairman.

Winchester Theatre Premiere Openings

On Monday and Tuesday evenings capacity audiences attended the Winchester Theatre First Nights. Among the large audience were persons from all groups in Winchester, a great number of representative people of the film industry and friends of Mr. Loew's. All expressed their pleasure in the new theatre building. As the people came into the foyer, on Monday evening, moving pictures were taken, rushed to Boston and shown on the screen later in the evening.

Mr. William Lewis Parsons was master of ceremonies during a short program Monday evening which preceded the pictures. His introductory remarks were as follows:

I know you want me in your behalf to thank our host. Mr. Loew, who is modestly concealed somewhere in the audience, for his invitation to be present tonight and for the opportunity to join in celebrating the opening of this theatre.

A very surprising situation developed when the time came to send out these invitations. There are about 13,000 inhabitants of Winchester and it became aparent that about 13,000 wanted to be present at this opening; but the capacity of the hall was limited. All the management could do was to send out the tickets so long as they lasted. The management regrets that it was not possible to invite more.

Who would have dreamed there were so many "movie" fans in Winchester? And what a remarkable spectacle this is—870 residents of Winchester gathered together in this motion picture theatre situated in a town once famous because it would never tolerate the movies within its geographical limits. (Of course, that was before the motion picture industry was called to repentance.) We cannot help recalling our heated controversies over the movie question, when mother was set against daughter and paster against flock. Then we had our last referendum; and when the votes were counted and ground broken for this building some of us who had opposed the movies were saying to ourselves, in the words of the inscription on the old tombstone—"I expected this but not so soon."

Now I think we must all agree with Professor Ogburn of Chicago University, who says "You can't buck social trends." And tonight the hatchets are all buried, the lion and the lamb are sitting side by side, and we unite in congratulations to Mr. Loew on the beauty and attractiveness of the theatre which he has built and a whole-hearted wish for the success of this enterprise. We commend Mr. Loew for his pledge to make the name "Winchester Theatre" stand for "the finest in entertainment" and his promise that Winchester" shall have the very best." This gives us reason to hope and expect that this theatre will enrich the social and cultural life of our community.

Introducing Mr. James J. Fitzgerald, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, Mr. Parsons said:

When we voted in April 1935 to instruct the Selectmen to grant a license for a motion picture theatre we gave them a heavy burden of responsibility. They accepted it conscientiously. They were mindful of Winchester's traditions and standards. The license must be granted to the right man, and for the construction of a theatre in the right place. This involved careful investigation and inquiry, and the exercise of discriminating judgment. It would have been easy to make a mistake—a mistake that would be well-nigh irreparable. They deserve commendation for making haste slowly. They deserve commendation for the honest discharge of a difficult duty. It is quite appropriate that we should hear from the chairman of the present Board, Mr. James I. Fitzgerald, Jr.

Mr. Fitzgerald said:

Representing the Board of Selectmen, and on behalf of the citizens of Winchester, I congratulate you, Mr. Loew, for this splendid "Winchester Theatre."

This achievement has more than justified the confidence that the Town has placed in you, and you have fulfilled an expressed desire of the voters of Winchester. You have exceeded their expectations and have played an important part in the progress of our town.

We, the citizens, know that you have caught the spirit of our community. We are looking forward to good wholesome entertainment from you. We appreciate the faith and co-operation you have given us, and in return, we pledge you our whole-hearted support.

We are proud to welcome you to Winchester.

Mr. Parson's introduction of Mr. Charles R. Greco, was greatly enjoyed. Mr. Greco stood at his seat and acknowledged an enthusiastic reception. Mr. Parsons words were:

Before we ever saw this building, with its pleasing architecture and design, of course it all existed in blue prints and specifications. It was the subject of much study and thought. There come to mind the lines of Berton Braley's beautiful poem—

"Back of the beating hammer
By which the steel is wrought,
Back of the workshop's clamor
The seeker may find the Thought,
The thought that is ever master
Of iron and steam and steel,
That rises above disaster
And tramples it under heel.

"Might of the roaring boiler,
Force of the engine's thrust,
Strength of the sweating toiler,
Greatly in these we trust.
But back of them stands the Schemer,
The Thinker who drives things through;
Back of the job—the Dreamer
Who's making the dream come true."

Tonight we are not mindful of the architect who was back of the bricks and mortar, back of the fresco and paint—our neighbor, Mr. Charles R. Greco.

Presenting the theatre management Mr. Parsons said:

The management and staff of the theatre are printed on the program. We are glad to see familiar names. We are pleased that Mrs. Lucius Smith, long active in civic affairs in Winchester, will have charge of the publicity. She is admirably adapted to that delicate task.

Of course, we all want to meet the resident manager. A native of New York, he has been connected with the motion picture industry for 20 years. He comes to us from Loew's "New Embassy" Theatre in Rochester, N. Y., which he managed for five years. He said to me last night—"I will not toierate an unclean picture in this theatre." He appears to be the right man for the job. I am pleased to introduce Mr. George Roland Carter.

Telegrams and messages were read which came from officials of numerous motion picture production companies and from many stars of the films; the wire from Bette Davis received the most hearty applause. Miss Davis recalled her years when she, too, was a Winchester resident. Also "love from Shirley Temple" was a pleasure to hear.

Mrs. Helen Barr, soloist and former Winchester resident delighted the audience with two songs accompanied by Mr. Del Castello, the well known organist.

The regular program which was shown both evenings was "Think Fast Mr. Moto" featuring Peter Lorre, Virginia Field and Sig Rumann and Walter Wanger's "Vogues of 1938," Warner Baxter, Joan Bennett, Helen Vinson, Mischa Auer and Alan Mowbray. The later was in technicolor.

A short film "Welcome to the Winchester Theatre" told the theatre's policy and its desire to serve the community. A message from Mr. Elias M. Loew was as follows:

With genuine pride and sincere faith in the progress of Winchester, this theatre is now dedicated to the service of your community.

We are deeply grateful to the Board of Selectmen for the confidence they have placed in us to operate this theatre.

Fully aware of the responsibilities we have assumed, my associates and I have pledged ourselves to make the name of "Winchester Theatre" stand for the finest in entertainment. Our connections with the leading film companies will serve to bring you screen attractions of the highest merit. Winchester deserves and shall have the very best.

Your suggestions will always be welcome. Your patronage will be appreciated.

PERU AND ECUADOR CONSIDER DISPUTED BOUNDARIES

The decision of the representatives of Ecuador and Peru, who now are attempting to iron out the dispute between the two nations, may cast into the realm of the obsolete all modern maps of the northwest shoulder of South America.

The area claimed by both countries, while not entirely surveyed, is as large at least, as the State of New York, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Population and Area Unknown

There is no question about Ecuador's ownership of the land from the Pacific coast to and including the heights of the Andes Mountains. The dispute concerns the so-called Oriente, the vast, roadless, cityless tangle of lush forests, inhabited largely by savages, spreading from the Andes eastward toward the interior of the continent. Even if Ecuador succeeds in holding the land it claims on present maps, that country still will be nearly surrounded on its land sides by Peru, whose sicklelike fringe of land cuts the country off from Brazil and a portion of Colombia.

The number of inhabitants in the disputed Oriente is as much a problem as the number of square miles in area. A guess of approximately 80,000 is as good as any, for a census taker is a tell stranger in this region. Most of the inhabitants are pure-blooded Indians. There is only a mere handful of white traders, interested in the natural resources. Native settlements scattered over the area, are hidden in small clearings in the thick forest. Macas, on the Upano River, with 500 inhabitants, is the largest settlement in the Oriente. Some of the permanent dwellings of the town are in sharp contrast with the thatch-roof huts of the natives.

No Furniture in Native Homes

The native home is devoid of furniture. When a native sits, he squats on the dirt floor, hardpacked by the constant tread of calloused feet. Beds are wooden platforms built to the side of the hut about 18 inches above the ground. At the foot of each bed, the "lady of the hut" tends a smouldering fire during the night to keep the sleepers' protruding feet warm. In the center of many huts a large pot is constantly brewing an intoxicating beverage when the fire is not being used for the preparation of regular meals.

While explorers have moved over much of the Oriente, a large area is practically unknown to white men, and many tribesmen have never been contacted by outsiders. Those explorers who have gone into the forest and returned to tell their tales have revealed that, if unmolested, the natives although not over-friendly, are not particularly dangerous to encounter.

The native population includes the Jivoros, famed for their "art" in shrinking human heads to the size of an orange. Usually the heads, which are prized possessions of the tribesmen, are those of tribal enemies. When a member of a Jivoro family kills a member of another, it is the duty of a member of the family of the slain tribesman to uphold his family's good reputation by killing a member of the slayer's family. The head of a slain tribesman is shrunk with the hair intact. Contrary to belief of some persons the skull is not shrunk. It is removed before the shrinking process takes place.

Blow guns and poisoned spears are the chief weapons of the Oriente tribesmen and the making of these is a ritual. While whittling a spear out of seasoned wood, the native is extremely moody and refuses to associate even with members of his own family. He believes that as he silently works, he imparts his spirit to the spear so that he will be more successful in his hunting expeditions.

Except for rubber there it little of economic value that has come out of the Oriente. In fact, little is known of the region's natural resources except the trees in the forests because the Andes Range is a lofty barrier on the west to economic development. On the east are the vast forests of Brazil and Peru that thwart profitable exploitation from that direction.

SONS OF ITALY CHRISTMAS PARTY

Winchester Lodge, Order of Sons of Italy in America, entertained a large group of happy youngsters last Sunday afternoon at a Christmas party held in Lyceum Hall.

The hall was attractively decorated and a huge Christmas tree, laden with gifts, was placed near the stage. Santa Claus made an impressive entrance, climbing down a ladder from the balcony while a spotlight played upon him and the remainder of the hall was in darkness.

Old Santa received an enthusiastic welcome and taking the seat of honor beside the tree dispensed candy and other gifts to the delighted children. Ice cream and cake were enjoyed by the children and grown-ups who were present.

Among the invited guests were Michael Freda of Arlington, Grand Venerable of Sons of Italy Lodges in Massachusetts, and Mrs. Freda; Commander Stafford Rogers of Winchester Post, American Legion, Dr. Runzio and Dr. A. L. Maietta, the latter always interested in the activities of the Italian residents of the town.

Brief addresses were made by the guests and a most enjoyable musical program was put on under the direction of Prof. Frank Barrone, featuring specialty numbers by Jean Maccianti and Louis Stalla, Piano selections by Elizabeth Zaffina, tap dance by Lucille Mantini with Mary Tucci at the piano, songs by Robert and Richard Horn and tenor solos by Patsy Del Rossi.

The committee in charge of arrangements was headed by Gabriel J. Vespucci and included Dr. William Barrone, master of ceremonies; and Paul Marchesi, Frank Dattilo, Louis Fiore, Venerable Frank P. Zaffina and Assistant Venerable James De Lucca.

One of the pamphlets issued by W. C. T. U. headquarters in Evanston, Ill., is surprising and significant. It has the following message:

Alcohol Education in the Church Purpose and Aim

The church occupies a strategic place in the troubled day in which we live. Civilization will rise or fall as Christians uphold the teachings of Jesus Christ or surrender to the evil practices of the day. "The Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost." The drunkard is lost spiritually, morally, mentally and physically. The business of the church is to save life, not destroy it. Because we live in a mechanical age, every drinker is a potential murderer. The Bible condemns the man who is a stumbling block to his brother. What of those who are today engaged in the liquor business?

If every member of the church had cast his or her vote, the 18th Amendment would not have been repealed. If members of the church had known the facts concerning alcohol, they would have voted. To-day, if every member of the church will do his or her part, the liquor traffic will be driven from our land.

Our purpose: To abolish the liquor traffic by deepening the spiritual life of the nation.

Our aim: To reach the members of every church and sunday school with a program of religious education which includes knowledge of the nature and effects of alcohol.

HIGH SCHOOL TRIPPED ALUMNI

Winchester High School opened its current basketball schedule Saturday evening with a hair-line 30—29 victory over an alumni club that just missed taking the ball game, 31—30 at the closing whistle.

The referee's decision decided the issue for "Frankie" Provinzano sank a basket from mid-court exactly as the game ended. Referee Bartlett ruled that the ball was not in the air when the whistle blew and as a consequence the goal did not count. Opinion in the stands was divided on the basket and the alumni naturally were very certain that "Frankie" had gotten rid of the ball before the final whistle. The decision was one of judgement, not rules, and Referee Bartlett's judgement was the payoff the schoolboys winning by a single point. The alumni seconds took the preliminary game easily 36—25.

The varsity battle was a thriller and the alumni proved anything but a soft touch, the score at the half being 10—10. Captain Hakanson and Grosvenor with eight and six points respectively, led the schoolboy attack, with Gray Twombley, a surprisingly improved player, "Art" Johnson and Ficociello also showing to advantage. For the graduates Provinzano equaled Grosvenor and Hakanson in the matter of floor baskets and tied with Eshbach and Joe McKee for alumni scoring honors. No player on either team approached the defensive class of "Dox" Mobbs, alumni leader.

After the half the high school had a bit better of the going and enjoyed a six point lead with but a few minutes left to play. The graduates, however, staged a nice come-back in the stretch to the wire, and just missed winning as things turned out.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SCHOOL NOTES

The Junior Red Cross meeting for the month of November was held in the assembly hall on Wednesday morning, November 24. The meeting was conducted by the president, Evamarie Stevens. Reports were given by the secretary, treasurer and room representatives. Colorful favors were made and sent to the patients in the Winchester Hospital for Thanksgiving.

Last month the Juniors were busy bringing in supplies for the Thanksgiving baskets. A large and varied assortment was contributed by children in all grades.

An original play entitled "The first Thanksgiving was presented by the pupils of Miss Anderson's sixth grade. The program was opened by saluting the flag and singing four verses of "America."

The assembly was as follows:

Scene I. Grandfather talks to his grandchildren.

Scene II. Governor Bradford talks to his neighbors.

Scene III. Several weeks later at the Bradford's on Thanksgiving Day.

Thanksgiving poems and stories were recited by members of the class. To conclude the program a song, "A Prayer for Thanksgiving" was sung by the pupils of Miss Hatch's and Miss Anderson's sixth grades.

As an outgrowth of the study of community life, the boys and girls of grade two were given an opportunity to visit and become acquainted with the people who help to make our community a better place in which to live. Some of these interesting people were: firemen, policemen, postmen and librarians.

The assembly program presented by the children of the second grade was based on the visits they had made. A moving picture with stories to accompany it, was given before grades 1 to 6.

On Wednesday, Dec. 15, the teachers of the George Washington-Highland Schools were entertained at a delightful luncheon conducted by members of the Mothers' Club. Tall glowing Christmas candles graced the center of each table, presenting a holiday atmosphere. The hostesses were Mrs. J. Stewart Chaffee, Mrs. Paul E. Nason, Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes and Mrs. Harold T. Partridge.

THIS WEEK'S GARDENING

By Alfred A. Fraser

Naphthalene flakes in boxes of drying gladioli bulbs will check ravages of thrip.

Clean and store all garden furniture—oil tool surfaces..

There are many mosses, lichens ferns and the like in the woods that make beautiful terrariums. Gather now.

In severe snowy weather rabbits frequently nibble the bark of young fruit trees. Collars of tarred paper two feet high will protect such trees. Or else fine meshed galvanized wire.

Wipe off the leaves of house plants.

Support newly planted trees by guy wires. Use a split rubber hose to prevent bark damage.

Poinsettias indoors are beginning to turn red now. Keep the plants warm and out of drafts.

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed 10 per cent.

MR. SMITH, JR. IS LOOKING FOR A HOME

Wanted—a new master! That's the plea of Mr. Smith, Jr.—a lovable, wire-haired fox terrier soon to be given away by the University Theatre. This pedigreed puppy is a reported kin of the famous canine movie actor, Mr. Smith—featured in the comedy hit, "The Awful Truth," coming to the University New Year's Eve for the midnight show.

To win the likable little fellow, one needs only to obtain a registration blank while attending any performance at the University Theatre between Christmas Day and Wednesday evening, Jan. 5—the night Mr. Smith, Jr. selects his new home.

It is not a contest. All University patrons have an equal chance of winning the puppy. Further details may be obtained in the lobby of the theatre where Mr. Smith, Jr. is now holding daily receptions.

G. F. EMPLOYEES WILL DRAW PAY IF SICK OR HURT

Food Company Also Announces New Co-operative Group Life Insurance Plan

Adoption of a non-occupational accident and sickness disability benefit plan for all employees, and a new group life insurance plan, is announced by Joseph H. Cohen, vice president and general manager, Atlantic Gelatin Company, Inc., Woburn.

All costs of non-occupational accident and sickness benefits are borne by the company, while both company and participating employees contribute to the cost of the life insurance.

Under the sickness and accident plan, all regular employees are entitled to two weeks of benefits during each year of continuous service. Any unused portions of such yearly benefit credits accumulate from year to year up to a maximum of 26 weeks, provided service is continuous. "A provision of particular interest," said Mr. Cohen, "is that credits are being allowed for service rendered prior to installation of the plan. These benefit credits are retroactive, in other words. Our employees right now have accident and sickness benefit credits in their favor ranging up to the maximum of 26 weeks, depending upon length of service and previous non-occupational disability absence."

One week's benefit payments in the case of a salaried employee is his regular weekly salary at the time disability begins. In the case of an hourly -rated employee, one week's benefit is equivalent to two-thirds of his average weekly pay. Benefits are payable beginning with the first day of disability to salaried employees and with the eighth calendar day of disability to hourly-paid employees.

Participation in the new group life insurance plan is entirely optional, the company explains. All employees are eligible to participate after six months continuous service. Insurance coverage approximates an employee's annual pay. Under this new co-operative plan employees contribute 60 cents a month for each $1,000 of insurance, the corporation assuming the balance of the cost over and above employee contributions.

The non-occupational accident and sickness plan is now in operation, and the life insurance plan becomes effective January 1, 1938.

WOBURN STRAND THEATRE

In keeping with the policy to show only the best in motion pictures and to show them at an early date the Warner Bros. Strand Theatre in Woburn will show four complete changes in program starting Sunday when "Perfect Specimen" with Errol Flynn and Joan Blondell and also "Roll Along Cowboy" with Smith Ballew opens up a two day engagement. One day only Tuesday, Dec. 28 brings "Danger—Love at Work" with Ann Sothern and Jack Haley and also "Draegerman Courage" with Jean Muir and Barton MacLane. "Tenstrike" a new cash give away sensation will be held on every Tuesday night. Wednesday and Thursday, show Deanna Durbin in "100 Men and a Girl" plus Joe E. Brown in "Fit for a king." Friday and Saturday presents Ronald Colman and Madeleine Carroll in "Prisoner of Zenda" and also "Over the Goal" with Wm. Hopper and June Travis. A New Year's Eve midnight show will be celebrated on Friday evening at 11.45 p. m. Dec. 31 with Eddie Cantor in "Ali Baba Goes to Town" and also "Armored Car" with Robert Wilcox and Judith Barrett.

New, good looking personal stationery. Your name and address printed on quality papers, also monogram style, all with envelopes to match. New wanted styles to choose from. Attractively priced. T. P Wilson, the Winchester Star.

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE

"It's Love I'm After," with Bette Davis, Leslie Heward and Olivia De Havilland as the featured players will head the double bill opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden today. This trio of stars have been noted for their dramatic portrayals in the past but in "It's Love I'm After" they prove that their comedy talents are just as great. Leslie Howard and Bette Davis are cast as the country's leading matinee idol and his leading lady. They are in love but fight constantly as each tries to steal scenes from the other. Olivia De Havilland falls for Howard and chases him everywhere.

"Over the Goal," with June Travis, William Hopper, and the comedy team of Mabel Todd and Johnny Davis, is the second attraction on the bill starting today. This film is a football story with the University of Southern California's varsity squad providing the thrills.

"Victoria, The Great," a picture epic in its sweep, with Anna Neagle and Anton Wallbrook as the stars, will be shown at the Strand on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Anna Neagle is cast as Queen Victoria with Anton Wallbrook as Pince Albert.

"Girl With Ideas," starring Wendy Barrie, Walter Pidgeon and Kent Taylor is the second attraction on the bill starting Tuesday. This is an amusing tale of what happens when a group of society girls decide to clean up a town by becoming newspaper publishers.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Eddie Cantor's new picture, "Ali Baba Goes to Town," with Tony Martin, Rolaty Young, June Lang, Louise Hovick, John Carradine, Alan Dinehart and Douglass Dumbrille as the support, opens at the Granada Theatre today. Loaded with gags and girls, swings and things, "Ali Baba Goes to Town" is a surprising thousand and one delights. This spectacular musical hit has been enriched by a revolutionary new three -toned tinted process in which a combination of blue and orange is utilized for the night sequences, while sepia, amber and copper hue provide the three-toned effect for the daylight episodes.

"The Barrier," has a cast of favorites headed by Leo Carrillo, Jean Parker, James Ellison, Otto Kruger, Robert Barrat, Andy Clyde and Sara Haden. Jean Parker is cast as the daughter of Robert Barrat, a squaw man, who falls in love with a young army lieutenant, played by James Ellison. She is supposed to be a half-breed, and although Ellison is willing to marry her in spite of her mixed blood, she feels that he might regret his action in the future. For his own good she denies the love which means everything to her. Then a dying criminal confesses that the girl is not the daughter of Barret and his Indian wife, Sara Haden, but the child of Otto Kruger, a prospector. This news sends Jean Parker rushing back to the arms of the army officer.

READING THEATRE

"Greatest in screen history," is the verdict of the world's critics and the 3,000,000 persons enthralled by the overwhelming drama . . . the heart-warming romance of Frank Capra's mighty screen masterpiece, "Lost Horizon," opening Sunday at the Reading Theatre for three days.

By any standard of comparison . . "Lost Horizon," will be heralded the greatest motion picture ever made! Ronald Colman stars in the production with Jane Wyatt, Edward Everett Horton, Margo, H. B. Warner, Thomas Mitchell, Isabel Jewell, John Howard and Sam Jaffe in support. Robert Riskin adapted the screen play from James Hilton's memorable novel.

On the same program will be Joe E. Brown in "Fit For A King." The double feature bill for this week Friday and Saturday will be Barbara Stanwyck and Herbert Marshall in, "Breakfast for Two," and Don Terry with Rosalind Keith in "A Fight to a Finish." Next week Friday and Saturday Shirley Temple will be seen in "Heidi."

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Ann Page

Food supplies and prices are such as to help a lean budget stretch over a lot of Christmas and pre-holiday fare. Meats are lower, with beef down to last year's holiday level, and poultry is reasonable in price. Butter is high, but eggs, though higher, are still reasonable for the season.

Apples, oranges and nuts, suggestive of knobby stockings hung from the mantelpiece, are all plentiful and inexpensive. Cranberries are about half last year's prices.

Plentiful supplies of all old-fashioned and traditional vegetables are in market together with fresh green beans, lima beans, broccoli, mushrooms, spinach and a variety of salad greens.

A Christmas Eve supper, Christmas dinner and Sunday dinner follow:

Christmas Eve Supper

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Joan Crawford's latest starring vehicle, "The Bride Wore Red," comes to the University Theatre for a three day engagement opening Sunday. Franchot Tone and Robert Young are her leading men in the new picture. The story of a woman's struggle to find happiness in the lowly surroundings of her birth, it offers Joan her finest dramtic role. Deeply human in theme, "The Bride Wore Red" has the recklessness and color of the waterfront as a background.

John Boles, Jack Oakie, Ida Lupino, Margot Grahame, Erik Rhodes and Gordon Jones head the large cast of favorites who have a mirth field day in "Fight for Your Lady," the companion feature. The story, an amusing collection of implausible but highly delightful incidents, is laid in Europe, with the action starting in London and progressing rapidly to Budapest.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes "Little Lord Fauntleroy" starring Freddie Bartholomew and wight Walt Disney cartoons featuring Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Clara Cluck and Plute. This vacation wee program is recommended by the management as entertainment suitable for the entire family.

Eddie Cantor's new mirth musical, "Ali Baba Goes to Town," starts Thursday. "Ali Baba Goes to Town" is the most magnificent combination of colorful-extravaganza, sidesplitting comedy, song hits, beautiful girls, exotic dances, brilliant dialogue and lavish sets in the history of fun. A tremendous cast of entertainers, including John Carradine, Virginia Field Alan Dinehart and Douglas Dumbrille in addition to hundreds of lush harem beauties, about a million wild riding Arab horsemen and hundreds of dancing Oriental darlings, is featured.

"The Barrier" the associate picture, featuring Leo Carrillo and Jean Parker, was adapted from the popular Rex Beach story of the gold mad Yukon days.

$2.50 Gold Coins in 1796

The coinage of quarter-eagles, or $2.50 gold pieces, commenced at the Philadelphia mint in 1796 and was continued until 1929 except for a few years, says Popular Mechanics. Other mints, except Carson City, also have produced them at various times. The designs have been of three basic varieties, at first Liberty facing the right, then in 1808 Liberty facing the left, and finally in 1908 an Indian facing the left. Many minor changes of design were made. One of the rarest is that minted in 1834 which shows the motto "E pluribus unum" over the eagle.

Saba, Strange Isle

Rugged, volcanic and with an area of less than five square miles, Saba might be called the strangest isle of the Caribbean. Her first families long ago regarded a son who left the island to seek work and a wife as disloyal to the homeland. Sabanites are suspicious of strangers from the outside world. Settled first by the English, who were later supplanted by the Dutch, Saba remains English-speaking. Its men-folk raise sheep, coffee and sugar. Its women make some of the finest lace and drawn-work in the area. The principal town, The Bottom, is paradoxically not at the bottom of the island but at the top.

The Well-Balanced Diet

A well-balanced diet must consist of proteins, carbohydrates and fats, with adequate vitamins and minerals. A person engaged in mental work needs about 2,500 calories per day. The diet should contain animal protein, either eggs or meat; some cereals, as bread; fats, as butter and cream; with fruits and a variety of vegetables to furnish minerals and vitamins.

MODERN NOAH'S ARK SETS SAIL FOR FAR EAST

Bound for the Far East, home of strange animals that fill American circuses and zoos, a veritable "Noah's Ark" of American wild animals left Washington recently to show Asiatic zoo-goers that this side of the world also has its own share of queer creatures.

There's an amazing salamander that breathes through his skin instead of with lungs or gills; a tailed animal that carries its young in a pouch, and an American lion noted for his good nature.

Maybe an American wouldn't know them by this description, but they're all old friends. The queer salamander is the common "hellbender," which lives in Allegheny mountain streams and vexes fishermen by grabbing their hooks. The animal with the pouch is our old friend the 'possum and the lion is the well-known panther or puma, better natured than he usually gets credit for being. But in the Orient they're all exotic and rare.

Animal Pasengers Will Live Well

So these and many other animals are voyaging to the Orient as part of the National Geographic Society-Smithsonian Institution East Indies Expedition led by Dr. William M. Mann, director of the National Zoological Park. They will be presented as gifts to Asiatic zoos by Dr. Mann, and he in turn will collect rare animals of Sumatra and southeastern Asia to bring back to Washington's Zoo Dr. and Mrs. Mann and Dr. Maynard Owen Williams, staff representative of the National Geographic Society, have already arrived in Japan on their way to Sumatra.

The "Noah's Ark," contains 10 alligators, 2 jaguars, 2 mountain lions, 3 'possums, 2 raccoons, 2 black bears and 5 hellbenders. Like the animals in the original Ark, there is a male and female of each kind, but for the sake of peace in the families most of the animals will travel in separate cages.

Acting in the role of Noah are two keepers from the Washington Zoo, Roy Jennier and Malcolm Davis. Like Noah, they are provisioned for a long voyage, with 1000 pounds of frozen beef, 100 pounds of frozen fish, 500 pounds of special bear bread, baked in the Zoo's own bakery, a barrel each of apples, sweet potatoes and carrots.

Founder of Osteopathy

Andrew Taylor Still, founder of osteopathy, was born near Jonesboro, Va., in 1828. He farmed in Missouri, studied medicine at Kansas City and saw service in the Civil war. In 1864, when three of his children died of spinal meningitis, he devised the treatment known as osteopathy and practiced as an itinerant physician for some years. He settled in Kirksville, Mo., in 1887, and developed a large practice. Five years later he opened the American School of Osteopathy there. He died in 1917.

First Pure Milk Laws

The first milk regulation on record was passed in Glasgow, Scotland, in 1809. This law prohibited the dilution of milk with water. Earliest attempts at milk control in the United States occurred in Massachusetts. In 1856 a state law was passed prohibiting the adulteration of milk. In 1859 a Boston milk inspector was appointed.

THE WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Mrs. Theodore W. Monroe of 37 Cabot street entertained at luncheon on Tuesday, Dec. 21, the members of the Department of Government and Economic Welfare of the Winchester League of Women Voters, who met at her home for the seventh and last meeting of the series to be devoted to the subject of "Collective Bargaining."

As a logical conclusion to a most profitable study of this important problem, two carefully prepared and documented reports were delivered for the declared purpose of presenting all the arguments both for the worker and for the employer. Mrs. Ralph M. Sparks of 45 Cabot street gave a very fine resume of the employer's position, while Mrs. Gordon Fisher of Woburn presented the arguments in support of the working man and his need for collective bargaining. Both ladies spoke from deep conviction, and, because of this fact, presented papers of such challenging import that an animated discussion by the whole membership was the inevitable result.

Whether or not it was the kindly spirit of Christmas outwardly indicated by the festive Christmas tree and holly of the luncheon decorations, together with the Christmas gifts for the chairman and hostess, Mrs. Monroe—which hovered over the lively discussion regarding this controversial subject, the fact remains that all the pros and cons were debated in the friendliest spirit possible.

Such friendliness and good sportsmanship indicate in most convincing fashion the very real desire of the members of the League of Women Voters, made up of various shades of political opinion, to get down to fundamentals when studying the all important problems facing this country.

There can be no doubt as to the value of such study groups, and Mrs. Clifton S. Hall of Lawrence street, president of the Winchester League and Mrs. Theodore Monroe as chairman of the subsidiary department of Government and Economic Welfare can be heartily congratulated upon the successful outcome of these seven weekly meetings.

Without risk of contradiction, it can be stated that the next series of weekly meetings to be held by the Winchester League of Women Voters under the auspices of the Department of Government and Foreign Policy, whose able chairman is Mrs. J. Waldo Bond of 14 Mason street, will be one of the most popular of the whole League program. Because of Mrs. Bond's recognized ability and knowledge in current affairs, this class always attracts a very large membership. The subject to be studied, this year is especially in the forefront of today's news, "The Far East." These meetings will be held in the home of Mrs. Bond at 10 o'clock on the mornings of Jan. 5, 12, 19, 26 and Feb. 2.

WINCHESTER GIRL TO SING IN OPERETTA

Miss Phyllis Lybeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Lybeck of Everell road, is to sing the role of the Princess in the performances of Sigmund Romberg's operetta, "The Student Prince," to be given during the week of Jan. 17 at the Peabody House on Charles street in Boston by the Elizabeth Peabody House Operetta Company.

This company was established some 12 years ago in connection with the Peabody House activities and is directed by Lawrence W. Chidester, instructor of music at Tufts College. Hitherto it has devoted its efforts to the production of Gilbert and Sullivan light operas, so that the performance of Romberg's tuneful work will be a distinct innovation.

Miss Lybeck is a sophomore at Jackson, the women's college at Tufts, and a graduate of Winchester High School. During the past summer she was a member of a Gilbert and Sullivan Company assembled by Prof. Joseph S. Daltry of Wesleyan University, singing regularly during a highly successful tour of New England vacation centers. She has a soprano voice of unusual range and is supplementing her college work with vocal study under Miss Rose Stewart of Boston, former well known opera and concert singer.

GIVEN FAREWELL DINNER

Dexter W. Mobbs of Vine street, former Winchester High Schiol football star and basketball captain, one of the best basketball players developed at the local school in years, was given a farewell dinner by a group of his friends Wednesday evening at the Penthouse on the Hotel Bradford in Boston.

Mobbs left Winchester yesterday for Winstead, Conn., to accept the position of boys' director at the William L. Gilbert School, where he will be in charge of the recreational activities of 90 boys.

A most enjoyable evening was spent by the party at the Bradford with toasts to Mobbs' success in his new field, and an excellent floor show. Among those present with the honor guest were Ralph Ambrose, Bruce Colpas, Charles Dolan, Sheldon Hamilton, Henry [illegible]olland, Robert Smith and Roger Tawing.

1937 CHECKS OUT

Some Highlights of the Past Year in Winchester

When the clock chimes 12 tonight the year 1937 will check out to make way for another New Year. In retrospect the old year has produced its fair share of highlights, both in this country and abroad. What with wars and wars that aren't wars, royal abdications, balanced abundance, business recessions, sitdown strikes, Harvard beating Yale at football and Curley losing a Boston mayorality election, old '37 hasn't done so badly by itself as run-of-the-mill years ago.

Here in Winchester events of more than ordinary interest have taken place, some few of them marking the end of old orders and others pioneering in new fields.

Few citizens would agree upon the one big highlight of the past year in Winchester, but it is safe to say that nothing it 1937 has meant more to those affected by previous conditions than the distinct improvement in the town's intolerable sewage nuisance. This year has seen the practical completion of the new Metropolitan sewer through the town and already there has been a noticeable improvement in Winchester's waterways.

Civic Highlights

Other civic highlights that might be mentioned are the election for the first time in the town's history of Co-Chairmen of the Board of Selectmen, and the distinct improvement of the town's business center by the removal of poles and the placing of wires undergound. The installation of the new traffic lights in the center ranks high among the features of 1937, especially from a controversial aspect. Under Chapter 90 the town was able to reconstruct Mt. Vernon and Swanton streets, adding funds from its own treasury for the partial reconstruction of Bacon street, Everett avenue and Wildwood street extension as far as Westland avenue.

Headway has been made during the year on the waterways cleanup, the end being now clearly in sight, and in commenting upon the added attractiveness of the town mention should be made of the planting of the roses upon the traffic circles at Thompson and Mt. Vernon streets.

Long Range Planning

Nineteen hundred and thirty-seven witnessed the first long range planning for schools when the town at the last March meeting voted to expend $10,000 to acquire four acres of land in the west side hill district, abutting Park land and adjacent to Emerson road as a site for a future school. In connection with the construction of the new theatre on upper Main street the town changed its zoning map to take the section bounded by Main street and the railroad tracks north from the center to the Aberjona River out of the industrial zone and place it in the business district, thus taking the first step toward toning up north Main street.

Sewer Construction Completed

The town's sewer system has been practically completed during the past year, and it will never be necessary in the future to issue bonds for new water and sewer construction. At an approximate cost of $50,000 of which the Federal Government paid a substantial part under W. P. A., the last large job of sewer construction was completed in the west side hill section, and it will now be necessary to make only short extensions of existing lines. The Town of Winchester, incidentally, has the most complete sewer system in its streets of any town in the Commonwealth, with 45 miles of sewer laid in about 65 miles of public and private streets.

Building

Building in Winchester slumped during the past year, but this slump has been general and by no means peculiar to the town. There has been $235,314.50 expended in new construction this year, as against more than $780,000 in 1936, with 56 new dwellings, 30 garages, one filling station, one barn and one store buildings. Additions and alterations to buildings have added $80,997 to the building total so that the final figures for the year are $316,312.10. Incidentally this does not include the construction of a new dog pound!

Generally speaking the type of development in Winchester during 1937 has been very worth-while, with that on the westerly part of Cambridge street in the vicinity of Westland avenue and Worthen road showing clearly the great value to the community of planning and zoning. The eight house development on Pond street adjacent to Winter Pond is so satisfactory that it has raised the question of taking that section out of the general residence district, which permits two family houses, and placing it in the single residence zone. Ardley place and road is an example of developing in accordance with the natural beauty of the location, and the same can be said of the development along Hillcrest Parkway. Eleven houses, modest but highly desirable, have been constructed on Brookside road, Forest street and Cross street, with other developments on Ainsworth road, Fells road and Wedgemere avenue extension. Nineteen hundred and thirty seven has seen the opening of a new development at Chardon road on the old Russell estate below Symmes corner and the completion of a nice group of modern homes on Central Green in Rangely.

Revaluation Completed

The past year has witnessed the completion of the revaluation of property in the town with the lowering of valuation on quite a little property located on the west side. This process has been spread over the past three years and has affected property assessed for considerably more in many instances than it would be possible to get in a sale. No further general lowering of valuation is anticipated though there yet remain some large old places which must be considered in the light of present day real estate demands.

Relief

In the matter of relief Winchester has not been so well off during 1937 as in 1936. Generally speaking the work of the Welfare Department has increased materially and there are more at present on relief, both public welfare and unemployment. The town has had to spend more this past year for soldiers' relief, but that can be explained by a change in policy, advocated by government authorities, which advanced the veteran's relief budget ten per cent to meet the admitted increased costs of living. Local relief rolls have been increased considerably by the cut in the W. P. A. appropriation effective in June.

C. I. O.

Winchester had its first close up of the C. I. O. during 1937 when plant employees at the Winchester Laundry staged a strike, which lasted about two weeks. Aside from one brush in which fists were swung and two arrests were made there was no violence, and after about two weeks of idleness the employees went back.

Recreation

In the field of recreation the highlights of the year are undoubtedly the opening of the new Motion Picture Theatre, the opening of the community Recreation Center and the opening of the town's new enclosed athletic field on the Shore road. Which of these three is the ranking event depends wholly upon the point of view, but in the matter of pioneering in the recreation field the new recreation center is of great importance. Still in the formative stage, it is being closely watched both by those who believe in what it stands for and by those who feel that it is not worth what it costs.

The final, long-awaited opening of the Motion Picture Theatre on upper Main street was the final step in what has been one of the most bitter civic controversies waged in Winchester during the past 25 years. A pre-view performance on Dec. 20 formally opened the new playhouse and the large number who attended were unanimous in acclaiming it one of the most attractive and best appointed of suburban theatres in this vicinity.

Returning to the public recreation field, 1937 has seen the return of girl instructors to the town's playground with a resulting increased attractiveness of the fields for younger children. The installation of toilet facilities and showers at the Palmer Beach bathhouse should be mentioned as an achievement that has been much appreciated.

Sports

Speaking of sports, 1937 deserves an especial niche because of the fact that during its reign Winchester High won victories over Woburn in basketball (yes really), baseball, cross country and football (remember 46 to 0 Thanksgiving Day). The past year also witnessed the passing of a high school and community institution in the resignation of Wendell D. Mansfield, for 14 years coach and faculty director of athletics at Winchester High School. The winning of the Middlesex League football championship this fall by the high school eleven, captained by Gerry Ficociello and Pete Sibley without the loss of a game or a tie was of course outstanding, and the high school girls' tennis team, captained by "Dottie" Bruno, was as usual undefeated. The Millionaires' baseball team, managed by Paul Quigley, won the town championship from "Payzan" Marrone's Cubs, and perhaps the outstanding baseball event of the year was the signing to Boston Bees contracts of those two Millionaires' pitchers, "Art" Johnson, left-hander, and the orthodox "Buster" Kendrick. "Syl" Hatch, now Mrs. Campbell, made the outstanding tennis contribution of 1938 when she won the Greater Boston Hearst tennis trophy from former intercollegiate champion, Mary Cutter, and went on to make a great showing in the all eastern finals of the tourney in New York. "Norm" Dalrymple of Yale won the town's singles championship, previously held by "Herb" Ross who was defaulted this year. Dalrymple also was a member of the combined Harvard-Yale tennis team that won from the Oxford-Cambridge combination at Newport, R. I. Harold "Jug" McSpaden, pro at the Winchester Country Club, won the Massachusetts Open Golf Championship for the second time, and "Art" Rogers of this town reached the quarter finals of the State Amateur. Once again "Judy" Hersom made a fine showing among the junior skippers of the State, and the Bowdoin football team of which "Dave" Fitts was co-captain, won the Maine State title.

REHEARSALS TO START

Winchester's Country Club does not retire into darkness and obscurity with the passing of the Holiday season. Rather it leaps into a new frenzy of activity, when for the month of January lights will blaze night and day, attractive girls clad in the careless and abbreviated costumes of the beach will clatter up and down the stairs, harrassed costume committee women trailing silks and laces and scattering pins, will attempt perfection of fit, newspaper men will set up lights and take pictures, and the same eight bars of music will be hammered out over anu over again.

Wednesday evening, January 6, will find the beginning of the trek, when committees, club members, old and new performers will gather gaily for the tryouts. At eight o'clock sharp, Mrs. P. Stewart Newton, the chairman, will call the meeting to attention, Mr. Emerson Stiles the director, will come forward, Mrs. Irving Jennings will take her seat at the piano, and another Winton Club Cabaret will be under way.

Mrs. Newton calls this year's offering the "Gaieties of 1883," and those who remember the choral society rendering "Horsy" two years ago, and the Beach number of last year will be intrigued by the possibilities and the promise of 1883. The show will be produced by Jerome H. Cargill Company of New York, and Jack Marshard and his orchestra will contribute the music. Mrs. Newton has been assisted in her work as chairman, by Mrs. Loring P. Gleason, Mrs. Clinton Mason and Mrs. Kenneth Moffette.

Others heading committees are:
Decorations—Mrs. Hollister Olmstead.
Costumes—Mrs. T. Price Wilson.
Advertising and Program—Mrs. Clifford Roberts and Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr.
Scenery and Properties—Mrs. James O. Murray.
Hall—Mrs. Clark Collins.
Gardenias—Mrs. Charles Farnsworth.
Cigarettes—Mrs. Paul Avery.
Refreshments—Mrs. Ben Schneider.
Make-up—Mrs. Lucius Smith.
Music—Mrs. Irving Jennings.

Working closely with all committees will be Mrs. Howard Morrison, President of the Winton Club.

MISS PHELPS FETED

Miss Jeanne Phelps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Traphagen Phelps of Grassmere avenue, who has been spending the week as the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Phelps at Guyencourt, Del., attended many of the gay holiday parties in and around Wilmington at which Wilmington Society was present.

On Tuesday afternoon Miss Phelps assisted in receiving at the tea dance in the Wilmington Country Club, at which her cousin, Miss Caroline Johnston Chandler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred duPont Chandler, made her debut.

Following this largely attended Society event, Miss Phelps was honored by a luncheon, given for her by her uncle and aunt, who were also hosts to a number of out-of-town guests. After the luncheon she went on to the ball, at which Mr. Eugene E. duPont introduced his daughter, Miss Nancy Bradford duPont. This event, one of the most brilliant of the Wilmington season, was held in the gold ballroom of the Hotel duPont.

Miss Phelps was a guest on Wednesday at the luncheon given for her cousin, Miss Chandler, by Mrs. Christopher L. Ward at her home, "Bramshott." This gay event was followed by a tea dance at "Goodstay," the home of Mrs. Robert Wheelright, and given by Mrs. Wheelright to introduce her daughter, Miss Elsie duPont Meads. Miss Phelps, who returned to Winchester last evening, is a student at Edgewood Park College.

The marriage of Miss Hester Harrington, daughter of Mrs. Edwin Upton Harrington and the late Mr. Harrington and Lloyd Stow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jared Stow of Park Ridge, Ill., were married at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 29, at the home of the bride's mother on Warren street by Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Church of the Epiphany.

Miss Harrington wore a gown of American Beauty velvet with rose point collar and cuffs and a corsage of white orchids and valley lilies. There were no bridal attendants. Mrs. Harrington was gowned in brown velvet with gold lame and wore a matching orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Brown University with the class of 1930. She later received the degree of Master of Arts and of Doctor of Philosophy from Radcliffe College and has been on the staff of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

Mr. Stow is a graduate of the University of Chicago, where he also received his Ph.D. He is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. Both he and his bride attended the American School of Classical Studies in Athens, Greece. They are to make their home in Norman, Okla., where Professor Stow is a member of the faculty of the University of Oklahoma.

HILTON MURAL SHOWS VIRGINIA TOWN'S INDUSTRIES

A mural, the work of quiet modest Roy Hilton, professor in Carnegie Tech's fine arts department, has been sent to Rocky Mount, Va., to decorate the postoffice building there.

Hilton tried to paint something the people themselves would appreciate and enjoy, so after studying the town last spring he set to work to picture their three most important industries—farming, furniture making and silk weaving. The result is a three panel mural of warm color, simple beauty and masterful technique. The work was commissioned by the department of painting and sculpture of the postoffice department.

Hilton has won several prizes including the Carnegie Institute award for a group of paintings shown first in 1932. Professor Hilton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Hilton of Myrtle street.

Hubbard, all of this town, and a brother, Charles, living in New York City.

WEEK-END AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

The only automobile accident involving personal injury which was reported in Winchester over the holiday week-end took place at 7:15 Christmas evening when George F. Wells, 72, of 189 Washington street was struck and knocked down by a machine as he attempted to cross Washington street near Webster street.

According to the police account of the accident, the car that struck Mr. Wells was a Pontiac coach, owned and driven by Daniel F. Dineen of 42 Lincoln street, who was driving south on Washington street. Mr. Dineen told the authorities that Mr. Wells walked from the westerly sidewalk directly into the path of the machine and it was impossible to avoid striking him. Mr. Dineen swerved his car sharply toward the middle of the road in an effort to avoid the pedestrian, but the right front mudguard of the machine struck Mr. Wells, knocking him down.

The injured man was taken to the Winchester Hospital by Sergt. Joseph Derro and Patrolman John Murray in the Police ambulance. He was treated by Dr. Roger M. Burgoyne for a fractured nose and multiple contusions and abrasions about the face.

Shortly before 7 o'clock on Friday evening a Hudson sedan driven by Thomas J. Walsh of 23 Arthur street while headed south on Wedgemere avenue, was in collision at the intersection of Foxcroft road with a Ford sedan, being driven east on Foxcroft road by Donald Des Granges of 246 Clark road, Brookline. Both cars were damaged but no one was injured.

Andrew J. Hurder of 12 Kilby street Somerville, reported to the Police that while he was parked in a Chevrolet coach on Cambridge street just north of Church street at 7 o'clock Friday evening his machine was struck in the rear by a car, the operator of which failed to stop. The second machine was last seen on Penn road and was found to be registered to a Winchester man who was later interviewed by Sergt. Charles J. Harrold of the Police Department concerning the alleged accident.

Sunday night shortly after 11:30 a Plymouth sedan, driven south on Main street by John A. Stavarides of 18 North Warren street, Woburn, was in collision in front of the Locatelli Building with another Plymouth sedan, also going south and being driven by Josephine Balsamo of 80 Jacques street, Somerville. Both machines were damaged but no one was injured.

W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith in a Christmas message to the National W. C. T. U., published in the Union Signal of Dec. 25 says in conclusion, "I stood once in a war-battered village in France. The church was a heap of ruins, the roof was gone, here and there a few bricks stood where the walls had been, just piles of rubbish and exploded shells. But in the midst of it all rose a broken pillar on which hung a wooden image of Christ, worn and scarred! War had taken its toll, but the remembrance of Christ was still there.

That is all that will save! O Lord, how long? What must these nations to whom we have sent Christian missionaries think of us and our interpretation of His religion? "Love came down at Christmas time."

God grant that the spirit of this season may halt the madness of hatred and desire for supremacy and bring quickly the adjustment of national affairs. The song of the angels was a goal, a prophecy, and it must yet be realized. Christmas is divine, but it is also human."

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Mr. Cyril B. Hartman, of Reed and Barton, Silversmiths, gave an exceptionally intresting lecture on "The Rapture and Romance of Silver," at the American Home Day meeting on Monday, Dec. 27. Surrounded by a vast exhibit of beautiful silverware, from which he drew to illustrate his remarks, Mr. Hartman traced the history of silver down through the ages from the very birth of civilization. Mr. Hartman is a splendid speaker with a thorough knowledge of his subject and a keen insight into feminine human nature, for he walked straight into the hearts of every woman present with his delightful story of good silverware, a topic dear to every home maker's heart.

An exhibit of antique silver belonging to club members attractively arranged by Mrs. Earle E. Andrews, chairman of the Antiques Committee, assisted by Miss Mary Alice Fitch, Mrs. Daniel Linscott and Mrs. J. Albert Linton, was the center of interest of an admiring throng. Fortunate indeed are the proud possessors of such exquisite heirlooms.

A delightful musical program was given by Master William Mitchell, soprano soloist of Trinity Church Choir, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. William Mitchell. Garbed in his sombre choir robe, Master Mitchell presented a pleasing picture, as his faultless soprano tones clearly registered the highest notes. His songs were varied and interesting, with the lovely Gounod's "Ave Maria" making an appealing climax.

Mrs. Earl M. Wood, chairman of the American Home Committee and her group are to be highly complimented upon the splendid presentation of a most worth while program.

ON THE JOB

As the calendar year comes to an end, the Young People's Society of the First Baptist Church would like to take this opportunity to let you know that it is on the job, now, more than ever before. The past few months have seen many successful activities in the society including a very enjoyable Hallowe'en party in October, a mountain climb up Mt. Monadnock, Nov. 11, a successful production in the social hall later on in the month, and a recent Christmas candy sale which went over the top with flying colors.

The coming months promise to be even more interesting. On Jan. 4, the society is to entertain Sagamore Union with a supper and meeting of all the member Christian Endeavor Societies. On Jan. 15, comes the Greater Boston Youth Rally which is being sponsored by the society and will be held in its church. Boasting such speakers as Margaret Slattery and Dr. Tehyi Hsieh, this is to be the great highlight of the society's year. Over 500 Protestant young people from Greater Boston are expected to attend this rally which will last from 2:30 Saturday afternoon to approximately 9 Saturday evening. You will hear much more about this at a later date. The week directly following this rally, rehearsals are to begin on a major play production so you can see that there is always something doing in the Young People's Society of the Baptist Church and that they are always on the job.

BOSTON COMMUNITY FUND HELPS WINCHESTER RESIDENTS

Interviewed about the coming Community Fund Campaign, Mr. Harold Fuller, the chairman in Winchester, explained that: "Winchester is one of 75 cities and towns which comprise the Metropolitan community of Greater Boston. The health and well-being of Winchester people is dependent not only on conditions in their own town, but also on conditions all over this Metropolitan community.

Winchester supports locally through private contributions, active Boy and Girl Scout units, a health and a visiting nurse association, a home for aged people, a hospital and a varied Red Cross program. Winchester people are asked to support Greater Bostons Community Fund because Winchester residents turn to agencies of the Fund, centrally located in Boston, for those special social and health services that are not available locally."

He called attention to the fact that shortly a booklet will be distributed to the homes in Winchester, showing how Winchester people benefited directly from help given by the agencies in the Greater Boston Community Fund area.

Twice this year an official count has been made of the people under care of Boston hospitals on a single day. On one of these days, 11 and on the other seven Winchester residents were found in the wards and clinics of these hospitals. Direct payments were far less than the cost of the benefits received.

The drive will start in Winchester on Jan. 24 and will be preceded by a unique meeting, yet to be announced, on Jan. 18. The work of the fund supplements the work of local charitable institutions and, therefore, this drive warrants the whole-hearted support of every one in the Greater Metropolitan Boston area.

CAT TRAPPED

Shortly after 2 o'clock last Friday afternoon, while walking at the northerly end of Sylvester avenue, Robert Fish and Clovis LeBrun, both of 74 Sylvester avenue heard the crying of a cat. Investigating they found a fine large angora cat held by the right fore paw in a steel trap set near a culvert.

The boys took the cat to Police Headquarters where it was discovered that the animal's paw was broken. Patrolman James P. Donaghey took the cat to its owner, Mr. Hans Martinson of 49 Sheridan circle, who summoned a veterinary to care for his pet.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

One of the loveliest of Christmas pageants was given by members of the Winchester Chapter on Tuesday afternoon, assisted by the vested choir obtained through the courtesy of Mr. Grover Cronin of Waltham. After a brief business meeting the president introduced Mrs. Thos. W. Conlon who was chairman of the afternoon.

The choir, wearing bright red cassocks with white surplices entered the candle lit hall from the rear singing and took their position at the side of the stage.

From behind pine boughs the Christmas angel appeared and commanded the shepherds, the wise men and kings to follow the guiding star to the manger. The nativity setting was most beautiful and with the singing of "Gloria in Excelsis Deo" was one long to be remembered. The soloists who sang special numbers were Mrs. Edw. McGrath and Miss Mabel Coty. The reader was Mrs. Geo. Elwell. Others in the cast were Mrs. Thos. Dolan, angel; Miss Norris Chevalier, Mary; Mrs. Hugh McPartland, Joseph; Mrs. M. H. Hindlian, Mrs. Harry Donovan, Mrs. Thos. Conlon, Kings; Mrs. John O'Leary, Mrs. Robert Sharkey, Mrs. Frederick Donahue, Shepherds. Children from St. Mary's School were angels.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Thos. Feeney, chairman, Mrs. H. G. Osterberg, Mrs. Jonathan Felt, Mrs. John O'Leary, Mrs. James Carr and Mrs. James Gaffney. A lovely Christmas tea was served to the guests. The bride doll was awarded to Miss Rose Ghirardini. There was an exchange of gifts among the members.

Lambs Only One Year

Lambs never live longer than a year—then they become sheep! One reason why lambs sell for good prices is that there is little waste meat on them. "Hothouse lamb" is lamb born late in the fall and marketed in the winter. All lambs marketed between spring and fall are called "spring lambs."

PEOPLE LOSING TIME AND MONEY IN BOSTON

NOBODY loves a Boston traffic jam but that isn't the worst part about it. It's the cost of driving in and out of them that hits you where it hurts most — in the pocketbook. It costs 5c a mile to drive a small car — 7½c for a medium — 11c for a large one. That adds up.

Parking expense from 25c to 50c a day — That adds up.

Or parking fines. They add up.

In a year you can spend a large sum of money driving to Boston. Or you can save it — by taking B and M trains. You'll get in and out of Boston faster — more comfortably and more calmly. Try it and see.

Your WHITING milkmen

The bottle of milk these men leave at your door or at your store might equally well be called a bottle of good health. It is an essential food—the most nearly perfect of all foods. But it means good health for another reason. It is WHITING'S MILK, the rich and delicious milk that comes from New England's choicest herds.

And an even greater reason why a bottle of WHITING'S is a bottle of good health is because every drop is pasteurized and bottled under the most rigid standards . . . by scientific laboratory control. WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

At the last directors' meeting of the Winchester Ski Club, a design for a pin was discussed and it was decided that each member be requested to submit his design for a pin and also for an insignia which designs will be presented at the next meeting of the club on Monday, Jan. 3 at 9 o'clock at the Boy Scout cabin on Border road. Don't forget your fireplace log for the cabin. A vote will be taken at this meeting to determine the choice of the club on the designs displayed and the one getting the largest number of votes will be the official pin and insignia design for the Winchester Ski Club.

A weather committee consisting of Bill Stalker and John Terry was also appointed. Members wishing information on snow conditions as well as the ski spot chosen for the Winchester Ski Club for any particular week end should contact either of these two members.

Negotiations are being made with the United States Forestry Service to obtain a tract of land in the White Mountain National Forest in the vicinity of Mount Washington on which it is proposed to build a lodge for the use of the club.

The first skiing of the season was done last Sunday by a group of five club members who left early Sunday morning and put in a whole day at the Mt. Pero Ski Tow in Plymouth, N. H. The fact that it snowed the most of the afternoon with a heavy storm setting in early in the evening, together with our local snow storm on Tuesday seemed to indicate an unusually good skiing season. This week-end should be exceptional and all those club members planning to drive north are requested to list vacant seats in their cars at Winton's Hardware store on the bulletin board provided there for that purpose. Also members who have no transportation may sign up for these vacancies and all members are requested to cooperate in every way possible. This bulletin board, on which will be posted these listings will also carry all pertinent news on club affairs particularly letters from the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association.

M. S. P. C. A. AUXILIARY NOTES

The year 1937 closes with great rejoicing in the hearts of the members of the Winchester Auxiliary to the M. S. P. C. A.

For six years we have worked quietly and unostentatiously, ever keeping in mind that "it is not the spurt at the start but the continued unresting, unhasting advance that wins the day." At the close of our first year we deposited 10 dollars as a nucleus for our Shelter Fund. The second year we invited our townspeople to assist in helping us to establish a charity, the only one of its kind in town. We shall always look back with gratitude to those who had faith in our work and responded to our call. From that time, fairs, food sales and a growing membership have enabled us to enlarge our fund. Our members as they have driven about town have looked far and near for a suitable lot, which we hoped we might purchase in the future. Circumstances led us to inquire if it would be possible for us to open a shelter at the fine old homestead, formerly owned by Mr. Nathaniel Richardson, 432 Washington street. We found that it would be agreeable and at once voted to funish light airy rooms suitable for our use. The M. S. P. C. A. with whom we are closely affiliated has provided cages, and as always, ambulance service is at our call. We had planned to open our Shelter Jan. 1, 1938, but in some mysterious manner known only to the animal kingdom, we opened our doors a week ago to admit a poor frightened dog found near the center. To Miss June Murphy, a pupil at Junior High goes the honor of assisting in rescuing this first stray. The day before Christmas a valuable cat was brought to the Shelter and its life was saved by warmth and care.

During the past week calls have come regarding cats lost, and caught in traps. A valuable dog, suffering with distemper, sold by a dishonest dealer, was mercifully put out of his suffering by a call to our M. S. P. C. A. All who have been engaged in charitable work know that many things are needed to carry on a successful work. We are grateful to the friends who have contributed a desk, chair, lamp, table, broom, mop and a cabinet for food, medicine, etc., 1 box Mother Hubbard Cat Food, 1 doz. tins Calo Dog Food, boric acid, mineral oil, oil cloth, table cover, a few food dishes, water pail and two dishes for heating water and food. We are asking you for these articles that altogether we may have some interest in this humane work.

As in all charities there must be an inflow of money and gifts, if there is to be an outflow of service.

THREE COLLISIONS TUESDAY NIGHT

Slippery driving conditions prevailed about town Tuesday night and three automobile accidents were reported to the Police, the first shortly after 7 o'clock. At that time a Packard sedan, owned and driven by Harry A. Moore of 5 Orient street, while headed east on Mt. Vernon street was in collision in front of the residence of Mr. Luther Pattee with a Brockway truck, owned by the Highway Department and in charge of Frank Langford of 85 Wendell street. At the time of the accident the body of the truck was tilted to permit a crew of men to get sand for the streets. Mr. Moore told the Police that he was blinded by the glare of approaching head-lights. His car was badly damaged about the front end and was towed to Lake Motors Garage. No one was injured.

At 7:15 one of the Police cruisers, in which Sergt. Charles J. Harrold and Patrolman James F. Noonan were riding, was in collision on Washington street in front of the residence of Mr. Oliver Hall, with a Ford coupe which was stopped to permit the driver, Raymond Henry of 70 Josephine avenue, Somerville, to remove ice from the windshield. The cruiser was proceeding slowly but the icy ruts caused the car to slide into the coupe after the brakes were applied. Neither car was badly damaged and no one was injured.

Roger L. Derby of 91 Church street came to Headquarters shortly after 9:30 to report an accident in which his car figured just before 8 o'clock. Mr. Derby said as he was driving his Ford roadster south on Cambridge street at Pond street his machine collided with a Ford pickup truck, owned by Adam Rink of Francis Wyman road, Burlington, and parked headed south. After striking the truck the Derby machine skidded to the left, colliding with a Pierce-Arrow roadster, driven north on Cambridge street by George Jaques of 138 West Adams street, Somerville. Meanwhile a Ford sedan, driven south on Cambridge street by John E. Farmer, Jr., of 9 Boston road, Billerica, collided with the rear of the Derby car. All four machines were damaged, and Rink sustained a cut finger on his right hand. Mr. Derby told the Police that the street was very slippery where the accident occurred.

TWO FIRES WEDNESDAY

The first of two fires in Winchester homes on Wednesday was reported to the Central Fire Station at 5 p. m. from the residence of Mr. Richard Parkhurst on Grove street where curtains in the living room became ignited from a lighted candle. Woodwork around a bay window was burned and considerable damage done to the furnishings of the room.

At 8.15 Wednesday evening, Box 38 was sounded for a more serious fire at the home of Mr. John Lynch on Nelson street. The fire apparently started in the attic and did damage estimated at between $1000 and $1500 to third and second floor rooms of the dwelling. At one point the flames worked upward into the roof and the men had some difficulty in getting at the blaze which was under the asphalt roofing. There was considerable damage done throughout the house by water and smoke.

CHRISTMAS PARTY AT WATCH-HAND FACTORY

Seventy employees of the J. H. Winn Sons Watch-Hand Factory in the Highlands gathered last Friday afternoon to enjoy a Christmas party which was held in the newly completed part of the building, admirably adapted for an affair of that sort.

The employees were greeted by Mr. Harry T. Winn and his brother, Rev. Arthur L. Winn, on behalf of the company, and each was given a present from the decorated Christmas tree by Santa Claus, impersonated by Walter Josephson, former high school football star and all Middlesex League end.

Saxaphone solos were played by "Charlie" Waters, and Christmas carols were sung by all present, led by Arthur Lundgren.

COLLEGE CLUB ART GROUP

All the important exhibitions at the Boston Art Galleries which were listed last week are holding over until after the holidays.

In addition, there is one of particular interest which opened Dec. 18 and will continue until Jan. 8 at the Boston Art Club, 270 Dartmouth street where small pictures, none over 20x24 are being shown by members of the club. Mrs. John L. Lobingier, general chairman of our Art Study Group, is exhibiting two of her lovely landscapes.

VACATION DANCE FOR WINCHESTER GIRLS

Among the many college girls at home for the Christmas holidays are Miss Janet Spencer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry K. Spencer; Miss Betty Whorf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence P. Whorf; and Miss Jean Farnsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold V. Farnsworth.

All three attend Smith College and make their homes in Central Green in Rangely. Appropriately their parents combined to give a dancing party in their honor last week at the Winchester Country Club, a party attended by many of the college and preparatory school group in Winchester for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Whorf and Mr. and Mrs. Farnsworth had dinner parties preceeding the dance, at which the usher group, headed by Percy A. Goodale, Jr., of Arlington, were guests with college and school friends of the honorees.

Besides Mr. Goodale the ushers included Charles Wadsworth, Lewis Wadsworth, Jr., Henry LeRoyer, Arthur Kidder, Jr., Bicknell Lockhart, George Billman, William Whorf and Kendall Spencer, sons of two of the hosts; Warner Clifford, Lester Gustin, Jr. and Robert Thornton.

They were divided among the three parties, and with them at the Whorf's were Miss Gene MacDonald, Miss Betty Sexton, Miss Mary Glover, Miss Helen Downer, Miss Judith Reed, Miss Ellen Rivinius, Miss Elizabeth Benson and Miss Joan Gleason. Their dinner partners were George Plass, Philip Clark, Harry McCready, William Squier, Percy Goodale, Jr., George Billman, Duane Treeman, Arthur Kidder, Jr. and William Whorf.

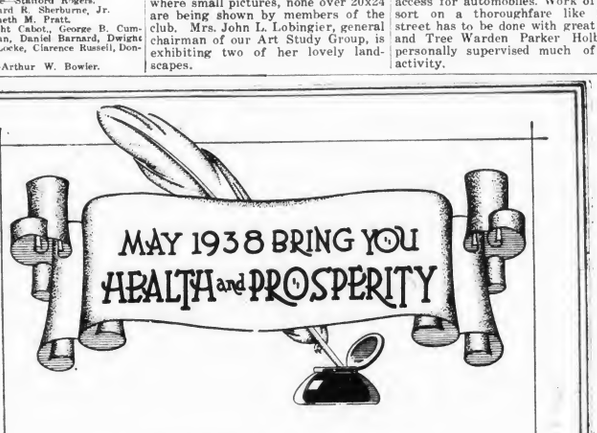
Among Miss Farnsworth's guests were several friends from out of town who stayed with her for two or three days before returning home for Christmas. They were Miss Elizabeth Pinnio of Elizabeth, N. J., Miss Aileen Ward of Summit, N. J., Miss Jane Rosenthal of New York and Miss Betty Neiley, a cousin, of Bronxville, N. Y. Other young ladies at this dinner were Miss Nancy and Miss Rebecca Jackson and Miss Mary Jane Holmes, all of Wellesley; Miss Betty Semmer of Swampscott, Miss Barbara Tead of Lincoln and Miss Edith Chase of Milton, while from Winchester were Miss Evelyn McGill, Miss Frances Kelley, Miss Betty Cooper, Miss Alice Lyman, Miss Dorothy Ober and Miss Janet Fuller.

The young men at the dinner included several more of the ushers—Lewis Wadsworth, Jr., a cousin of Miss Farnsworth; Henry LeRoyer, Bicknell Lockhart, Thomas Aldrich, Jr., Carl Billman, James Stannard, Gardner Bradley, Charles Davis, John Bottger, Benjamin Wild, Charles Rounds, William Wyman, Jr., Harris Richardson, Jr., Roswell Boutwell, Lawrence Tobey, Charles Butler, Robert Lenk, William Billings and Dudley Richardson.

At the dinner for Miss Spencer the guests were: Miss Charlotte Shipee, Miss Rosmary Smith, Miss Ruth Dolsen, Miss Jean Flanders, Miss Mary Worthen, Miss Eugenia and Miss Virginia Smith, Miss Helen Reeves, Miss Anne Poor, Miss Philippa Kelley, Miss Mary Little Fuller and Miss Patricia Croughwell.

Their dinner partners were: Robert Howe, Bronson Garner, Lindsay Caldwell, Lester Gustin, Jr., Robert Thornton, Warner Clifford, Ralph Teel, Richard Leghorn, Bruce Young, James Golden, Jr., Ransom Smith, George Neiley, George C. Carens, Jr., and Robert Lawrence.

Men of the Tree Department have been busy this week removing a large elm on Main street in front of the Sconey filling station to permit easier access for automobiles. Work of that sort on a thoroughfare like Main street has to be done with great care and Tree Warden Parker Holbrook personally supervised much of the activity.



On the threshold of another year, during which it will be our privilledge to serve you, we pause to wish you a Happy New Year. May You enjoy health, happiness and prosperity.

AS TO THIS AND THAT

The newspapers say that Mr. Kennedy, who recently so strenously anvised business men to stop "belly-aching" because it will do no good, is to be appointed Ambassador to England. If he wishes this, it is to be hoped that it is true, but the United States will lose thereby. His present job with the Merchant Marine is much more important, really important, whereas as Ambassador he will have difficulty in being more than an erand boy; that being the case, so far as one can judge, with almost all of the men in what have been heretofore been responsible positions in the government.

On many occasions Mr. Roosevelt has disclaimed any pretensions to dictatorship, but it is doubtful whether any other President has seemed so definitely to believe that any man who does not approve his every whim is other than an "economic royalist" or worse. It is said that Mr. Kennedy is a notable exception and, if so, this is to Mr. Kennedy's credit, as indicating ability and tact. Massachusetts may well be proud of him.

Mr. Kennedy may, however, be criticised somewhat for his pessimism as to the futility of discussion. Probably a majority of the voters are still affected by the President's charming assumption that he is the only one who knows what to do and when and how. They do not remember that a casual examination of his public utterances discloses and endless series of contradictions, that in fact, as a New Jersey politician said of him, no one can depend upon his not changing his mind every 15 minutes; and they do not pause to consider that it may be unfortunate to have a man of this kind directing our destinies. In short they need to be asked to think of these things.

A high respect ought to appertain to the office of President and to its temporary occupant, but this respect should not forbid consideration of his fitness and competency and sincerity, however popular he may be for the moment by reason of a newly acquired humanitarism.

SOCRATES SAYS-

GOOD WILL TOWARDS ALL MEN

One of the most serious results of the New Deal, as history will show, will have been its attempt to hold its followers by stirring up their emotions. This started in the campaign against President Hoover during the height of a world-wide economic depression brought on by the World War, when full co-operation should have been given. The constant name calling, in order to obtain public support from the very beginning of the New Deal, such as "Tories," "Economic Royalists," "Vested Interests," "Overlords," "Chislers," "Tax Evaders," "Too Dumb to Understand," and now "Bellyachers," etc. etc. etc. in speeches, over the air, committee hearings, at every available opportunity, has been terrifying at times.

In a democracy there should be no attempt to align class against class. If there is a new deal its sound proposals can only succeed if the real, not fancied, errors of the past are corrected through orderly and tolerant procedure, otherwise, the cure will be worse than any disease that might have existed.

The fact that the New Dealers started and provoked name calling may not be any excuse for a politically bored and harassed people to adopt the same methods; but the example of leadership generally creates just such human reactions, and "Abundant Life" could never be secured by intimidation and inflammation. The results to date are sufficient proof.

Name calling rarely occurs unless people lose their tempers or realize that they are wrong—if they lose their tempers they are blinded temporarily, hence not very effective; and if they are wrong to begin with, they certainly are not effective—thus name calling is like whistling in the dark.

More power to the suggestion of a "truce," and may we urge in all sincerity that it start in all high places. Understanding and patience should be the principal results of ability and culture, for without such qualities no lasting progress can ever be achieved. Progress and reforms are, of course, necessary, but browbeating has no place in a democracy, either from the "in's" or "out's."

This country is the greatest land on earth, and pray to God we can keep it that way. Let there not be simply a truce—an armistice; but lasting "Peace on earth and good will towards all men"—a new deal in fact, not just by calling its name.

—Socrates

NEW SHORT WAVE STATION SOON TO OPEN

The new short wave broadcasting station being erected by WNAC just off Ridge street near the Woburn line in West Side Hill section is nearing completion. It is expected to be in operation next week. This site was chosen because it was one of the highest spots near Boston still privately owned and also it was away from main highways which cause motor noises to creep into the broadcasts. The main broadcasting pole will tower 70 feet from the very top of the ridge of the hill when completed.

MASONIC OPE HOUSE

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Four members were absent from the meeting of Dec. 30.

Governor John MacGregor reports that the average attendance in this district for the month of November, 1937 was 85.75 per cent which was the highest figure for the year. Eighteen 100 per cent meetings were recorded as well as a substantial increase in the number of individual Rotarians. All of which is decidedly encouraging to our energetic Governor and a source of pride to all under his jurisdiction.

Junior Rotarians Daniel Delorey and Richard Grosvenor, having finished their terms, were present today for the last time as Junior Rotarians. We have enjoyed the companionship of these young men and believe that they have acquired a good understanding of the objects of Rotary, which emphasizes the obligations of the individual to society through development of the will to serve.

Our good friend Charlie White of Lowell visited with us today and contributed extensively to the entertainment period. His self-accompanied song parodies are gems of their kind. As we listened there was decided evidence of an urge for more. Come again soon, Charlie!

Chairman George Davidson's report on the Christmas festivities at the Recreation Center indicates that some 260 young people gathered there for a season of Yuletide jubilation. Once more the Center has proved its worth in providing wholesome recreation and social betterment for a large proportion of the youth of Winchester. It is, in our opinion, destined to notably increase its influence.

The mid-year district assembly will be held in February at the Hotel Statler in Boston. Maurice Duperry, president of Rotary International is expected to attend. The spring conference is scheduled for May 5 and 6 at the Biltmore Hotel, Providence, R. I. Our club should be represented at both of these meetings. Questions of great import to the future of this district will be discussed. We anticipate extremely significant sessions.

Our Dr. Richard Sheehy who is chief of staff at the Winchester Hospital addressed the club today on the subject of "Socialized Medicine," so-called. "Dick" traced the course of the various elements which have combined to form this project and gave us much insight into the probable results of the movement. There is no question as to the need for an improved medical service for those families and individuals who suffer from lack of means to procure such service. It is a matter which affects society at large as well as the immediate sufferers. It is significant that the seriousness of the situation is recognized and we may take it for granted that at least a partial solution will be accomplished. Possibly given areas will adopt those measures best adapted for their own requirements. The speaker replied effectively to many queries from the floor as he once more demonstrated that addresses by club members stand very high among features presented during our entertainment periods.

And now, to all our members, fellow citizens and friends at large, a Happy New Year without recessions or any of their ilk.

Percentage of attendance, Dec. 23, 96.77 per cent.

COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS PARTY

Two hundred and sixty happy children were guests last Friday afternoon at a Christmas party given in the Community Recreation Center on Mt. Vernon street by the Rotary Club, the Red Cross, Winchester, Post, 97, American Legion; and the Fortnightly Woman's Club.

A gaily lighted Christmas tree was a feature of the attractive hall decorations, arranged by Miss Marjorie Bradford, and a very enjoyable entertainment program was provided by Mr. Rufus A. Somerby. Through the efforts of Mrs. Charles A. Burnham, an orange was provided for each child by "Voice of Experience," one of the popular current radio features.

In addition to the orange each child was given a present and a stocking of candy, the presentation being made appropriately enough by old Santa himself, in the person of Mr. Frederick Bradford, who was assisted in his ministrations by Mr. Moody, director of the Recreation Center.

A group of Fortnightly members, with Mrs. Madeleine Zimmerman, chairman of the club's music committee, at the piano, sang Christmas carols, the children joining in many of the more familiar. Those who officially greeted the little guests were Chairman George T. Davidson of the Park Board, Mrs. J. Henry Miley of the Community Service Committee of the Fortnightly, Mrs. George Dutting of the Red Cross and President Warren Hersey of the Rotary Club.

DISASTERS TOOK HEAVY TOLL IN 1937

Destruction of the giant trans-Atlantic dirigible, Hindenburg, by fire as it was landing at Lakehurst, N. J., May 6, was the most spectacular disaster in a year filled with losses from fire, flood, wind, and other death-dealing forces, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Thirty-five of the 98 persons on board perished.

Outstanding among accidents to heavier-than-air craft was the crash on Oct. 18 of a palatial airliner on a ridge of the Uinta Mountains of Utah, east of Salt Lake City. All on board, passengers and crew, were killed, a total of 19 deaths. Among the most dramatic of the air casualties affecting civilians was the loss of Amelia Earhart and Fred Noonan on a trans-Pacific flight in early July; and the disappearance in August of Russia's number-one aviator, Sigismund Levanevsky, and five companions while on a flight from Moscow over the North Pole, headed for the United States.

Mid-America Suffered From Floods

At home, the year was ushered in by floods which devastated the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys, left thousands homeless, killed more than 800, and destroyed hundreds of millions of dollars worth of property. The Middle Atlantic area was heavily damaged as rivers, swollen with April rains, flooded Virginia, Maryland, West Virginia, Ohio and Pennsylvania. Similar April rains in Canada caused Ontario's River Thames to surge over its banks, and seriously damage the city of London.

In February 2,000 Mozambique natives were drowned by floods in the Komati and Umbulusi Rivers of Portuguese East Africa.

Even the northeastern Syrian wastes were flooded in October, with loss of more than a thousand lives.

December's flood-burdened rivers of northern California killed three persons, destroyed thousands of homes and agricultural lands worth millions of dollars.

One of Mexico's most tragic disasters occurred in May, when 3,000,000 tons of gold mine tailings, loosened by torrential rains, crashed down on the mining village of Tlalpujahua. More than 100 persons were killed while they slept.

In China's Szechwan Province last winter millions of the inhabitants suffered from hunger, and tens of thousands died of starvation.

Destructive winds ravaged several regions of the Orient in the autumn. Three typhoons in three weeks cost the Phillippine Islands millions of dollars, 280 lives. A 125 mile-an-hour typhoon, most violent in 11 years, ripped through Hong Kong and the nearby China coast, beached ocean liners, crushed houseboats and fishing fleets, rolled tidal waves over maritime villages, killed 500 persons. Six hundred miles of southwestern Japan were ravaged by a gale that left 60 dead, many hurt, and the rice crop reduced.

Fire contributed its part to 1937's misfortunes. A million dollar fire in Manila turned 10,000 persons out of burning houses. In Paracale, 150 miles east of Manila, 2,000 people watched their homes burn.

Although there were no serious casualties among its 300 inhabitants, the whole town of Douglas, Alaska, went up in flames in February.

A mid-summer fire roared through Shoshone National Forest, Wyoming, burning to death 11 fire-fighters and seriously injuring 39 others, most of them members of the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Landslides, quakes, and volcanic eruptions shook the corners of the earth. Central Japan's sulphur mining village, Tsumakoi, was blotted out in November when part of a hill roared down on it.

Earthquakes killed 34, injuring hundreds July 25, in the Mexican states of Vera Cruz and Puebla, and on August 1, caused countless casualties and masses of ruins in southwestern Shantung Province, China. Refugees from war-stricken China were greeted in Manila August 20, by the severest earthquake to strike the Phillippines in 40 years.

Several hundred persons perished May 29, when two great volcanic eruptions destroyed the town of Rabaul, New Britain, New Guinea.

Most tragic explosion of the year in America was in a small Texas town. On March 19 a large, modern school in New London crashed down on 700 pupils and 40 teachers as the result of a gas explosion. Four hundred twenty-seven were killed.

Lettuce Used Through Ages

Vitamins may belong to the Twentieth century, but lettuce has been used for food through the ages. Herodotus says lettuce was eaten as a salad in 550 B C. In Pliny's time it was cultivated and even blanched so the Romans could have it throughout the seasons. Later history, in the form of privy-purse expenses of Henry VIII, records a reward given a certain gardener for bringing "lettuze" to the court

REIMS CATHEDRAL WAR WOUNDS HEALED

Reims (Rheims) Cathedral, badly damaged by fire and bombardment during the World War, at last has been restored to the magnificence of the days when it served as coronation church for French Kings.

For nearly two decades this cherished French shrine has been closed to the public while architects, financed chiefly the the French Government and John D. Rockefeller, Jr. repaired the war damage, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. In 1927 a rededication ceremony marked partial reconstruction of the edifice. Now, after an impressive service, the restored cathedral has been reopened for worship.

During September 1914, when the Germans seized Reims, they covered the floor of the cathedral's vast nave with straw, prior to quartering soldiers there. After the Germans withdrew from the town, the French converted the church into a hospital for French and German wounded. Nevertheless the Germans used the high towers as targets, claiming they sheltered military observation posts. Fire completely destroyed the roof, descended wooden scaffolding on a tower to the nave, set the straw on fire, and practically gutted the building. From time to time, for the remainder of the war, airplane bombs and shells from long-range guns struck the cathedral. Buttresses and chapels were damaged. Only the massive strength of the thick walls saved the interior from utter destruction. Strangely the equestrienne statue of Joan of Arc, close by, remained uninjured in the midst of falling shells, and many considered this a good omen.

Shells that broke pinnacles and disfigured statues also shattered priceless 13th century stained glass windows. Drawings of these windows fortunately had been preserved, and some of the windows have been reconstructed in their original forms. Others have been fitted with temporary colorless glass awaiting replacement by the stained glass of future artists.

An entire new roof has been constructed. Walls, pinnacles, and buttresses have been skillfully mended. Tapestries and works of art carried off to safety during the war have been returned to their places. Several statues purposely have been left mutilated as reminders of the bombarment.

From 1180 until 1824, Reims was the favorite coronation place of French kings. Most notable crowning was that of Charles VII in 1429, attended by Joan of Arc. Westminister Abbey, England's great coronation church was largely patterned after this cathedral.

Reims is considered a masterpiece of Gothic architecture. Built on the site of a previous church, it was completed in the 13th century, with the exception of its twin-towered western facade, finished about 100 years later. This facade is noted for its wealth of sculpture. Above the three deeply-recessed portals are more than 500 statues, ranged row upon row. These serve as "picture-books" for teaching Biblical history to medieval worshippers who could neither read nor write.

The pointed central portal leads the eye to the magnificent rose window above it, nearly 40 feet in diameter. Still higher one sees a row of statues of French kings, each nearly ten feet tall. From them, the eye travels up to the two flat-topped square towers. These were originally surmounted by spires but, destroyed by fire in 1481, they were never replaced.

The towers overlook the town of Reims, about 100 miles northeast of Paris in the champagne district. From the surrounding vine-clad hills comes wine to be stored in the city's miles of wine cellars. During the war, when continual heavy bombardment practically wiped out the city, forcing 100,000 citizens to leave, 17,000 remained and used these wine cellars as dormitories, courts, offices, and even schools which gave examinations and prizes. Today, rebuilt Reims is almost back to pre-war population and is again busy making champagne.

Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace, and things wherewith one may edify another" (Romans 14:17, 19).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "As the mythology of pagan Rome has yielded to a more spiritual idea of Deity so will our material theories yield to spiritual ideas, until the finite gives place to the infinite, sickness to health, sin to holiness, and God's kingdom comes 'in earth, as is in heaven'" (p. 239).

OHIO SYSTEM DRAINS AREA ALMOST AS LARGE AS TEXAS

Flood violence of the Ohio River, now terrorizing seven States, carries on its yellow tide potential damage for almost one-fourth of the whole country.

Ohio overflows carry destruction for not only the States which the river serves as partial boundary—Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana, Kentucky and Illinois—but also for the river's point of origin, Pennsylvania. The same heavy rainfalls may affect States tapped by its far-reaching tributaries—Tennessee, Alabama, and New York.

The Ohio system drains in all some 214,000 square miles, an area 80 per cent as great as that of Texas, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Ohio River is Full Grown at "Start"

Man made geography as well as mild weather and excessive rainfall has all been contributing factors in the river's latest rampage, with an hourly increasing toll of lives and property damage.

Even when weather conditions are "normal", the Ohio watershed receives more rainfall than the Missouri watershed which is twice as large. One writer estimates that one-fourth of the Mississippi water flowing into the Gulf of Mexico has come roaring down from the Ohio and its tributaries.

The Ohio itself is a full-grown river from the start. It begins at Pittsburg where two sizable tributaries, the Allegheny and the Monongahela, join.

Having been made navigable for its entire length, the Ohio is festooned on both sides with strings of industrial towns and cities located for convenience of transportation of raw materials, and each settlement multiplies the flood tragedy. With lateral canals around the falls at Louisville, the Ohio can offer over a thousand miles of water travel, and with its navigable tributaries furnishes 2300 miles.

Rapid Flow Has Carved Deep Valley

The river's downward force is about equal to that of two and a half Niagara Falls. Its origin at Pittsburg is nearly 700 feet above sea level, and it flows into the Mississippi at an altitude of 267 feet. Its actual descent, therefore, is more than 430 feet. The river's force through the ages has carved a relatively narrow valley, in which a sudden rise is particularly destructive.

The annual tonnage of river freight along the Ohio is measured by the million. Flowing from mineral-rich mountains through agricultural plains it carries coal from Pennsylvania and West Virginia, grain and farm products from agricultural Ohio, iron and steel from Pennsylvania mills, building stone and lumber from the denuded hillsides which drain so disastrously into flood waters.

Sizable floods have swept down the Ohio and its branches for thousands of years, but obviously the destruction caused by the floods has increased with the settling and development of the country during the last two centuries. Rivers out of their banks caused little or no loss to the Indians of pre-Colonial days, most of whose villages were located well above the lowlands.

The white colonists who came over the Alleghenies, however, used the Ohio as the principal highroad to the west, and they built their settlement close to the banks. When great cities and industrial districts grew up, railroad yards, highways, warehouses and mills were crowded into the low-lying regions. Slag from blast furnaces was dumped along the river banks narrowing the channel and raising the banks. When floods come today, the river rises with terrifying suddenness, and, having few level area over which to spread out, it climbs into buildings, houses and mills, many of which are wrenched from their foundations.

Some engineers and conservationists believe that the increasing violence of modern floods is partly owing to the things that modern civilization has done to the face of the earth—man-made changes in geography.

Forests at the headwaters have been cut down and, in many instances, not replanted; paved city streets and roads have afforded quick runoff for rainwater; hillsides have been plowed carelessly; smoke and fumes have denuded other hillsides; and large areas have been covered with buildings and residences whose roofs are no checks to the runoff of rainfall. Most of the dams found in the Ohio watershed are not storage reservoirs, but merely units in waterpower projects or aids to navigation, such as about 50 on the Ohio itself. Exceptions, however, are the Norris and Wheeler Dams in the Tennessee Valley, a storage dam on the Tygart River in West Virginia, a series on the Miami River in Ohio and a series of 14 under construction on the Muskingum in Ohio.

Thus every falling drop of water in the area has been helped to flow more quickly into streams—streams such as the Monongahela, Allegheny, and the Ohio that have themselves been narrowed in many sections.

WINCHESTER GIRLS AT LONGWOOD

Several of Winchester's girls tennis players, among them Dorothy Bruno, Jean Drake, Peggy Shinnick and Dorothy Kleeb, have been participating this week in the National girls' tennis championships at the Longwood covered courts in Chestnut Hill. "Dottie" Bruno, last year's high school captain, made the best showing of the local entrants, reaching the quarter-final round before being defeated by "Cissy" Madden, New England junior and girls' champion. "Peggy" Shinnick also caught the experts' eye by her unusually good showing in the early rounds of play.

WINCHESTER THEATRE

The new Winchester Theatre has been showing popular pictures to enthusiastic houses during the holiday week.

Now, through Saturday, Marlene Dietrich appears in "Angel." It is a story that gives you a new vivacious Dietrich, who is ably supported by two of the screen's most exciting men, Herbert Marshall and Melvyn Douglas. Also on the same program, the funniest, fastest, tuniest hit of the year is "Life Begins in College," starring Gloria Stuart, Joan Davis and Tony Martin with a tremendous cast.

Beginning Sunday and showing through Wednesday of next week, the feature picture is "The Life of Emile Zola," with Paul Muni. Also on the same program "Hot Water," a James Family comedy with Jed Prouty.

TONIGHT'S TAXES

Collector of Internal Revenue William M. Welch calls attention to the tax due from persons who attend New Year's Eve celebrations at hotels, night clubs, restaurants, etc.

Collector Welch states that where a flat charge in excess of $2.50 is made by such organizations for a dinner in connection with New Year's Eve celebration, it is subject to tax at the rate of 1½c for every 10c or fraction thereof of 20 per cent of the charge. The patron must also pay tax at the same rate on any additional amount expended by him for refreshment or merchandise such as liquor, cigars or cigarettes.

Where there is a cover charge, such charge is considered an admission fee taxable at the rate of 1c for each 10c or fraction thereof. If, in addition to the cover charge the cost of the food, drinks, etc., is in excess of $2.50, this amount is also taxable, but at the rate of 1½c for each 10c or fraction thereof of 20 per cent of the sum paid, unless the cover charge is deemed sufficient to defray the total cost of the entertainment.

Where a minimum food charge is made, this is included as part of the total payment made during the evening by the patron and this total, if it exceeds $2.50 is then taxable at the rate of 1½c for every 10c or fraction thereof of 20 per cent of the total amount of the check.

This tax applies where floor shows, cabarets, dancing, singing and entertainment is provided with the service of food, and in particular has reference to New Year's Eve celebrations where entertainment as above is provided.

OBSERVATIONS

By the Observer

A Winchesterite never gets too old or too prominent to enjoy his mother's praise more than any other.

Believe it or not. Right here in fair Winchester has been discovered a young woman who never whines when her parents say "no," for she knows their judgment is better than hers.

How many middle-aged Winchester men read the advs. that promise a cure for headache

Winchester bar sends in this one:

There are times women sadly vex us,
Puzzle, plague us and perplex us,
Till we wish they were in—Texas, very far away.
But although we sadly doubt women
They've such winsome ways about them,
We can never do without them, so we let them stay.

The way several youngsters go along puckering their faces on the way to school leads one to believe that education must be an acquired taste.

One of the best examples of poor human vanity in or out of Winchester is hair combed over a bald spot.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

A gala midnight show will be given at the Granada Theatre in Malden on New Year's Eve. The show will consist of vaudeville and screen attraction with all seats reserved. Flo Nickerson's Swing Time Varieties of 1938 with stars Hollywood bound, will head the vaudeville program. Among the highlights of this revue are Phillip Morris, the golden voiced tenor and Bobby Breen of the stage, Jerry Martel and his Swing Time Band. Other featured acts are Morton and Russell, Walter Neilson and the Tiffany Sisters and Tom. Flo Nickerson will act as mistress of ceremonies in addition to presenting her own unique comedy routine. "Fight for Your Lady," starring John Boles, Jack Oakie, Ida Lupino, Gordon Jones, Margot Grahame and Erik Rhodes will be the screen feature for the midnight show. "Fight for Your Lady," is a gay comedy and just the right sort of entertainment for a New Year's Eve show.

"The Awful Truth," with Irene Dunne and Cary Grant will head the regular Granada show starting today. In "The Awful Truth," Irene Dunne is seen as the prim, staid wife of Cary Grant, a bounder of sorts who simply can't get used to marriage ties. Ralph Bellamy is cast as an oil tycoon who has a yen for Irene Dunne. Alexander D'Arcy is the innocent vocal instructor who suffers no litte at the hands of the irate Cary.

"Big Town Girl" with Claire Trevor, Donald Woods and Alan Dinehart as the stars is the second attraction on the bill starting today.

THIS WEEK'S GARDENING

By Alfred A. Fraser

Cut alder berries keep better if the stems are in water.

Be sure to clean up your garden for the spring.

Always soak newly planted evergreens thoroughly so that the plant can absorb enough moisture for the winter.

Leaves or straw should be used to fill drained pools.

Suet, sunflower and hemp seeds are the best foods for winter birds.

Take in any garden ornaments that are still out—particularly those that will hold water and freeze.

Put all garden tools in order for next spring.

Salt hay, oak leaves or pine boughs if weighted make good coverings for the strawberry bed. You can also use these same materials to cover your perennial border.

Irene Dunne will again be seen in an all-comedy role in "The Awful Truth." In "The Awful Truth" Miss Dunne is the prim staid wife of Cary Grant, a bounder of sorts who simply can't get used to marriage ties. Ralph Bellamy enters the scene as an Oklahoma oil tycoon with a yen for Irene. Alexander D'Arcy is the innocent vocal instructor who suffers no little at the hands of the irate Cary while Cecil Cunningham plays the tartar-tongued, sophisticated Aunt Patsy.

"Big City" at the "Reading" starting Sunday, is a modern, thrilling drama of down-to-earth people of New York, of two warring factions of rival taxicab drivers, and of the marital romance of a rough-and-ready taxi driver and his foreign-born wife. Spencer Tracy plays the taxi driver who refuses to be dominated by racketeers, and Miss Rainer appears as the faithful foreign wife who becomes the innocent victim of the racketeers' brutality. BRAZIL: A GIANT AMONG AMERICAN REPUBLICS

When Brazil announces a change in its form of government, that's news, particularly in the Western Hemisphere where it is second largest and one of the leading Republics. The announced plan to dissolve the Federal Senate and Chamber of Duputies and the promulgation of a new constitution, brings this vast nation into the spotlight.

A glance at a map of the South American Continent reveals Brazil's great size, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society, which points out that it constitutes the whole northeast shoulder of the continent, and nearly all the remaining South American countries could be swallowed up within its borders.

Larger Than U. S. Excluding Alaska

Compared with the United States in area, all of the forty-eight States could be comfortably transposed to the Brazilian map and then there nearly would be room for another Texas. The whole continent of Australia lacks about 300,000 square miles of equaling the South American Republic.

In spite of its vastness and economic importance in the Western Hemisphere Brazil is little known even to the great bulk of Brazilians; for much of its area of tropical forests has been unseen by white men and many of the natives in the remote inland regions are unaware of government activities at Rio de Janeiro, the capital.

The Republic is made up of 20 states. Three of them are larger than Texas (two are more than twice as large) and a fourth is nearly equal in size to our largest commonwealth. Along the Atlantic coast the Republic's smaller, thickly populated states that more nearly resemble the commonwealths of the United States. The smallest Brazilian state, however, is more than six and a half times larger than Rhode Island. Beyond the coastal zones the states seem to spread boundlessly. They are known to be rich in minerals, but development of resources in the deep forests is still in its infancy.

Luxuriant Equatorial Forests

The Western Hemisphere's largest tropical area is within Brazil, and the Republic covers a greater segment of the Equator than any other country in the world. In the Amazon River, it contains the world's greatest river. Its eastern peninsula reaches into the Atlantic so far that its tip is nearly in the same latitude as Azores Islands, more than half way across the Atlantic between New York and Lisbon.

Despite Brazil's unexploited interior, the Republic holds an enviable commercial position in South America. It is the world's greatest source of coffee, from an adopted plant whose origin was Ethiopia. Coffee plants flourish in southeastern Brazil and the name of Sao Paulo State is nearly synonymous with that of the aromatic bean.

Rubber trees are indigenous to Brazil. The great plantations of the east were started with cuttings taken from Brazil. Brazilians continued to collect rubber in crude fashion from wild trees in her forests while the eastern plantation owners scientifically dveloped their trees. When the eastern plantations began to produce, Brazil's position in the rubber world began to toboggan. There is now, however, a concerted effort in Brazil, again to win its former position as a rubber producer through the plantation system. Cotton, sugar and cacao also are commodities that more and more are becoming prominent in Brazil's commercial life.

Portuguese has been the language of the country since the first colonies were set up after Cabral, Portuguese explorer, discovered it in 1500. In 1815 the colony became a kingdom and in 1889, a republic as a result of a revolution.

It is estimated that there are about 46,000,000 people in Brazil, about two-thirds of whom are native born. Italian born residents number more than a half-million and there are nearly as many Portuguese. There also are about 219,000 Spaniards, 53,000 Germans, and half as many Japanese. The United States is represented by about 3,500 inhabitants.

The large cities are in the coastal states with the exception of Manoas (84,000) which lies on the banks of the Amazon, 800 miles inland. Rio de Janeiro has a population of nearly two million and there are nine other cities with more than 100,000.

New Year Resolutions

Again we enter into a New Year. The customary resolutions will be made and broken. At least two resolutions could be made and, if sincerely kept 365 days of the coming year would mean much more happiness in and out of Winchester.

We wish it were possible for more folk to solemnly pledge themselves to do less gossiping and telling of lies in the year to come. Gossiping certainly leads to great misery among our people. Too many people like to gossip and if they cannot say anything good about a neighbor generally manage to hatch up a lie of some kind. And even where there is any truth in a thing it is the Christian procedure to keep quiet and say nothing. A wagging tongue is a poor passport to the better life.

The majority of people lie. But lying is a crime. It not only is an offense against one's neighbor but certainly is a serious offence against the Almighty. Every lie we tell for self-interest is an offence both against God and our neighbor. A lie told with the basic idea of sparing a neighbor or his feelings springs out of no malice toward him, but in reality out of love for him—short-sighted, beyond question, but still love for the neighbor. But a lie of this kind just as any other lie is an offence against God, for the reason that it proceeds on the assumption that the world and its events are unwisely managed; that we can bring to pass better results than the Almighty can; that it would be far kinder to our neighbor if the event concealed or misrepresented had not happened as it did happen, or not happened just when it did.

As we enter a New Year let us remember that those of us who profess religion ought to show more of it in our daily contacts with our fellows. Some folk tell us that religion is very good to fit people to die by. But it is a far better thing than that. Why not make it mean more to us in this New Year and in all the New Years to come? If religion is good enough to die by, then is it not far better to live by? In this New Year let all of us firmly resolve to do less gossiping and less telling of fibs. And also let us resolve to make this religion of ours do more to help our neighbor—to bear his trials, perplexities, and temptations. Somebody has called religion "dope." Well, if this is so then we can recommend it as mighty fine dope for 1938!
